DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Office of the Secretary

Akron & Barberton Belt Railroad Co., Barberton, Ohio; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on March 26, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on March 20, 1979, which was filed by the United Transportation Union on behalf of workers and former workers of the Akron and Barberton Belt Railroad Company, Barberton, Ohio, engaged in transporting materials in and out of tire plants and transporting the finished product to the consumer.

The Akron and Barberton Belt Railroad is engaged in providing the services of a terminal switching railroad. The company is owned by the Conrail System, the Chessie System, and the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company, and is a common carrier. Formerly, the major portion of the work of the railroad was carrying the tires of a major tire manufacturer in the local area.

Thus, workers of the Akron and Barberton Belt Railroad Company do not produce an article within the meaning of Section 222(3) of the Act. Therefore, they may be certified only if their separation was caused importantly by a reduced demand for their services from the parent firms, a firm otherwise related to the Akron and Barberton Belt Railroad Company by ownership, or a firm related by control. In any case, the reduction in demand for services must originate at a production facility whose workers independently meet the statutory criteria for certification and that reduction must directly relate to the product impacted by imports.

The Akron and Barberton Belt Railroad Company and its customers have no controlling interest in one another. The parent firms do not produce an article.

All workers engaged in railroad operations at the Akron and Barberton Belt Railroad Company are employed by that firm. All personnel actions and payroll transactions are controlled by the Akron and Barberton Belt Railroad Company. All employee benefits are provided and maintained by the Akron and Barberton Belt Railroad Company. Workers are not, at any time, under employment or supervision by customers of the Akron and Barberton Belt Railroad Company. Thus, the Akron and Barberton Belt Railroad Company, and not any of its customers, must be considered to be the "workers' firm".

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of the Akron and Barberton Belt Railroad Company, Barberton, Ohio are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 11th day of June 1979.

Investigations Regarding Certifications of Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

Petitions have been filed with the Secretary of Labor under Section 221(a) of the Trade Act of 1974 ("the Act") and are identified in the Appendix to this notice. Upon receipt of these petitions, the Director of the Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, Bureau of International Labor Affairs, as instituted investigations pursuant to Section 221(a) of the Act and 29 CFR 90.12.

The purpose of each of the investigations is to determine whether absolute or relative increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the workers' firm or an appropriate subdivision thereof have contributed importantly to an absolute decline in sales or production, or both, of such firm or subdivision and to the actual or threatened total or partial separation of a significant number or proportion of the workers of such firm or subdivision.

Petitioners meeting these eligibility requirements will be certified as eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2, of the Act in accordance with the provisions of Subpart B of 29 CFR Part 90. The investigations will further relate, as appropriate, to the determination of the date on which total or partial separations began or threatened to begin and the subdivision of the firm involved.

Pursuant to 29 CFR 90.13, the petitioners or any other persons showing a substantial interest in the subject matter of the investigations may request a public hearing, provided such request is filed in writing with the Director, Office of Trade Adjustment Assistance, at the address shown below, not later than June 29, 1979.

Converse Rubber Co., Lumberton Division, Lumberton, N.C.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 18, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 16, 1979 which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers producing athletic canvas footwear at the Lumberton Division of Converse Rubber Company, Lumberton, North Carolina. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

Imports of rubber/canvas footwear increased in 1978 from 1977, both in absolute terms, and relative to domestic production.

Customers of Converse Rubber Company surveyed by the Department of Labor indicated that they had decreased purchases of canvas and athletic footwear from Converse and increased purchases of imports during the period under investigation.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with canvas and athletic footwear produced at the Lumberton, North Carolina plant of Converse Rubber Company contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of the Lumberton, North Carolina plant of Converse Rubber Company who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after November 1, 1978 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 11th day of June 1979.

Dyna Coal No. 1, Anawalt, W. Va.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 16, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979 which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers mining coal at Dyna Coal No. 1, Anawalt, West Virginia. In the following determination, at least one of the criteria has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

A Department survey revealed that none of Dyna's customers purchased any imported coal or imported coke.

In addition, a substantial portion of the coal Dyna sold was used for the export market by its customers.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of Dyna Coal No. 1, Anawalt, West Virginia are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 11th day of June 1979.

Ernst Strauss, Inc., Los Angeles, Calif.; Negative Determination on Reconsideration

On May 16, 1979, the Department made an Affirmative Determination Regarding Application for Reconsideration for workers and former workers of Ernst Strauss, Inc., Los Angeles, California. This determination was published in the Federal Register on May 25, 1979, (44 FR 30479).

The petitioning union claimed that the Department should redefine the appropriate worker group to those workers in a subdivision of Ernst Strauss, Inc., namely, the Ernst Strauss Department which produces women's jackets and coats.

The Department's further investigation revealed that although production and sales records for the Ernst Strauss Department are not kept separately, records of wages paid to workers are kept separately. These data show that wages paid to Ernst Strauss Department workers increased in 1978 compared to 1977. Based on these wage records and other information, the Labor Department is unable to conclude that a significant number or proportion of the workers of the Ernst Strauss Department have become separated wholly or partially from employment or are threatened with such separation.

The Department's initial investigation had found that the employment requirement of Section 222 had not been met for the firm, Ernst Strauss, Inc.

Conclusion

After reconsideration, I reaffirm the original denial of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance to workers and former workers of Ernst Strauss, Inc., Los Angeles, California.

F. J. Boutell Driveaway Co, Inc., Jersey City, N.J.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 30, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 12, 1979, which was filed by the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America on behalf of workers and former workers of F. J. Boutell, Hoboken, New Jersey, engaged in shipping cars. The investigation revealed that the legal title of the firm is F. J. Boutell Driveaway Company, Incorporated, and that although the mailing address of the firm is Hoboken, New Jersey, the transport facility where the petitioners are employed is located in Jersey City, New Jersey.

The Jersey City, New Jersey facility of F. J. Boutell Driveaway Company, Incorporated is engaged in providing the service of transporting new automobiles from an auto terminal to automobile dealers in the metropolitan areas.

Thus, workers of the Jersey City, New Jersey facility of F. J. Boutell Driveaway Company, Incorporated do not produce an article within the meaning of Section 222(3) of the Act. Therefore, they may be certified only if their separation was caused importantly by a reduced demand for their services from a parent firm, a firm otherwise related to F. J. Boutell Driveaway Company, Incorporated by ownership, or a firm related by control. In any case, the reduction in demand for services must originate at a production facility whose workers independently meet the statutory criteria for certification and that reduction must directly relate to the product impacted by imports.

F. J. Boutell Driveaway Company, Incorporated and its customers have no controlling interest in one another. B & C, Incorporated, a subsidiary of the subject firm, does not produce an article.

All workers engaged in transporting new automobiles at the Jersey City, New Jersey facility of F. J. Boutell Driveaway Company, Incorporated, are employed by that firm. All personnel actions and payroll transactions are controlled by F. J. Boutell Driveaway Company, Incorporated. All employee benefits are provided and maintained by F. J. Boutell Driveaway Company, Incorporated. Workers are not, at any time, under employment or supervision by customers of F. J. Boutell Driveaway Company, Incorporated. Thus, F. J. Boutell Driveaway Company, Incorporated, and not any of its customers, must be considered to be the "workers' firm".

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of the Jersey City, New Jersey, facility of F. J. Boutell Driveaway Company, Incorporated are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of theTrade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 7th day of June 1979.

F.S.C. Enterprises, Inc., Fayette County, W. Va.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 5, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979, which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers producing coal at F.S.C. Enterprises, Incorporated, Surface Mine #1, Fayette County, West Virginia. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

The average number of workers employed by F.S.C. Enterprises increased in the last four months of 1978 compared to the same period of 1977. Workers of F.S.C. Enterprises were on strike between December 6, 1977 and March 27, 1978. Labor turnover data shows that all separations of workers in 1978 and the first three months of 1979 were due to quits and retirements. There were no layoffs and average weekly hours worked per employee did not change significantly in 1978 or the first three months of 1979.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of F.S.C. Enterprises, Incorporated, Fayette County, West Virginia are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 16, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 9, 1979 which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers mining coal at the Fisher Coal Company, Hillsboro, West Virginia. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

A survey conducted by the Department revealed that the subject firm's customers exported all but an insignificant amount of the coal they purchased from the subject firm, therefore any imports of coal or coke will have a negligible impact on employment.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of the Fisher Coal Company, Hillsboro, West Virginia are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Florsheim Shoe Co., Poplar Bluff, Mo.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 16, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 5, 1979 which was filed by the United Shoe Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers producing men's dress shoes at the Poplar Bluff, Missouri plant of the Florsheim Shoe Company. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

U.S. imports of men's dress and casual footwear increased absolutely and relative to domestic production in 1977 compared to 1976 and increased relative to domestic production in 1978 compared to 1977. Imports as a percentage of domestic production exceeded 75 percent during 1976, 1977 and 1978.

Total Florsheim Shoe Company imports of men's footwear increased in 1977 and 1978 compared to the previous year and during the first quarter of 1979 compared to the first quarter of 1978.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with men's dress footwear produced at the Poplar Bluff, Missouri plant of the Florsheim Shoe Company contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of the Poplar Bluff, Missouri plant of the Florsheim Shoe Company who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after december 24, 1978 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the trade Act of 1974.

Foam Pillow Corp., Long Island, N.Y.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 6, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979 which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers producing decorative pillows, sleeping pillows, chair and bed rests at the Foam Pillow Corporation, Long Island, New York. The investigation revealed that the plant produced primarily decorative pillows. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

Evidence developed during the course of the investigation indicated that U.S. imports of pillows and cushions are negligible. The ratio of imports to domestic production of pillows and cushions in 1978 was 0.7 percent.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of the Foam Pillow Corporation, Long Island, New York are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 16, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 10, 1979, which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers producing ladies' coats and suits at Green Leaf Fashions, Incorporated, New York, New York. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

U.S. imports of women's, misses' and children's coats and jackets increased in 1977 compared to 1976 and increased in 1978 compared to 1977. U.S. imports of women's, misses' and children's suits increased in 1978 compared to 1977.

Customers of the subject firm were surveyed by the Department. Customers representing a significant proportion of sales of the subject firm, decreased purchases from the subject firm and increased import purchases of ladies' coats and suits in 1978 compared to 1977. Some customers decreased purchases of ladies' coats from the subject firm and increased imports of ladies' coats in the first quarter of 1979 compared to the same period of 1978.

Hinkle & Son, Inc., Canvas, W. Va.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 5, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979, which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers of Hinkle and Son, Incorporated, Canvas, West Virginia, a coal hauler.

Hinkle and Son, Incorporated is engaged in providing the service of transporting coal by truck from a customer's mine to a tipple.

Thus, workers of Hinkle and Son, Incorporated do not produce an article within the meaning of Section 222(3) of the Act. Therefore, they may be certified only if their separation was caused importantly by a reduced demand for their services from a parent firm, a firm otherwise related to Hinkle and Son, Incorporated by ownership, or a firm related by control. In any case, the reduction in demand for services must originate at a production facility whose workers independently meet the statutory criteria for certification and that reduction must directly relate to the product impacted by imports.

Hinkle and Son, Incorporated and its customers have no controlling interest in one another. The subject firm is not corporately affiliated with any other company.

All workers engaged in transporting coal by truck at Hinkle and Son, Incorporated, Canvas, West Virginia, are employed by that firm. International Shoe Co., Inc., Perryville, Mo.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on March 28, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on March 22, 1979 which was filed by the Retail Clerks International Union on behalf of workers and former workers producing men's and women's shoes at the Perryville, Missouri plant of International Shoe Company, Incorporated. The investigation revealed that the plant produces primarily men's dress and work shoes and women's work shoes. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

U.S. imports of men's dress and casual shoes, except athletic, increased absolutely and relative to domestic production from 1976 to 1977. Imports decreased absolutely and increased relatively from 1977 to 1978.

U.S. imports of work footwear increased absolutely and relative to domestic production from 1976 to 1977 and from 1977 to 1978.

A survey was conducted of customers of International Shoe Company, Incorporated. The survey revealed that some customers decreased purchases of mens shoes from International Shoe Company, Inc. and increased purchases of imported shoes in 1978 and in the first quarter of 1979.

International Shoe Company, Incorporated also began to import men's dress and work shoes in 1978. These imports are directly competitive with the shoes produced at the Perryville, Missouri plant and represent a significant portion of the decline in production at the Perryville plant.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with men's dress and work shoes and women's work shoes produced at the Perryville, Missouri plant of International Shoe Company, Incorporated contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of International Shoes Company, Incorporated, Perryville, Missouri who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after January 13, 1979 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 5th day of June 1979.

Island Creek Coal Co., Northern Division, the Beaver Deep Mine, the Tioga Surface Mine, The Tioga Preparation Plant, Craigsville, W. Va.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 12, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 9, 1979 which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers producing coal for the Island Creek Coal Company, Northern Division, Craigsville, West Virginia. The investigation revealed that the mine primarily produces steam coal. The investigation further revealed that the petition includes the Beaver Deep Mine, the Tioga Surface Mine, and the Tioga Preparation Plant, only. In the following determination, at least one of the criteria has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

The Island Creek Coal Company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Occidental Petroleum Corporation, operated coal mining operations throughout the United States. The United Mine Workers of America (U.M.W.A.) filed this petition on behalf of all miners (represented by U.M.W.A.) employed in the Northern Division of Island Creek Coal Company. Sources stated that three facilities (the Beaver Deep mine, the Tioga Strip mine and Tioga Preparation Plant) have experienced total separations and decline in sales and production following the closing of the three facilities on March 23, 1979. Sources further stated that all coal mined from the mines and cleaned by this preparation plant is sold to domestic customers for use in producing steam.

U.S. imports of bituminous coal are negligible, being well less than one percent.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of the Island Creek Coal Company, Northern Division, the Beaver Deep mine, the Tioga Surface mine, and the Tioga Preparation Plant, Craigsville, West Virginia are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 5th day of June 1979.

Jerome Industries Corp., Kenilworth, N.J., Orange, N.J.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 10, 1979 in response to worker petitions received on April 9, 1979 which were filed on behalf of workers and former workers producing wall plug converter adapters at the Kenilworth and Orange, New Jersey plants of Jerome Industries Corporation. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

Imports of power conversion adapters increased in 1978 compared to 1977.

Major surveyed customers decreased purchases from Jerome Industries and increased purchases of imported wall plug converter adapters in 1978 compared to 1977.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with wall plug converter adapters produced at the Kenilworth and Orange, New Jersey plants of Jerome Industries Corporation contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

Kay Fashions, Inc., Lodi, N.J.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on March 30, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on March 30, 1979, which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers producing ladies' dresses, skirts, and suits at Kay Fashions, Incorporated, Lodi, New Jersey. The investigation revealed that Kay Fashions also produces pants. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

Production at Kay Fashions increased substantially in both quantity and value from 1977 to 1978. Production, in value, increased in the first five months of 1979 compared to the first five months of 1978.

Employment at Kay Fashions remained constant from 1977 to 1978. Reduced employment and production levels in the first quarter 1979 at Kay Fashions can be attributed to normal business fluctuations. Production at Kay Fashions increased in April and May 1979, subsequent to the short downturn.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of Kay Fashions, Incorporated, Lodi, New Jersey are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Kristie Minerals, Inc., Richwood, W. Va.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on May 15, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 9, 1979, which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers mining coal at Kristie Minerals, Incorporated, Richwood, West Virginia. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

A survey conducted by the Department revealed that the subject firm's customers exported all but an insignificant amount of the coal they purchased from the subject firm, therefore, any imports of coal or coke will have a negligible impact on employment.

L. W. Foster Sportswear Co., Inc., Philadelphia, Pa.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 10, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 5, 1979 which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers producing men's suits and jackets at L. W. Foster Sportswear Company, Incorporated, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The investigation revealed that the plant produces primarily men's suits and sportcoats. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

U.S. imports of men's and boys' tailored dress coats and sportcoats increased absolutely and relative to domestic production in 1978 compared to 1977.

U.S. imports of men's and boy's tailored suits increased absolutely in 1978 compared to the 1974 to 1977 annual average and increased absolutely in the period January to February 1979 compared to the same period in 1978.

A survey conducted by the Department revealed that major customers of L. W. Foster Sportswear Company decreased purchases from that firm and increased purchases of imported men's suits and sportcoats in 1978 compared to 1977.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with men's suits and sportcoats produced at L. W. Larrimore, Limited, et al., Philadelphia, Pa.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 4, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on March 23, 1979 which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers producing men's coats and trousers at the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania plant of Larrimore, Limited. The investigation revealed that the plant primarily produced men's tailored suits and sport coats. It also revealed that the petition should be expanded to include workers producing men's tailored suits and sport coats at the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania plants of Makranskys, Incorporated and Mario Di Santo, Incorporated. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

Imports of men's and boys' tailored dress coats and sport coats increased in 1978 to 6,349 thousand units compared to 6,239 thousand units in 1977.

Makranskys, Incorporated is a men's clothing manufacturer. In May, 1977 all sewers employed at Makranskys were formed into another company, Mario Di Santo, Incorporated. All sewers at Makranskys went to work for Mario Di Santo, Incorporated. In April, 1978, all cutters employed at Makranskys were formed into a third company, Larrimore, Limited. Makransky's Incorporated and Larrimore, Limited share common ownership. Mario Di Santo, Incorporated and Larrimore, Limited also share common ownership. Workers at Mario Di Santo and Larrimore, Limited sewed and cut, respectively, for Makranskys, Incorporated until July, 1978. In July, 1978 Makranskys, Incorporated and Larrimore, Limited closed. Since July, 1978 Mario Di Santo, Incorporated has attempted to solicit other orders, but has been unable to reach previous levels.

The Department conducted a survey of customers of Makranskys, Incorporated. The results of this summary indicated that some of these customers had decreased purchases from Makranskys, Incorporated in the period January through September, 1978 compared to the same period in 1977, and had increased purchases of imports during that period.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with men's tailored suits and sport coats produced at the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania plant of Makranskys, Incorporated, including Larrimore Limited, and Mario Di Santo, Incorporated contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of those firms. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of Makranskys, Incorporated, including Larrimore, Limited, and Mario Di Santo, Incorporated, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania who became totally, or partially separated from employment on or after March 20, 1978 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 4th day of June 1979.

Layland Coal Co., Kim-Lyn Tipple, Fayette County, W. Va.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 5, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979, which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers of Layland Coal Company, Kim-Lyn Tipple, Fayette County, West Virginia, engaged in operating a tipple machine.

Layland Coal Company is engaged in providing the service of weighing coal trucks, operating a coal loading tipple, and maintaining a stockpile of coal. Some of the coal is bought, loaded, and sold by Layland Coal Company, and some is handled on a contract basis.

Thus, workers of Layland Coal Company, Kim-Lyn Tipple, Fayette County, West Virginia, do not produce an article within the meaning of Section 222(3) of the Act. Therefore, they may be certified only if their separation was caused importantly by a reduced demand for their services from the parent firm, a firm otherwise related to Layland Coal Company by ownership, or a firm related by control. In any case, the reduction in demand for services must originate at a production facility whose workers independently meet the statutory criteria for certification and that reduction must directly relate to the product impacted by imports.

Layland Coal Company and its customers have no controlling interest in one another. The parent company, the Berwind Corporation, does not produce coal.

All workers engaged in weighing coal trucks, operating a coal loading tipple, and maintaining a stockpile of coal at Layland Coal Company, Kim-Lyn Tipple, Fayette County, West Virginia, are employed by that firm. All personnel actions and payroll transactions are controlled by Layland Coal Company. All employee benefits are provided and maintained by Layland Coal Company. Workers are not, at any time, under employment or supervision by customers of Layland Coal Company. Thus, Layland Coal Company, and not any of its customers, must be considered to be the "workers' firm".

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of Layland Coal Company, Kim-Lyn Tipple, Fayette County, West Virginia are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 4th day of June 1979.

Lloyd's Electronics, Inc., Edison, N.J., and Lloyd's Electronics of California, Inc., Compton, Calif.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on March 29, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on March 26, 1979 which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers producing home stereo equipment at the Edison, New Jersey plant of Lloyd's Electronics, Incorporated (TA-W-5074). The investigation was expanded to include workers and former workers producing home stereo equipment at the Compton, California plant of Lloyd's Electronics of California, Incorporated (TA-W-5074-A), a subsidiary of Lloyd's Electronics, Incorporated. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

U.S. imports of radio-phonograph-tape audio sound systems increased in unit volume from 1977 to 1978. The ratio of imports to domestic production of audio sound systems increased from 358.3 percent in 1977 to 466.4 percent in 1978.

During the fourth quarter of 1978, Lloyd's Electronics reduced domestic assembly operations at its Edison, New Jersey and Compton, California plants and increased its reliance on imports of finished home stereo equipment. Corporate imports of home stereo equipment increased from 1977 to 1978.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with home stereo equipment produced at Lloyd's Electronics, Incorporated, Edison, New Jersey and at Lloyd's Electronics of California, Incorporated, Compton, California contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of those plants. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of Lloyd's electronics, Incorporated, Edison, New Jersey and all workers of Lloyd's Electronics of California, Incorporated, Compton, California who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after October 1, 1978 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Lucy Ann Footwear Corp., Paterson, N.J.; Notice of Determinations Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of investigations regarding certifications of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 12, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 9, 1979 which was filed by the United Shoe Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers producing women's footwear at Lucy Ann Footwear Corporation, Paterson, New Jersey. The investigation revealed that the plant produces womens's slippers and casual shoes. In the following determinations, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met for workers producing women's slippers, the following criterion has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

The investigation revealed that U.S. imports of women's slippers declined absolutely and relatively from 1976 to 1977 and from 1977 to 1978.

For workers producing women's casual shoes, all of the criteria have been met.

U.S. imports of women's non-rubber footwear increased from 1977 to 1978.

The Department surveyed the customers of Lucy Ann Footwear. The respondents who indicated increased imports of women's slippers and casual shoes accounted for most of the decline in sales at Lucy Ann Footwear from 1977 to 1978.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with the women's casual shoes produced at Lucy Ann Footwear Corporation, Paterson, New Jersey contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers engaged in the production of women's casual shoes at Lucy Ann Footwear Corporation, Paterson, New Jersey who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after October 6, 1978 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Lyburn Coal Co., et al.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In the matter of Lyburn Coal Co., Logan City, W. Va., TA-N-5133, Metco Mining Corp., Logan City, W. Va., and Logan Mohawk Coal Co., Logan, W. Va., TA-W-5383.

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 5, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 3, 1979 which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers engaged in employment related to the mining of coal at Lyburn Coal Company, Logan City, West Virginia and Metco Mining Corporation, Logan City, West Virginia.

Another investigation was initiated on May 14, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on May 9, 1979 which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers engaged in employment related to the mining of coal at Logan Mohawk Coal Company, Logan, West Virginia. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

While U.S. imports of metallurgical coal have been negligible, U.S. imports of coke increased in 1977 compared to 1976 and in 1978 compared to 1977.

Coke is metallurgical coal at a later stage of processing. Since a domestic article may be "directly competitive" with an imported article at a later stage of processing, imports of coke can be considered in determining import injury to workers producing metallurgical coal at Lyburn Coal Company, Metco Mining Corporation and Logan Mohawk Coal Company.

Lyburn Coal Company, Metco Mining Corporation and Logan Mohawk Coal Company sold all their coal through a single broker.

The Department of Labor conducted a survey of firms purchasing metallurgical coal through this broker. All of these customers stopped purchasing coal mined by Logan Mohawk, Metco and Lyburn about the time that those firms closed. None of these customers surveyed purchased any imported coal in 1977 or 1978. Customers that accounted for a significant proportion of the sales of Logan Mohawk, Metco and Lyburn increased purchases of imported coke in 1978 compared to 1977 and reduced purchases of domestically mined metallurgical coal at the same time.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with metallurgical coal produced at Lyburn Coal Company, Logan City, West Virginia, Metco Mining Corporation, Logan City, West Virginia and Logan Mohawk Coal Company, Logan, West Virginia contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of Lyburn Coal Company, Logan City, West Virginia, Metco Mining Corporation, Logan City, West Virginia and Logan Mohawk Coal Company, Logan, West Virginia who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after December 1, 1978 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 4th day of June 1979.

M and B Coal Co., Wyoming County, W. Va.; Indian Creek Mine Nos. 15 and 7; Notice of Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 6, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979, which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers producing metallurgical coal at M & B Coal Company, Wyoming County, West Virginia, Indian Creek Mine #5. The investigation revealed that M & B does not operate Indian Creek Mine #5. M & B operates Indian Creek Mine #7 and Indian Creek Mine #15. Without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

M & B sells all of its coal to another domestic coal company. This company does not buy any imported coal and reported increasing sales of coal over the past two years. This company also exports almost all of its coal. Furthermore, this company was itself the subject of an recent adjustment assistance investigation which resulted in a Notice of Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance. The company reported that it did not reduce purchases from M & B except during the Norfolk and Western Railroad Strike in 1978 and for a short period in February 1979 when adverse weather conditions led to a shortage of railroad cars in which to ship coal.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of the M & B Coal Company, Wyoming County, West Virginia are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 5th day of June 1979.

Maben Energy Corp., Maben Energy Mine Nos. 1, 3, 4, and 5, Wyoming County, W. Va; Notice of Negative Determinations Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigations were initiated on April 26, 1979, in response to worker petitions received on April 23, 1979, which were filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers producing low-volatile metallurgical coal at the Maben Energy Corporation, Maben Energy Mines #1, #3, #4, and #5, Wyoming County, West Virginia. In the following determination, the following criterion has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

Employment decreases at the Maben Energy Corporation are attributable to the UMWA strike in January–March 1978, a fire at the Westmoreland Coal Company tipple in May 1978, and the Norfolk and Western Railroad strike in July–August 1978. Employment levels at all four of the Maben Energy Corporation mining facilities in Wyoming County, West Virginia, have remained stable during the non-strike periods in 1978, and in January–April 1979, with no layoffs except for the aformentioned events.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of Maben Energy Corporation, Maben Energy Mines #1, #3, #4 and #5, Wyoming County, West Virginia, are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C., June 8, 1979.

Metaframe Corp., Elmwood Park, N.J.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 10, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 9, 1979, which was filed by the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union on behalf of workers and former workers producing aquatic equipment and small animal cages at the Elmwood Park, New Jersey plant of Metaframe Corporation. The investigation revealed that the plant produces primarily aquariums and aquarium accessories. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

U.S. imports of aquariums and aquarium accessories increased both absolutely and relative to domestic production in 1978 compared to 1977.

Metaframe Corporation's imports of aquarium accessories increased in value in FYE 1/28/78 compared to FYE 1/29/77 and increased in value in FYE 2/3/79 compared to FYE 1/28/78.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with aquariums and aquarium accessories produced at the Elmwood Park, New Jersey plant of Metaframe Corporation contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that plant. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of the Elmwood Park, New Jersey plant of Metaframe Corporation who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after April 3, 1978 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 8th day of June 1979.

Metropolitan Greetings, Inc., Cambridge, Mass.; Notice of Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 5, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 3, 1979, which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers producing greeting cards, novelty kits, play books, wrapping paper and related products at Metropolitan Greetings, Incorporated, Cambridge, Massachusetts. The investigation revealed that the plant produces primarily greeting cards. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

U.S. imports of greeting cards have been less than one percent of U.S. production in each year during the 1974 through 1978 period. U.S. imports increased absolutely and relative to domestic production from 1976 through 1978, but then decreased absolutely in the first quarter of 1979 versus the first quarter of 1978.

A Departmental survey of the major customers of Metropolitan Greetings, Incorporated revealed that the only customer which imported greeting cards did not decrease purchases from Metropolitan prior to the latter company's closure.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of Metropolitan Greetings, Incorporated, Cambridge, Massachusetts are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 4th day of June 1979.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 5, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 3, 1979, which was filed by the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers Union on behalf of workers and former workers producing insulated plastic bags at Nappe-Smith Manufacturing, Farmingdale, New Jersey. Nappe-Smith Manufacturing closed its Farmingdale, New Jersey, plant in August, 1978, and transferred all production of insulated plastic bags to another domestic plant.

Production of insulated plastic bags by the Nappe-Smith plant in Farmingdale, New Jersey, had increased each year, for the years 1975, 1976 and 1977, and, in the first half of 1978 compared to the like period in 1977.

New Jersey Machine Corp., Hoboken, N.J.; Notice of Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 10, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 9, 1979, which was filed by the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers Union on behalf of workers and former workers producing automatic packaging machinery at New Jersey Machine Corporation in Hoboken, New Jersey. The investigation revealed that the plant produces labeling machinery. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

Company sales and production of New Jersey Machine Corporation increased in 1977 as compared to 1976 and increased in 1978 as compared to 1977. Sales and production declined in the first quarter of 1979 as compared to the same quarter of 1978. A strike occurred at the company during the month of February 1979. The subsequent production levels were lower as the company resumed its production. In April 1979, sales exceeded the level of sales recorded for April of 1978.

No layoffs occurred in 1978 at New Jersey Machine Corporation, and employement remained stable in 1978 as compared to 1977. On February 16, 1979, a public announcement was made to transfer production to the New Jersey Machine of New Hampshire, Incorporated, another division of New Jersey Machine, Incorporated. Layoffs began in March 1979 due to the company's transfer of production.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of New Jersey Machine Corporation, Hoboken, New Jersey are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Norman S. Bailey Trucking Co., Iaeger, W. Va.; Notice of Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 5, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979, which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers of Norman S. Bailey Trucking Company, Iaeger, West Virginia, a transporter of coal.

Norman S. Bailey Trucking Company is engaged in providing the service of transporting coal by truck from a customer's mine to a coal cleaning plant.

Thus, workers of Norman S. Bailey Trucking Company do not produce an article within the meaning of Section 222(3) of the Act. Therefore, they must be certified only if their separation was caused importantly by a reduced demand for their services from a parent firm, a firm otherwise related to Norman S. Bailey Trucking Company by ownership, or a firm related by control. In any case, the reduction in demand for services must originate at a production facility whose workers independently meet the statutory criteria for certification and that reduction must directly relate to the product impacted by imports.

Norman S. Bailey Trucking Company and its customers have no controlling interest in one another. The subject firm is not corporately affiliated with any other company.

All Workers engaged in transporting coal by truck at Norman S. Bailey Trucking Company are employed by that firm. All personnel actions and payrolls transactions are controlled by Norman S. Bailey Trucking Company. All employee benefits are provided and maintained by Norman S. Bailey Trucking Company. Workers are not, at any time, under employment or supervision by customers of Norman S. Bailey Trucking Company. Thus, Norman S. Bailey Trucking Company, and not any of its customers, must be considered to be the "workers' firm".

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of Norman S. Bailey Trucking Company, Iaeger, West Virginia, are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Oak Ridge Coal Co., Oak Ridge No. 1 Mine, Levisay, W. Va., and K & M Mine No. 5, Quinwood, W. Va.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 5, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979, which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America, District 29 on behalf of workers and former workers mining metallurgical coal at Oak Ridge Coal Company, Incorporated's Oak Ridge No. 1 mine located in Levisay, West Virginia and K & M No. 5 mine located in Quinwood, West Virginia. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

While U.S. imports of metallurgical coal have been negligible, U.S. imports of coke increased absolutely and relative to domestic production from 1977 to 1978.

Coke is metallurgical coal at a later stage of processing. Since a domestic article may be "directly competitive with" an imported article at a later stage of processing, imports of coke can be considered in determining import injury to workers producing metallurgical coal at Oak Ridge Coal Company, Incorporated, Rupert, West Virginia.

Oak Ridge Coal Company, Incorporated, under contract, supplies metallurgical coal to domestic coal companies. A Departmental survey of these coal companies revealed that they had reduced purchases of coal from Oak Ridge as a result of declines in their own sales of metallurgical coal.

The Department of Labor also conducted a survey of the major customers purchasing metallurgical coal from the coal companies. Several of these customers reduced purchases from the coal companies and increased purchases of imported coke from 1977 to 1978.

Conclusion.

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with metallurgical coal mined at Oak Ridge Coal Company, Incorporated's Oak Ridge No. 1 mine located in Levisay, West Virginia and K & M mine No. 5 located in Quinwood, West Virginia, contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of Oak Ridge Coal Company, Incorporated's Oak Ridge No. 1 mine located in Levisay, West Virginia and K & M mine No. 5 located in Quinwood, West Virginia who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after March 27, 1978 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Ohio Brass Co., Inc., Oak Hill, W. Va.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 18, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 16, 1979 which was filed by Local 175 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters on behalf of workers and former workers producing electrical machinery for underground mining at the Ohio Brass Company, Incorporated, Oak Hill, West Virginia. The investigation revealed that the plant primarily produces underground mine rectifier systems. In the following determination, at least one of the criteria has not been met:

that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

Electrical rectifying systems for underground mining equipment can not be considered to be like or directly competitive with coke as alleged on the petition. Imports of electrical rectifying systems must be considered in determining import injury to workers producing electrical rectifying systems at the Ohio Brass Company, Rectifier Division, Oak Hill, West Virginia.

Evidence developed during the course of the investigation indicated that United States imports of electrical mining systems for underground mines are insignificant. Imports measured in value in 1978 are estimated to be about one quarter of one percent of domestic production.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of the Ohio Brass Company, Incorporated, Oak Hill, West Virginia are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Paley Associates, Inc., Dorchester, Mass.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 10, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 6, 1979 which was filed by the Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers' Union on behalf of workers and former workers producing men's outerwear, overcoats, topcoats, jackets (woolen) at Paley Associates, Dorchester, Massachusetts. The investigation revealed that the plant primarily produces men's woolen and leather outerwear. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

U.S. imports of men's and boys' outercoats and jackets increased relative to domestic production in 1978 compared with 1977.

U.S. imports of leather coats and jackets—men's, boys', women's, misses', juniors', and children's increased in 1978 compared with 1977.

Customers who were surveyed indicated that they decreased purchases of men's woolen outerwear from Paley Associates, Incorporated and increased their reliance upon foreign sources.

Customers who were surveyed indicated that they decreased purchases of men's leather outerwear from Paley Associates and increased their reliance upon foreign sources for similar products.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with men's woolen and leather outerwear produced at Paley Associates, Incorporated, Dorchester, Massachusetts contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 6, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on March 30, 1979 which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers formerly mining coal at Pott of Coal, Incorporated, the Willis Branch Strip Mine, Fayette County, West Virginia. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met.

that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and the absolute decline in sales or production.

Pott of Coal produced metallurgical coal for one domestic coal company on a commission basis. A Departmental survey conducted with Pott of Coal's customer revealed that the majority of the coal was exported to the customer's parent company in France.

Rich Creek Mining Co., Inc., Rich Creek Hollow, W. Va., Logan, W. Va.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 25, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 23, 1979 which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers mining coal at Rock Creek Mining Company, Davin, West Virginia. The investigation revealed that the name of the firm is Rich Creek Mining Company, Inc. and that Davin is only a mailing address. The mines are located in Rich Creek Hollow, West Virginia and the administrative office is located in Logan, West Virginia. The investigation was expanded to include the Rich Creek Hollow and Logan locations. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

The petition was filed on behalf of workers mining metallurgical coal. In accordance with Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974 and 29 CFR 90.2 a domestic article may be "directly competitive" with an imported article at a later stage of processing. Coke is metallurgical coal at a later stage of processing. Imports of coke and imports of metallurgical coal should be considered in determining import injury to workers mining metallurgical coal.

Although U.S. imports of metallurgical coal have been negligible, U.S. imports of coke increased absolutely and relative to domestic production from 1976 to 1977 and from 1977 to 1978.

Rich Creek Mining Company operated as a contractor for a small number of coal companies in the 1977–78 period. Those coal companies do not import metallurgical coal or coke. However, a Department survey revealed that several major customers had reduced their purchases from these coal companies in 1978 compared to 1977 as a result of a decline in their own sales of metallurgical coal to U.S. steel producers. These customers accounted for the preponderance of the decline in the coal companies' sales from 1977 to 1978. Further investigation revealed that those steel producers who reduced purchases of metallurgical coal from the coal companies' customers had increased imports of coke in 1978 compared to 1977.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with the metallurgical coal mined at the Rich Creek Mining Company, Inc., Rich Creek Hollow, West Virginia and Logan, West Virginia contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of the Rich Creek Hollow, West Virginia and Logan, West Virginia facilities of Rich Creek Mining Company, Inc., who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after July 15, 1978 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Roberts and Schaefer Company, Raleigh and Wyoming Counties, West Virginia is engaged in providing construction and engineering services to coal mining companies. Roberts and Schaefer Company is a subsidiary of Elgin National Industries, Incorporated, a watch and clock maker.

Thus, workers of Roberts and Schaefer Company, Raleigh and Wyoming Counties, West Virginia do not produce an article within the meaning of Section 222(3) of the Act. Therefore, they may be certified only if their separation was caused importantly by a reduced demand for their services from the parent firm, a firm otherwise related to Roberts and Schaefer Company by ownership, or a firm related by control. In any case, the reduction in demand for services must originate at a production facility whose workers independently meet the statutory criteria for certification and that reduction must directly relate to the product impacted by imports.

Robert and Schaefer Company and its customers have no controlling interest in one another. The parent firm does not produce coal.

Pursuant to Section 221 of the Trade Act of 1974, an investigation was initiated on May 24, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on May 16, 1979, which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers of Roberts and Schaefer, Beckley, West Virginia, engaged in contract construction work of preparation plants. Round Mountain Coal Corp., Surface Mine No. 1, Algoma, W. Va.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance.

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibiliity to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 5, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979 which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers mining metallurgical coal at Round Mountain Coal Corporation, Surface Mine No. 1, Algoma, West Virginia. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

Declines in coal shipments by Round Mountain Coal Corporation in 1978 occurred as a result of the United Mine Workers of America strike and the Norfolk and Western Railroad strike. Since June 1977 when Round Mountain began operations, company shipments of coal during non-strike periods (September through November 1978 and April 1979) increased compared to shipments during the same periods of the previous year.

Conclusion

Seagoing Uniform Corp., Brooklyn, N.Y.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 30, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 25, 1979 which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers sewing pants at the Seagoing Uniform Corporation, Brooklyn, New York. The investigation revealed that the plant produces primarily dungarees and work shirts for the military. The firm also produces jeans, skirts, shirts and jackets for non-military use, and an insignificant quantity of military dress uniforms. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met with respect to production of military dungarees and work shirts:

that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

Evidence developed during the course of the investigation revealed that the main customers of the Seagoing Uniform Corporation are Naval, Coast Guard and Marine base exchanges. The base exchanges use the Price Agreement Bulletin (PAB) system to purchase dungarees and work shirts. Section 824 of the Defense Appropriations Act of 1979 (Pub. L. 95-457) and the regulations promulgated thereunder (32 CFR 6-304.1) state in part that clothing will be procured only if produced in the United States or its possessions. In accordance with Federal regulations, all companies listed on the PAB are domestic firms. No foreign firms are eligible. Imports, therefore, would have no effect on declines in sales or production of dungarees and work shirts at Seagoing Uniform Corporation.

Without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met with respect to production of non-military jeans, skirts, shirts and jackets:

that sales or production, or both, of the firm or subdivision have decreased absolutely.

Company sales of non-military jeans, skirts, shirts and jackets increased from 1977 to 1978 and continued to increase in the first four months of 1979 compared to the same 1978 period.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of the Seagoing Uniform Corporation, Brooklyn, New York are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 8th day of June 1979.

The Sewell Coal Co., Nicholas County, W. Va.; Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

An investigation (TA-W-5184) was initiated on April 6, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 3, 1979 which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers at the Sewell Division, Nettie, West Virginia. The investigation revealed that the petition applied specifically to workers at Mine No. 4 of the Sewell Coal Company, Nicholas County, West Virginia. Another investigation (TA-W-5230) was initiated on April 12, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 9, 1979 which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers at Sewell Coal Company No. 4. The investigation revealed that this petition applied to all workers at the Sewell Coal Company, Nicholas County, West Virginia not working at Mine No. 4. This includes workers at Mines No. 1, 1A, 2, and Meadow River No. 1; workers at Tipples No. 1, 2, 4 and Meadow River; workers at the Central Shop; and, all other workers.

In the following determination, at least one of the criteria has not been met:

that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

Sources indicated that the Pittson Coal Division, the parent firm of the Sewell Coal Company, distributes the metallurgical coal mined and processed at the Sewell Coal Company primarily to foreign users. Therefore, any imports of coal or coke would have a negligible effect on the sales and/or production and employment at the Sewell Coal Company.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of The Sewell Coal Company, Nicholas County, West Virginia are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 5th day of June 1979.

Sigler Mining, Inc., Jodie, W. Va.; Notice of Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 16, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979 which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers producing coal at Sigler Mining, Incorporated, Jodie, West Virginia. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

Coke is metallurgical coal at a later stage of processing. Since a domestic article may be "directly competitive" with an imported article at a later stage of processing, imports of both coke and metallurgical coal can be considered in determining import injury to workers producing metallurgical coal at the Jodie, West Virginia mine of Sigler Mining, Incorporated.

Evidence developed during the course of the investigation revealed that Sigler Mining sells all of its coal to a larger coal company. The larger coal company does not purchase imported coal or coke. A Department survey revealed that none of the customers of the larger coal company purchased imported metallurgical coal and only one customer purchased imported coke. That customer represented an insignificant proportion of the larger coal company's sales in 1977 and 1978 and has not purchased coal from the larger coal company since April 1978, one year before layoffs at the Jodie, West Virginia mine of Sigler Mining took place.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of Sigler Mining, Incorporated, Jodie, West Virginia are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Skyland Textile Co., Morganton, N.C.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on March 8, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on March 5, 1979 which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers producing children's clothing at the Morganton, North Carolina plant of Skyland Textile Company, a division of Skyland International Corporation, Chattanooga, Tennessee. The investigation revealed that children's knit and woven tops and bottoms were produced, consisting of boy's sport shirts, tank tops, shorts and sport trousers; girls' blouses, skirts, dresses and shorts. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

Aggregate import statistics are not separately available for children's knit tops and bottoms.

U.S. imports of men's and boy's knit sport and dress shirts increased absolutely from 1976 to 1977 and from 1977 to 1978.

U.S. imports of men's and boy's dress and sport trousers and shorts increased absolutely from 1976 to 1977 and from 1977 to 1978.

U.S. imports of women's, misses' and children's blouses and shirts increased absolutely from 1976 to 1977 and from 1977 to 1978.

U.S. imports of women's, misses' and children's skirts increased absolutely from 1977 to 1978.

U.S. imports of women's, misses' and children's dresses increased absolutely in 1978 compared to 1977.

U.S. imports of women's, misses' and children's slacks and shorts increased absolutely and relative to domestic production from 1976 to 1977 and increased absolutely from 1977 to 1978.

Skyland International Corporation produces children's knit tops and bottoms for one manufacturer. This manufacturer experienced decreasing sales in 1978 versus 1977. The Department conducted a survey of that manufacturer's customers. Major customers reduced their purchases of children's knit tops and bottoms from the manufacturer and increased their purchases of imported children's tops and bottoms in 1978 compared to 1977.

The Morganton, North Carolina plant of Skyland Textile Company closed in February 1979.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with children's knit tops and bottoms produced at the Morganton, North Carolina plant of Skyland Textile Company, a division of Skyland International Corporation, Chattanooga, Tennessee contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of the Morganton, North Caroline plant of Skyland Textile Company who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after February 28, 1978 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 4th day of June 1979.

Southwell Combing Co., North Chelmsford, Mass.; Notice of Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 10, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 9, 1979 which was filed by the United Textile Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers producing scouring and combing fibers (worsted) at the North Chelmsford, Massachusetts plant of Southwell Combing Company. The investigation revealed that the plant produces primarily wool tops. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

U.S. imports of wool tops have been less than 2.0 percent of U.S. production in each of the years 1974 through 1977. Imports of wool tops decreased absolutely from 842 thousand pounds in 1977 to 470 thousand pounds in 1978.

Southwell Combing Company is a commission comber of wool fibers. In addition, it treats wool previously combed to inhibit shrinking, and also processes synthetic fiber. Synthetic fiber constitutes a small portion of sales and production. The department conducted a survey of customers of Southwell Combing Company. The survey revealed that most of these customers do not purchase imported wool tops, or wool treated for shrinking. None had decreased purchases from Southwell Combing Company and increased purchases of imports during the same time period.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of the Southwell Combing Company, North Chelmsford, Massachusetts are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 7th day of June 1979.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 23, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 11, 1979, which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers producing women's

That increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

The Department surveyed the manufacturers for whom Stanhope performs contract work. None of these manufacturers indicated that they purchased any imported women's blouses or other sportswear in 1977, 1978 or the first quarter of 1979.

Pursuant to Section 221 of the Trade Act of 1974, an investigation was initiated on April 16, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979 which was filed by the United Mine Workers Union on behalf of workers and former workers mining coal at the Jeffery Coal Company, Lynco, West Virginia. Triple W. Trucking Co., Inc., Beaver, W. Va.; Notice of Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 5, 1979, in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979, which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers of Triple W. Trucking Company, Incorporated, Beaver, West Virginia, engaged in hauling coal and stone.

Triple W. Trucking Company, Incorporated is engaged in providing the service of transporting coal by truck from a customer's mine to a tipple and of transporting rock.

Thus, workers of Triple W. Trucking Company, Incorporated do not produce an article within the meaning of Section 222(3) of the Act. Therefore, they may be certifed only if their separation was caused importantly by a reduced demand for their services from a parent firm, a firm otherwise related to Triple W. Trucking Company, Incorporated by ownership, or a firm related by control. In any case, the reduction in demand for services must originate at a production facility whose workers independently meet the statutory criteria for certification and that reduction must directly relate to the product impacted by imports.

Triple W. Trucking Company, Incorporated and its customers have no controlling interest in one another. The subject firm is not corporately affiliated with any other company.

All workers engaged in transporting coal by truck at Triple W. Trucking Company, Incorporated are employed by that firm. All personnel actions and payroll transactions are controlled by Triple W. Trucking Company, Incorporated. All employee benefits are provided and maintained by Triple W. Trucking Company, Incorporated. Workers are not, at any time, under employment or supervision by customers of Triple W. Trucking Company, Incorporated. Thus, Triple W. Trucking, Incorporated, and not any of its customers, must be considered to be the "workers' firm".

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of Triple W. Trucking Company, Incorporated, Beaver, West Virginia are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 5, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979 which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers mining metallurgical coal at Valley Services, Incorporated, Valley Surface Mine No. 2, Bolt, West Virginia. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

Evidence developed during the course of the investigation revealed that Valley Services' customer has reduced purchases of coal from Valley Services because of the customer's own loss of export sales. Valley Services, an independent coal contractor, sells all its coal to a single customer. Sales declines by the customer are accounted for by decreases in export sales.

Conclusion

Weyenberg Shoe Manufacturing Co., North Spring Street Plant Beaver Dam, Wisc.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 4, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 3, 1979 which was filed by the Boot and Shoe Workers Union on behalf of workers and former workers producing men's shoes at the North Spring Street plant, Beaver Dam, Wisconsin of the Weyenberg Shoe Manufacturing Company. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

U.S. imports of men's dress and casual footwear increased absolutely and relative to domestic production in 1977 compared to 1976 and increased relative to domestic production in 1978 compared to 1977. Imports as a percentage of domestic production exceeded 75 percent in 1976, 1977, and 1978.

Weyenberg owns and operates two men's footwear plants abroad in Ireland. Weyenberg increased imports of men's footwear in 1978 compared to 1977 and in the first quarter of 1979 compared to the first quarter of 1978.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with men's footwear produced at the North Spring Street plant, Beaver Dam, Wisconsin of the Weyenberg Shoe Manufacturing Company contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of the North Spring Street plant, Beaver Dam, Wisconsin of the Weyenberg Shoe Manufacturing Company who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after March 29, 1978 are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

White & Cole Coal Co., Inc., No. 10 Mine, Herndon, W. Va.; Certification Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 U.S.C. 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance, each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on May 10, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on May 9, 1979 which was filed on behalf of workers and former workers mining coal at the White and Cole Coal Company, Incorporated, #10 Mine, Herndon, West Virginia. It is concluded that all of the requirements have been met.

U.S. imports of metallurgical coal are negligible. However, in accordance with Section 222 of the Trade Act of 1974 and 29 CFR 90.2, a domestic article may be "directly competitive" with an imported article at a later stage of processing. Coke is metallurgical coal at a later stage of processing. Therefore, imports of coke as well as imports of metallurgical coal should be considered in determining import injury to workers producing metallurgical coal.

U.S. imports of coke increased absolutely and relatively in 1977 compared to 1976 and 1978 compared to 1977.

The White and Cole Coal Company is a contact mining operation and must deliver all of its coal to the larger coal company with whom it contracts. This larger coal company reduced the amount of its orders from White and Cole as a result of declines in its own sales of metallurgical coal in 1978 compared to 1977. A Departmental survey established that one major customer sharply reduced its purchases of metallurgical coal from the larger coal company in 1978 compared to 1977 due to a decline in its own sales of metallurgical coal to two large U.S. steel producers. This customer accounted for the preponderance of the decline in sales in 1978 compared to 1977 by the larger coal company for whom White and Cole contracts. Further investigation revealed that these steel producers increased imports of coke in 1978 compared to 1977.

Conclusion

After careful review of the facts obtained in the investigation, I conclude that increase of imports of articles like or directly competitive with metallurgical coal mined at the #10, Mine, Herndon, West Virginia of the White and Cole Coal Company, Incorporated contributed importantly to the decline in sales or production and to the total or partial separation of workers of that firm. In accordance with the provisions of the Act, I make the following certification:

All workers of the #10 Mine, Herndon, West Virginia, of the White and Cole Coal Company, Incorporated who became totally or partially separated from employment on or after January 4, 1979, are eligible to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

Wright Trucking & Mining Co., No. 9 Auger Mine, Mercer County, W. Va.; Notice of Negative Determination Regarding Eligibility To Apply for Worker Adjustment Assistance

In accordance with Section 223 of the Trade Act of 1974 (19 USC 2273) the Department of Labor herein presents the results of an investigation regarding certification of eligibility to apply for worker adjustment assistance.

In order to make an affirmative determination and issue a certification of eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance each of the group eligibility requirements of Section 222 of the Act must be met.

The investigation was initiated on April 6, 1979 in response to a worker petition received on April 2, 1979 which was filed by the United Mine Workers of America on behalf of workers and former workers mining metallurgical coal at the Wright Trucking and Mining Company's No. 9 Auger Mine, Mercer County, West Virginia. In the following determination, without regard to whether any of the other criteria have been met, the following criterion has not been met:

that increases of imports of articles like or directly competitive with articles produced by the firm or appropriate subdivision have contributed importantly to the separations, or threat thereof, and to the absolute decline in sales or production.

The Department's investigation revealed that customers for whom the subject firm does contract work do not purchase imported metallurgical coal or imported coke.

Conclusion

After careful review, I determine that all workers of the Wright Trucking and Mining Company's No. 9 Auger Mine, Mercer County, West Virginia are denied eligibility to apply for adjustment assistance under Title II, Chapter 2 of the Trade Act of 1974.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

Alabama Power Co.; Proposal by Electric Utility Subsidiary to Sell a Substation

June 7, 1979.

Notice is hereby given that Alabama Power Company ("Alabama"), P.O. Box 2641, Birmingham, Alabama 35291, an electric utility subsidiary of The Southern Company, a registered holding company, has filed a declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating Section 12(d) of the Act and Rule 44 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transaction. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transaction.

Alabama proposes to sell one of its substations to Alabama River Pulp Company, Inc. ("ARP"), such substation being located on ARP's property in Monroe County, Alabama, pursuant to ARP's request. It is proposed that such substation would be conveyed by Alabama to ARP for a sale price of $390,000. Alabama's book value of such substation is $384,912.24. Alabama will obtain from its first mortgage bond Trustee a release of such substation from the lien of Alabama's first mortgage indenture.

Alabama and ARP have heretofore entered into an electric service contract pursuant to which power is delivered by Alabama to ARP and ARP proposes to utilize the substation in connection with the receipt of power from Alabama. It is anticipated that there will be no substantial change in the proposed use of the transmission substation and, since it was constructed at ARP's request and is to be used for ARP's benefit and ARP has now determined that it would prefer to own the substation, Alabama considers it appropriate and in the interest of the public and Alabama's investors for ARP to purchase and own the substation.

The fees, commissions and expenses to be incurred by Alabama in connection with the proposed transaction are estimated at $3,500, including legal fees of $1,000. It is stated that no state or federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than July 2, 1979, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by the filing which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail upon the declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the General Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices or orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

George A. Fitzsimmons,

Secretary.

[Rel. No. 21091; 70-5213]

American Electric Power Co., Inc., et al.; Proposed Exemption From Competitive Bidding in Connection With Sale or Disposition of Gas Properties

June 5, 1979.

American Electric Power Company, Inc. ("AEP"), 2 Broadway, New York, New York 10004, a registered holding company, and two of its subsidiaries, Michigan Power Company ("MPC"), a gas and electric utility company, and Michigan Natural Gas Company ("MNG"), 100 South Main, Three Rivers, Michigan 49093, a presently inactive company, have filed with this Commission a post-effective amendment to their Plan previously filed and amended pursuant to section 11(e) and other applicable provisions of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act") and rules promulgated thereunder concerning the following proposed transaction. All interested persons are referred to the amended Plan, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transaction.

By order dated July 24, 1967 (HCAR No. 15800), AEP was authorized to acquire MPC (then known as Michigan Gas and Electric Company), a previously nonaffiliated company owning and operating a combination gas and electric utility business. Such acquisition was conditioned on AEP's divestitute of the gas utility properties of MPC, and the order of July 24, 1967, authorized their sale to Michigan Gas Utilities Company ("MGU"), a nonaffiliated gas utility company, the Commission reserving jurisdiction over such final disposition. To facilitate the divestitutre, AEP was authorized by order dated October 25, 1968 (HCAR No. 16196), to create MNG (then called MacLane Gas Company). MNG was to acquire MPC's gas properties and to issue and sell its securities to AEP, which was to sell such securities to MGU. By letter dated August 21, 1969, however, AEP advised the Commission that its agreement with MGU had been terminated due to MGU's inability to obtain the necessary financing.

About three years after termination of the agreement with MGU, AEP, MPC and MNG filed a Plan under Section 11(e) of the Act outling a program for ultimate divestitute of the gas properties. Part I of the Plan involved the redemption of MPC's preferred stock, which redemption was authorized by Memorandum Opinion and Order dated June 1, 1978 (HCAR No. 20569). Part II of the Plan involved term financing for MPC, which financing was authorized by order dated December 30, 1976 (HCAR No. 19828). The remainder of the Plan, none of which has been authorized, and further details of which will be supplied by future amendment, involves AEP's sale or dispostion of all of MNG's common stock for a consideration of cash or cash and debt securities or installment obligations of the purchaser, and the severance of all corporate and other ties of MNG with AEP and MPC in steps including (i) completion of the organization of MNG, (ii) sale and transfer of the gas utility properties of MPC to MNG free from the lien of MPC's mortgage, and (iii) establishment by MNG of the rates and tariffs by which it, as the successor operator of the gas distribution and other facilities, will render retail gas service.

In the instant post-effective amendment, AEP requests an exemption from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50 with respect to its proposed sale of the common stock of MNG pursuant to Rule 50(a)(5). AEP had previously been granted such an exemption for 90-day periods by orders dated June 13, 1973, and October 10, 1973 (HCAR Nos. 18007 and 18119), but no purchaser was found and no request to revew the exemption was filed until now. It is stated that AEP has contacted eleven utility systems which it believes might have an interest in acquiring some or all of the gas utility properties, and that it has received requests for additional information from several of the utilities it contacted. AEP believes it would be desirable to initiate further discussions with, and if warranted to negotiate with, such prospective purchasers concerning the terms on which AEP would be willing to sell and such prospective purchasers would be willing to buy the common stock of MNG.

The fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the request for exemption from competitive bidding will be supplied by amendment. It is stated that no state commission and no federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the requested exemption.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than June 29, 1979, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said Plan, as amended, which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail upon the applicants at the above-stated addresses, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date the Plan, insofar as it requests exception from competitive bidding, may be approved as provided in Rule 23 of the General Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, or the commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

Louisiana Power & Light Co.; Proposed Issuance and Sale of Preferred Stock at Competitive Bidding

June 7, 1979.

Notice is hereby given that Louisiana Power & Light Company ("Louisiana"), 142 Delaronde Street, New Orleans, Louisiana 70174, an electric utility subsidiary of Middle South Utilities, Inc. ("Middle South"), a registered holding company, has filed a declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), designating Sections 6(a) and 7 of the Act and Rule 50 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transaction. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transaction.

Louisiana proposes to issue and sell, subject to the competitive bidding requirements of the Act, not in excess of 2,400,000 shares of a newly-created class of preferred stock, cumulative, $25 par value. Louisiana's proposal to amend its charter to provide for such $25 preferred stock is pending before the Commission (File No. 70-6316). The $25 preferred stock is to be established by appropriate corporate action and, except as to the number of shares and designation, dividend rate, the date from which dividends commence to accumulate, the amounts payable upon redemption, the terms and amount of a possible sinking fund and matters relating to par value and certain voting rights (including matters relating to quorums and adjournments), will have the same rank and the same relative rights as the presently outstanding preferred stock of the company.

The dividend rate of the $25 preferred stock (which will be a multiple of ⅛ths of 1%) and the price to be paid to the company for the stock (which will be not less than $25 nor more than $25.70 per share, plus accumulated dividends, if any) will be determined by competitive bidding. The terms of such stock will include a prohibition until July 1, 1984, against refunding the stock, directly or indirectly, with funds derived from the issuance of securities at a lower effective interest or dividend cost. Louisiana presently expects that the terms of the stock will not include a sinking fund. In the event, however, that market conditions require, in the opinion of the company, that the terms of the stock include a sinking fund, the company may amend the declaration to provide therefor.

The declaration states that in the event that market conditions change so that, in the opinion of the company, the market for $100 par value preferred stock is more favorable that that for $25 preferred stock, Louisiana may amend the declaration to propose the issuance and sale of not in excess of 600,000 shares of its $100 par value preferred stock in lieu thereof.

Louisiana will apply the net proceeds derived from the issue and sale of the $25 preferred stock to the payment in part of short-term borrowings estimated to total $120,000,000 at the time the sale proceeds are received, to the financing in part of the company's construction program, and to other corporate purposes.

The fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions are estimated at $160,000, including legal fees of $47,000 and auditors' fees of $15,000. It is stated that no state commission and no federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than July 3, 1979, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by the filing which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail upon the declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the General Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices or orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

[Release No. 21094; 70-6244]

Lowell Gas Co. and Cape Cod Gas Co.; Supplemental Notice of Proposed Issuance and Sale of First Mortgage Bonds to Institutional Investors Pursuant to a Private Offering

June 11, 1979.

Notice is hereby given that Lowell Gas Company ("Lowell"), 95 East Merrimack Street, Lowell, Massachusetts 01853, and Cape Cod Gas Company ("Cape Cod"), P.O. Box 1360, Hyannis, Massachusetts 02601, public utility subsidiaries of Colonial Gas Energy System ("Colonial"), a registered holding company, have filed with this Commission an amendment to the joint-declaration in this proceeding pursuant to Sections 6 and 7 of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("Act"), and Rule 50(a)(5) promulgated thereunder regarding the private placement of first mortgage bonds. All interested persons are referred to the amended declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

On October 7, 1977, Colonial filed an application for exemption under Section 3(a)(1) of the Act (File No. 31–763). Its application for exemption is pending. Pursuant to a Stipulation in that proceeding dated January 26, 1978, entered into by Colonial and the Division of Corporate Regulation pending the development of a plan of financial simplification or recapitalization by Colonial appropriate to the requirements for exemption under Section 3(a)(1), Colonial has registered as a public utility holding company under Section 5(a) for the limited purpose of complying with the provisions of Sections 6, 7 and 12(b) of the Act.

Lowell and Cape Cod filed in this proceeding a joint-declaration and an amendment thereto seeking authorization to issue and sell common stock to Colonial for a maximum aggregate purchase price of $1,000,400 and $899,755, respectively, and to privately place up to $1,250,000 of Lowell's first mortgage bonds and up to $1,250,000 of Cape Cod's first mortgage bonds. The proposed transactions were duly noticed on March 9, 1979 (HCAR No. 20951). By order dated April 4, 1979 (HCAR No. 20992), the Commission authorized the proposed issuance and sale of the subsidiary common stock and granted the companies an exception under Rule 50(a)(5) from competitive bidding in connection with the sale of the bonds. Jurisdiction was reserved over the terms of the bonds and with respect to any fees, expenses or commissions to be paid or incurred in connection with the issuance and sale of the bonds. Pursuant to the April 4, 1979 order, Lowell issued and sold 44,300 shares of its common stock to Colonial for an aggregate purchase price of $908,150, and Cape Cod issued and sold 54,000 shares of its common stock to Colonial for an aggregate purchase price of $719,820.

The companies have now filed an amendment to the joint-declaration seeking authorization to sell up to $2,000,000 of Lowell's 11⅝% First Mortgage Bonds ("Lowell Bonds") and up to $1,000,000 of Cape Cod's 11⅝% First Mortgage Bonds ("Cape Cod Bonds"). The Lowell Bonds and Cape Cod Bonds (collectively, the "Bonds") are to be sold to John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company.

The companies' capital structure as of March 31, 1979, and pro forma is shown in the following table.

Under their respective indentures, Lowell and Cape Cod may issue first mortgage bonds only if pro forma net income before bond interest and income taxes is at least two times mortgage bond interest charges for a period of twelve consecutive calendar months preceding the issuance. The holders of the outstanding bonds are institutional investors and it is expected that the required percentage of holders of Cape Cod's outstanding first mortgage bonds will waive the latter requirement in order to permit the issuance and sale of the Cape Cod Bonds.

The bonds will be issued under each company's indenture of mortgage and deed of trust, as amended and supplemented, and will be of equal rank with the outstanding bonds. The bonds will have an average life of 10.54 years and will not be redeemable for five years nor refundable for an additional five years in anticipation of borrowings having a lower effective interest cost or a shorter weighted average life than that remaining on the bonds.

The Lowell Bonds and Cape Cod Bonds will mature June 15, 1995 and June 1997, respectively, and will be subject to sinking funds, under which Lowell and Cape Cod will retire $1,760,000 and $880,000 of bonds, respectively. Sinking fund requirements begin in the third year and retirements thereunder increase at designated intervals. Dividends may be paid out of net earnings arising after December 31, 1978, available for capital stock dividends plus $800,000 in the case of Lowell. As of November 30, 1978, substantially all of the retained earnings of Lowell and Cape Cod are restricted from payment of dividends under their bank credit agreements and certain supplemental indentures.

The fees and expenses incurred or to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions will be filed by amendment. The Massachusetts

Department of Public Utilities has jurisdiction over the proposed issue and sale of bonds. No other state or federal commission, except this Commission, has jurisdiction over such transaction.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than June 28, 1979, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by the amendment which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail upon the declarant at the above-stated addresses, and proof of service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as amended or as it may be further amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive any notices or orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

Notice is hereby given that Narragansett Capital Corporation ("Narragansett"), registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "Act") as a non-diversified, closed, end, management investment company and licensed as a small business investment company under the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, and Bevis Industries, Inc. ("Bevis"), a corporation presumed to be controlled by Narragansett (hereinafter Narragansett and Bevis are collectively referred to as "Applicants"), 40 Westminster Street, Providence, Rhode Island 02903, filed an application on March 27, 1979, and an amendment thereto on June 1, 1979, for an order pursuant to Section 17(b) of the Act, exempting from the provisions of Section 17(a) of the Act, and pursuant to Section 17(d) of the Act and Rule 17d-1 thereunder, permitting, certain proposed transactions to be made in connection with the acquisition by MDP Holding Corporation ("MDP"), a wholly-owned subsidiary of Bevis, of all of the issued and outstanding stock of MD Pneumatics, Inc. ("Pneumatics"). All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations contained therein, which are summarized below.

Applicants state that Narragansett owns approximately 35.5%of the outstanding shares of Bevis, and that, as a group, the officers and directors of Narragansett own less than 1% of the outstanding shares of Bevis. According to the application, Bevis, which had engaged, inter alia, in the business of manufactureing and selling Christmas cards, (i) filed a voluntary petition in United States District Court for the Southern District of New York ("Court") for an arrangement under Chapter XI of the Federal Bankruptcy Act on April 15, 1974, and (ii) in connection therewith, filed a debtors arrangement which , as amended, was confirmed by order of the Court on April 23, 1975. Applicants state that in 1976, Bevis embarked on a program (i) to reduce its expenses by disposing of most of its properties and curtailing its then existing business and (ii) to acquire existing profitable businesses. According to the application, the first acquisition in this program was the acquisition of Greenville Tube Corporation ("Greenville") by a wholly-owned subsidiary of Bevis. Applicants assert that Greenville is the only operating compnay presently owned by Bevis, and that the proposed acquisition of Pneumatics, a compnay which has been consistently profitable over the past five years, should complement the Greenville acquisition.

Applicants state that Pneumatics is engaged in the business of manufacturing and selling blowers and air pumps for industrial uses. They further, state that Pneumatics was organized under the laws of the State of Missouri in 1972 to acquire the assets and business of MGD Pneumatics, Inc., a subsidiary of North American Rockwell Corporation, and that at the time of such acquistion (i) Narragansett acquired fifty percent of the common stock of Pneumatics for an aggregate purchase price of $200,000 and made a subordinated loan to Pneumatics in the amount of $1,500,000 and (ii) ten employees of MGD Pneumatics, Inc. (the "Management Stockholders"), including Earl L. Fester ("Fester"), currently president of Pneumatics, purchased the remaining fifty percent of the common stock of Pneumatics. According to the application, the subordinated loan to Pneumatics has been fully repaid. Applicants represent that during 1978 Narragansett exchanged its voting common stock in Pneumatics for the same number of shares of newly authorized Class B non-voting common stock.

MDP proposes to purchase all of the outstanding shares of Pneumatics, pursuant to a stock purchase agreement ("Stock Purchase Agreement") among MDP, Bevis, Narragansett and the Management Stockholders, for $5,500,000 (subject to adjustment as described below): $600,000 payable in cash within 10 days of closing, and the balance to be represented by subordinated installment notes ("Notes") bearing interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum and payable in principal installments (subject to adjustment) of $550,000 on April 1 of 1980, 1981, 1982, and 1983, and $2,700,000 on September 30, 1984. According to the application, the cash payment of $600,000 will, in part, be financed by a term loan ("Term Loan") from Industrial National Bank of Rhode Island ("INbank"). The loan agreement ("INbank Loan Agreement") provides that Bevis shall loan to MDP not less than $200,000 of the proceeds from the sale, described below, of its common stock to Pneumatics' stockholders and employees, and that MDP shall apply such funds to the partial payment of the Term Loan.

Applicants state that the Notes will be subordinate to any indebtedness of MDP which is incurred in compliance with the provisions of the Stock Purchase Agreement (other than indebtedness to Narragansett, none of which is outstanding or contemplated), and that no payments of principal or of interest would be payable on the Notes if MDP is in default with respect to any such indetedness. Applicants further state that individual installments of principal (excluding the September 30, 1984, installment) will be deferred to the extent that the Adjusted Net Income (as defined in the Stock Purchase Agreement) of Pneumatics for the fiscal year ending immediately prior to the April installment in question is less than $550,000, and that any such deferred installments shall be payable on the following April 1, to the extent that the Adjusted Net Income of Pneumatics for the last fiscal year ending prior to such following April 1 exceeds the installment of principal due on such following April 1. According to the application, payments of principal will be allocated to the earliest unpaid deferred installments, and all unpaid deferred installments shall become payable on September 30, 1984.

Applicants state that the principal amounts due under the Notes are subject to reduction with respect to the September 30, 1984, installment of principal in the event Pneumatics' "warranted pre-tax income" less any "warranted pre-tax loss" (as those terms are defined in the Stock Purchase Agreement) for the period commencing on the closing date and ending on the fifth anniversary of such date does not exceed $7,000,000. Applicants further state that the reduction, if any, will equal the total of (i) the excess of $7,000,000 over the actual amount of warranted pre-tax income, after deducting any warranted pre-tax loss, and (ii) any excess interest paid or accrued on the Notes in light of the reduced purchase price, except that in no event will the reduction exceed $2,700,000. According to the application, under a Guarantee and Pledge Agreement, payment of the Notes will be guaranteed by Bevis and will be secured by a pledge by Bevis of all of the outstanding stock of MDP, which stock shall be the sole recourse against Bevis.

Applicants state that the Stock Purchase Agreement contains certain other convenants and restrictions respecting the conduct of the business of Pneumatics until the payment in full or other satisfaction of the Notes, including: (i) that MDP and Bevis not sell, transfer or encumber the shares of common stock of Pneumatics, or shares of capital stock of MDP, except as specifically provided by the Stock Purchase Agreement; (ii) that MDP furnish to Fester, on a regular basis, certain financial information regarding MDP and Bevis; (iii) restrictions on MDP and Pneumatics incurring indebtedness or creating liens; (iv) that MDP and Pneumatics not consolidate or merge, or dispose of any substantial portion of their properties or assets; and (v) that Pneumatics continue to maintain its incentive compensation and profit sharing plans, and maintain a $1,000,000 life insurance policy on the life of Fester. According to the application, these convenants and restrictions can be waived by the content of the holders of 80% of the total original principal amount of the Notes. The Applicants further state that, under the provisions of the Stock Purchase Agreement, Management Stockholders are given a right of first refusal exercisable in case of the sale by Bevis or MDP of the capital stock of MDP or Pneumatics, respectively, or in case of the sale of all or substantially all of Pneumatics' assets. The Stock Purchase Agreement also provides that Fester and Charles V. Malone (also a Management Stockholder) shall be two of the four directors of MDP and Pneumatics until the satisfaction of MDP's obligations under the Notes, provided there is no default on the Notes or on any indebtedness not subordinate to the Notes.

The application also describes certain other agreements respecting and relating to the proposed acquisition of Pneumatics shares by MDP: (i) an employment agreement with Fester, expiring December 31, 1983, under which Fester will be given full independent authority to manage Pneumatics, subject only to the direction of the board of directors of Pneumatics; (ii) an agreement by the Management Stockholders and certain other Pneumatics employees to purchase a total of 140,000 shares of Bevis common stock at a price of $2.00 per share, which price, Applicants asserts, reflects fairly the value of the Bevis stock to be issued in light of the restrictions on transfer and the amount of such stock being sold; (iii) an amendment to an existing agreement among the principal shareholders of Bevis which provides for the representation on the Bevis board of directors of the various principal shareholders of Bevis, and extends until January 2, 1984, certain restrictions on the transfer of Bevis stock imposed by the existing Bevis stockholders' agreement; (iv) the INbank Loan Agreement, referred to above, which also provides for certain modifications to an existing loan agreement between INbank and Pneumatics to permit the acquisition of Pneumatics by MDP, and which makes Narragansett, the Management Stockholders and Bevis parties to the INbank Loan Agreement for various purposes; and (6) the Guarantee and Pledge Agreement referred to above.

Section 2(a)(3) of the Act includes within the definition of "affiliated person" of another person: (1) any person controlled by such other person; (2) any person five percent or more of whose outstanding voting securities are owned by such other person and (3) any employee, officer or director of such other person. Section 2(a)(9) of the Act provides, in part, that any person owning, directly or indirectly, more than 25 per centum of the voting securities of a company shall be presumed to control such company. Accordingly, it appears, inter alia that Bevis and MDP are affiliated persons of, and presumed to be controlled by, Narragansett.

Section 17(a) of the Act provides, in part, that it is unlawful for any affiliated person of a registered investment company or any affiliated person of such person, acting as principal: (1) knowingly to sell any security or other property to such registered company or to any company controlled by such registered company, unless such sale involves solely securities of which the buyer is the issuer, or (2) knowingly to purchase from such registered company or from any company controlled by such registered company, any security or other property, except securities of which the seller is the issuer. Section 17(b) of the Act generally provides that, upon application, the Commission shall exempt a proposed transaction from the provisions of Section 17(a) of the Act if evidence establishes that the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid or received, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned and the proposed transaction is consistent with the policy of the registered investment company concerned and with the general purposes of the Act. Thus, Narragansett requests an order pursuant to Section 17(b) of the Act, exempting from the provisions of Section 17(a) of the Act, (i) the sale by MDP of the Notes to Narragansett and (ii) the purchase by MDP from Narragansett of shares of Class B non-voting common stock of Pneumatics.

Section 17(d) of the Act and Rule 17d–1 thereunder, taken together, provide, in part, that it is unlawful for an affiliated person of a registered investment company, or an affiliated person of such person, acting as principal, to effect any transaction in which such investment company is a joint participant, without the permission of the Commission. Rule 17d–1 provides, in part, that in passing upon applications for orders granting such permission, the Commission will consider (i) whether the participation of the investment company in such transaction on the basis proposed is consistent with the provisions, policies and purposes of the Act, and (ii) the extent to which such participation is on a basis different from or less advantageous than that of other participants. Applicants state that the proposed transactions described in the application are interrelated, involve affiliated persons of Narragansett or affiliated persons of such persons, and may be deemed to be part of a joint enterprise or other joint arrangement. Thus, Applicants request an order of the Commission, pursuant to Section 17(d) of the Act and Rule 17d–1 thereunder, permitting all such proposed transactions.

Applicants assert that the terms of the proposed transactions are the result of throughly arm's-length negotiations among the parties, each of whom was represented by independent counsel, and that, based upon ordinary standards of valuation, the price and terms of the purchase of Pneumatics stock are fair and reasonable to all parties. Applicants state that discounting the $4,900,000 in face amount of the Notes at 10% to a present-day cash value of approximately $3,420,000 and adding to this amount the $600,000 cash down payment, represents a price of approximately 11.93 times the average after-tax earnings of Pneumatics over its fiscal years ended March 31, 1977 and 1978, and a lower multiple of its anticipated after-tax earnings for the current fiscal year. Applicants submit that, although the 11.93 multiple represents a higher multiple of earnings than Pneumatics' stockholders (including Narragansett) could expect to receive from most other potential purchasers, MDP can pay this amount because Bevis expects a carryover of net operating losses which should be available to MDP through 1981. Thus, Applicants note that part of the income generated by Pneumatics, which will be utilized to pay off the Notes, will not be subject to federal income tax. Applicants further submit that, if the net operating losses should prove not to be available, the selling stockholders are adequately secured by the pledge of MDP stock. Applicants state that the exposure of Bevis is essentially limited to its down payment plus any other principal payments previously made, and note that the inability of Pneumatics to generate the projected earnings should result in a reduction of the purchase price. Applicants further state that the sales and earnings of Pneumatics have been increasing over the past five years, and that they believe the Management Stockholders are confident that the warranted earnings can be realized. They also state that, because the selling stockholders view the transaction as capital gains oriented, the parties are justified in setting the interest rate on the Notes at the minimum rate which would avoid imputed interest for federal income tax purposes.

Applicants submit that the proposed transaction does not involve overreaching by any person, and that all Bevis shareholders are treated equally and given an equal chance to receive a fair return on their investment in Bevis. Applicants further submit that all shareholders of Narragansett are treated equally, with an equal chance to recoup on one of the major investments of Narragansett. They assert that the proposed transaction is consistent with Narragansett's investment policy, and state that the proposed transaction is substantially beneficial to the public shareholders of Narragansett and Bevis, as well as to the Management Stockholders and, therefore, is consistent with the intent and purposes of the Act.

Applicants state that all participants will participate in the proposed transaction on the same basis, except that (i) Fester will enter into an employment agreement and (ii) Management Stockholders and certain other Pneumatics employees will be purchasing Bevis common stock. Applicants assert that the success of Pneumatics is largely attributable to the management talents of Fester, and that the employment agreement is a necessary inducement to him, as a major stockholder of Pneumatics, to agree to the proposed transaction and to continue his relationship with Pneumatics until the Notes are fully paid. Applicants further state that the proposed equity investment in Bevis by Pneumatics' employees is designed to assure that such employees continue to have an equity interest in the success of Pneumatics and to provide funds to Bevis. Narragansett states that it will not buy additional Bevis common stock because the regulations of the Small Business Administration ("SBA") prohibit any additional investment by Narragansett in Bevis without the approval of the SBA. Applicants state that Narragansett's past dealings with the SBA indicate that the SBA would not consent to any additional investment in Bevis.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than June 29, 1979, at 10:00 a.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail upon Applicants at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney-at-law, by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. As provided by Rule 0–5 of the Rules and Regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application will be issued as of course following said date unless the Commission thereafter orders a hearing upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive any notices and orders issued in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management, pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

[Release No. 15909; SR–NASD–78–17]

National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc.; Order Approving Proposed Rule Change

June 11, 1979.

On November 15, 1978, the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. ("NASD"), 1735 "K" Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 2006, filed with the Commission pursuant to Section 19(b)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 U.S.C. 78s(b)(1) (the "Act"), and Rule 19b-4 thereunder, copies of a proposed rule change to amend the portion of Appendix C to Article III, Section 32 of its Rules of Fair Practice that requires NASD members to review annually their fidelity bonding coverage. The proposed rule change revises the formula used by members entering their second year of business in determining the adequacy of their fidelity bonding coverage. Under the proposed rule change, members entering into their second year of business generally would be required to carry a lower amount of coverage than they are currently required to carry. The proposed rule change also allots more time to all members to make any required adjustment in their bonding coverage. The NASD states that the purposes of the proposed rule change are to: (a) establish comparable bonding requirements for members in their second year of business and for members simiarly situated in subsequent years of business and (b) afford all members a better opportunity to obtain bonding coverage at competitive and reasonable rates.

Notice of the proposed rule change, together with the terms of substance of proposed rule change, was given by publication of a Commission Release (Securities Exchange Act Release No. 34–15396, December 13, 1978) and by publication in the Federal Register (43 FR 60682, December 28, 1978). No comments were received by the Commission with respect to the proposed rule change.

The Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the requirements of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to a national securities association, and in particular, the requirements of Section 15A, and the rules and regulations thereunder. Among other things, that Section permits a registered securities association to deny membership to or condition the membership of a registered broker or dealer if it does not meet such standards of financial responsibility as are prescribed by the rules of the associaiton. The Commission believes that the proposed rule change may facilitate the attainment of that objective in a manner which is not designed to permit unfair discrimination among brokers and dealers. In addition, the Commission believes that the effect of the proposed rule change may be to reduce unnecessary burdens on competition by facilitating the ability of smaller broker-dealers to obtain adequate bonding insurance at a reasonable price.

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to Section 19)b)(2) of the Act, that the above-mentioned proposed rule change be, and it hereby is, approved.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation pursuant to delegated authority.

George A. Fitzsimmons,

Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Customs Service

Certain Textiles and Textile Products From Thailand; Final Countervailing Duty Determination

AGENCY: U.S. Customs Service, Treasury Department.

ACTION: Final Countervailing Duty Determination.

SUMMARY: This notice is to inform the public that a countervailing duty investigation has resulted in a final determination that the Government of Thailand has not given benefits which are considered to be bounties or grants under the countervailing duty law on the manufacture, production, or exportation of men's and boys' apparel and textile mill products of cotton, wool and manmade fibers.

EFFECTIVE DATE: June 19, 1979.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Leon McNeill, Technical Branch, Duty Assessment Division, Office of Operations, U.S. Customs Service, 1301 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20229, telephone 202-566-5492.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On January 12, 1979, a notice of "Preliminary Countervailing Duty Determination" was published in the Federal Register (44 FR 2747). The notice stated that the Government of Thailand had not provided benefits constituting bounties or grants within the meaning of section 303 or the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1303), to manufacturers of textiles and textile products which export to the United States. One practice—an exemption for three to eight years from corporate income taxes for certain companies approved by the Board on Investment—was found to have provided benefits to one manufacturer during 1977. However, that company does not export to the United States, and accordingly that benefit does not constitute a "bounty or grant" within the meaning of the U.S. countervailing duty law.

The preliminary determination also stated that certain other practices of the Government of Thailand did not on their face constitute bounties or grants, including advisory technical and training services provided for a charge to manufacturers by the Ministry of Industry, and rebate of a business tax imposed on raw material used in export production.

Furthermore, it was preliminarily determined that certain programs did not constitute bounties or grants because they were either not applicable to or not used by the textile industry of Thailand, including fiscal benefits granted by the Board of Investment for locating in certain specified areas of the country, benefits granted to companies in areas controlled by the Industrial Estate Authority, relief from "business taxes" (levied on gross monthly receipts), and exemption from exchange controls or remittance of profits and dividends.

Interested parties were invited to submit relevant data, views or arguments either orally or in writing with respect to the preliminary determination. However, no additional information has been received. In view of the foregoing, for the reasons explained in the notice of "Preliminary Countervailing Duty Determination", the conclusions reached in that determination remain unchanged and it is hereby finally determined that no bounty or grant is being paid or bestowed, directly or indirectly, within the meaning of section 303 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1303), upon the manufacture, production or exportation of textile mill products or men's and boys' apparel from Thailand.

For purposes of this notice "textile mill products" include yarns, fabrics, household textiles, miscellaneous products of textile mills, and certified handloomed and folklore products, made of cotton, wool and manmade fibers, as specified in the U.S. bilateral textile agreements and described by the Tariff Schedules of the United States Annotated (TSUSA) item numbers set forth in the Appendix to the Federal Register notice published on October 13, 1978 (43 FR 47340). "Men's and boys' apparel" includes those items described by TSUSA item numbers in the Appendix to the above-cited Federal Register notice.

This notice is published pursuant to section 303 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1303).

Pursuant to Reorganization Plan No. 26 of 1950 and Treasury Department Order No. 101-5, May 16, 1979, the provisions of Treasury Department Order No. 165, Revised, November 2, 1954, and § 159.47 of the Customs Regulations (19 CFR 150.47), insofar as they pertain to the issuance of a final countervailing duty determination by the Commissioner of Customs, are hereby waived.

BILLING CODE 4810-22-M

Certain Textiles and Textile Products From Singapore; Final Countervailing Duty Determination

ACTION: Final Countervailing Duty Determination.

SUMMARY: This notice is to inform the public that a countervailing duty investigation has resulted in a final determination that the Government of Singapore has not given benefits which are considered to be bounties or grants under the countervailing duty law on the manufacture, production, or exportation of men's and boys' apparel and textile mill products of cotton, wool, and manmade fibers.

EFFECTIVE DATE: June 19, 1979.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Leon McNeill, Duty Assessment Division, Technical Branch, U.S. Customs Service, 1301 Constitution Avenue, NW., Washington, D.C. 20229, telephone (202) 566-5492.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On January 12, 1979, a notice of "Preliminary Countervailing Duty Determination" was published in the Federal Register (44 FR 2748). The notice stated that certain practices of the Government of Singapore provided benefits to manufacturers and/or exporters of the subject merchandise, but that such benefits did not constitute bounties or grants within the meaning of section 303, Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1303), because the amount of the total benefits, 0.05 percent of the value of the merchandise exported, was considered to be de minimis. The programs involved are:

(1) Tax benefits derived from the double deduction from gross corporate income of expenses incurred in promoting export sales by participation in certain overseas trade fairs. The value of this benefit has been calculated by multiplying the amount of the deduction allowed eligible companies which exported to the United States in 1977 by the standard corporate income tax rate, and spreading this amount over the companies' total export sales.

(2) Short-term financing at preferential interest rates provided by the Monetary Authority of Singapore (MAS). The MAS operates a program which allows exporters to discount the value of pre-export and export insurance bills of exchange (which are, essentially, sales and purchase contracts) with commercial banks at a rate lower than the one commercially available. In turn, these banks rediscount the bills of exchange with the MAS. The benefit conferred by this program is equal to the interest savings of those participating exporters which had business dealings with the United States in 1977, spread over the value of their total exports in that year.

The preliminary determination also stated that certain other practices of the Government of Singapore did not on their face constitute bounties or grants, including exemption from corporate income tax for companies increasing their investment in equipment and generally-available accelerated depreciation allowances for tax purposes.

Certain other programs were preliminarily considered not to constitute bounties or grants because they are not used by Singapore's textile and apparel industry, including an exemption from corporate income tax for companies designated as being part of a "pioneer" industry, and reduced corporate income taxes for companies granted "export enterprise status".

Finally, it was preliminarily determined that certain alleged practices do not exist in Singapore, including government loans available at preferential rates, preferential rental, tax, and utility rates for companies locating in designated industrial zones and free trade zones, and loans at preferential rates to exporters made by the Development Board of Singapore (DBS) and other sources.

Interested parties were invited to submit relevant data, views or arguments either orally or in writing with respect to the preliminary determination. However, no additional information has been received. In view of the foregoing, for the reasons explained in the notice of "Preliminary Countervailing Duty Determination", the conclusions reached in that determination remain unchanged and it is hereby finally determined that no bounty or grant is being paid or bestowed, directly or indirectly, within the meaning of section 303 of the Tariff Act of 1930, as amended (19 U.S.C. 1303), upon the manufacture, production or exportation of textile mill products or men's and boys' apparel from Singapore.

For purposes of this notice, "textile mill products" include yarns, fabrics, household textiles, miscellaneous products of textile mills, and certified handloomed and folklore products, made of cotton, wool and manmade fibers, as specified in United States bilateral textile agreements and described by the Tariff Schedules of the United States Annotated (TSUSA) item numbers set forth in the Appendix to the Federal Register notice published on October 13, 1978 (43 FR 47340). "Men's and boys' apparel" includes those items described by TSUSA item numbers in the Appendix to the above-cited Federal Register notice.

AGENCY: United States Treasury Department.

ACTION: Termination of Anitdumping Investigation.

SUMMARY: This notice is to advise the public that an antidumping investigation involving steel wire coat and garment hangers from Canada is being terminated. The investigation is being terminated as the result of a finding by the United States International Trade Commission that there is "no reasonable indication of injury or likelihood of injury" to the domestic industry caused by imports of the subject merchandise from Canada.

EFFECTIVE DATE: June 19, 1979.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Vincent P. Kane, U.S. Customs Service, Office of Operations, Duty Assessment Division, 1301 Constitution Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20229 (202–566–5492).

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On April 20, 1979, an "Antidumping Proceeding Notice" was published in the Federal Register with respect to steel wire coat and garment hangers from Canada (44 FR 23623).

The notice stated that Treasury had concluded that there was substantial doubt of injury to, or likelihood of injury to, an industry in the United States by reason of imports of steel wire coat and garment hangers from Canada. Accordingly, the United States International Trade Commission was advised of such doubt pursuant to section 201(c)(2) of the Antidumping Act of 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160(c)(2)) (hereinafter referred to as the "Act").

The United States International Trade Commission has determined, and on May 17, 1979, it advised the Secretary of the Treasury pursuant to section 201(c)(2) of the Act (19 U.S.C. 160(c)(2)), that there is no reasonable indication that an industry in the United States is being, or is likely to be, injured, by reason of the importation of steel wire coat and garment hangers, alleged to be sold at less than fair value, from Canada into the United States. This determination was published in the Federal Register on May 23, 1979 (44 FR 29990–2).

Accordingly, the antidumping investigation with respect to steel wire coat and garment hangers from Canada is hereby terminated, as provided for in section 201(c)(2) of the Act (19 U.S.C. 160(c)(2)).

These rules provide that an original and six (6) copies of protests to an application may be filed with the field official named in the Federal Register publication no later than the 15th calendar day after the date the notice of the filing of the application is published in the Federal Register. One copy of the protest must be served on the applicant, or its authorized representative, if any, and the protestant must certify that such service has been made. Also, the protestant shall specify the service it can and will provide and the amount and type of equipment it will make available for use in connection with the service contemplated by the TA application. The weight accorded a protest shall be governed by the completeness and pertinence of the protestant's information.

Except as otherwise specifically noted, each applicant states that there will be no significant effect on the quality of the human environment resulting from approval of its application.

A copy of the application is on file, and can be examined at the Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., and also in the ICC Field Office to which protests are to be transmitted.

GUN CONTROL

Published Firearms Laws of Political Subdivisions and States

Pursuant to the provisions of Section 921(a)(19), Title 18, United States Code, and Section 178.24, Title 27, Code of Federal Regulations (27 CFR, Part 178), the following is the annual revised compiled list of published ordinances of political subdivisions within the United States that are relevant to the enforcement of 18 U.S.C., Chapter 44, relating to firearms. State firearms laws are also included.

The list was developed from (a) copies of local firearms ordinances obtained through a national mail survey of political subdivisions, and (b) State firearms laws.

The Bureau applied the following criteria in deciding which firearms laws were relevant or nonrelevant to the enforcement of 18 U.S.C., Chapter 44.

RELEVANT

Firearms laws considered relevant to the enforcement of 18 U.S.C., Chapter 44, and therefore included in the accompanying list are those which:

1. Prohibit the sale, possession, or receipt of any type of firearms or ammunition, or allow any exemption to such prohibitions;
2. Prohibit the sale, possession, or receipt of any type of firearm or ammunition to or by a particular class of persons; e.g. aliens, felons, drug addicts, or mental incompetents;
3. Restrict the sale, possession, or receipt of firearms such as fully automatic firearms, short-barreled shotguns and rifles, and destructive devices; i.e. bombs, grenades, molotov cocktails, etc.;
4. Require waiting periods or notification to law enforcement officials before a weapon may be delivered to a purchaser;
5. Require a permit, license, or I.D. card before a weapon may be sold and/or delivered to a purchaser; and
6. Restrict the age at which a person may purchase a firearm or ammunition.

NOT RELEVANT

Firearms laws considered not relevant to 18 U.S.C., Chapter 44, and therefore not included in the accompanying list are those which:

1. Prohibit the carrying of weapons such as legal handguns, long-barreled rifles or shotguns, slingshots, dirks, daggers, etc. on persons or in vehicles;
2. Prohibit the discharge of weapons within city limits or on private property;
3. Require recordkeeping after sale of the firearms;
4. Require notification to local police departments of sale of firearms after the sale has been made; and
5. Require licenses for selling BB guns, slingshots, dirks, daggers, and other dangerous weapons.

This list comprises the 1979 list of published laws and implements Title 1 of the Gun Control Act of 1968 (82 Stat. 1213; 18 U.S.C., Chapter 44) and supersedes that list published on May 30, 1978 (43 FR 23201).

Sale of Weapons to Minors. It is unlawful for any person to sell or give to a minor under the age of eighteen years, without written consent of the minor's parent or legal guardian, a weapon, ammunition or toy pistol by which dangerous and explosive substances may be discharged.

Municipalities on both lists define "weapon" as follows:

"Weapon", as used in this section means anything readily capable of lethal use and possessed under circumstances not manifestly appropriate for lawful uses which it may have. The term "weapon" includes a firearm which is not loaded or lacks a clip or other component to render it immediately operable, and components which can readily be assembled into a weapon.

(a) convicted of a felony; or

(b) adjudicated a mental defective; or

(c) committed involuntarily to any mental institution; shall possess or own any firearm.

(3) A determination by a jury or a court that a person committed a felony shall not constitute a "conviction" for purposes of subsection (1) if the person is subsequently granted a pardon explicitly restoring the ability to possess a firearm.

COMPILER'S NOTE

It is the opinion of the Arkansas Attorney General that convicted felons who receive a full gubernatorial pardon before July 6, 1977, are no longer subject to a State ban on the possession of firearms. To have the same effect, pardons issued after the date must include language specifically authorizing possession of firearms

41-3104. Criminal use of prohibited weapons. (1) A person commits the offense of criminal use of prohibited weapons if, except as authorized by law, he uses, possesses, makes, repairs, sells, or otherwise deals in any bomb, machine gun, sawed-off shotgun, firearm specially made or specially adapted for silent discharge, * * * or other implement for the infliction of serious physical injury or death which serves no common lawful purpose.

(2) It is a defense to a prosecution under this section that:

(a) the person was a law enforcement officer, prison guard, or member of the armed forces acting in the course and scope of his duty at the time he used or possessed the prohibited weapon; or

(b) the defendant used, possessed, made, repaired, sold, or otherwise dealt in any of the above enumerated articles under circumstances negating any likelihood that the weapon could be used unlawfully.

(3) Criminal use of prohibited weapons is a class B felony if the weapon is a bomb, machine gun, or firearm specially made or specially adapted for silent discharge. Otherwise, it is a class D felony.

41-3105. Legitimate manufacture, repair, and transportation of prohibited weapons

Section 3104 [Sec. 41-3104] shall not be construed to prohibit the manufacture, repair, transportation, or sale of the weapons enumerated therein to or for authorized representatives of the armed forces or to or for the authorized representatives of any law enforcement agency.

41-3107. Possession of a defaced firearm. (1) A person commits the offense of possession of a defaced firearm if he knowingly possesses a firearm with a manufacturer's serial number, or other identification mark required by law, which has been removed, defaced, marred, covered, altered or destroyed.

(2) It is a defense to a prosecution under this section that the person reported such possession to the police or other governmental agency prior to arrest or the issuance of an arrest warrant or summons.

(3) Possession of a defaced firearm is a class A misdemeanor.

41-3108. Criminal possession of explosives. (1) A person commits the offense of criminal possession of explosives when he sells, possesses, manufactures or transports an explosive substance or incendiary device:

(a) if he has the purpose of using that substance or device to commit an offense; or

(b) if he knows or should know that some other person intends to use that substance or device to commit an offense.

(2) Criminal possession of explosives is a class B felony.

41-3109. Furnishing a deadly weapon to a minor. (1) A person commits the offense of furnishing a deadly weapon to a minor when he sells, barters, leases, gives, rents or otherwise furnishes a firearm or other deadly weapon to a minor without the consent of a parent, guardian, or other person responsible for general supervision of his welfare.

(2) Furnishing a deadly weapon to a minor is a class A misdemeanor.

41-3157. Uniform Machine Gun Act—Definitions. "Crime of Violence" applies to and includes any of the following crimes or an attempt to commit any of the same, namely, murder, manslaughter, kidnapping, rape, mayhem, assault to do great bodily harm, robbery, burglary, housebreaking, breaking and entering, and larceny.

"Person" applies to and includes firm, partnership, association or corporation.

41-3160. Offensive or aggressive purpose defined. Possession or use of a machine gun shall be presumed to be for offensive or aggressive purpose:

(a) when the machine gun is on premises not owned or rented, for bona fide permanent residence or business occupancy, by the person in whose possession the machine gun may be found; or

(b) when in the possession of, or used by, an unnaturalized foreign-born person, or a person who has been convicted of a crime of violence in any court of record, state or federal, of the United States of America, its territories or insular possessions; or

(c) when the machine gun is of the kind described in section 8 [Sec. 41-3164] and has not been registered as in said section required; or

41-3161. Evidence of possession or use of machine gun. The presence of a machine gun in any room, boat, or vehicle shall be evidence of the possession or use of the machine gun by each person occupying the room, boat, or vehicle where the weapon is found.

41-3162. Guns for military use may be manufactured. Nothing contained in this act [Secs. 41-3157—41-3167] shall prohibit or interfere with

1. the manufacture for, and sale of, machine guns to the military forces or the peace officers of the United States or of any political subdivision thereof, or the transportation required for that purpose;

2. the possession of a machine gun for scientific purpose, or the possession of a machine gun not usable as a weapon and possessed as a curiosity, ornament, or keepsake;

3. the possession of a machine gun other than one adapted to use pistol cartridges of 30 (.30 in. or 7.63 mm.) or larger caliber, for a purpose manifestly not aggressive or offensive.

41-3163. Manufacturer to keep register of guns manufactured. Every manufacturer shall keep a register of all machine guns manufactured or handled by him. This register shall show the model and serial number, date of manufacture, sale, loan, gift, delivery or receipt, of every machine gun, the name, address, and occupation of the person to whom the machine gun was sold, loaned, given, or delivered, or from whom it was received; and the purpose for which it was acquired by the person to whom the machine gun was sold, loaned, given or delivered, or from whom received. Upon demand every manufacturer shall permit any marshal, sheriff or police officer to inspect his entire stock of machine guns, parts, and supplies therefor, and shall produce the register, herein required, for inspection. * * *

41-3164. Guns now owned and in use to be registered. Every machine gun now in this State adapted to use pistol cartridges of 30 (.30 in. or 7.63 mm.) or larger caliber shall be registered in the office of the (secretary of state), on the effective date (Feb. 26, 1935) of this act, and annually thereafter. If acquired hereafter it shall be registered within 24 hours after its acquisition. Blanks for registration shall be prepared by the (secretary of state), and furnished upon application. To comply with this section the application as filed must show the model and serial number of the gun, the name, address and occupation of the person in possession, and from whom and the purpose for which the gun was acquired. The registration data shall not be subject to inspection by the public. Any person failing to register any gun as required by this section, shall be presumed to possess the same for offensive or aggressive purpose.

41-3168. Tear gas—Carrying or possession a misdemeanor. Any person who shall carry or have in his possession any tear gas in any form whatever, and any person who shall carry or have in his possession any gun, bomb, grenade, cartridge or other weapon designed for the discharge of tear gas, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Provided, it is lawful for a person to possess or carry, and use, a small container of tear gas to be used for self-defense purposes only, but the capacity of such cartridge or container shall not exceed fifty (50) cubic centimeters.

41-3169. Peace officers and banking institutions excepted from provisions of act. COMPILER'S NOTE

In the opinion of the California Attorney General: "California is not constitutionally required to recognize sister state gubernatorial or presidential pardons for purposes of section 12021. Nor is California compelled to recognize relief granted by federal authorities pursuant to 18 U.S.C. 925(c). However, under 18 U.S.C.A. 5034, states are required to recognize the expungement of a youth offender's conviction pursuant to 18 U.S.C.A. 5021. California would recognize such an expungement for purposes of section 12021."

Sec. 12070. Unlicensed business; offense. No person shall engage in the business of selling, transferring, advertising, offering, or exposing for sale or transfer, any pistol, revolver or other firearm capable of being concealed upon the person unless he has been issued a license pursuant to Section 12071. Any person violating this section is guilty of a misdemeanor. As used in this article, engaging in the business of selling or transferring concealable firearms does not include the infrequent sale or transfer, offering, exposing for sale, or advertising for sale any handgun at a gun show, swap meet or similar event.

As used in this section, "infrequent" means occasional and without regularity.

Sec. 12071. Retail licenses; business regulations. The duly constituted licensing authorities of any city or county may grant licenses in form prescribed by the Attorney General, effective for not more than one year from date of issue, permitting the licensee to sell at retail within the county, city and county, city, town or other municipality pistols, revolvers, and other firearms capable of being concealed upon the person, subject to the following conditions, for breach of any of which the license shall be subject to forfeiture. * * * * *

3. No pistol or revolver shall be delivered

(a) Within fifteen days of the application for the purchase, and when delivered shall be unloaded and securely wrapped; nor

(b) Unless the purchaser either is personally known to the seller or shall present clear evidence of his identity. * * * * *

Sec. 12072. Prohibited transfers; delivery of weapon; transfer to stranger; offense. No person, corporation or dealer shall sell, deliver, or otherwise transfer any pistol, revolver, or other firearm capable of being concealed upon the person to any person whom he has cause to believe to be within any of the classes prohibited by Section 12021 from owning or possessing such firearms, nor to any minor, under the age of 18 years. In no event shall any such firearm be delivered to the purchaser within fifteen days of the application for the purchase thereof, and when delivered such firearm shall be securely wrapped and shall be unloaded. Where neither party to the transaction holds a dealer's license, no person shall sell or otherwise transfer any such firearm to any other person within this state who is not personally known to the vendor. Any violation of the provisions of this section is a misdemeanor.

Sec. 12073. Register of sales; contents; exemptions. Every person in the business of selling, leasing or otherwise transferring a pistol, revolver or other firearm, of a size capable of being concealed upon the person, whether such seller, leasor or transferor is a retail dealer, pawnbroker, or otherwise, except as provided by this chapter, shall keep a register in which shall be entered the time of sale, the date of sale, the name of the salesman making the sale, the place where sold, the make, model, manufacturer's number, caliber, or other marks of identification on such pistol, revolver or other firearm.

This section shall not apply to wholesale dealers in their business intercourse with retail dealers, nor to wholesale or retail dealers in the regular or ordinary transport of unloaded firearms as merchandise to other wholesale or retail dealers by mail, express or other mode of shipment, to points outside of the city or county wherein they are situated.

Sec. 12078. Exemption of sales to government officers; identification; report of sale. The preceding provisions of this article do not apply to sales of concealable firearms made to persons properly identified as full-time paid officers of a city police department, sheriff's department, district attorney's office, the California Highway Patrol, or the State Department of Justice, nor to sales of concealable firearms made to authorized representatives of cities, cities and counties, counties, state or federal governments for use by such governmental agencies. Proper identification is defined as verifiable written certification from the head of the agency by which the purchaser is employed, identifying the purchaser and authorizing the purchase. The certification shall be delivered to the seller at the time of purchase and the purchaser shall identify himself as the person authorized in such certification. On the day the sale is made, the dealer shall forward by prepaid mail to the Department of Justice a report of such sale and the type of information concerning the buyer and the firearm sold as is indicated in Section 12077.

Sec. 12079. Mail orders; record of order; fee. 35-23-4.1-6 (10-4751f). Prohibited sales or transfers. No person, except an individual acting within a parent-child or guardian-ward relationship shall sell, give or in any other manner transfer the ownership of a handgun to any person under the age of eighteen [18], and in no event shall any person sell, give, or in any manner transfer the ownership or possession of a handgun to one who he has reasonable cause to believe has been convicted of a crime of violence, or is a drug addict, or is a habitual drunkard, or is of unsound mind.

35-23-4.1-7 (10-4751g). Persons to whom regulations apply—Waiting period—Application for sale or transfer of handgun—Fingerprints—Fee. The regulation of the sale of handguns imposed by this chapter [35-23-4.1-1—35-23-4.1-18] shall apply equally to an occasional sale, trade or transfer between individual persons and to retail transactions between dealers and individual persons.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, this section does not apply to sales at wholesale. No transferor shall deliver a handgun to a transferee until at least seven [7] calendar days shall have elapsed from the time of the application for the transfer and, when delivered, the handgun shall be securely wrapped and unloaded.

(1) The seven [7] day waiting period shall not apply to law-enforcement officers. Any law-enforcement officer who takes advantage of this exception to purchase a handgun for someone other than himself commits a class B misdemeanor.

(2) The seven [7] day waiting period shall also be waived for any person to whom a qualified or unlimited handgun-carrying license has been issued, upon exhibition of the license to the transferor. The transferor shall note on the application-to-purchase form the serial number of the license, the expiration date, the issuing authority, and the notation "waiting period waived," together with the date on which the handgun or handguns are released to the applicant. Any person using or seeking to use a false, counterfeit, spurious or altered handgun-carrying license to obtain a handgun contrary to the provisions of this chapter commits a class B misdemeanor.

(b) At the time of applying for the transfer of a handgun, the transferee shall complete and sign an application in triplicate in the presence of the transferor [contact State authorities for required contents] * * *. This application, in triplicate, shall be deposited with the transferor who shall, within eight [8] hours of the time of execution of the application, sign and attach his address and forward by first class mail or deliver in person one [1] copy of the application to the chief of police of the municipality or the sheriff of the county of which the purchaser is a resident; one [1] copy duly signed by the transferor shall at the same time be forwarded by him with his address to the superintendent; and he, the transferor, shall retain one [1] copy for six [6] years. If the superintendent shall by administrative rule require, the application forms forwarded to the superintendent may be accompanied by a full or partial set of legible and classifiable fingerprints of the transferee, taken by the transferor or by an agent of the transferor. Repeated instances of the transferor intentionally forwarding illegible fingerprints shall, in the case of a dealer, constitute grounds for the suspension or revocation of the dealer's license. Upon receipt of the handgun transfer application forms, the chief of police or sheriff, and the superintendent shall search the records of their respective departments concerning the transferee, and they shall forward immediately in both verbal and written form to the transferor any information constituting grounds for nondelivery of the handgun or handguns. In the case of the occasional transfer of a handgun between individuals, both the transferor and the transferee shall complete the application and fingerprint forms at any sheriff's office, police station, state police post, or licensed dealer, with the required fingerprints to be taken by a qualified person and the forms being forwarded to the appropriate chief of police or sheriff and to the superintendent, by the person taking the fingerprints. No charge shall be made for this service by any police agency; however, a dealer may charge a fee not to exceed two dollars [$2.00] for his services in assisting in the processing of the transfer, which fee is to be assessed of the transferor. It is the intent of this chapter that all sale forms shall be completed by the transferee in the presence of the transferor and that delivery of the handgun or handguns not take place until the seven [7] day waiting period has elapsed or has been waived as indicated above. Any notice from the chief of police or sheriff or from the superintendent indicating that the information on the transferee's application is untrue or incomplete or that the transferee has been convicted of a violation of this chapter or any crime of violence shall be grounds for nondelivery of the handgun or handguns, and in such case, delivery shall not occur without written approval of the superintendent.

(c) Delivery of a handgun by the transferor or his agent to the transferee prior to the expiration of the seven [7] day waiting period, except when the waiting period has been waived under this section, or delivery to any transferee without the superintendent's written approval after receiving notice of grounds for nondelivery is unlawful and in addition, constitutes grounds for the immediate suspension of the retail dealer's license.

(d) No additional record of any lawful transfer of any firearm shall be made or maintained by any local or state official or agency; and, all forms utilized in executing lawful firearm transfers, with the sole exception of those remaining with the transferor, shall be forwarded within six [6] months to the transferee indicated on the forms. Said forms shall then be retained by the transferee as proof of ownership of the firearm or firearms listed thereon.

35-23-4.1-8 (10-4751h). Retail dealer—License required. A retail dealer shall not sell, trade, or otherwise transfer or expose for sale, trade, or transfer, or have in his possession with intent to sell, trade or transfer, any handgun without being licensed under section 9 [35-23-4.1-9] of this chapter.

A retail dealer's license shall permit the licensee to sell handguns at retail within this state subject to the following conditions in addition to those specified elsewhere in this chapter for breach of any of which the license may be suspended or revoked in accordance with applicable law and in addition the licensee may be subject to punishment as provided in this chapter:

(a) The business shall be carried on only in the site designated in the license and a separate license shall be required for each separate retail outlet. In the event a licensed dealer moves his place of business, he shall promptly notify the superintendent, who shall at once issue an amended license certificate valid for the balance of the license period. This section shall not apply to sales at wholesale.

(b) The license, certified by the issuing authority, shall be displayed on the business premises in a prominent place where it can be seen easily by prospective customers.

(c) No handgun shall be sold in violation of any provisions of this chapter, nor shall any handgun be sold under any circumstances unless the purchaser is personally known to the seller or presents clear evidence of his identity.

A waiver of disability from United States authorities or a full pardon from the governor or other chief executive of the state, county or jurisdiction in which a conviction for any crime of violence or violation of this chapter [35-23-4.1-1—35-23-4.1-18] took place, shall, as to the conviction so pardoned, remove any disability under this chapter imposed by that conviction.

A person who sells, manufactures, purchases, possesses or carries with intent to use the same or cause the same to be used for an unlawful purpose, any bomb, bombshell, grenade, bottle or other container containing an explosive or inflammable substance commits a class C felony.

The statement shall be signed by the person applying for a permit. At the time of application, the local police authority shall provide the applicant with a dated receipt for the application.

Subd. 2. Investigation. The chief of police or sheriff shall check criminal histories, records and warrant information relating to the applicant through the Minnesota crime information system.

Subd. 3. Forms. Chiefs of police and sheriffs shall make transferee permit application forms available throughout the community. There shall be no charge for forms, reports, investigations, notifications, waivers or any other act performed or materials provided by a government employee or agency in connection with application for or issuance of a transferee permit.

Subd. 4. Grounds for disqualification. A determination by the chief of police or sheriff that the applicant is prohibited by section 624.713 from possessing a pistol shall be the only basis for refusal to grant a transferee permit.

Subd. 5. Granting of permits. The chief of police or sheriff shall issue a transferee permit or deny the application within seven days of application for the permit. The chief of police or sheriff shall provide an applicant with written notification of a denial and the specific reason for the denial. The permits and their renewal shall be granted free of charge.

Subd. 6. Permits valid statewide; renewal. Transferee permits issued pursuant to this section are valid statewide and shall expire after one year. A transferee permit may be renewed in the same manner and subject to the same provisions by which the original permit was obtained. Permits issued pursuant to this section are not transferable. A person who transfers a permit in violation of this subdivision is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Subd. 7. Permit voided. The transferee permit shall be void at the time that the holder becomes prohibited from possessing a pistol under section 624.713, in which event the holder shall return the permit within five days to the issuing authority. Failure of the holder to return the permit within the five days is a misdemeanor unless the court finds that the circumstances or the physical or mental condition of the permit holder prevented the holder from complying with the return requirement.

Subd. 8. Hearing upon denial. Any person aggrieved by denial of a transferee permit may appeal the denial to the county court or county municipal court having jurisdiction over the county or municipality in which the denial occurred.

Subd. 9. Permit to carry. A valid permit to carry issued pursuant to section 624.714 constitutes a transferee permit for the purposes of this section and section 624.7132.

Subd. 10. Transfer report not required. A person who transfers a pistol to a person exhibiting a valid transferee permit issued pursuant to this section or a valid permit to carry issued pursuant to section 624.714 is not required to file a transfer report pursuant to section 624.7132, subdivision 1.

624.7132 Report of transfer

Subdivision 1. Except as provided in this section and section 624.7131, every person who agrees to transfer a pistol shall report the following information in writing to the chief of police of the organized full-time police department of the municipality where the agreement is made or to the appropriate county sheriff if there is no such local chief of police:

(b) The sex, date of birth, height, weight and color of eyes of the proposed transferee;

(c) A statement by the proposed transferee that he is not prohibited by section 624.713 from possessing a pistol; and

(d) The address of the place of business of the transferor.

The report shall be signed by the transferor and the proposed transferee. The report shall be delivered by the transferor to the chief of police or sheriff no later than three days after the date of the agreement to transfer, excluding weekends and legal holidays.

Subd. 2. Investigation. Upon receipt of a transfer report, the chief of police or sheriff shall check criminal histories, records and warrant information relating to the proposed transferee through the Minnesota crime information system.

Subd. 3. Notification. The chief of police or sheriff shall notify the transferor and proposed transferee in writing as soon as possible if the chief or sheriff determines that the proposed transferee is prohibited by section 624.713 from possessing a pistol. The notification to the transferee shall specify the grounds for the disqualification of the proposed transferee and shall set forth in detail his right of appeal under subdivision 13.

Subd. 4. Delivery. No person shall deliver a pistol to a proposed transferee until seven days after the date of the agreement to transfer as stated on the report delivered to a chief of police or sheriff in accordance with subdivision 1 unless the chief of police or sheriff waives all or a portion of the seven day waiting period.

No person shall deliver a pistol to a proposed transferee after receiving a written notification that the chief of police or sheriff has determined that the proposed transferee is prohibited by section 624.713 from possessing a pistol.

If the transferor makes a report of transfer and receives no written notification of disqualification of the proposed transferee within seven days of the date of the agreement to transfer, the pistol may be delivered to the transferee.

Subd. 5. Grounds for disqualification. A determination by the chief of police or sheriff that the proposed transferee is prohibited by section 624.713 from possessing a pistol shall be the sole basis for a notification of disqualification under this section.

Subd. 6. Transferee permit. If a chief of police or sheriff determines that a transferee is not a person prohibited by section 624.713 from possessing a pistol, the transferee may, within 30 days after the determination, apply to that chief of police or sheriff for a transferee permit, and the permit shall be issued.

Subd. 7. Immediate transfers. The chief of police or sheriff may waive all or a portion of the seven day waiting period for a transfer.

Subd. 8. Report not required. (1) If the proposed transferee presents a valid transferee permit issued under Laws 1977, c. 349, section 3, or a valid permit to carry issued under section 624.714, the transferor need not file a transfer report.

(2) If the transferor makes a report of transfer and receives no written notification of disqualification of the proposed transferee within seven days of the date of the agreement to transfer, no report or investigation shall be required under this section for any additional transfers between that transferor and that transferee which are made within 30 days of the date on which delivery of the first pistol may be made under subdivision 4.

Subd. 9. Number of pistols. Any number of pistols may be the subject of a single transfer agreement and report to the chief of police or sheriff. Nothing in this section or section 624.7131 shall be construed to limit or restrict the number of pistols a person may acquire.

Subd. 10. Restriction on records. If, after a determination that he is not a person prohibited by section 624.713 from possessing a pistol, a transferee requests that no record be maintained of the fact that he is the transferee of a pistol, the chief of police or sheriff shall sign the transfer report and return it to the transferee as soon as possible. Thereafter, no government employee or agency shall maintain a record of the transfer that identifies the transferee, and the transferee shall retain the report of transfer.

Subd. 11. Forms; cost. Chiefs of police and sheriffs shall make transfer report forms available throughout the community. There shall be no charge for forms, reports, investigations, notifications, waivers or any other act performed or materials provided by a government employee or agency in connection with a pistol transfer.

Subd. 12. Exclusions. This section shall not apply to transfers of antique firearms as curiosities or for their historical significance or value, transfers to or between federally licensed firearms dealers, transfers by order of court, involuntary transfers, transfers at death or the following transfers:

Subd. 13. Appeal. A person aggrieved by the determination of a chief of police or sheriff that the person is prohibited by section 624.713 from possessing a pistol may appeal the determination as provided in this subdivision. In Hennepin and Ramsey counties the municipal court shall have jurisdiction of proceedings under this subdivision. In the remaining counties of the state, the county court shall have jurisdiction of proceedings under this subdivision.

On review pursuant to this subdivision, the court shall be limited to a determination of whether the proposed transferee is a person prohibited from possessing a pistol by section 624.713.

Subd. 14. Transfer to unknown party. (a) No person shall transfer a pistol to another who is not personally known to the transferor unless the proposed transferee presents evidence of his identity to the transferor. The application shall be signed by the applicant and shall contain as reference the names and addresses of two reputable citizens personally acquainted with him.

Application blanks shall be obtainable from the superintendent, from any other officer authorized to grant such permit or identification card, and from licensed retail dealers.

The chief police officer or the superintendent shall obtain the fingerprints of the applicant and shall have them compared with any and all records of fingerprints in the munici-

A permit to purchase a handgun shall be valid for a period of 90 days from the date of issuance and may be renewed by the issuing authority for good cause for an additional 90 days. A firearms purchaser identification card shall be valid until such time as the holder becomes subject to any of the disabilities set forth in subsection c. of this section, whereupon the card shall be void and shall be returned within 5 days by the holder to the superintendent, who shall then advise the licensing authority. Within 5 days of the date of the sale, the seller shall forward the original copy to the superintendent and the second copy to the chief of police of the municipality in which the purchaser resides, except that in a municipality having no chief of police, such copy shall be forwarded to the superintendent. The third copy shall then be returned to the purchaser with the pistol or revolver and the fourth copy shall be kept by the seller as a permanent record.

The person who shall so receive or acquire said firearm shall, however, be subject to all other provisions of this chapter, and if the heir or legatee of such firearm does not qualify to possess or carry it, the firearm may be possessed by him for the purpose of sale for a period not exceeding 180 days, or for such further limited period as may be approved by the chief law enforcement officer of the municipality in which the heir or legatee resides or the superintendent.

Editor's Note

A number of the Ohio municipalities included herein have incorporated portions of the Ohio State law directly into their municipal ordinances. In these instances, the ordinance language is identical to the corresponding portion of the State law.

To avoid undue repetition of State law language, listings for municipalities falling within this category contain only municipal codification references, followed by either the words "same as" or "adopts," and the corresponding State law citations. The reader can then refer to the appropriate portion of the State law.

In the case of Akron, for example, Section 672.01 of the municipal ordinances would contain the same language as Section 2923.11 of the Ohio State law.

Provided, however, any person licensed by the state of Tennessee to sell rifles or other firearms may stock and sell pistols and/or sidearms to persons desiring them for protection of their home, business, or for target practice; however, sales to aliens, persons who have been convicted of a crime of violence, fugitives from justice, persons of unsound mind, minors, drunkards, drug addicts, and persons who have been convicted of the illegal sale of alcoholic beverages, are excluded.

Any person desiring to purchase a pistol or sidearm as above provided shall certify to the seller that he is not one of the persons listed above as excluded from legal sale of such firearm, and the person having the gun for sale, whether it be a firearms dealer engaged in the business of selling firearms, new or used, or any other person, shall file with the sheriff of the county wherein such sale is to be made, and with the chief of police if the sale be within a municipality, a copy of the certificate as notice to such law enforcement officer of the pending sale. Such certificate must also show the purpose for which the gun is to be used. If, after fifteen (15) days from the time of the receipt of such notice, the sheriff and/or chief of police make no objection tending to show that such proposed purchaser is in fact excluded by law from legal purchase, as set out above, the sale may be consummated and the gun delivered to the purchaser, together with a bill of sale therefor. The fifteen (15) days' notice of pending sale provided for above must be made by registered mail and return receipt requested unless the officer or officers, as the case may be, personally acknowledge receipt of such notice. The said certificate to be filed with the law enforcement officer shall carry the right thumb print of the applicant along with the information as to race, height, weight, age, color of eyes, color of hair and sex of the applicant. Provided, however, the sheriff and/or police chief may issue a written approval of such certificate, after investigation, within the fifteen (15) day period.

The fifteen (15) day waiting period shall not apply to transactions between licensed importers, licensed manufacturers, licensed dealers, or licensed collectors who meet the requirements of the first paragraph above and certify prior to the transaction the legal and licensed status of both parties. The burden shall fall upon the transferor to determine the legality of the transaction in progress. The fifteen (15) day waiting period shall not apply to transactions or transfers between a licensed importer, licensed manufacturer, or licensed dealer and a bona fide law enforcement agency or said agency's personnel as defined under Sec. 39-4902. However, all other provisions and requirements of the preceding paragraph above must be observed. The burden of proof of the legality of such transactions or transfers shall rest upon the transferor.

Nothing in this section shall preclude any person eligible to purchase a pistol or sidearm, as set out above, from making an occasional sale of a used or second hand gun legally purchased by him without being licensed to do business as such; but whenever such sale is made, the same procedure must be followed as is provided above for persons licensed by the state of Tennessee to engage in such business.

Provided however, before any person, firm or corporation shall engage in the business of selling, offering for sale, giving away or otherwise disposing of any pistol, revolver or other hand gun, such person, firm or corporation shall obtain from the commissioner of revenue a permit to engage in such business in the state of Tennessee.

Prior to the issuance of such permit by the commissioner of revenue, the applicant shall furnish the commissioner of revenue a certificate of good moral character signed by the chief of police or the sheriff of the county in which the licensed premises shall be located. In the event the licensed premises are located in the corporate limits of a municipality, said certificate of moral character shall be signed by the chief of police. If the licensed premises are located outside the corporate limits of the municipality, the certificate of moral character shall be signed by the sheriff of the county. The certificate of moral character must state that the applicant or applicants who are to be in actual control of said business are of good moral character and are personally known to the official signing the certificate, and if the applicant be a corporation, that the executive officers of those in control are of good moral character and personally known to the official signing said certificate.

Food Stamp and Food Distribution Programs on Indian Reservations

AGENCY: Food and Nutrition Service, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: This final rulemaking sets forth requirements for conducting the Food Stamp and Food Distribution Programs on Indian reservations under authority of the Food Stamp Act of 1977 and 1304(a) of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977.

EFFECTIVE DATE: June 19, 1979.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Introduction

On December 8, 1978, the Department published a comprehensive and detailed proposal concerning the implementation of the Food Stamp and Food Distribution Programs on Indian reservations (43 FR 57798–57820). The Department explicitly invited careful public scrutiny of that proposal and encouraged detailed written criticism and comment.

This preamble articulates the basis and purpose behind significant changes from the December 8 proposal. The reasons supporting the provisions of the December 8 proposal which are unchanged by the final rules were carefully examined in light of the comments to determine the continued applicability of each justification. Unless otherwise stated, or unless inconsistent with the final rules or preamble, the rationale contained in the proposal should be regarded as a basis for the pertinent final rules. Thus, a thorough understanding of the grounds for the final rules may require reference to the December 8, 1978, publication.

Moreover, while the Department examined all relevant letters, many comments did not disclose a factual or policy justification, or a significant rationale, for certain recommendations. Other comments requested changes contrary to the Act, or articulated a rationale inconsistent with statutory provisions. Still other recommendations, anticipated in the proposal, were unresponsive to Department justifications stated in the December 8 preamble. Even though some of these comments are addressed in the preamble, it was determined, in light of the number of responsive comments raising difficult issues, that not all the points raised should be addressed in this preamble.

Indian Tribe

Six comments were received on the definition of Indian tribe. Some Indian groups felt the proposed definition, providing that organized Indian groups or communities could be considered as Indian tribes, was overly inclusive and would allow non-Indian groups to claim benefits.

The State of Alaska considered the Indian tribe definition too expansive and felt that it might be construed as including several hundred distinct tribal bodies in Alaska that are not associated with reservations and which assertedly do not possess governmental powers.

The definition of Indian tribe, while based on the definition cited in the Indian Self Determination Act (25 U.S.C. 450b(b)), has been modified to distinguish between Indian tribes eligible for programs under the Indian Self Determination Act and those eligible under the Food Stamp Act of 1977 (the Act). Under the Act, an Indian tribe must exercise governmental jurisdiction over a geographically defined area(s) (reservation as defined in § 3(j) of the Act) in order to be eligible for any of the special provisions for Indians included in the Act. Therefore, references which clearly pertain to non-reservation tribes contained in the definition of a tribe under the Indian Self Determination Act have been deleted, and other revisions made to prevent application of the definition to non-Indian groups.

Finally, it should be noted that Indian tribes must either be recognized as eligible in accordance with the Indian Self-Determination Act for Federal programs and services provided to Indians or hold a treaty with a State government. As required by the Act any tribes that are neither federally recognized nor which hold a treaty with a State, but are simply recognized by a State, are not covered by these regulations.

Indian Tribal Organization

A comment from the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA), U.S. Department of Interior, indicated that the definition of Indian tribal organization (ITO) should follow more closely the Indian Self Determination Act. But, as noted in the discussion of Indian tribe above, the Department believes that the regulatory definition is based on the Act and more clearly tracts the legislative purpose for the definition.

Reservation

Thirty-four coments were received on the definition of reservation. Apparently, there are over 250 geographic areas which have been traditionally regarded as reservations. In addition, there appear to be more than 200 Indian tribes which do not live on traditional reservations, as well as many other individual situations involving groups of Indians. Such a multiplicity of potential "reservations" makes it impractical for FNS to specifically predetermine those geographically defined areas which should be recognized as reservations under the Act.

Several commenters requested that government jurisdiction be defined, and some suggested expanding the definition to include "the provision of Federal services or benefits, or the authority to administer other Federal programs." Another comment recommended that the word significant be added to "governmental jurisdiction" and that this "significant governmental jurisdiction" be "over members which comprise the majority of the total population within the geographically defined areas."

Most commenters felt that the Department's statement in the preamble to the proposed regulations that there may be few, if any, areas in Oklahoma which would be considered reservations under the Food Stamp Act of 1977, was too restrictive. On this issue the Community Nutrition Institute noted:

> Although Oklahoma Indians are not located on formal reservations as most other tribes, Oklahoma Indian Nations still exercise certain types of governmental jurisdiction over Indian trust and allotment lands. Oklahoma Indian trust and allotment lands, though they may be "checkerboarded" with non-Indian lands, are within original reservation boundaries.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs also pointed out that, "some [Oklahoma] tribal governing bodies have certain defined jurisdiction not only over tribal members but over certain trust lands as well." However, the American Indian Law Center stated that:

> In Alaska and Oklahoma, tribes have conveyed their land into the public domain, but they have retained their tribal organizations nonetheless. The definition [of reservation] should be rewritten so as to include all tribal organizations, irregardless of whether these organizations have tribal lands to administer.

With apparent reference to the "former reservations in Oklahoma," as that terminology is used by the BIA (25 CFR 20.1(v), the National Tribal Chairmen's Association asserted that, "the Oklahoma tribes have continued to exercise control over the prior historical reservation boundaries and have administered numerous Federal and other governmental programs based upon those boundaries."

The Department believes that tribal entities in Oklahoma,[1] as well as in all other parts of the country, should be given an opportunity to apply for consideration as Indian tribal organizations which exercise governmental jurisdiction over geographically defined areas. Additionally, as discussed later, any FNS decision that a reservation, as defined by these regulations, does not exist may be appealed on a case-by-case basis to the Office of the Administrator, Food and Nutrition Service (FNS).

Certain comments noted that the statutory definition of reservation does not establish precise requirements for determining reservation status. Based on issues raised by the commenters, the legislative history regarding Indian reservations was again carefully reviewed. Both the House Report (H. Rept. 95–464; June 24, 1977) and the Senate Report (S. Rept. 95–180; May 16, 1977) refer to sixty-two specific "reservations" in their discussions.

The references, generally speaking, are to the contiguous, precisely defined and relatively large land areas officially set aside mostly for communal Indian use or benefit, in the name of the appropriate tribe(s), by the Federal government or a State government.[2] The transcripts of the discussions of the House Agriculture Committee, especially the explanatory remarks of Representative Nolan on June 17, 1977, noted that the committee, through the proposed statutory reservation language, was "trying . . . to address the problems where that communal and tribal ownership still exist." In light of the purposes behind the Indian provisions of the Act, it does not seem useful for FNS to perform detailed case-by-case reviews of requests for reservation status filed by tribal entities located on these "traditional" reservation areas. Presumably, these contiguous, relatively large, legally recognized and defined Indian reservation areas were intended to be covered by the Act. Thus, under the final regulations, FNS will make a determination of whether a tribal entity is applying on behalf of an "established reservation." A decision adverse to the tribal entity would simply require that the Indian tribal organization apply as representing a geographically defined area over which that tribal authority exercises governmental jurisdiction. In this way, an adverse "established reservation" decision is immediately subject to the regular approval process and, if FNS then decides against the tribal entity that decision may be appealed to the office of the Administrator under the final regulations.

These procedures streamline the review process for all reservation areas, yet provide an opportunity for further consideration where FNS determines that established reservation status does not exist. Under the final rules, this presumption of reservation status for "established reservation" areas may be overcome by a Departmental finding, based on its thorough analysis, that the area is clearly not covered by the Act. In spite of such a finding, the appropriate ITO could still go through the normal application and appeal process.

Under the normal review designed for areas not considered "established reservations," three tests must be met for a geographic area to be recognized as a reservation under the Act and these regulations. The tests are: (1) there must be a geographically defined area (or areas) which has received legal recognition from the Federal or some level of a State government as an Indian area; (2) the area(s) must have operating within its boundaries a tribal organization which is recognized as such in accordance with section 3(p) of the Act; and (3) such tribal organization must exercise legislative, judicial or executive powers of government within the defined geographic boundaries.[3]

Note that under the three pronged reservation test that the ITO must qualify as such in accordance with these regulations which are patterned after the Indian Self Determination Act, and that the ITO must be able to clearly and precisely define the boundaries of the reservation. It is preferable that the boundaries be defined by some convenient and precise methods such as metes and bounds. The test involving the exercise of governmental jurisdiction contemplates more than the mere power to exercise governmental jurisdiction. The Act requires that the power must be actively exercised at the time the application is filed, and continue to be exercised as a prerequisite to the continuation of recognition of an area as a reservation. It is not necessary that an ITO actively exercise all three governmental powers; i.e., the legislative, executive and judicial functions. The substantial and autonomous exercise of one of these powers could suffice. In this regard, the ITO must be the principal exercisor of at least one of those powers to the extent that governmental powers other than those exercised by the Federal government are involved. Also, such exercise of powers must be more than symbolic. Therefore, the clear grant of some significant aspects of such power by the Federal or a State government to an Indian governing body or tribe is preferred. Other bases for the exercise of power probably will not qualify an ITO. Thus, the exercise of some aspect of the three powers concurrently with a State or county governing body will not ordinarily be considered in determining this issue. Moreover, the performance of functions not as a self-governing body but as any other private corporate entity, grant recipient, agent or contractor will not be considered as an exercise of a governmental function. Thus, for example, corporate entities governed or restricted by State laws would not be considered as governing bodies exercising "governmental jurisdiction" since the exercise of corporate power is prescribed or limited by State law. Thus, the degree of

[1] The BIA letter states that many Oklahoma tribes, "conduct a variety of tribal business activities . . . and contract with Federal entities for tribal operation of Federal programs." These services appear to be provided, in some cases, "over the prior historical [former] reservation boundaries" in Oklahoma. (National Tribal Chairmen's Association letter.)

[2] The legislative history does not seem to contemplate, in its concept of reservation, the relatively small scattered tracts of land, often held in trust for individual tribal members after a particular reservation, or part thereof, has been officially disestablished. Along the same line, the legislative history does not discuss reservation exclusion for the normally small and distinct lots owned exclusively by non-Indians which may be scattered in a "checkerboard" pattern within the confines of established reservation boundaries. Moreover, from a policy standpoint, the Department does not believe that precise distinctions based on the land title of individual lots are practical or appropriate regarding the operation of the Food Stamp or Food Distribution Programs.

[3] It is recognized that certain areas defined as "established reservations" by FNS may not fully meet all aspects of each of the above three tests. However, it seems more likely than not that most of the established reservation areas could meet the three tests if the appropriate ITO carefully and fully presented supporting evidence to FNS. This rule regarding reservation status thus effectuates reasonable presumptions designed to implement the Act, accelerate the review process and improve program operations for Indians.

autonomy of action is an important consideration.[4]

While FNS will carefully apply the three pronged test of reservation status on a case-by-case basis there are several factors which will provide general guidance to tribal entities. The eligibility review for the exercise of governmental jurisdiction may consider such factors as: (1) The number and importance of the functions pertinent to one of the three governmental powers that an ITO exercises; (2) whether the ITO exercises each specific function exclusive of concurrent exercise by Federal, State or local governments; (3) whether the function is one that is typically reserved to a governmental body rather than available to private enterprise; and (4) whether the function is commonly recognized as a function of government. Each applicant ITO, which seeks recognition as representing Indians on a reservation, will need to make clear in its application the nature of the functions it performs in a given and precisely defined geographic area(s), and the extent of its role in the performance of those functions.[5]

There are some significant governmental functions such that the exercise of these functions could give rise to the conclusion by FNS that an ITO is the principal exercisor of a governmental power. Each application by an ITO for recognition of reservation status must necessarily be evaluated in terms of the facts provided in that application.

The following are examples of governmental functions. They are not intended to preclude consideration of other functions.

The legislative power may be manifested by the existence of a deliberative body, which has legal authority to enact laws, ordinances, regulations, or other meaningful legislative acts for precise geographic area(s). Codes of conduct, traffic control ordinances, the provision of services, and the levying of taxes, are but a few of the legislative acts which may indicate an ITO exercises the legislative power.

The judicial power contemplates that an ITO have lawful authority to control at least the Indians in the geographic area(s) involved through a system by which it renders judgements, exclusive of other governments, which judgements are enforcible if they are not honored. This power contemplates the existence of a judicial system with some form of court and judges.

The executive power is the power which likely will most frequently be claimed by an ITO as manifesting that it exercises governmental jurisdiction. There are many executive functions. Among the most common are: (1) The enforcement of laws through the maintenance of a police force, jails, and the exercise of independent authority to make arrests; (2) The administration of laws, ordinances, and regulations; (3) The issuance of licenses, the maintenance of streets and public buildings, the provision of necessary services (such as water and sewage, or trash collection) as an independent entity; (4) The levying and collection of taxes; (5) The exercise of the right of eminent domain; (6) The independent administration of schools and libraries rather than by contract or grant; (7) The administration of elections; and (8) the provision of social and welfare services through ones' own programs and rules rather than as an agent, grantee or employee of another entity.

Many activities of an ITO may involve the provision of services to Indians in a geographic area under a grant from or according to a contract with a governmental body or private institution. FNS doubts that these kinds of activities can quality an ITO as exercising governmental jurisdiction since the terms of such grants or contracts are not independently established by the tribe and since such grants and contracts are limited in duration and subject to cancellation or to the the beneficence of some other entity, thereby depriving the ITO of the right as an autonomous government or entity to determine the extent and precise nature of the activity or program. While applications which rely on the administration of grants and contracts as the basis for claiming an ITO exercises governmental jurisdiction will be evaluated carefully by FNS, an ITO in this circumstance will have difficulty qualifying as an entity which exercises executive governmental jurisdiction on that basis.[6]

Disclosure

One commenter pointed out that language in § 272.1(c) needed to be amended to allow the sharing of Food Stamp Program participation lists with the Food Distribution Program. Language permitting this sharing of information has been added.

General Purpose and Scope (§ 281.1)

Six comments were received on this introductory section. Four commenters felt that the section set a too restrictive tone. Two commenters felt this section should show more responsiveness toward Indians or to all persons on reservations.

This section was rewritten in response to the comments received to emphasize the special Indian provisions in the Food Stamp Act of 1977.

Administration by the Agency of State Government (§ 281.2)

State Plan

Twelve comments were received on the proposed regulations which required that a State agency, before it submits a plan of operation to the Department, consult in good faith with the ITO about those amendments or that portion of the plan which pertains to the operation of the Program for reservation residents. Some commenters felt that the regulations did not ensure that ITO input would adequately affect program implementation. For example, the Papago tribe of Arizona suggested that the State's plan of operation be available to the ITO 45 days prior to submission to FNS and that FNS not approve any plan that has not been fully approved by the ITO. New Mexico suggested that State agencies be allowed to submit their plans to FNS without consultation if the State

[4] Of course, no American Indian tribe exercises totally independent powers of self-government on a reservation since the Federal government has plenary powers in the area of Indian affairs. Nonetheless, within the limits of Federal law, the degree to which Indian governmental functions are not regulated or determined by State or local laws is important concerning the issue of the exercise of governmental powers.

[5] It is also necessary that each ITO apply for recognition as the representative of Indians who live on the particular reservation in question. The potential for variations among ITO's is so large that FNS cannot provide a rote formula by which to accept or reject a claim by an ITO that it represents Indians who live on a reservation. Nor should FNS do so, since if it did, it would lose the necessary flexibility to make its determinations on the basis of all the facts made available to it. Furthermore, the burden of demonstrating with sufficient information each aspect of the reservation test rests with the ITO.

[6] For example, if an ITO can show that a State legislature has enacted a law vesting the ITO with the power to make and enforce significant tribal ordinances, and the ITO is doing so, governmental jurisdiction probably is being exercised. Similarly, if the State legislature has enacted a law divesting State courts of jurisdiction over Indians, and vesting such power in the ITO, which actively exercises it, governmental jurisdiction probably is being exercised. However, if there remains concurrent jurisdiction, the ITO probably lacks power to exercise governmental jurisdiction. If an ITO has received a grant or contract to improve Indian schools, or to run a school for Indians, governmental jurisdiction is probably lacking. This would be equally true for other programs, such as welfare programs, job training programs, or a combination of several such programs. However, if an ITO operates its own social welfare systems, with its own money and under its own rules, the ITO is likely exercising a function of government.

agency's timely attempt to consult with the ITO was unsuccessful.

The final rules are more specific than the proposal. They provide that before a State agency can submit its plan of operation to FNS it must submit its outreach plans, service plans and all other portions of the State plan that pertain to the operation of the Program for residents on the reservation to the appropriate ITO for comment. After receiving these plans, the ITO will have 30 days to provide written comments to the State agency. The State agency is required to incorporate into the plan suggestions made by the ITO which the State agency determines are appropriate and practicable.

Additionally, the final rules provide that the State agency must administer the Food Stamp Program in a manner that is responsive to the needs of Indians on the reservation as determined by ongoing consultation with the ITO. The State agency shall be required to maintain records of all ITO consultations on State plans and ongoing ITO consultations for review by FNS.

Project Area Designation

Ten comments were received on the proposed provision to designate an Indian reservation as a separate project area or areas for the purpose of improving the accessibility of program services to Indians on the reservation. It was proposed that separate project areas would be created for the reservation unless the State agency could demonstrate to FNS that: (1) the size or population of the reservation does not warrant such designation; (2) the tribe can be adequately served by an existing project area because of the location of certification and issuance offices; or that (3) the designation as a project area(s) would impair the Statewide administration of the Food Stamp Program. Indian and advocacy groups felt that reservations should be project areas as often as possible. State agencies generally were concerned with the lack of funds and staff to set up reservations as separate project areas.

The Department believes that the proposal will result in designation of a number or reservations as separate project areas, and that such designations will result in improved service. Only in those instances where service on the reservation would be impaired or be impractical or inefficient would a separate designation be waived. A fourth condition has been added which allows for a State agency to demonstrate that the designation of a reservation as a project area would reduce the availability of certification and issuance offices under the regulations. Also the final rules are modified to consider project areas which the State is planning to develop in addition to existing project areas.

Single State Agency

The proposed regulations provided, where Indian reservation boundaries crossed State lines, that the appropriate State agencies could jointly request FNS approval of a single State agency for the Food Stamp Program (FSP) on all or part of that Indian reservation.

Six comment letters addressed this issue. The Papago and Navajo tribes felt that the ITO should be involved in any decision about single State agency administration of the FSP. Advocacy and Indian groups felt that States should be required to have one State operate the FSP when reservation boundaries cross State lines unless one or more States can demonstrate to FNS that failure to operate through one State agency would improve the operation of the FSP on a particular reservation. North Dakota doubted that Congress intended that a single State agency would administer a FSP on a reservation crossing State boundaries.

The final regulations have been revised to provide that ITO's and State agencies may jointly request approval that a single State agency be responsible for the FSP on all or part of a reservation when reservation boundaries cross State lines. The other State agency(ies) must agree to cooperate fully with the administering State agency to carry out the purposes of the Program.

Contracts With an Indian Tribal Organization

The proposed and final regulations provide that State agencies may contract certain Food Stamp Program functions to an ITO.

Four comment letters addressed this provision. Two commenters felt that State government contracting should represent a means for tribal administration of the FSP. The Navajo comment requested that the rule allow certification activities, such as eligibility determinations and interviews, to be contracted to ITO's

The conditions for tribal administration of the Food Stamp Program are discussed elsewhere in this preamble. The final rules allow ITO's that are not administering a Food Stamp Program to nonetheless perform certain program functions under contract. However, it is Departmental policy, based on the Office of Personnel Management requirements, that certification activities such as interviews and eligibility determinations not be contracted.

Determination of Failure (§ 281.2)

The Act requires that for an ITO to administer the Food Stamp Program on a reservation, the agency of State government responsible for administration of Federally aided public assistance programs must be failing to properly administer the Food Stamp Program in accordance with the purposes of the Act. The Act states that before there may be an administrative transfer of the Food Stamp Program to an ITO, the Department must determine that the State "is failing . . . properly to administer such program on such reservation . . . " (Emphasis added). The Act and due process require, at a minimum, that the State be notified of its alleged failure "properly to administer such program" and be given an opportunity to take corrective action or to contest the FNS determination that the State "is failing". Such a failure determination cannot be made merely because a State agency will not meet the service demands of the tribal organization.[1] The Department has determined that failure to take corrective action, as determined by the review or Management Evaluation provisions, represents State failure properly to administer the Program.

The proposed regulations provided for analysis of a State agency's success or failure in administering the Food Stamp Program on an Indian reservation through the use of special Management Evaluation (ME) reviews conducted by FNS, and through an examination of any other relevant information that became available during the course of the review.

The proposed regulations followed the normal FNS procedures by which a State agency is informally and, if necessary, formally warned regarding the improper administration of the Program. The State agency would have been accorded an opportunity to take corrective action prior to the issuance of a formal warning and before the Department determined if the Program could and should be transferred to an ITO. After program transfer to an ITO,

[1] Even without the statutory "is failing . . . properly to administer such program" constraint the Department would still have promulgated the same regulatory position. Administrative efficiency, fiscal integrity and program effectiveness require that FNS should attempt to enforce State compliance with national program rules in all areas of the country. Further, Congress has provided for increased administrative funding for States if the Department determines these additional funds are necessary to carry out the program.

and in the event that an ITO became no longer "capable of effectively and efficiently conducting such program," administration would revert to the State which would then have to administer the Program pursuant to the nationwide mandate.

Fifty-two comments addressed these provisions. Four commenters felt that the provisions placed tribes and States in adversary positions. Twenty-six commenters felt the process for determining State agency failure was too long, and several commenters provided suggestions on how the process could be shortened. Additionally, 22 commenters felt that there should be a special provision for State agencies which do not want to continue administration of the FSP on a reservation whereby program administration could immediately be turned over to an ITO.

As noted earlier, the Food Stamp Act of 1977 provides two tests regarding ITO administration. The first requires a demonstration that the State agency "is failing properly to administer" the Program. The language recognizes the State government as having the primary responsibility to run the Program on reservations as well as in other areas of the State. The Act does not treat proper program administration over any geographic area as a responsibility which may be dropped due to preference or inconvenience. Only after a showing of State failure would the ITO be considered for program administration. The second test that the Act imposes is that the ITO must be found capable of effectively and efficiently operating the Program. As such, the Act and these regulations provide tribes with safeguards against poor program administration, while maximizing the opportunity for program and fiscal efficiency.[8]

Special Review

The comments regarding the FNS proposed procedures for determining State failure generally criticized the informal/formal warning process as unnecessarily lengthy and repetitive. The Community Nutrition Institute noted that the:

"informal warning system . . . is an . . . additional layer in the determination process that serves little purpose. . . . If FNS has already determined that a serious deficiency exists in State agency operations and performs a . . . review . . . the State agency should be given only one further chance (not two—informal and formal) to take corrective action."[9]

In response to the comments the informal warning process has been dropped. To further expedite the review process the final regulations have added a response time that provides that subsequent to October 1, 1979, FNS shall complete these reviews within 90 days, except under unusual circumstances such as the receipt of a large number of simultaneous requests. Additionally, FNS plans to meet this goal, prior to October 1, 1979, to the extent it is administratively possible.

Formal Warning of Deficiency

As discussed earlier, the informal warning called for in the proposed regulations is eliminated in the final regulations. The final regulations provide that if FNS has determined that major deficiencies exist, a formal warning shall be issued to the State, with a copy to the ITO. At a minimum, such warning shall indicate the State agency deficiencies and shall detail the basis upon which the deficiencies were determined. The State shall have 30 days to respond with evidence that it is in compliance or to submit a corrective action proposal.[10] If satisfactory compliance is achieved by the State agency on deficiencies cited in a formal warning, FNS shall notify the State, with a copy to the ITO, that the warning for those deficiencies is satisfied. Since the circumstances of each deficiency could vary greatly, FNS is not publishing a universal time limit to be imposed in each case regardless of the facts. Nonetheless, FNS does not intend to tolerate lengthy corrective action periods when the circumstances will not justify a long timeframe.

Determination and Sanctions

The proposed regulations provided that under certain conditions appropriate Federal sanctions would be applied to the State. One commenter asked that FNS specify what sanctions would be applied and how they would operate.

The final regulations provide that if at any time after the warning period or during or after the corrective action period FNS determines that major deficiencies still exist which are not being appropriately addressed by the State agency's corrective action plan, FNS may determine that State failure has occurred and may impose appropriate Federal sanctions as specified in Part 276. In all cases, FNS will pursue program deficiencies even if review results do not lead to ITO administration of the Program.

Termination and Transition

Prior to turning program administration over to a capable ITO, the State agency shall continue to administer the Food Stamp Program on the reservation until an effective termination and transition arrangement has been completed in accordance with § 281.8.

Determining Indian Tribal Organization Capability (§ 281.4)

ITO Review

Under the Act, when the Department makes a specific finding of State agency failure, Food Stamp Program administration would be turned over to an ITO only if an additional determination is made that the ITO is capable of effectively and efficiently conducting the Program. The Act directs the Department's attention to four factors governing that determination, including: (1) the location of State certification and issuance centers, (2) the prior experience of the ITO in operating other Federal programs, (3) the ITO's management and fiscal capabilities, and (4) the adequacy of the ITO's measures to limit discrimination

[8] The Department recognizes that many tribal entities may wish to hire and train their own administrative staffs, print their own manuals, establish their own certification offices, maintain their own records and perform all those functions which the State would otherwise perform for the State as a whole. The statutory imposition of funding ceilings makes it imperative that administrative costs be kept at a minimum and that administrative efficiency be maximized. Administrative inefficiency may directly result in a reduction in the amount of money available to provide needy households with coupon benefits. Nonetheless, FNS must be diligent in ensuring that States properly perform their duties for all persons within their boundaries. The Minnesota Chippewa Tribe noted that, "far too often Indian people are not receiving the full benefits of what the . . . State [is] supposed to offer. Often times it is due to . . . language barriers, insensitivity on the part of the local agencies . . . [lack of] transportation . . . [and lack of] efforts on the part of the local State agencies to encourage Indian participation . . ." State compliance with the rules implementing the Food Stamp Act should greatly reduce the extent of the problems discussed in the Chippewa Tribe letter. Where States fail in this regard, tribes will be given the opportunity to apply to operate their own Food Stamp Programs.

[9] The Papago Tribe of Arizona also suggested that the informal warning step be dropped and that once "FNS determines there is a deficiency in a State agency operation of the Food Stamp Program on all or part of any Indian reservation, FNS should immediately issue a formal warning to the State agency." The State of Montana also criticized the proposed State failure review process as too lengthy.

[10] While differing in certain respects, the final State agency failure review regulations follow suggestions of the Papago Tribe of Arizona. They recommended that the informal warning step be eliminated and that the formal warning "status should commence immediately after FNS has received a request to investigate State agency failure and FNS determines there has been a failure . . . The State agency should then have 30 days to respond with evidence that it is in compliance or to submit a corrective action proposal . . ."

against any potential program beneficiary on the basis of race, color, sex, or national origin.

The proposed regulations required FNS to review these four factors to determine an ITO's capability. The proposed regulations provided that during the informal warning period FNS would determine whether an ITO wanted to be considered as a State agency for the purpose of administering its Food Stamp Program. If so, FNS would begin to determine ITO capability during the informal and formal warning periods.

The final regulations, however, establish more expedited procedures for determining State government agency failure and Indian tribal organization capability. During FNS's review of State government agency operation of the Food Stamp Program on a reservation, FNS shall, if the ITO requests to administer its own Food Stamp Program, begin to determine the ITO's potential capability for program administration not later than the date of issuance of the formal warning to the State agency if the reservation tests as established by these regulations are met.

Determination of Capability

Six commenters addressed the items to be reviewed in an ITO capability determination. One commenter felt ITO capability ought to be assumed rather than determined. The BIA felt performance under the Indian Self Determination Act should be considered, while two commenters suggested that consultation with BIA be eliminated.

The Act requires that the Department determine that the applicant ITO "is capable of effectively and efficiently conducting" the Food Stamp Program. However, the final regulations stress that the initial evaluation by FNS is of an ITO's potential capability to administer a Food Stamp Program allowing for fulfillment of that potential through necessary training and technical assistance. In order to assess the ITO's potential capability the final regulations expanded the list of proposed criteria to include past administration of Federal programs, consultation with BIA, and a description of the locations of projected certification and issuance offices. The final regulations also require the ITO to satisfy FNS that it is capable (if provided with needed training and technical assistance) of administering the Food Stamp Program effectively and efficiently and of complying with all provisions of the Food Stamp Act of 1977, and the regulations as amended, including provisions for quality control, fraud determinations and claims collections.

Training and Technical Assistance

The proposed regulations provided that if an ITO were deemed capable of operating the Food Stamp Program, the Department would provide the necessary training and technical assistance prior to the ITO's assumption of program operations.

Twelve commenters addressed this provision. Most commenters wanted training and technical assistane to be available to all tribes upon their request. The proposal was interpreted as precluding tribes with basic capabilities, which needed training and technical assistance, from becoming fully capable of administering the Food Stamp Program. The Department has revised the final rules to correct this misunderstanding. The final regulations articulate the Department's original intent which was to provide training and technical assistance to an ITO upon a determination by FNS that the State agency has failed to properly administer the Food Stamp Program and that the ITO is potentially capable of operating an effective and efficient Food Stamp Program. The Department does not intend to provide training and technical assistance to all ITO's upon request. The Department does not have sufficient funds or staff to do so unless an ITO has been determined potentially capable of Food Stamp Program administration. Such expenditures would divert funds that could be better utilized elsewhere for the benefit of Indians or other recipients.

Staff Merit System

The proposed regulations provided that the ITO was required to use personnel in the certification process employed under standards equivalent to State merit system personnel standards or any standards later prescribed by the Office of Personnel Management under Section 208 of the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970. Six commenters addressed this issue. The Navajo tribe questioned whether the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970 applied to trust territories. All six commenters recommended that FNS accept tribal personnel system standards, three qualified their recommendations by stating that the personnel systems must protect against discrimination, nepotism and political patronage.

The final rules remain unchanged as the Act requires that the "personnel utilized in undertaking such certification shall be employed in accordance with the current standards for a Merit System of Personnel Administration or any standards later prescribed . . ." Individual tribal personnel systems will be evaluated on a case-by-case basis to determine if they are equivalent to the appropriate Office of Personnel Management standards.

Civil Rights Assurance

The proposed regulations provided that the ITO shall comply with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Pub. L. 88–352), the Age Discrimination Act of 1975 (Pub. L. 94–135), the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93–112, Section 504), and Section 11(c) of the Food Stamp Act of 1977 and all pertinent regulations or directives to the effect that no person in the United States shall, on the grounds of sex, race, color, age, political belief, religion, handicap, or national origin, be denied benefits or otherwise be subjected to discrimination under the Food Stamp Program. Where appropriate, FNS shall consider the adequacy of measures taken by the ITO to ensure that there is no discrimination.

One comment was received from the Creek Nation of Oklahoma which stated that Indians should not have to serve non-Indians, and suggested the Indians on the reservation should be served by the ITO while non-Indians on the reservation should be served by the State.

The final rules remain unchanged since the Act requires that Indian tribal organizations assure FNS that, as a Food Stamp State agency, they will serve all eligible reservation residents, Indian and non-Indian alike.

Indian Tribal Organization Failure (§ 281.7)

The proposed regulations provided that when normal program reviews of an ITO administered Food Stamp Program indicate continuing and uncorrected deficiencies, FNS may conduct a Special Review to determine State failure or to determine if the ITO has failed properly to administer the Food Stamp Program. If ITO failure was determined, FNS would, after proper warnings to the ITO, require the appropriate agency of State government to resume administration of the Program on the reservation.

Seven comment letters addressed this provision. One commenter felt that procedures for determining ITO failure should be the same as those for the State agency. Other commenters wanted more guidelines on funding and transition time. Several questioned the provision that program operation might revert to the State government agency.

The Department intends to treat any ITO administering a Food Stamp Program in much the same manner as if it were any other State agency. Therefore, for the benefit and protection of Indian and other program participants, the Department will require that any ITO administering a Food Stamp Program must adhere to all relevant statutory and regulatory provisions, or be penalized as any other State agency. When Performance Reporting System reviews indicate continuing deficiencies exist and corrective action proposals, with or without application of appropriate sanctions, have not resulted in a sufficient degree of improvement, FNS will conduct a review to determine if the ITO has failed to administer the FSP under § 281.3(b)(1), and shall follow notification and determination procedures in § 281.3 (c), (d) and (e).

In accordance with the Act, the final rules provide in the event that an ITO becomes no longer "capable of conducting such program" administration that the Food Stamp Program would revert to the State which would then have to administer the Program on the reservation pursuant to the nationwide mandate.

Transfer of Program Administration (§ 281.9)

A new section 281.9 has been added to the final rules to provide for a formal termination and transition arrangement to efficiently and effectively transfer program responsibilities between State agencies. The procedure applies both when the Program is being transferred from the State government to an ITO, and in the event the Program must be subsequently transferred from an ITO back to the State government.

Funding (§ 281.9)

The proposed regulations provided that the State agency or ITO will automatically receive 50 percent of the administrative costs of running the Food Stamp Program on a reservation. Section 281.9 further proposed a process by which a State agency or an ITO could present compelling justification for additional funding above the 50 percent level. The Department explored the possibility of developing more specific criteria for providing funding in excess of 50 percent, and encouraged comments on this issue.

The Department received 53 comments on this issue. Many commenters felt the Department should provide 100 percent funding for Indian Food Stamp Programs. Some tribes and State agencies stated that 50 percent funding was completely inadequate. Some felt that the Department's requirement for compelling justification placed a heavy burden on tribes, and many commenters supported the combined position of the Food Research and Action Center (FRAC) and the Board of the Indian Food and Nutrition Resource Center,[11] who recommended that the Department provide 100 percent funding unless the Secretary found compelling justification to provide a lesser amount.

The final regulations authorize the Secretary to fund 75 percent of the approved administrative costs of an ITO operated Food Stamp Program on a reservation.[12] The final rules require some investment by the operating agency which should provide the ITO with an incentive to run a better and more cost efficient program. Any approval for funds in excess of 75 percent must be based on a compelling justification that such additional amounts are necessary for the effective operation of the Food Stamp Program on the reservation. If an ITO is dissatisfied with the level of funding made available by FNS the ITO may file an appeal under § 281.10.

The final regulations also authorize FNS to pay agencies of State government 75 percent of the administrative costs approved by FNS for such functions as certification, issuance, outreach, fair hearings, and quality control incurred on the reservation to meet the standards set by the Food Stamp Act of 1977. The final regulations further provide that FNS may pay to each agency of State government administering a Food Stamp Program on a reservation 75 percent of all approved administrative costs incurred off a reservation for activities that are primarily directed at providing better services for Indians on the reservation, such as hiring interpreters, or Indian outreach workers, or moving a certification or issuance center closer to a reservation. If the agency of State government is dissatisfied with the level of funding made available by FNS, it may file an appeal under § 281.10 for an increase in the 75 percent funding level if it can provide FNS with compelling justification. Especially since an appeal from the minmum funding level is permitted, as recommended by many comments, FNS believes that the 75 percent minimum is a reasonable balance between the need to provide adequate funding for program operations which benefit Indians (including off reservation activities) and the need for fiscal restraint. While many commenters desired a description of what constituted the "compelling justification" for an increased Federal funding contribution, few were able to offer any useful criteria. In light of the variety of possible situations, FNS believes that this issue should be handled on a case-by-case basis after careful review of the specific circumstances.

Formalized Review—Appeals Procedure (§ 281.10)

The preamble to the proposal noted that it did not include a section authorizing procedures for the administrative review of FNS determinations regarding: (1) the capabilities of an ITO to administer the Food Stamp Program; (2) the failure of a State agency to "properly administer" the Food Stamp Program; and (3) the failure of an ITO properly to administer the Food Stamp or Food Distribution Program. It was thought that most of the above determinations would likely be made after careful review by the Administrator, FNS. Therefore, a formalized administrative review procedure was not considered necessary. However, it is not contemplated that the FNS Regional Offices will play a major role in the resolution of these issues.

Eighteen commenters supported the establishment of formalized review procedures, and most commenters added that an appeal procedure for funding levels should also be developed. The Food Research and Action Center and the Board of the Indian Food and Nutrition Resource Center proposed that any tribe or State agency be allowed to challenge an initial determination made by FNS by addressing such appeal to the Secretary. They proposed that the Secretary designate a hearing official who would be required to conduct a hearing within 30 days of the appeal request. After the hearing, the hearing official would have to provide a recommendation to the Secretary who would render a decision within 15 days of the hearing's conclusion. Four other commenters supported this proposal.

[12] Regarding the increase in the minimum administrative funding level for the Food Stamp Program, the State of Texas noted that the "operation of the program on a reservation will most likely entail higher costs than normal . . ." The House Report also emphasized this point by noting that: the reason for this potential expansion on cost-sharing for administrative costs is that at present many States and counties are reluctant to provide the funds necessary to administer these programs properly on reservations [since] reservation residents often do not pay State or local taxes . . .

Regarding the proposed 50 percent funding ratio for tribal operation of the Food Stamp Program, the Navajo Nation bluntly stated, "if administering ITO's are required to provide 50 percent administrative match . . . ITO's [are] out of the food stamp administration picture . . ."

The final regulations establish a direct appeal to the Administrator, FNS, or his/her designee, regarding the three issues in the proposal and two additional ones: whether a "reservation" exists and whether the Federal matching percentage level of administrative funding is sufficient. While in some situations the Administrator may have been to some extent involved in an original determination, these appeal procedures provide an opportunity to formally present all the relevant evidence directly to the Administrator, or his/her designee. Moreover, the rules require that a formal and final decision be made at that same level. Other funding issues must be appealed under the Administrative Review Procedures in Part 276. The same appeals procedures have been added to Part 283 for State agencies or ITO's dissatisfied with FNS's determinations regarding the Food Distribution Program.

Food Distribution Program (Part 283)

Much of the preceding discussion pertaining to the administration of the Food Stamp Program on a reservation is pertinent to this Part, and to the extent applicable the preceding discussion is hereby incorporated by reference. In addition, the following comments are applicable to the Food Distribution Program.

Definitions (§ 283.2)

One respondent suggested that "Food Distribution Program" be defined since it is not a statutory program but an activity authorized under various legislative authorities. FNS adopted the suggestion and the term is defined under § 283.2(a) in the final regulations.

Several commenters recommended that the phrase, "exercises governmental jurisdiction," used in the definition of a reservation should be clarified. Therefore, a definition of the phrase has been added to the final rules explaining that it means the active exercise of the legislative, executive or judicial powers of government by an Indian tribal organization. The phrase is further discussed in this preamble in the Food Stamp Program section.

Indian Tribal Household

Under the final rules for concurrent or separate operation of the Food Stamp or Food Distribution Programs, a definition of Indian tribal household is necessary. The rules, therefore, define Indian tribal household as a household containing at least one adult who is a member of a tribe represented by the ITO for the particular reservation on which that household is located. Also, Indians who live near a reservation on which their tribe is represented by that ITO shall be considered tribal members. The significance of this definition is discussed later in this preamble. The final rules purposely avoid precisely defining "tribal member." Certain tribes apparently define membership in differing ways. The manner in which each tribe defines its own menbers is left to each tribe's discretion. If the lack of a technical and nationwide definition of Indian tribal member raises significant problems, the Department will consider whether any such definition can be appropriately developed at a later date.

Availability of Commodities (§ 283.3)

Concurrent or Separate Food Program Operations

Three commenters expressed the belief that affording ITO's a choice of participating in either the Food Stamp or Food Distribution Program discriminates against non-Indians, especially migrants and elderly persons. One commenter believed that dual program operations defeat the purpose and intent of the Food Stamp Program. Concern was expressed by one person that the distribution of commodities on parts of a reservation would encompass administrative problems both for the State and tribes which would not allow for orderly certification and distribution of food.

The concurrent operation of both the Food Stamp and Food Distribution Programs, at the request of the appropriate ITO, and the restriction of the latter program to Indian reservation areas are provided for in the Food Stamp Act of 1977; therefore, the proposed language is retained in the final regulations.

Comments discussing the separate or concurrent operation of the Food Stamp and Food Distribution Programs raised some difficult problems. Of course, where the ITO does not request operation of the Food Distribution Program these problems do not exist. For almost all areas of the country, the Food Stamp Program already serves as the basic and most significant food assistance program and is designed to provide an opportunity for eligible households to obtain a more nutritious diet.

Subsection 1304(a) of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 requires the Department, to the extent it provides for commodity distribution to Indians, to improve the variety and quantity of those commodities "supplied to Indians in order to provide them an opportunity to obtain a more nutritious diet." The Department has already made those improvements in the operation of its Commodity Distribution, now called Food Distribution Program, and considers the Food Distribution Program an adequate substitute for Food Stamp Program participation. Of course, certain households for particular reasons may prefer one program over the other.[13]

The Act allows the ITO to decide whether to request the Food Stamp Program, the Food Distribution Program, or both, for operation on the appropriate Indian reservation. The authority to make this choice may raise due process problems where the ITO selects the Food Distribution Program only. It appears that tribal entities normally do not allow non-tribal members to vote in the selection of tribal governing body representatives or to otherwise have a voice in the resolution of issues faced by the tribe. Therefore, in most cases, non-tribal households (which would include Indians who are not members of that particular tribe and non-Indians) located on the reservation could not participate, directly or indirectly, in any decision to reject food stamp participation.

Moreover, unless the Food Distribution Program were made available to non-tribal households, including non-Indians, located on a reservation where the ITO rejected food stamp assistance, needy low-income non-Indian households could not apply for either program. To avoid this situation, and yet give meaning to the Congressional decision to provide for "distribution of commodities, with or without the Food Stamp Program . . ." where the ITO "request[s] . . . concurrent or separate food program operations . . ." for reservation areas, the final regulations provide that non-Indian households on such a reservation must also be allowed to apply for commodity assistance.

Since some non-tribal households which reside on a reservation may prefer food stamp participation instead of food distribution participation, FNS has decided as a matter of policy to require project areas adjacent to reservations to service non-tribal households which apply at food stamp offices off the reservations, when there is no Food Stamp Program on the reservation. Controls will have to be established to ensure that no household simultaneously participates in both programs. It is recognized that certain non-tribal households which prefer food stamps but which live a distance from the reservation boundary may find it inconvenient or even impossible to apply for food stamps. Nonetheless, the commodity benefits which are provided under the Act and § 1304(a) of the Food and Agriculture Act should effectively substitute for food stamp assistance in most situations. Requiring food stamp services on the reservation where the ITO decides otherwise would undermine the statutory framework in a situation where other food assistance is in fact available.

In summary, where the appropriate ITO requests the distribution of only commodity benefits on the reservation, all household (tribal members and all others) are eligible to apply for commodity assistance. However, non-tribal households may apply for food stamps at food stamp certification offices which are located off the reservation. Tribal members shall be bound by the tribal decision made by their representatives to reject Food Stamp Program assistance.

However, to effectuate the purposes of the Act and greatly increase program efficiency, the final rules allow the Secretary, or the Secretary's designee, to determine if there are areas within the confines of a reservation where it would be appropriate to provide both food stamp and food distribution benefits. An example might be urban areas on reservations with high concentrations of non-tribal members who could play no role in the ITO decision to reject food stamp operations. In that circumstance, it would be especially unfair to these non-tribal members if such a city or town was located at a distance from off reservation food stamp certification offices. The Senate Report at page 129, mentioned that, "some areas, especially those near cities or towns, may best be served by food stamps. Other more remote areas may best be served by the Food Distribution Program or by concurrent operation." Under this exception to the normal rule, households located in those areas would be eligible for food stamp or food distribution benefits.[14]

This rule approximates, in a workable manner, certain program results that could have followed a narrower interpretation of the reservation definition found in the Act. There are situations where individual lots, otherwise within "established" Indian reservation boundaries, have been sold to non-Indians. For example, many individual lots situated in "non-indian towns" or urban areas may have been sold to non-Indians. The non-Indian owners of these lots which are carved out of larger established Indian reservations might not be subject ot the same tribal governmental jurisdiction as their Indian neighbors. Nonetheless, these final rules consider the "checkerboarded" non-Indian lots as part of the reservation. Had this decision not been made, households residing on those individual lots could have been eligible to apply for food stamp assistance from the State agency where the tribe requested commodities only. The decision avoided the creation of perhaps hundreds of tiny food stamp enclaves, based on the analysis of individual land titles, which would have created serious administrative problems.

Additionally, under the Food Stamp Act, ITO's are free to divide reservations into areas to be served by food stamps only or by commodities only, or both. Coordination between the Department and the ITO is thus important regarding the Department's decision to define the excluded areas discussed above.

The final rules also allow for the issuance of commodities to Indian tribal households which reside "near" the reservation. The Department believes that the issue of who lives sufficiently near the reservation will become self-defining. Households eligible for commodities will, in most cases, be eligible for food stamps. It is presumed that many Indian tribal households would be unwilling to travel very far to obtain commodities at a reservation office, especially if they were provided the alternative of food stamps.

The issuance of benefits to tribal members who live near, but not on, the reservation is consistent with the delivery of benefits under Bureau of Indian Affairs programs and should effectuate a purpose of § 1304(a) of the Food and Agriculture Act, which is to increase benefit delivery "to Indians." The Department, to reduce the possibility for fraud and taking into account the alternative availability of food stamp assistance, has limited this off-reservation commodity assistance to Indian tribal households. Normally, ITO's maintain enrolled tribal membership lists regarding their tribe(s), and thus could readily confirm tribal status. Moreover, in many cases most of the Indians living near a particular reservation will be members of one of the tribes represented by the ITO. The Navajo Tribal comment noted, in this regard, that:

> In reality Tribal Governments deliver services beyond such [treaty or legislatively] drawn boundaries to its members in areas contiguous to the reservation proper. . . . Currently, the BIA, IHS [Indian Health Service], CETA [Comprehensive Employment Training Act] and CSA [Community Services Administration] federal agencies recognize this situation and have allowed the delivery of services to such . . . areas.

The Department is fully aware that the resolution of the concurrent or separate program operations issue may benefit some households more than others. Nonetheless, the Department believes it has carefully balanced the issues involved and has developed a reasonable solution.

Household Distribution

One commenter expressed the desire that FNS should offer hunting and fishing equipment for Alaska. FNS has no authority under any legislation to provide such equipment.

One letter stated that FNS should purchase processed and raw foods for the commodity package from Indians. Federal requirements provide that foods acquired by the USDA for donation to eligible participants must be acquired on a competitive bidding basis. Indians may bid when purchase announcements for foods are published. However, the Department cannot favor any segment of the population in awarding food purchasing contracts for delivery.

Three commenters suggested that FNS make money available to Indian tribes so they can purchase native and cultural foods raised in their area for distribution under the program.

Enabling legislation authorizes the Secretary to acquire and distribute commodities for certain food assistance programs including distribution to Indians. There is no statutory authority for the Secretary to delegate or transfer this acquisition and distribution responsibility and function to Indian tribal entities. Consequently, FNS has not adopted this suggestion in the final regulations.

Many commenters expressed the desire for FNS to improve the commodity package described in the preamble of the proposed rules. Recommendations were offered regarding content, choice, packaging, labeling, amounts offered, and other aspects relative to commodities for use by households. FNS addresses these concerns in a separate section entitled, "The Commodity Package."

[14] Based on prior experience the Department does not believe that great numbers of non-Indians will apply for food distribution assistance. It is anticipated that, when faced with the choice, non-Indians would not normally switch from food stamp assistance.

Implementation

In the preamble to the proposed rules, the Department specifically requested "suggestions regarding the practicality and reasonableness of the proposed implementation schedule." A small number of commenters discussed these issues. The State of North Dakota, which administers the Food Distribution Program on four Indian reservations, stated that the:

> Implementation of the new distribution rules within 120 days after publication . . . [is] very restrictive, and [we] suggest it be modified to 160 days. The time needed for consultation, developing manuals, setting meetings with tribal authorities, training certification workers, and working through the numerous interpretations with Regional personnel is very time consuming.

The State of Idaho stated that:

> A State agency must be allowed a reasonable time, no less than 180 days, to assume program administration to allow for staff training, printing of program eligibility manuals and forms, preparation of a plan of operation, etc.

The State of Texas, which may have two reservation areas "potentially affected by the proposed rulemaking," thought that while the 120 days allowed for conversion from the old to the new program rules would not be long enough "in the case of a large reservation," that "the 180 days allowed for starting up a new program seems to be adequate." [15]

The final rules provide, in the case of currently operating programs, that conversion from the old rules to the new must take place within 120 days from the FNS determination as to whether the ITO or the State agency will administer the Program on the reservation. Regarding the 120 day timeframes for the ITO, FNS may approve a tribal implementation schedule if such schedule extends beyond 120 days subsequent to a determination as to its capability upon good cause shown by a tribe.

In cases where the Food Distribution Program is not currently operating, the ITO or State agency will be allowed 120 and 180 days respectively to implement the new program. Extensions may be granted by FNS to the implementation timeframes based upon compelling justification, involving circumstances which were not reasonably foreseeable, and which were not the fault of the tribe or the State agency which circumstances present extraordinary problems that would render earlier implementation infeasible.

Since few comments were received on these issues, FNS also discussed implementation timeframes with its Regional offices. The Department believes these schedules fairly balance the need for a smooth and orderly transition (taking into account the concerns of the commenters) against the interests of rapid program implementation. FNS, to the extent necessary, shall take steps to ensure that implementation schedules are followed. The Department hopes that the "established reservation" approach will accelerate its own review process in many circumstances. Note, that regarding the FNS acknowledgement of properly addressed requests for tribal Food Distribution Program operation, that tribes should write to the appropriate FNS Regional Office and write "Attention: Tribal request" or similar language on the outside of the envelope.

State Administration

Six commenters expressed opposition regarding the proposed requirement that an agency of State government must administer a Food Distribution Program on Indian reservations in accordance with the written request of the ITO if the ITO does not desire to administer the Program or if the ITO is determined by FNS to be incapable of Program administration.

Four States insisted that no funds are available to administer the Food Distribution Program. One of those States maintained that, if funds were somehow made available, at least 180 days would be needed to assume administration because of the need to train staff, develop a plan of operation, print forms and complete related requirements. One State indicated that it has not distributed Federally donated foods to any eligible outlet since 1974, and does not intend to reactivate a distribution structure. One commenter contended that the first opportunity to operate the Food Distribution Program should be given to the ITO. If the ITO failed, then the State agency should administer the program.

Based on the Act, the final regulations have been revised to clarify that, if an ITO desires to have the Food Distribution Program operating on its reservation and is capable of administering the program, the ITO must do so. However, if both the ITO and the State agree, an agency of the State government may administer the Food Distribution Program on the Indian reservation. The language of the Act does not compel a State government to operate the program merely because an ITO prefers not to administer food distribution on a reservation. Only if FNS makes a finding of incapability on the part of the ITO, would the State government be required to administer the program on behalf of the Indian tribe.

Four commenters recommended that if an ITO requests approval to administer a Food Distribution Program the Secretary should determine the ITO's capability to do so within 30 days.

FNS concurs that a timeframe for determination should be specified, and has provided in the final rules that the capability of an ITO not currently administering the Food Distribution Program must be determined by FNS within 60 days after receiving the ITO's request. A 30-day timeframe is overly restrictive in that some determinations of reservation status or capability may require additional research and collateral contacts. Initially at least, FNS may also receive a number of requests all at the same time, which will make it difficult to assure that each request would be handled in no more than 30 days. A 30-day timeframe, however, is specified for determining capability of an ITO currently administering a Food Distribution Program.

One commenter recommended that the final rules affirmatively state that a State agency responsible for administering the Food Distribution Program may contract certain Program functions to an ITO. FNS has adopted this recommendation.

Application by an ITO

A provision has been added to the final rules that an ITO which desires to participate in the Food Distribution Program must submit an application to FNS specifying whether the Program is desired on all or part of the reservation; independent of, or concurrent with, the Food Stamp Program; and other relevant information.

Tribal Capability

The proposed rules provided that FNS would, if requested by an ITO which has been determined by FNS to be capable of administering a Food Distribution Program, provide the organization's designees with training and technical assistance as necessary to prepare the ITO to take over program administration. FNS would consult with BIA to determine what training and technical assistance is necessary.

[15] The proposal actually established the 180 day deadline for the imposition of the new personnel and staffing requirements where the new rules required "the hiring [and training] of paid staff. . . ." Although Indian tribes and food advocacy groups submitted thorough comments, they did not recommend or discuss, by and large, particular implementation timeframes.

Several suggestions were received that FNS should also consult with the ITO as well as BIA. FNS did not intend to exclude the ITO from consultation regarding the training and technical assistance it needs. Clarifying language to this effect has been added.

Six commenters contended that FNS should be required to provide technical and training assistance to noncapable tribes so they could overcome their deficiencies and be able to operate the Food Distribution Program. Three additional comments stated that a reasonable amount of technical assistance should not be witheld from any tribe desiring to qualify for program administration.

The Department did not intend to preclude tribes with basic capabilities from becoming fully capable to administer a Food Distribution Program through necessary training and technical assistance. However, the Department does not intend to provide training and technical assistance to all ITO's upon request. The Department does not have sufficient funds or staff to do so unless the ITO has been determined potentially capable of Food Distribution Program administration. Such expenditures would only result in the diversion of limited funds which could be better used elsewhere to benefit Indians and other recipients. Therefore, the language has been revised to clarify that training and technical assistance for tribes determined to be potentially capable of program administration based on general management experience.

State Agency Requirements (§ 283.5)

Plan of Operation

One commenter stated that the State agency should be required to submit its plan of operation annually to the ITO for review. The final rules provide that the State agency should periodically consult with the ITO regarding the current status and applicability of provisions relating to Indians in the plan of operation.

The proposed rules require the State agency, if not an ITO, to consult in good faith with the ITO when developing the plan of operation for administering the Food Distribution Program on behalf of the ITO. One commenter recommended that FNS should elaborate on the standards used to judge whether a State agency is consulting in good faith with the ITO. Four others believed that FNS approval should be contingent upon the ITO approving every facet of the plan unless the State agency could demonstrate to FNS that it would be impractical to comply with the requests of the ITO.

FNS believes that the ITO is adequately protected regarding the consultation and approval process by the requirement that the State agency submit the plan of operation and any subsequent amendments to the ITO at least 45 days prior to submission to FNS, and that the State agency must attach any comments from the ITO to these documents. The comments should enable FNS to evaluate the extent and depth of consultation and any concerns of the ITO in determining approval or disapproval of the State agency's plan of operation.

One commenter recommended that FNS develop at the Federal level a standard Plan of Operation for use by State agencies.

FNS plans to consider this recommendation in the future. The experience gained in providing training and technical experience to a variety of State agencies with various administrative and operational structures should enable FNS to develop a more useful and adaptable model.

Operating Manuals

One commenter stated that the State agency's operating manuals should be submitted to the ITO, as well as to FNS, for final review and approval. As in the proposal, the final rules require the State agency to maintain ongoing consultation with the ITO in developing the State agency's operating manuals and to submit these to FNS prior to their use. A provision has been added to the final rules that the State agency must file for review by FNS any comments or recommendations offered by the ITO relating to the operating manuals.

Staffing

Regarding certification personnel, three commenters recommended that if an ITO is presently administering other Federal programs, the personnel system deemed adequate for those Federal programs should be deemed adequate for a Food Distribution Program.

FNS is primarily concerned that certifiers for the Food Distribution Program be employed in accordance with a personnel system that incorporates the basic elements of a merit system. The comment of the Navajo Tribe explained that tribes may wish to value prior work experience more than formal education. The Food Research and Action Center noted that protections against "discrimination, nepotism and political patronage" should be sufficient to guard against possible employment abuses. The requirement for a merit personnel system is not intended to set job qualifications for specific positions, but to assure that general employment and hiring practices are based on merit rather than patronage.

Three commenters proposed that if an agency of State government operates the Food Distribution Program on an Indian reservation it should attempt to ensure that substantial percentages of Indian people are hired to staff the Program's operation. Each State agency has sufficient administrative discretion to adopt this proposal as a goal. FNS recognizes the responder's concern, and encourages State agencies to do so within the framework of these regulations.

The hiring of tribal members to certify other tribal members should make applicants feel more at ease, should reduce communication difficulties, and should improve the Food Distribution Program's image among Indians.

Three commenters proposed that State agenies should be required to establish grievance procedures so that program applicants can initiate disciplinary action against administrators who refuse to respect Indian rights under the Program. FNS believes that the concern is adequately dealt with by § 283.7 of the final regulations. Under that provision, the State agency must provide a fair hearing to any household aggrieved by any action of the State agency which affects the participation of the household in the Food Distribution Program. Inherent in this is the requirement that remedial action will be taken to protect participants' rights. No change is made in the final regulations.

Bilingual Requirements

The proposed rules required the State ageny to provide bilingual staff and certification and outreach materials when either an estimated 100 or more low-income households or the majority of low-income households on a reservation are a single language minority.

One commenter believed such assistance should be provided if 25 or more households needed bilingual assistance. While State agencies may elect to lower the numerical base for bilingual assistance, FNS has decided to retain the standard as proposed. The Papago Tribe of Arizona noted that, "the requirements for bilingual staff, certification and outreach materials are excellent."

Four commenters preferred that the term "single language minority" be redefined to mean households whose language of primary familiarity is other than English. The bilingual requirement is intended to remove the lanauage participation barrier for many households which are unable to communicate in English rather than for those who prefer a language other than English.

This definition also permits State agenies to utilize information gathered for Food Stamp Program purposes to determine the need for bilingual services for the Food Distribution Program.

Outreach and Referral

One commenter supported the proposed provision that State agenies become familiar with other public and general assistance programs so that the State agency can identify households which might be eligible for food assistance and to refer those households to the appropiate office or program. Another letter recommended that this provision be deleted.

The proposed rule will be retained as an efficient means to assist potentialy eligible households to obtain knowledge about programs designed for their benefit. The Buffalo Area Metropolitan Ministries stated that, "we applaud the provision which requires that the State agency shall be sufficiently familiar with WIC [Women, Infants and Children feeding program], SSI [Supplemental Security Income Program], and Commodity Supplemental Program . . ." to provide referral services.

Four commenters recommended there should be at least one outreach coordinator and adequate bilingual staff for each reservation.

FNS believes that the proposed requirements are adequate and will prove effective. However, a State agency may decide to have more outreach or bilingual staff than required by the regulations based on considerations such as the size of program, the number of participants and the number of single-language minority households.

Training Requirements

One commenter stated that the State agency should institute a reservation-wide training program for outreach workers if the ITO requests such training.

The proposed rules required the State agency to institute a training program for those involved in outreach. FNS believes elaboration is not necessary in the final regulations.

Another commenter stated that the list of what topics the State agency training programs shall cover should be expanded to include the specific needs of the ITO's and the Indian tribes or bands to whom the State agency offers services. Three other commenters recommended that training should, when feasible, be conducted on reservations, and that the sessions should include instruction and information about the unique culture and background of Indian people. These respondents also recommended that tribal leaders and residents should be informed in advance about the training sessions and should be invited to attend.

The proposed training rules were developed to ensure a well-staffed, well-administered and responsive Food Distribution Program. It is anticipated that many training programs may in fact include the components envisioned in these comments. However, FNS does not believe it is appropriate to mandate training to the extent it covers more than administrative procedures and standards or program criteria. Therefore, no changes in this paragraph were made in the final regulations. Note that the final regulations provide for public, therefore Indian, participation at training sessions under certain circumstances.

Nutrition Education

Three commenters stated that the nutrition education aspects of the Program should be imposed by regulation and implemented registered dietitians who are familiar with nutritional needs and food preferences of Indians. One letter stated there should be a clarification of the Department of Agriculture's Extension Service's input and another letter stated that regulatory language should be clarified to preclude a State agency hiring additional personnel which would duplicate services provided by other organizations.

Therefore, to foster better nutrition and the effective use of program benefits, the final regulations are revised in light of the preceding comments except that no explicit provision for a registered dietitian is included. FNS believes it is unnecessary to require dietitians since other resources may be adequate to meet program needs.

Records and Reports

The final regulations include an OMB requirement regarding the retention of records when litigation, claims or audits are involved.

Investigations

Three commenters stated that USDA investigations should also be conducted upon the request of an ITO or upon the request of a substantial number of program applicants and recipients.

The proposed rules provided that the Department shall make investigations at the request of the State agency or when the Department determines an investigation is necessary. If an ITO or a substantial number of individuals request an investigation, the Department would be justified in determining that an investigation is necessary. The Department believes that the rules, as proposed, are adequate.

Sanctions

One commenter recommended that since many Indian reservations are a Federal responsibility, the Federal government should conduct the Food Distribution Program where an ITO requests the program but does not want to administer it. However, the Act envisions that only State agencies or ITO's may administer the Food Distribution Program. Therefore, the final regulations follow the requirements of the Act.

One commenter complained that the proposal discriminated against ITO's because the proposed rules provided that if a State agency were disqualified from administering the Food Distribution Program, it could be reinstated if FNS approved its plan for corrective action; whereas a disqualified ITO was not given the same opportunity. The Department had intended the term "State agency", unless otherwise specified, would apply equally to agencies of the State government or ITO's. However, the final regulations are revised to clarify that the ITO may also submit a corrective action plan.

Three commenters recommended that the lifting of sanctions against a State agency should not occur merely upon submission of a corrective action plan but upon a demonstration of full compliance with pertinent regulatory or State plan requirements. In some instances it may be necessary for FNS to lift sanctions in order for the State agency to comply with its plan for corrective action. For example, FNS might find it necessary to release or restore administrative funds to enable the State agency to undertake program improvements. To provide FNS with flexibility, no changes relating to this recommendation were made in the final regulations.

Three commenters suggested that FNS consider withholding administrative funds for the general operation of the Food Stamp Program in the State as an additional sanction against abuses in the Food Distribution Program. FNS has rejected this suggestion since the same State agency might not be responsible for the administration of both programs. For instance, it would not be effective to sanction a State welfare agency's food stamp administrative funds for an ITO failure to administer a Food Distribution Program properly. Even if both Programs are administered by the State government, different agencies or different personnel within the State may be involved.

Appeals

Based on the comments, a new section has been added to the final rules which details a procedure for the agency of the State government or an ITO to appeal initial determinations made by FNS regarding whether a "reservation" exists and regarding the administrative capability of an ITO, the imposition of sanctions against the State agency and the level of Federal matching funding.

Eligibility of Households (§ 283.6)

In response to proposed criteria on determining the eligibility of households for the Food Distribution Program, 12 letters with approximately 37 comments were received. The majority of commenters supported the Department's intent to simplify Food Distribution Program eligibility requirements rather than adopting identical Food Stamp Program criteria for eligibility. Several commenters posed suggested revisions, some of which were for clarification purposes only.

Areas to which comments were primarily addressed included categorical eligibility, jointly owned resources, income exclusions and allowable deductions. These areas of concern and others are discussed in more detail under specific headings.

Household Concept

To assure that all substantive criteria which affect eligibility are addressed in one place in the Food Distribution regulations, the definition of household concept has been moved from Definitions, § 283.2, to § 283.6.

One commenter felt that the eligibility of households should be based on economic units rather than common food purchasing and preparation units as proposed and that residents of institutions be eligible for the Food Distribution Program.

With regard to the first comment, the basic test for eligibility in the Food Distribution Program involves a review of financial resources. The basic purpose of the program is to provide benefits to needy households. Thus, it is felt that eligibility reviews should involve only those persons considered part of a food unit and hence seeking food assistance. This position is consistent with the position expressed in the House Report concerning the Food Stamp Program and is consistent with the food stamp regulations issued under the Act.

In the interest of program simplification and as recommended by the Papago tribe, FNS has decided to exclude boarders from the household concept.[16] Since the per person commodity allotment is not reduced as household size increases, it is not as critical to precisely define boarder status for food distribution purposes as compared to Food Stamp Program purposes. Moreover, while each program simplification considered alone may appear insignificant, taken together the simplifications should expedite the certification process for everyone and otherwise save time and effort which could better be spent on other matters.

Insofar as the eligibility of institutionalized residents is concerned, enabling legislation for food distribution permits participation by residents of institutions based on the eligibility of the institution rather than on a resident's individual or household status. The Department encourages institutions which are located on Indian reservations not already participating in Food Distribution to apply for USDA donated commodities.

Income and resource eligibility standards of public assistance, supplemental security income and certain general assistance households. Several commenters addressed the categorical eligibility of households in which all members are included in a Federally aided public assistance (PA) grant, a Supplemental Security Income (SSI) grant or certain general assistance program grants.

Comments were about evenly divided in support of or opposition to the proposal. The Department has retained the categorical eligibility provision in order to reduce to the extent possible administrative burdens involved in determining household eligibility. As noted by the Food Research and Action Center:

> Since benefit levels in the Commodity Distribution Program are not variable based on income, and since public assistance[17] recipients are most likely to be eligible for commodities, the Department's decision [providing automatic public assistance eligibility] is wise. Moreover, the Department's decision, in this respect, will help to simplify program administration.

Two commenters indicated that paragraph (c)(1) of this section needed to be amended to clarify that categorical eligibility does not extend to SSI households in cash-out States. Clarifying language to this effect has been added.

Resource Eligibility Standards.

The majority of commenters supported the requirements contained in this section except for the provision on the treatment of jointly owned resources. For example, the Buffalo Area Metropolitan Ministries noted that, "the efforts to simplify eligibility requirements for households are very good." Two commenters felt that all jointly owned resources should be prorated with only the prorated amount counting toward the applicant household's total resources. For administrative convenience, the Department has adopted those recommendations.

In responding to § 283.7(e)(3) one commenter pointed out that the proposed regulations had not provided language on how to treat the resources of a household member who had been disqualified from participation in the Food Stamp Program for fraud when determining the remaining household members eligibility for the Food Distribution Program. Therefore, language has been added to the final rules which count in their entirety the resources of disqualified individuals to remaining household members. Without this rule, which is consistent with Food Stamp Program rules, households could benefit from the intentional fraud of a household member by having fewer resources counted upon the disqualification of that member.

In addition, the paragraph on handling excluded funds has been revised to clarify the handling of student and self-employment income which has been prorated. While the intent was never to count these payments as a resource, the rules on handling an excluded resource [16] Texas recommended the opposite simplification. They noted, "it is more realistic to consider those who live and eat together as one household than to exclude boarders and live-in attendants." This recommendation could result in the ineligibility of an entire household where the income and resources of boarders would place the rest of the household over the eligibility limits.

[17] The Navajo Tribe pointed out that the number of public assistance, general assistance or supplemental security income households that would not be eligible for the commodity distribution program, without categorical eligibility, would be "very small."

appeared to apply. Therefore, language has been revised to specify that prorated student and self-employment income is exempt as a resource so long as a portion is being counted as income.

The resource eligibility rules are also amended in three additional aspects. The resource exclusion for earned income tax credits is revised to take into account Public Law 95–600, the Revenue Act of 1978 and the treatment of Comprehensive Training and Employment Act (CETA) payments under CETA youth employment and training programs.

Handling of Commingled Funds

In the interest of program simplification the provisions concerning the handling of commingled excluded funds have been dropped. Since certain monies must be excluded under these final rules, State agencies may develop their own procedures to ensure that excluded monies are not considered when determining the household's resource level.

Definition of Income

In drafting procedures for the handling of income in the proposed rules, the Department inadvertently excluded as income payments from Government-sponsored programs, dividends, interest, royalties and all other direct money payments from any source which can be construed to be a gain or benefit. This language has been added to the final rulemaking, along with additional clarification on how to determine capital gains.

Again in response to a comment on the handling of persons disqualified from the Food Stamp Program for fraud when determining the eligibility of remaining household members for the Food Distribution Program, language including as income the earned or unearned income of the disqualified member less his/her pro rata share has been added to this section. This rule is consistent with the Food Stamp Program approach, and does not allow households to gain Food Distribution Program eligibility through the intentional fraud of a household member regarding the Food Stamp Program. Procedures for calculating the pro rata share are described in § 283.7(e)(3).

The Department has simplified the language used in describing types of income which are to be included and excluded in the computation of household income. The Department admits that this program clarification could result in slight variations in interpretation of those more simplified income examples and rules. However, since food distribution benefits are not reduced according to differences in total countable household income, the importance of precise and intricate computation procedures is reduced. The exact amount of income is important only for households near the income eligibility limits. The Department does not believe that such a consideration justifies the imposition of complicated and time-consuming procedures on all households.

Income Exclusions

One commenter felt that training allowances to individuals living on reservations should be excluded entirely as almost all of the training allowance would likely go toward meeting high transportation costs. The regulations provide an income exclusion for reimbursements which would cover job or training related expenses such as travel, per diem and transportation costs to and from work or training sites. Were the Department to exclude all training allowances because of transportation costs, certain trainees would be receiving more favorable treatment than wage earners. The Department believes that the rules represent a reasonable response to the needs of persons involved in training programs. In response to comments requesting explanatory language for defining mandatory fees, § 273.6(e)(3) has been amended to provide examples of mandatory fees. Minor language changes have been made in § 283.6(e)(3)(vi).

Several income exclusions in § 283.6(e)(3)(x) have been revised to clarify the exclusions and to reflect revisions in the legislation. The preamble to the October 17, 1978, food stamp regulations discussed the food stamp income exclusion under Title I (VISTA) of the Domestic Volunteer Service Act of 1973. The proposed language regarding the VISTA income exclusion for the Food Distribution Program was consistent with that food stamp approach. However, in technical amendments recently published the Department is slightly modifying that VISTA income exclusion rule. These final rules are likewise modified for the reasons stated in the preamble to those technical amendments.

An additional income exclusion is for earned income tax credits received as a result of Public Law 95–600, the Revenue Act of 1978 and for payments from certain CETA Youth Employment and Training Programs which are extended by Public Law 95–524. These issues are thoroughly discussed in the preamble to the technical amendments docket discussed above. Note that the Revenue Act of 1978 continues the disregard of earned income tax credits for determining assistance payments until January 1, 1980. The Revenue Act also authorizes advance payment of earned income credits by the employer in accordance with tables prescribed by IRS. Until January 1, 1980, the statutory exclusion applies to advance payments of the credit as well as to any payment at the end of the tax year. Assuming that the January 1980 expiration date remains in effect, the advance payments will be counted as earned income after that date. However, the payment at the end of the tax year will continue to be an income exclusion because it is a lump sum payment.

Income Deductions

The Department has amended § 283.6(g) to allow dependent care costs not to exceed the amount determined as the maximum allowable deduction for dependent care costs allowable under the Food Stamp Program in the 48 States and the District of Columbia when necessary for a household member to accept or continue employment or attend training or pursue education which is preparatory to employment. The Department wishes to encourage employment and job training so that households may eventually become self-supporting, or at least provide more of their own support. A child-care deduction allowing household members to work or attend training could serve that purpose for many households. An excess shelter care deduction would not, however, be directly related to the purpose of helping households break out of their cycle of poverty through employment. The preamble to the proposal, as with many aspects of the regulations, adequately discusses the issues regarding the requested excess shelter cost deduction.

Certification of Households (§ 283.7)

Fifteen letters with approximately 90 comments were received in response to the processing of applications for the Food Distribution Program. The majority of commenters supported proposed procedures, some with suggested changes. Regarding the proposed processing standards, the Food Research and Action Center stated, "we believe the Department's fine regulatory proposals for prompt service are fully justified." The most frequently commented on areas included: ITO receipt of certification and/or termination notices, interview requirements, the determination of income, verification provisions, assignment of certification periods, procedures for households switching from the Food Stamp to the Food Distribution Program and vice-versa, treatment of income and resources of individuals disqualified for fraud in the Food Stamp Program, expedited processing standards and fair hearing requirements. These areas of concern and others are discussed in more detail under specific headings.

Application Processing

Several comments addressed the desirability of the ITO receiving copies of certification and/or termination notices. While the proposed regulations did not require ITOs to receive copies of notices, the proposed regulations did not preclude such action. Therefore, language has been added to indicate that when the State agency is other than an ITO, the ITO may receive copies of certification notices to the extent requested or agreed upon by the household and the State agency. Moreover, the final regulations permit ITOs and State agencies to establish formalized procedures to facilitate ITO receipt of notices.

Household Cooperation

As requested by one commenter, a minor language change has been made in the final regulations regarding household cooperation to indicate that in cases where there is some question as to whether a household had merely failed to cooperate, as opposed to refused to cooperate, the household should not be denied eligibility solely because of that failure.

Interviews

Several commenters were concerned about the exclusion of the Food Stamp Program's out-of-office certification criteria when determining a household's eligibility to participate in the Food Distribution Program. Some commenters felt that interviews should automatically be waived under specific conditions set by the Department. The Department left out the special interview provisions contained in the Food Stamp Program regulations for several reasons.

First, anticipating a significant increase in administrative costs, including worker time, in providing benefits to each household requiring out-of-office certification, the Department decided that those resources should be expended on maximizing delivery of basic services to all households. Second, these procedures could add needless complexity and increase administrative costs while not totally responding to potential transportation problems. Third, the much shorter food distribution application processing timeframes will likely require that interviews be conducted upon filing an application. This factor will limit the problem of repeated trips to be certified.

However, to allow States to respond to emergency or unusual circumstances, the final regulations have been revised to allow the State agency the option of telephone or home visit certifications. Households may not be interviewed by telephone for any two consecutive certifications and State agencies must attempt to schedule home visits in advance. Home visits may not extend required processing standards set forth in § 283.7(a)(7) or § 283.7(a)(9).

Verification

There were many and varied comments regarding verification provisions. Most of the comments sought to bring Food Distribution Program verification requirements in line with those established for the Food Stamp Program. However, a few comments were aimed at making the verification requirements less stringent.

In line with suggested revisions, language regarding the use of collateral contacts was added to the final regulations. Comments that income verification be to the exact dollar amount and that changes in monthly income of $25 or more, instead of $50 or more, be verified were rejected as inefficient because benefits in the Food Distribution Program are not reduced as income increases. Therefore, except in the few cases when the variation in the income in question would mean the difference between eligibility and ineligibility, it is not essential to know, for example, that a household's income is $190, rather than $150 a month.

One commenter proposed that verification only be sought at the time of application if the amount given by the household is questionable and at the time of recertification if it appears that the household's continued eligibility is uncertain. However, as recertifications will often be as far as a year apart, and since the final regulations provide some latitude to the extent that verification need not be to the exact dollar amount at application and only verified under certain circumstances at recertification, the Department is not adopting these comments. Moreover, casefile documentation of verification provides an audit trail for determining the accuracy of certification for program participation.

Comments regarding proposed expedited processing standards were fairly evenly divided for and against the provision. The major concern in olving the expedited delivery standard was stated by North Dakota. Their letter pointed out that, "warehouse supervisors would be required to be on duty 40 hours a week with an assistant or someone designated to act in his absence. . ." North Dakota also mentioned that, "there are times when the warehouse should be closed during working hours in order to inventory, spray to prevent infestation and other housekeeping chores." The final regulations explain that keeping warehouses open 40 hours a week may not be necessary so long as appropriate officials have access to commodities for distribution to destitute households. Under certain circumstances, FNS may approve alternative timeframes for responding to expedited cases, for example, if the distance to warehouses or distribution points is so great as to preclude same day or one day service.

ID Cards

Several commenters were concerned about the need for mandatory use of Identification Cards for the Food Distribution Program. The Navajo tribe commented that the "master card/record system in use presently on reservations administering the [Food Distribution] program" has been successful. Final regulations have been revised to allow States to use ID cards although other adequate identification must be accepted by the State. Thus, individuals, including authorized representatives, must present some form of identification before commodities can be issued to help guard against program fraud.

Determining Income

A few commenters suggested, for purposes of clarity and greater precision, that the section on determining income should include more of the language found in Food Stamp Program regulations regarding anticipated income, conversion factors, and unallowable self-employment costs of doing business. The Department has added some clarifying examples and has simplified the self-employment income calculations by eliminating the depreciation deduction while counting only the net profit from the sale of capital goods and equipment.

Certification Periods

Most of the comments in response to assigning appropriate certification periods favored the provisions as proposed. However, two commenters suggested that certification periods automatically be one year. The proposed regulations recognized that certification periods assigned to households eligible for participation in the Food Distribution Program would normally be longer than those assigned in the Food Stamp Program, since fluctuations in income below the income eligibility limit do not affect the benefits received under Food Distribution. Moreover, the regulations allow for assigning a one year certification in situations where household circumstances are expected to remain sufficiently stable. The Department considers the proposed rules to have provided a reasonable balance between the participants' interest in long certification periods and the Department's interest in fiscal integrity.

Notices to Households

The majority of comments received on notices proposed that household notices be in the language of the household's primary familiarity. Section 283.5(d) of the final regulations requires the use of bilingual staff and certification and outreach materials when either an estimated 100 or more low-income households or the majority of low-income households on the reservation are a single-language minority. Certification materials include the notices of eligibility or ineligibility provided to households. As such, existing bilingual requirements will reasonably meet the need for issuing notices in other languages. Additionally, language regarding the use and requirements for the notice of adverse action have been moved from § 283.7(c) to this section and provisions regarding joint processing situations have been added.

Reporting Changes

Two commenters proposed that where the household has requested a fair hearing and continued benefits due to a reduction or termination of food distribution participation that benefits be continued only if the certification period has not expired. Since there are no provisions for retroactive benefits, should the fair hearing be decided in favor of the household, the Department provided for continued benefits past the expiration of the certification period if a fair hearing was requested by the household. On balance, the Department continues to believe that this is an equitable and reasonable approach and has retained the provision as proposed.

Recertification

It became apparent during the comment analysis that there was some confusion over the paragraphs discussing the signficance of applying in or before "the last week" of the certification period. The final rules simply provide that households which apply in "the last month" of the current certification period will be provided an opportunity to receive commodities on an uninterrupted basis. Since the final rules do not require the advance mailing of a termination notice, State agencies must develop some method to reasonably notably households of the termination date. Because of the tight normal processing standards, and the one day expedited processing standards, the need for formalized termination notice procedures and deadlines are obviated. Since benefits must be made available within seven working days, at the most, the Department felt that States should be allowed flexibility in providing appropriate notice. Even households which are inadvertently not notified of the termination date should be able to apply and receive benefits during the first month after the certification period has expired under the final processing standards.

One commenter proposed that households be permitted to receive continued benefits on a recertification denial if a fair hearing is requested by the household on a timely basis. Since the Food Distribution Program makes no provision for retroactive benefits, the Department concurs with this proposal and has revised the final regulations accordingly.

In addition, to reduce the burden of verification and since the amount of benefits is not reduced according to household income, this section has been revised to provide that previously verified income, if the source has not changed and the amount has changed by $50 or less, need not be verified again if applications for participation are received within 30 days after the household's certification period has expired.

Choice of Programs

Several commenters were concerned about the mechanics of households switching from one program to the other and the potential for households not receiving benefits under either program during the interim period of changing programs. Therefore, the final regulations have been revised to provide specific administrative procedures for use by State agencies when households express a desire to change programs. However, because eligibility in one of the programs does not necessarily mean the household is eligible for the other, to switch programs the household must terminate its participation in one program and reapply for the other program. Controls will assure that eligible households do not experience an interruption in benefits assuming prompt application for the other program and also prevent duplication participation.

Disqualification

One commenter pointed out that the proposed regulations provided no criteria on how to treat the resources, income, and deductible expenses of individuals disqualified for fraud in the Food Stamp Program when determining the eligibility of the remaining household members for participation in the Food Distribution Program. The final regulations have been revised to provide specific criteria for handling of income and resources of disqualified members.

Joint Processing PA/GA

One commenter proposed that joint processing be required, rather than a State option. However, since mandatory joint processing requirements could result in both the State agency and the ITO accepting food distribution applications, the Department has retained the requirement as proposed. Other modifications were made for clarity.

Fair Hearings

There were four comments received on fair hearing procedures. One commenter was uncertain as to whether or not the same fair hearing official could conduct the food stamp and food distribution hearings. While not specifically stated in the final regulations, the same official can conduct food stamp and food distribution fair hearings.

Another commenter felt that household should be allowed to request Food Distribution Program fair hearing postponements beyond 30 days. In the interest of program efficiency, criteria for food stamp and food distribution hearings are as closely aligned as possible. Additionally, the Department is not adopting this comment in the final regulations since delays in holding hearings will increase the possibility that information will be forgotten, that documents will be misplaced, that witnesses will become unavailable, or that facts will no longer be relevant.

One commenter also proposed that the notification of time and place of hearing be increased to 15 days in advance rather than the proposed ten day notice. Particularly in light of the postal and transportation problems existing on many Indian reservations and the "frequently isolated locations of appellants' homes," as noted by one commenter, the Department has adopted that suggestion.

Finally, one commenter proposed that the Department provide retroactive benefits to households in which fair hearings are decided in the household's favor. However, as the final regulations permit the continued distribution of commodities to households beyond the expiration of the certification period in situation where fair hearings are involved and to households denied at recertification if a timely request for a fair hearing is made, the Department has not adopted this comment.

Moreover, issuing retroactive benefits could lead to food waste or encourage the sale of commodities for cash when provided in the form of extra food over and above the normal monthly commodity package. Note that the per person monthly commodity package is not reduced by either the individual's level of income nor the economics of scale used in the Food Stamp Program. Therefore, households could receive two, three or even more times their full monthly commodity package if benefits are provided retroactively.

The only effective remedy for the anticipated loss of food assistance is timely delivery of those benefits. As such, the final regulations require that State agencies establish special procedures for the prompt resolution of disputes over program eligibility, i.e., agency conferences. These conferences must be held within four working days of a request for an immediate resolution of a dispute involving program eligibility. To meet this standard, agency conference procedures need not duplicate the full dual process protections of a fair hearing. Households requesting agency conferences must also be allowed to request a fair hearing.

Moreover, the final regulations permit the continued distribution of food commodities to households beyond the expiration of the certification period in situations where fair hearings are involved and to households denied at recertification if a timely request for a fair hearing is made.

Commodity Control, Storage, and Distribution (§ 283.8)

Commodity Inventories

Five commenters recommended that the final regulations should provide that inventories be maintained at a level which ensures the constant availability of no less than a two months supply of the total commodity package for each participant.

FNS has decided to retain the language of the proposed rules which requires the State agency to ensure that an adequate supply for the uninterrupted distribution of commodities is on hand at all distribution sites. It may not be practicable nor reasonable to maintain a two months supply of commodities at a distribution site located in close proximity to a central warehouse. To specify a two months minimum might deter the State agency from maintaining a three to four months inventory if needed at major storage or distribution sites. The important consideration is that an adequate supply of commodities be available at all distribution sites.

Storage Facilities and Practices

Three commenters stated that points and hours for commodity issuance should be established. The Food Stamp Act of 1977 requires the State agency to comply with standards set by the Secretary with respect to points and hours of food stamp coupon issuance, but the Act does not extend this requirement to the Food Distribution Program. However, the regulations do generally provide for points and hours by requiring that sufficient distribution sites, either permanent or mobile, be geographically located or routed in relation to population density of eligible households and that days and hours of distribution be sufficient for caseload size and convenience.

Distribution

A new paragraph has been added in the final regulations to emphasize the State agency's responsibility for all aspects of the Food Distribution Program regardless of any assistance provided by other agencies or organizations or any delegations of responsibility made by the State agency.

Improper Distribution or Loss of or Damage to Commdodities

The requirement in the proposed rules that State agencies submit their claims procedure to FNS has been eliminated. FNS has determined that the provisions regarding claims set forth in Part 250 of this chapter provide adequate safeguards concerning the pursuit and resolution of claims resulting from improper certification and distribution practices.

Damaged or Out-of-Condition Commodities

Provisions in the proposed rules concerning damaged or out-of-condition commodities have been slightly modified to specify that if commodities are declared unfit for human consumption they shall be disposed of in accordance with § 250.7 of Part 250, Chapter 7 of the CFR.

Three commenters observed that the proposal did not allow families to be provided replacements for spoiled foods. Since the possibility exists that damaged or out-of-condition commodities could be inadvertently issued to a household, FNS has included a provision in the final regulations for replacement although State agencies have traditionally had discretion to make such replacement without specific provisions in Department regulations.

Administrative Funds for State Agencies (§ 283.9)

Authorization for Administrative Funds

The proposed rules provided that FNS pay 50 percent of administrative costs approved by FNS which are needed to operate a Food Distribution Program unless the State agency could submit compelling justification for an amount in excess of 50 percent.

Twelve commenters believed that State agencies which are ITO's should receive 100 percent funding for administrative costs and three additional commenters wanted the same funding level for State agencies which were not ITO's. Ten commenters expressed concern that receiving only 50 percent of program costs would place a heavy financial burden on State agencies which are ITO's who desire to administer their own Program. Several States expressed concern that their respective legislatures would be reluctant to appropriate funds to operate the Program on Indian reservations.

Six respondents complained that the "compelling justification" required for a higher percentage matching level was not defined and others were concerned that a heavy burden would be placed on State agencies if required to prepare justification.

A number of commenters insisted that the Federal reimbursement should be 100 percent unless FNS can show by compelling evidence that State agency funding, especially for ITO's, should be at a lower level.

FNS has modified the provisions concerning payment of administrative funds to provide that, within the limitations of available funds, FNS will pay to each State agency 75 percent of Program costs which are itemized in the budget information submitted by the State agency to FNS and are approved by FNS as allowable and necessary for effective program administration.[18]

The Department examined the possibility of developing a sliding 50–100 percent funding scale or a scale with discrete funding levels to determine the appropriate funding ratio. However, the creation of a useful formula which could consider and appropriately balance the variety of needs and resources for each reservation proved impractical.

The detailed Navajo comment suggested a "three tiered [funding] allocation system," with 100 percent reimbursement, 75 percent reimbursement and a 50 percent reimbursement floor. They suggested that, "each tier level would again have specific need criteria associated with it." However, they did not suggest how these "need criteria" could be formulated.

The Navajo comment also emphasized the critical need for initial financial assistance. The Hunger Action Center stated that, "start up funding is necessary to invest in . . . basic necessities," such as warehouses and vehicles. Idaho suggested that States would also require higher levels of initial funding to set up the Food Distribution Program.

In terms of on-going funding, and based on their experience with tribal organizations, the Navajo BIA area office noted that, "very few tribes would be able to administer Federal programs if they only receive 50 percent reimbursement for their administrative costs." The Bureau of Indian Affairs national office in Washington, D.C., anticipated that, "most tribes involved in administration of these programs will require payment well over the 50 percent level . . . " They recommended, "that a tribal financial statement audited by a licensed CPA could be the basic determinant relative to that need."

The State of Texas noted, "the probable need for a Federal match in excess of 50 percent of administrative costs, whether the State agency or the ITO administers the program."

Taking into account points raised by the comments, the final regulations provide a minimum 75 percent administrative cost funding level for program costs which were submitted to FNS and approved as part of the State agency's or ITO's budget by FNS. To take into account any special demands or needs, the regulations also allow for approval of funds in excess of 75 percent based on compelling justification. The variety and nature of the possible grounds for additional funding make determination on a case-by-case basis the most practical approach. The possible need for higher start up funding ratios is given as an example of a "compelling justification."

The final rules provide that FNS will review and evaluate applications received from State agencies for administrative funds in the following order of priority and will give preference in the payment of funds in the same order of priority: (i) applications received from State agencies which desire to continue a Food Distribution Program now in operation, (ii) applications from State agencies, in the order received, which FNS determines are immediately capable of effectively and efficiently administering the Program, and (iii) applications from other State agencies, in the order received. It seems most cost efficient, since higher start up costs are avoided and expensive investments have already likely been made, to give first priority to maintaining existing programs. For lack of a better approach, it seems fair to allocate limited funding according to the order in which applications are received, allowing for special treatment where a State agency can immediately prepare for program operation.

Use of Funds

Two commenters recommended that funds provided by FNS be available for use to reimburse temporary loans from other Federal agencies so that State agencies could repay loans necessitated by emergency needs in the Program, and further, FNS should revise Part 275 which deals with the payment of certain administrative costs of State agencies to permit certain logistical improvements in Indian operations of the Food Distribution Program. Specifically, the commenters desire that Part 275 provide opportunities for reimbursing the costs of expanding, improving and increasing capital facilities.

FNS believes that Part 275 adequately provides for the concerns expressed, especially in the section on depreciation and use allowances, and requires no revisions.

Application for Funds

The proposed rules provided that if the State agency desired to receive administrative funds for the Food Distribution Program, it must have submitted a program budget to FNS which reflected by category of expenditure an estimate of the total amount to be expended in operating the Program during a Federal fiscal year. Approval of the budget was a prerequisite to tentative allocation of funds to State agencies.

Two commenters stated that 45 days provided for in the proposal was insufficient time to develop a budget for a new Program; 90 to 120 days was needed. In the interest of implementing the Program as soon as practical, but considering the concerns expressed, FNS has extended the 45 day maximum to 60 days for fiscal year 1980. In subsequent years, State agencies must submit an application for Federal assistance at least three months prior to the beginning of a Federal fiscal year.

Fifteen commenters protested that approval of the Program budget by FNS be a prerequisite to tentative allocation of funds to State agencies. They pointed out that they did not believe State agencies administering the Food Stamp Program had to obtain advance approval of their administrative budgets. In fact, FNS will be proposing regulations requiring prior approval of all budgets, including annual food stamp budgets. Moreover, FNS consistently retains approval authority over all administrative costs which involve a Federal matching percentage greater than 50 percent.

A limited amount of administrative funds was provided in fiscal year 1979 for operating the Food Distribution Program. To ensure maximum utilization of these funds among an unpredictable number of possible applicant State agencies, FNS preserved the right to review and approve budget estimates. For funds to be provided for future fiscal years from Section 4(b) of the Food Stamp Act of 1977, FNS will reserve the right to review and approve submissions for the Food Distribution Program in the interest of fiscal integrity and to ensure the effective and efficient operation of the program consistent with the language of the Act which authorizes the Secretary to pay such amounts for administrative costs for commodity distribution, "as the Secretary finds necessary for effective administration." The legislative history indicated Departmental responsibility for determining the amount or percent of administrative costs incurred by the State or tribal organization for which the Secretary will pay; and, implicitly, responsibility for determining the types of costs for which the Department will pay. Therefore, no changes in this paragraph were made in the final rules.

Availability of Funds

One letter requested that FNS delete the references in the proposed rules dealing with present and potential [18] The administrative funding ratio problem arises in reference to both the Food Stamp and Food Distribution Programs. Issues discussed in reference to one program may also be relevant to the other program.

constraints concerning the availability of administrative funds. One commenter requested that FNS amend the rules to provide that notification by FNS to a State of Federal funds to be made available conveys to the State a vested right to those funds.

FNS has extensively modified provisions in the proposed rules regarding availability of funds. However, the final rules still recognize that the Department does not have unlimited funding available to operate the Food Distribution Program, although the amount of available funds has been greatly expanded over what was available in past years. Therefore, the Department has an order of priority included in the final regulations with regard to making payment of funds should there be insufficient funds available to meet the demand.

Method of Payment to State Agencies

This section of the proposed rules has been edited for clarity with respect to use of Letter of Credit and Treasury checks.

Return, Reduction, and Reallocation of Funds

A sentence has been added to this paragraph that FNS may reduce, transfer, or require the return of funds allocated to State agencies if FNS determines that circumstances or conditions justify such action.

Records, Reports, and Audits

Several editorial changes were made in this paragraph of the proposed rules. Also, a requirement has been added in the final regulations that a State agency receiving funds other than through a Treasury RDO Letter of Credit system submit monthly reports to FNS on Form SF–272, "Federal Cash Transactions Report," within 30 days after the end of the reporting month.

The Commodity Package

Section 1304 of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977 gives the Secretary of Agriculture the authority to purchase and distribute "sufficient agricultural commodities with funds appropriated from the general fund of the Treasury to maintain the traditional level of assistance for food assistance programs as are authorized by law, including . . . distribution to . . . Indians." The section goes on to state that, "in providing for commodity distribution to Indians, the Secretary shall improve the variety and quantity of commodities supplied to Indians in order to provide them an opportunity to obtain a more nutritious diet." However, the report of the joint conference committee notes that the conferees do not intent that "commodity package will necessarily in and of itself constitute a 'nutritionally adequate diet'."

The directive to improve the variety and quantity of foods offered was the first provision of the Food and Agriculture Act, which includes the Food Stamp Act of 1977, implemented by FNS. In July 1978, the Department offered a substantially improved commodity package in which quantities of food were increased, variety was expanded, and nutrient values were increased.[19] The terms of this package offer were included in the preamble to the proposed Indian regulations and comments were invited on it.

While the proposed regulations did not address the contents or value of the package itself, the preamble to those regulation stated that, "the Department shall offer a variety and quantity of commodities for Indian households such that the commodity package represents an acceptable alternative to Food Stamp Program benefits."

Twenty-seven commenters responded by addressing issues related to the commodity package, including: Requests for greater varieties of foods, for greater quantities of food, for foods meeting the preferences of individual tribes, and for inclusion of additional food items. A number of commenters also called for a guarantee in the regulations of the amount of food to which each person would be entitled each month; and, beyond this basic entitlement, for a "tribal maximum" which would permit tribes to order up to a specified maximum quantity for each item the tribe desired in excess of a basic entitlement.

In partial response to comments calling for a regulatory guarantee of the minimum package households are entitled to receive, the Department has included language in the final regulations stating that the commodity package is intended to be an acceptable alternative to the Food Stamp Program benefits;[20] that the Department will offer a variety of foods from each of the four food groups; and that, to the extent practicable, foods offered will respond to households' preferences as determined by State agencies.

The Department is sympathetic to comments calling for a more specific guarantee of an entitlement and has given serious consideration to ways in which such an entitlement might be expressed. Several measures of the "value" of the package are possible: The number of pounds of food in each food group, the number of cans or packages of each food item offered, total nutrients offered and cost.

However, the Department has concluded that a guarantee expressed in such literal measures would be impracticable and inappropriate for the following reasons. First, the Department intends that the package offer be responsive to household preferences. These preferences now vary from tribe to tribe and, if more tribes enter the program, may vary yet more. They may also vary through time. In order to tailor the package as closely as practicable to individual tribal preferences, the Department needs the flexibility to modify its offer accordingly. This flexibility would be constrained if modifications could only be made within regulatory requirements for fixed numbers of pounds of food, numbers of cans or packages, nutrient values or costs. Alternatively, to the degree that modifications would change these measures, new regulations would have to be published for every such modification. Such an administrative burden could become a discouragement to the very flexibility that commenters call for.

Additionally, even if the current package offer were never modified, the Department cannot guarantee its delivery, due to factors beyond its control. Expressed most literally, the Department's package offer is an offer to attempt to buy and deliver specific foods. The Department's ability to buy and deliver these foods depends upon the market availability of any given item, whether State agencies have placed orders for a given item in a quantity sufficient to warrant purchase and distribution, interest on the part of the trade in bidding at a reasonable cost and in accordance with the Department's specifications for procurement, and the bidders' ability to deliver, which in turn depends upon the availability of transportation facilities and upon weather conditions.

The Department does provide substitutions for every item ordered by State agencies which cannot be delivered. However, standard commercial container and package sizes for substitute items may differ regarding the items they replace, and the Department therefore cannot guarantee that substitute items will represent the same weight or number of containers or packages per person as those they replace. Nor will nutrient values of substitute items necessarily be identical to those of the items they replace.

[19] The Community Nutrition Institute stated that, "the commodity package offered for Indians contains some notable improvements over the former USDA offer."

[20] In the floor debates on the food stamp bill reported out of the conference committee, Representative Richmond noted: The conference [committee] opted for an upgraded food package, but did not specify the nature of the foods. However, since Indian households have a choice between . . . programs, we expect that the Secretary would endeavor to make the benefits to Indian households fairly comparable regardless of which program they elect to use, in order to allow a real choice. Cong. Rec. H–8643, September 16, 1977.

Similarly, the cost of the package offer will vary according to market conditions and the need for substitutions.

For these same reasons, and for budgetary reasons as well, the Department has not adopted comments calling for a regulatory entitlement to "tribal maximums" that would permit tribes to order quantities in excess of a specified minimum. However, the Department believes that the intent of this recommendation—that tribal preferences for certain foods be satisfied—can be met in large part by offering greater variety from which foods can be selected and through provision for substitution of certain items for other items.

Accordingly, the Department plants to modify its next package offer, to be made in June 1979 for delivery starting in October 1979, to offer greater variety within the Meat, Bread-Cereal, Vegetable-Fruit, and Milk food groups; and to permit substitutions on a pound-for-pound basis within the Bread-Cereal group. Thus, for example, where rice is preferred to flour, greater quantities of rice and correspondingly lesser quantities of flour may be ordered. (As with the current package, substitution of evaporated milk for dry milk will be permitted.)

To provide yet more flexibility, the Department will consider, on a case by case basis, requests from State agencies for other substitutions. A consideration in approving such substitutions will be their logistical feasibility and impact on the cost of the package.

It must be noted that the extent to which State agencies will be able to provide increased variety to households will depend upon storage and distribution capabilities at the State and local levels. Where all varieties desired cannot be distributed within a given month, variety may be cycled in over a period of months. At a minimum, the Department's future package offers will afford households greater variety from which to select those foods which can be stored and distributed within the constraints of State and local capabilities.

Additionally, the Department cautions that it can only make purchases for items ordered by State agencies in quantities sufficient to warrant purchase and distribution. Thus, if sufficient orders are not received for a given item, substitutions will be arranged.

Several commenters called for an increase in the nutrient values of the package. In fact, nutrient values were significantly increased in the July 1978 package offer. Nutrient values are expressed in terms of recommended daily dietary allowances (RDA's). However, the package offer is expressed in terms of monthly quantities of food. To estimate the nutrient values of the package, it must be assumed that foods are consumed in equal portions over a 30-day period. While this is clearly an artificial assumption, it is the only practical method currently available to the Department for estimating the nutrient values of the package. By this measure, a representative selection of foods offered should provide the equivalent of, or in excess of, the average RDA's for food energy, protein, calcium, iron, vitamin A, ascorbic acid, thiamine and riboflavin. Obviously, the precise nutrient values received by a given household will depend upon the selection made from the variety offered. As noted by several commenters, nutrition education can play an important role in ensuring that households obtain maximum nutrient values from the package offer.

The effectiveness of the commodity package in providing Indian households "an opportunity to obtain a more nutritious diet" depends upon the extent to which nutritious foods offered suit household preferences and will therefore be consumed. The final regulations retain the requirement that State agencies determine household preferences in preparing their orders.

In addition, the Department invites State agencies to provide advice concerning household preferences for quantities in excess of those offered for specific foods and of preferences for foods not offered, so that the Department can determine the feasibility of adjusting quantities, adding new food items and increasing variety in future packages.

In making each determination, the Department will have to consider those factors that operate to constrain the features of the package. These include, as discussed above, market availability, the likelihood of orders in sufficient quantity to warrant purchase and distribution, and interest on the part of bidders. Additionally, the Department must consider the quantities and varieties of other foods desired; nutritional values of those foods singly and in combination, and preferences for convenient package sizes and materials; and the effect of all these factors on cost.

With respect to these factors, it must be remembered that the package is not intended in itself to constitute a nutritionally adequate diet and that the Department has a fixed budget for its food purchases. The Department, therefore, must be a "good shopper" for households within the constraints of that budget. Thus, while the Department could satisfy demands for a change in any one aspect of the package—quantity, variety and nutrients, or package sizes—it cannot satisfy all demands and still remain within its budget.

For example, per-pound costs generally increase as container sizes decrease. The Department has responded to requests for smaller container sizes by reducing the size of the non-fat dry milk carton and the process cheese package. It will also reduce the package size for oats and is exploring the possibility of reducing the container size for peanut butter. (Note a reduction in container size does not mean a reduction in quantity per person.) However, the Department has declined to reduce the size of the canned fruit from the standard 29-ounce can to the next smallest commercially available size—16 ounces. The increase in per-pound cost for the smaller can, coupled with the additional ounces that would have to be provided if quantity were not to be reduced (two 16-ounce cans, or 32 ounces, would be provided instead of one 29-ounce can) would result in an estimated $320,000 a year in additional expenditure of funds that would otherwise be available for the purchase of food itself.

Likewise, the Department could increase the total number of pounds of food offered by decreasing the quantities of more expensive items and increasing the quantities of less expensive items. For example, 10 pounds of cornmeal could be provided for the same price as 1 pound of canned poultry. Or, the Department could honor preferences for an item that costs $1.00 per pound, but at the expense of offering twice as much of another preferred item that costs 50 cents per pound. Similarly, the amount of protein offered could be increased by increasing the quantities of such items as meat and meat alternates, but at the expense of other items that contribute other needed nutrients and variety. In short, trade-offs such as these must be weighed in considering any modifications to the package offer.

Comments calling for modifications in the current package were extremely useful to the Department in its planning for the future package offers. Future preference determinations by State agencies should provide a systematic method for ensuring that the Department continues to receive the information it needs to offer those foods, in those quantities and container sizes, most desired by households.

Another issue addressed by a number of commenters was package labeling. Commenters asked, variously, for use of graphics nutrition information, information about contents, information on usage and storage, information for persons on special diets and information in native languages.

Given the variety of tribal languages, the Department believes it would be impractical to provide labels for each item in each language, if indeed bidders could be found to do so. However, it agrees that greater use of graphics could help make labeling information clearer and it has redesigned the labels for egg mix and dry milk to include more graphics and has developed a new graphic label for masa flour. All commodities do bear ingredient labeling. As appropriate, all labels indicate the food group to which a food belongs and do provide information on storage, and recipes or serving suggestions. Percentage and nutritional labeling are used where applicable. The Department believes that information for persons with special diets may be better provided through nutrition education. However, with respect to this and all other comments on labeling, the Department is re-evaluating labels in conjunction with its development of nutrition education materials appropriate for use by Indian households—a project that is now underway.

A number of commenters also asked for reductions in container and package sizes, citing household storage problems. As discussed above, the Department has reduced the size of dry milk and process cheese packages and it is reducing the size of the container for oats. It is also exploring the possibility of reducing the size of the container for peanut butter. All food items are ordered in standard retail consumer sizes. While the Department has chosen not to reduce other container sizes at this time, for the reason of cost given above, it will examine possible changes in packaging materials and container sizes in conjunction with future recommendations from the State agencies to determine whether additional modifications should be made.

Numerous commenters called for the inclusion of fresh and frozen foods. While the Department fully agrees that such foods would add variety and appeal to the package, it cannot for logistical reasons offer them now. With respect to fresh foods, the USDA, State and local distribution systems cannot accommodate the very rapid inventory turnover required for handling perishables. While frozen foods do not need as rapid an inventory turnover, they do require freezer capacity at every level of the distribution system—in warehouses and households' homes, as well as in trucks and rail cars. Because of the possibility of spoilage and consequent waste and the danger of food poisoning if adequate refrigeration is not available at every level the Department must have sound assurances of such necessary freezer capacity before it can offer frozen foods. It does not at this time have such assurances. In fact, several commenters stated that many Indians do not have access to refrigeration. When the Department is assured that this capacity exists to the extent necessary to make distributions, it will give consideration to requests for frozen foods.

4. The new part 281 reads as follows:

PART 281—ADMINISTRATION OF THE FOOD STAMP PROGRAM ON INDIAN RESERVATIONS

Sec.
281.1 General purpose and scope.
281.2 Administration.
281.3 Determination of failure.
281.4 Determining Indian tribal organization capability.
281.5 Responsibilities of an Indian tribal organization designated as State agency.
281.6 Liabilities and sanctions
281.7 Indian tribal organization failure.
281.8 Transfer of program administration.
281.9 Funding.
281.10 Appeals.

Authority: 91 Stat. 958 (7 U.S.C. 2011–2027).

§ 281.1 General purpose and scope.

These regulations govern the operation of the Food Stamp Program on Indian reservations either separately or concurrently with the Food distribution program. In order to assure that the Food Stamp Program is responsive to the needs of Indians on reservations, State agencies are required to consult with Indian tribal organizations about the implementation and operation of the Food Stamp Program on reservations. Also, under certain specified conditions Indian tribal organizations on reservations can administer the Food Stamp Program. The Act authorizes the Secretary to pay such amounts for administrative costs as are determined to be necessary for the effective operation of the Food Stamp Program on Indian reservations.

The operation of the Food stamp Program on Indian reservations is governed by all of the terms and conditions set forth in the Food Stamp Act of 1977 as amended and the regulations of this Chapter.

Additionally, under no circumstances shall any household participate simultaneously in the Food Stamp Program and the Food Distribution Program. Policy governing this prohibition is found in Section 283.7(e).

§ 281.2 Administration.

(a) Qualification. (1) The appropriate ITO of an established Indian reservation will qualify for participation under the provisions of this Part, when that ITO files an application which demonstrates the status of an area as an established reservation, unless FNS determines that such area(s) does not qualify as a reservation, as that term is defined in these regulations. For purposes of this Part, established reservation means the geographically defined area(s) currently recognized and established by Federal or State treaty or by Federal statute whereby such geographically defined area(s) is set aside for the use of Indians. Where such established areas exist, the appropriate ITO is presumed to exercise governmental jurisdiction, unless otherwise determined by FNS:

(2) The appropriate ITO for other areas, in order to qualify as reservations for the provisions of this Part, must show to FNS:

(i) That the ITO exercises governmental jurisdiction over a geographic area(s) which enjoys legal recognition from the Federal or a State government and is set aside for the use of Indians.

(ii) A clear and precise description of the boundaries of such geographic area(s).

(3) Otherwise qualified areas for which the responsible ITO has requested operation of the Food Distribution Program alone in accordance with § 283.4, rather than concurrent operation with the Food Stamp Program, shall be exempt from the requirements of this Part, and shall not be considered food stamp areas for any other purposes of this subchapter. Indian tribal households (households in which at least one adult member is recognized by the appropriate ITO as a tribal member) resident in these areas shall be ineligible for food stamp benefits. However, non-Indian tribal households resident in these areas may apply and be certified for food stamps at the State agency's certification office which would otherwise service the area. Otherwise qualified areas for which the responsible ITO has requested operation of the food distribution Program concurrently with the Food Stamp Program or areas within the reservation where FNS has determined that concurrent operation is necessary in accordance with § 283.3(b)(2) shall be subject to all requirements of this Part and subchapter.

(b) State plan. In addition to the public comment requirements in § 272.2, the State agency shall submit for comment its outreach plans, service plans, and all other portions of the State plan that directly pertains to the operation of the Program for residents on the reservation to the responsible ITO for reservations that qualify under (a) of this subsection. The ITO shall have 30 days to provide comments in writing to the State agency. The State agency shall, if appropriate and to the extent practicable, incorporate into its plans any suggestions made by the ITO. Additionally, the State agency shall administer the Food Stamp Program in a manner that is responsive to the needs of the Indians on the reservation, as determined by ongoing consultation with the ITO and by other means, regarding such areas of program operation as project area designation, operating procedures, locations and hours of certification and issuance, staffing and corrective action plans. The State agency shall maintain records of consultations on State plans and ongoing consultations held with ITO's for review by FNS. FNS shall study these records as part of reviews in accord with § 281.3 and Management Evaluation Reviews of the State agency.

(c) Project area designation. (1) An Indian reservation shall be designated as a separate project area or areas for the purpose of improving the accessibility of program services to Indians on the reservation unless:

(i) The State agency demonstrates to FNS that the size or population of the reservation does not warrant such designation;

(ii) The State agency demonstrates to FNS that the tribe can be adequately served by the existing or a planned project area because of the location of certification and issuance offices;

(iii) The State agency demonstrates to FNS that such designation would reduce the availability of certification and issuance offices; or

(iv) The State agency otherwise demonstrates to FNS that such designation would impair its Statewide administration of the Program.

(2) In the case where the Indian reservation boundaries cross State lines, the ITO and the appropriate State agencies may jointly request FNS approval that a single State agency administer the Food Stamp Program on all or part of the Indian reservation. A single agency of the State government would have to administer the Program under the same terms and conditions applied to all other political subdivisions within its jurisdiction. An ITO designated as a State agency pursuant to § 281.4(d) would have to administer the Program under the same terms and conditions on all areas of the reservation.

(d) Contracts with an Indian tribal organization. The State agency may contract program functions to an ITO. These functions include, but are not limited to, outreach, preparation of bilingual materials an issuance. The state agency may also use the ITO in prescreening, translations, interpretive services and other noncertification functions. The State agency shall not contract responsibility for certification activities such as interviews or eligibility determinations. In all cases, the State agency shall retain full responsibility for program administration.

§ 281.3 Determination of failure.

(a) Request for determination of State government agency failure. FNS shall examine State agency adminstration of the Food Stamp Program on all or part of a reservation when requested by the ITO, the State agency or at FNS' discretion. When FNS determines that a deficiency in a State agency operation of the Food Stamp Program on all or part of an Indian reservation may be serious enough to warrant a review, FNS shall advise the State agency and the ITO in writing of the alleged deficiencies and of its plans to conduct the review and document deficiencies, if any are found. Subsequent to October 1, 1979 FNS shall complete these reviews within 90 days from receipt of an ITO's or State agency's request except under unusual circumstances such as the receipt of a large number of simultaneous requests.

(b) Review.—(1) Content of the review for State agency performance. The review shall be designed to determine whether or not the State agency is properly administering the Food Stamp Program on a specific reservation. When an agency of State government is administering the Program on a reservation, FNS shall as a part of the review consult with the ITO about the operation of the Program on the reservation. The review should, depending on the nature of the complaint, include but not be limited to, an analysis of some of all of the following data:

(i) The records of State agency consultation with the ITO required under § 281.2(a);

(ii) The estimated percentage of all eligible Indians on the reservation who are participating the Program;

(iii) The nature and extent of violations, if any, of the 30 day and other processing standards for Indians;

(iv) The percentage of errors made in determining eligibility and/or the amount of benefits overissued or underissued;

(v) Compliance with standards for location and hours of certification and issuance offices as required in § 272.5;

(vi) Compliance with bilingual requirements of this regulation, where appropriate;

(vii) Compliance with nondiscrimination requirements of this regulation;

(viii) Compliance with other significant program requirements;

(ix) Comparison with services provided in all other areas of the State; and

(x) Any other relevant information that becomes available during the course of reviews including information received through contacts with the Indian tribe.

(2) Finding of no or of minor deficiencies. If after the review FNS determines either that deficiencies do not exist or that only minor deficiencies exist, FNS shall issue a report documenting its findings to both the State agency and the ITO and shall work closely with the State agency to achieve corrective action.

(c) Formal warning. After the review is completed, if FNS determines that major deficiencies exist, a formal warning shall be issued to the State, with a copy to the ITO. At a minimum, such warning shall indicate the State agency deficiencies and shall detail the basis upon which deficiencies were determined. The State shall have 30 days to respond with evidence that it is in compliance or to submit a corrective action proposal under Part 276. If satisfactory compliance is achieved by the State agency on deficiencies cited in a formal warning, FNS shall notify the State, with a copy to the ITO, that the warning for those deficiences is satisfied.

(d) Determination of failure and sanctions. If at any time after the formal warning period, or during or after the corrective action period, FNS determines that major deficiencies still exist which the State agency has not satisfactorily addressed or is not satisfactorily addressing, FNS shall determine State failure and may impose appropriate Federal sanctions on the State agency as specified in Part 276.

(e) ITO operations. If FNS has determined State failure and FNS has also determined that the ITO is capable of administering a Food Stamp Program in accordance with the terms and requirements for participating State agencies as established in the Act and regulations, then the ITO shall assume adminstration of the Food Stamp Program on the reservation. The State agency shall continue to administer the Food Stamp Program on the reservation until an effective termination and transition arrangement has been completed in accordance with § 281.8.

§ 281.4 Determining Indian tribal organization capability.

(a) Determining capability of ITO. If the ITO wishes to administer its own Food Stamp Program on the reservation FNS shall determine the ITO's potential capability for administering the Food Stamp Program in accordance with the criteria listed in § 281.4(b). FNS shall begin to evaluate the ITO's capability for all aspects of Food Stamp Program administration, allowing for fulfillment of that potential through necessary training and technical assistance, not later than the date of the issuance of the formal warning to the State agency.

(b) ITO responsibility. (1) The ITO must satisfy FNS that it is capable (if provided with any needed training and technical assistance) of administering the Food Stamp Program effectively and efficiently, and of complying with all provisions of the Food Stamp Act of 1977, as amended, and the regulations of this Chapter, including provisions governing quality control procedures, fraud determinations, and establishment and collection of claims for both Indian and any non-Indian participants. The ITO shall provide FNS with the following information:

(i) Operation of government programs. The ITO shall provide FNS a list of all government programs that the ITO administers and has recently administered. FNS may ask the ITO to provide the names of appropriate officials of the government organizations having jurisdiction over these programs so FNS can obtain all relevant audits, GAO reports, program evaluations and any other documents pertaining to the effectiveness and efficiency of tribal administration of these programs. The ITO shall also provide FNS a list of its recent contractual responsibilities, if any, for the Food Stamp Program under § 281.2(b).

(ii) Fiscal capabilities. The ITO shall provide FNS documentation of its bookeeping and accounting procedures, including procedures in use for fiscal accountability under Part 277 and for other government programs that the ITO administers.

(iii) Projected certification and issuance facilities. The ITO shall provide FNS with a description of the location of projected certification and issuance facilities.

(iv) Fraud hearings and claims. The ITO shall provide FNS with a description of how it will pursue fraud hearings and claims against Indian and non-Indian participants.

(v) Staffing. The ITO shall provide FNS with sufficient information to determine that personnel who will be used in the certification process will be employed under standards equivalent to current standards for a Merit System of Personnel Administration or any standards later prescribed by the Office of Personnel Management under Section 208 of the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970.

(vi) Civil rights assurance. The ITO shall provide FNS an assurance that the ITO shall comply with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Pub. L. 88–352), the Age Discrimination Act of 1975 (Pub. L. 94–135), the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93–112), Section 504), and Section 11(c) of the Food Stamp Act of 1977 and all pertinent regulations or directives to the effect that no person in the United States shall, on the grounds of sex, race, color, age, political belief, religion, handicap, or national origin, be denied benefits or otherwise be subject to discrimination under the Food Stamp Program. Where appropriate, FNS shall consider the adequacy of measures taken by the ITO to ensure that there shall be no discrimination.

(2) Prior to the determination of ITO capability, FNS shall consult with other sources such as the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) to obtain any information relevant to the capability determination.

(3) If it is determined by FNS, after consultation with other sources such as the BIA, that the ITO is not capable of operating an efficient and effective Food Stamp Program, the agency of the State government shall continue to operate the Program on the reservation in accordance with § 281.3.

(c) Training and technical assistance. Upon determining that the State agency has failed to properly administer the Food Stamp Program and that the ITO is potentially capable of operating an effective and efficient Food Stamp Program, FNS shall determine, based on information provided by the ITO and other sources such as BIA, the training and technical assistance which is necessary to assure efficient and effective program administration. FNS will assure that appropriate training and technical assistance is provided as expeditiously as possible prior to the ITO's assumption of the administration of the Food Stamp Program.

(d) Assumption of duties. When FNS is satisfied that the ITO has successfully completed (c) above, FNS shall designate the ITO as a State agency, contingent on the following:

(1) State plans. The ITO shall prepare and submit to FNS a Plan of Operation as provided in § 272.2. In completing the Plan of Operation the ITO shall affirm that it will comply with the Civil Rights assurances detailed in (b)(vi) above.

(2) Proposed budget. As part of the Plan of Operation, the ITO shall annually submit to FNS a proposed statement which shall provide a summary of program information and amounts budgeted to carry out the various program functions. This information shall be submitted to FNS for approval prior to the commitment of any Federal funds for administrative costs for that year. FNS shall provide the ITO any technical assistance which is necessary to prepare this information.

(3) Termination and transition arrangement. An effective termination and transition arrangement shall be established as required in § 281.8.

§ 281.5 Responsibilities of an Indian tribal organization designated as State agency.

An ITO administering the Food Stamp Program on a reservation shall adhere to the Food Stamp Act of 1977, all subsequent amendments, and all regulations issued pursuant to that law in the same manner as any other State agency. The ITO may contract certain administrative functions to private organizations as provided in Parts 274 and 277. The ITO may not, however, contract responsibility for certification activities such as interviews or eligibility determinations. The ITO shall retain full responsibility for program administration.

§ 281.6 Liabilities and sanctions.

An ITO administering the Food Stamp Program on a reservation is subject to the same liabilities and Federal sanctions as is any other State agency. FNS shall monitor administration of the Program and conduct reviews through the Performance Reporting System described in Part 275. When necessary, warning procedures and other Federal sanctions prescribed in Part 276 will be implemented.

§ 281.7 Indian tribal organization failure.

When Performance Reporting System reviews indicate that continuing deficiencies exist and corrective action proposals (including training and technical assistance to overcome these deficiencies), and/or appropriate sanctions have not, in the opinion of FNS, resulted in a sufficient degree of improvement, FNS will conduct a review to determine if the ITO has failed to properly administer the Food Stamp Program. FNS shall examine the relevant factors specified in § 281.3(b)(1) and shall follow the notification and determination procedures set forth in § 281.3 (c) and (d). If ITO failure is determined, FNS shall require the appropriate agency of the State government to resume administration of the Program on the reservation in accordance with an approved termination and transition arrangement.

§ 281.8 Transfer of program administration.

The transfer of program administration from an agency of the State government to an ITO pursuant to a determination of failure as provided for in § 281.3, or from an ITO to an agency of the State government pursuant to § 281.7, shall be contingent on the establishment of an effective termination and transition arrangement and an approved Plan of Operation from the State agency assuming program administration. Grant closeout procedures shall be followed in accordance with Part 277. FNS shall approve the transition plan, monitor its implementation and resolve any issues which may arise during the transition and after the transfer of program administration.

§ 281.9 Funding.

(a) Agency of State government. From the funds available to carry out this provision beginning July 1, 1979, FNS may pay to each agency of State government administering a Food Stamp Program on a reservation, 75 percent of all approved administrative costs, such as: certification, issuance, outreach, fair hearings and quality control, incurred on the reservation for residents of the reservation and approved by FNS to meet standards set by the 1977 Food Stamp Act. FNS may pay each agency of State government administering a Food Stamp Program on a reservation 75 percent of all approved administrative costs incurred off the reservation for activities begun after the effective date of these regulations that are primarily directed at providing better services for Indians on the reservation, such as hiring an interpreter or an Indian outreach worker, or moving a certification or issuance center closer to a reservation. The provisions of Part 277 apply to any funds received under this section.

(b) Indian tribal organization acting as State agency. From the funds available to carry out the provisions of this part beginning October 1, 1979, FNS is authorized to pay to each ITO acting as a State agency and administering a Food Stamp Program on a reservation 75 percent of all administrative costs approved by FNS as needed for operation of a Food Stamp Program on a reservation. Any approval for payment of funds in excess of 75 percent must be based on compelling justification that such additional amounts are necessary for the effective operation of the Food Stamp Program on the reservation. The provisions of Part 277 apply to any funds received under this Section.

§ 281.10 Appeals.

(a) Failure/Capability. (1) Any State agency or ITO may appeal the determination made by FNS on:

(i) Whether or not the reservation definition is met;

(ii) The failure or absence of failure of an agency of State government to properly administer the Food Stamp Program;

(iii) The capability or incapability of an ITO to administer the Food Stamp Program;

(iv) The failure of an ITO to properly administer the Food Stamp Program;

(v) The Federal matching percentage level of administrative funding made available by FNS. To prevail the State agency must show a compelling justification that additional funding is needed for the effective administration of the Program on the reservation.

(2) At the time FNS advises the State agency or ITO of its determination, FNS shall also advise the State agency or ITO of its right to appeal and, except for appeals of funding determinations, shall advise the State agency or ITO of its right to request either a meeting to present its position in person or a review of the record. On appeals of funding determinations, FNS shall advise the State agency or ITO that it may indicate if it wishes a meeting, however, FNS need schedule a meeting only if FNS determines a meeting is warranted to reach a proper adjudication of the matter. Otherwise, FNS shall review supportive information submitted by the State agency or ITO in paragraph (b)(2) of this section.

(b) Procedures. (1) Time Limit. Any State agency or ITO which wants to appeal an initial FNS determination under paragraph (a) of this section must notify the Administrator of FNS, in writing within 15 days from the date of the determination and must advise FNS if it wishes a meeting or a review of the record.

(2) Acknowledgement. Within five days of receipt by the Administrator of FNS of a request for review, FNS shall provide the State agency or ITO by certified mail, return receipt requested, with a written acknowledgement of the request. The acknowledgment shall include the name and address of the official designated by the Administrator to review the appeal. The acknowledgment shall also notify the State agency or ITO that within ten day of receipt of the acknowledgment, the State agency or ITO shall submit written information in support of its position.

(3) Scheduling a meeting. If the Administrator, FNS, grants a meeting FNS shall advise the State agency or ITO by certified mail, return receipt requested, of the time, date and location of the meeting at least ten days in advance of the meeting. FNS shall schedule and conduct the meeting and make a decision within 60 days of the receipt of the information submitted in response to paragraph (b)(2) of this section.

(4) Review. If no meeting is conducted, the official designated by the Administrator, FNS, shall review information presented by a State agency or ITO which requests a review, and shall make a final determination in writing within 45 days of the receipt of the State agency's or ITO's information submitted in response to paragraph (b)(2) of this section setting forth in full the reasons for the determination.

(5) Final decision. The official's decision after a meeting or a review shall be final.

(c) Funding and other sanctions. Any State agency or ITO that wishes to appeal a funding determination made by FNS other than under (a)(5) above, or the application of a Federal sanction, shall follow the Administrative Review Procedures set forth in Part 276.

283.1 General purpose and scope.
283.2 Definitions.
283.3 Availability of commodities.
283.4 Administration.
283.5 State agency requirements.
283.6 Eligibility of households.
283.7 Certification of households.
283.8 Commodity control, storage and distribution.
283.9 Administrative funds for state agencies.

Authority: 91 Stat. 958 (7 U.S.C. 2011–2027).

§ 283.1 General purpose and scope.

This part describes the terms and conditions under which commodities (available under Part 250 of this chapter) may be distributed to households on or near all or any part of any Indian reservation, the program may be administered by capable Indian tribal organizations, and funds may be obtained from the Department for the costs incurred in administering the program. This part also provides for the concurrent operation of the Food Distribution Program and the Food Stamp Program on Indian reservations when such concurrent operation is requested by an ITO.

§ 283.2 Definitions.

(a) "Exercises governmental jurisdiction" means the active exercise of the legislative, executive or judicial powers of government by an Indian tribal organization.

(b) "Food Distribution Program" means a food distribution program for households on Indian reservations operated pursuant to Sections 4(b) and 1304(a) of P.L. 95-113.

(c) "Indian tribal household" means any household in which at least one adult member is recognized by the appropriate ITO as a tribal member.

(d) "Indian tribe" means (1) any Indian tribe, Band, or other organized Indian group, for example, a Rancheria, Pueblo, or colony, and including any Alaska Native village or regional or village corporation (established pursuant to the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (85 Stat. 688)), and that is on a reservation and recognized as eligible for Federal programs and services provided to Indians because of their status as Indians; or (2) any Indian tribe or Band on a reservation holding a treaty with a State government.

(e) "Indian tribal organization (ITO)" means (1) the recognized governing body of any Indian tribe on a reservation; or (2) the tribally recognized intertribal organization which the recognized governing bodies of two or more Indian tribes on a reservation authorize to operate the Food Stamp Program or a Food Distribution Program on their behalf.

(f) "Reservation" means the geographically defined area or areas over which an ITO exercises governmental jurisdiction so long as such area or areas are legally recognized by the Federal or a State government as being set aside for the use of Indians.

(g) "State" means any one of the fifty States, the District of Columbia, and the reservation of an Indian tribe whose ITO meets the requirements of the Food Stamp Act of 1977 for participation as a State agency.

(h) "State agency" means (1) the agency of State government, including the local offices thereof, which enters into an agreement with FNS for the distribution of commodities on all or part of an Indian reservation, and

(2) the ITO of any Indian tribe, determined by the Department to be capable of effectively administering a Food Distribution Program, which enters into an agreement with FNS for the distribution of commodities on all or part of an Indian reservation.

§ 283.3 Availability of commodities.

(a) Conditions for distribution. In jurisdictions where the Food Stamp Program is in operation, there shall be no distribution of commodities to households under the authority of any law, except that distribution may be made (1) on a temporary basis under programs authorized by law to meet disaster relief needs, (2) for the purpose of the Commodity Supplemental Food Program, and (3) whenever a request for concurrent or separate Food Distribution Program on a reservation is made by an ITO.

(b) Concurrent or separate food program operation. Distribution of commodities, with or without the Food Stamp Program, shall be made whenever an ITO submits to FNS a completed application for the Food Distribution Program on all or part of a reservation and the application is approved by FNS.

(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2) of this section, when the Food Distribution Program is operating on all or part of a reservation, all eligible households within those boundaries may participate in the Food Distribution Program, or, if the ITO has elected concurrent operation of the Food Stamp Program, may elect to participate in either program, without regard to whether the household is an Indian tribal household.

(2) FNS may determine, based on the number of non-Indian tribal households located on all or part of a reservation, that concurrent operation is necessary. When such a determination has been made all households residing in such areas may apply to participate in either the Food Stamp or the Food Distribution Program.

(c) Household distribution. Commodities acquired under section 416 of the Agricultural Act of 1949, as amended; section 32 of Pub. L. 320, 74th Congress, as amended; section 709 of the Food and Agricultural Act of 1965, as amended; and section 4(a) of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, as amended, by Section 1304 of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1977, may be made available under Part 250 of this chapter for distribution to households in accordance with the provisions of that part and the additional provisions and requirements of this part.

(d) Food Distribution Program benefits. Households eligible under this part shall receive a monthly food package based on the number of household members. The food package offered to each household shall consist of a quantity and variety of commodities made available by the Department to provide eligible households with an opportunity to obtain a more nutritious diet and shall represent an acceptable nutritional alternative to Food Stamp Program benefits. The food package offered to each household by the State agency shall contain a variety of foods from each of the four food groups: Meat, Vegetable-Fruit, Milk, and Bread-Cereal. FNS shall periodically notify State agencies of the kinds of commodities it proposes to make available based, insofar as practicable, on the preferences of eligible households as determined by the State agency. In the event one or more of the proposed commodities cannot be delivered, the Department shall arrange for delivery of a similar commodity within the same food group.

§ 283.4 Administration.

(a) Federal administration. Within the Department of Agriculture, the Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) shall be responsible for the Food Distribution Program. FNS shall have the power to determine the amount of any claim and to settle and adjust any claim.

(b) State agency administration. (1) If FNS determines that the ITO is capable of effective and efficient administration, the ITO shall administer the Food Distribution Program on all or part of the reservation. If FNS determines that the ITO is not capable of effective and efficient administration of the Food Distribution Program, the appropriate agency of the State government shall be responsible for the Food Distribution Program on all or part of the Indian reservation. In addition, the appropriate agency of the State government may administer the Program on behalf of an otherwise capable tribe if agreed to in writing by both parties.

(2) In the case where the Indian reservation boundaries cross State lines, the ITO and appropriate State agencies may jointly request FNS approval that a single State agency administer the Food Distribution Program on all or part of the Indian reservation.

(3) An agency of State government responsible for administering the Food Distribution Program may contract Program functions to an ITO. These functions include, but are not limited to, outreach, preparation of bilingual materials, commodity issuance, determination of food preferences of households, publicizing uses of commodities, and transportation and on-site delivery services. The State agency may also use the ITO in prescreening translations, interpretive services and other noncertification functions. The State agency shall not contract responsibility for certification activities such as interviews or eligibility determinations with an ITO that has been determined incapable of administering the Food Distribution Program. In all cases the State agency shall retain full responsibility for program administration.

(c) Qualification as a reservation. (1) The appropriate ITO of an established

Indian reservation will qualify for participation under the provisions of this Part, when that ITO files an application which demonstrates the status of an area as an established reservation, unless FNS determines that such area(s) does not qualify as a reservation as that term is defined in these regulations. For purposes of this Part, established reservation means the geographically defined area(s) currently recognized and established by Federal or State treaty or by Federal statute whereby such geographically defined area(s) is set aside for the use of Indians. Where such established areas exist, the appropriate ITO is presumed to exercise governmental jurisdiction, unless otherwise determined by FNS.

(2) The appropriate ITO for other areas, in order to qualify as reservations for the provisions of this Part, must show to FNS:

(i) That the ITO exercises governmental jurisdiction over a geographic area(s) which enjoys legal recognition from the Federal or a State government and is set aside for the use of Indians;

(ii) A clear and precise description of the boundaries of such geographic area(s).

(d) Application by an ITO. An ITO which desires to participate in the Food Distribution Program shall file an application with the FNS Regional Office serving the State or States in which the reservation is located. In the application, the ITO shall specify if it is requesting the Food Distribution Program alone or concurrently with the Food Stamp Program. The ITO shall also specify whether it wants either or both programs on all or part of the reservation, and if on part, shall describe the geographic boundaries of the relevant part(s). The application shall also provide other information requested by FNS, including, but not limited to, that the ITO serves an established reservation or a reservation otherwise qualified as described in paragraph (c). Properly addressed applications shall be acknowledged by the FNS Regional Office in writing within five working days of receipt.

(e) Tribal capability. (1) In determining whether the ITO on a given reservation is potentially capable of effectively and efficiently administering a Food Distribution Program, allowing for fulfillment of that potential through training and technical assistance, FNS shall consult with other sources, such as the BIA, and shall consider the ITO's experience, if any, in operating other government programs and its management and fiscal capabilities. Other factors for evaluation include, but are not limited to, the ITO's ability to:

(i) Order and properly store commodities,

(ii) Certify eligible households,

(iii) Arrange for physical issuance of commodities,

(iv) Keep appropriate records and submit required reports,

(v) Budget and account for administrative funds,

(vi) Determine the food preferences of households, and

(vii) Conduct on-site reviews of certification and distribution procedures and practices.

(2) FNS shall make a determination of potential ITO capability within 60 days of receipt of a completed application for the Food Distribution Program. FNS shall promptly advise ITO's of the need for additional information if an incomplete application is received.

(3) FNS shall, if requested by an ITO which has been determined by FNS to be potentially capable of administering a Food Distribution Program, provide the ITO's designees with appropriate training and technical assistance to prepare the ITO to take over program administration. In determining what training and technical assistance are necessary, FNS shall consult with the ITO and other sources, such as the BIA.

§ 283.5 State agency requirements.

(a) Plan of operation. (1) The State agency which assumes responsibility for the Food Distribution Program shall submit a plan of operation for approval by FNS. Approval of the plan by FNS shall be a prerequisite to the donation of commodities available for use by households under Part 250 of this chapter and to the payment of administrative funds under § 283.9, of this part. No amendment to the plan of operation of any State agency shall be effective without prior approval of FNS, and FNS may require amendment of any plan as a condition of continuing approval. If the State agency is not an ITO, the appropriate agency of the State government shall also:

(i) Consult in good faith with the ITO on the reservation where the appropriate agency of the State government is responsible for administering the Food Distribution Program.

(ii) Submit its plan of operation and any subsequent amendments to both the ITO and the State Governor, or the Governor's delegated authority, for comment at least 45 days prior to submission of the plan or amendment to FNS. Comments by the Governor, or the Governor's delegated authority, and the ITO shall be attached to the plan or amendment which is submitted to FNS. This paragraph does not apply to amendments required by FNS under § 283.5(a)(1).

(iii) Periodically consult with the ITO regarding the current status and applicability of provisions in the plan of operation and the possible need to submit amendments to FNS for approval. Such consultations shall be documented for review by FNS.

(2) The plan of operation shall describe the manner in which commodities will be distributed, including, but not limited to, the storage and distribution facilities to be used, the procedures to assure ongoing consultation with the ITO where the appropriate agency of the State government administers the Program, the method by which the food preferences of households shall be determined, the manner in which the State agency plans to supervise the Food Distribution Program, and plans by which the State agency will control dual participation. The plan shall also include by reference or otherwise the following assurances:

(i) No household on any Indian reservation shall be permitted to participate simultaneously in the Food Stamp Program and the Food Distribution Program.

(ii) The value of the commodities provided to any eligible household shall not be considered income or resources for any purposes under any Federal, State, or local laws, including, but not limited to, laws relating to taxation, welfare, and public assistance programs; and no State agency shall decrease any assistance otherwise provided to a household because of the receipt of commodities.

(iii) The distribution of commodities shall not be used as a means for furthering the political interest of any individual or party.

(iv) There shall be no discrimination in the certification of applicant households or in the distribution of commodities because of sex, race, color, age, political beliefs, religion, handicap or national origin.

(v) Households shall not be required to make any payments in money, materials or services for, or in connection with, the receipt of commodities; and they shall not be solicited in connection with the receipt of commodities for voluntary cash contributions for any purpose.

(vi) Adequate personnel, including supervisory personnel, to review the Food Distribution Program shall be provided to ensure compliance with the requirements of this part.

(vii) Use of disclosure of information obtained from food distribution applicant households, exclusively for the Food Distribution Program, shall be restricted to persons directly connected with the administration or enforcement of the provisions of the Food Distribution Programs as defined in Part 283 of this subchapter, the Food Stamp Act or regulations, or with other Federal or federally aided, means-tested assistance programs such as Title IV–A (AFDC), XIX (Medicaid), or XVI (SSI), or with general assistance programs that are subject to the joint processing requirements specified in § 273.2(j)(2).

(b) Operating manuals. The State agency shall maintain ongoing consultation with the ITO in developing the State agency's written internal policies, instructions, and forms which are necessary to carry out the Food Distribution Program and shall submit them to FNS for approval prior to their use. The State agency shall file any comments or recommendations offered by the ITO, for review by FNS.

(c) Staffing. Personnel used in the certification process shall be employed in accordance with (1) the current standards for a Merit System of Personnel Administration or any standards later prescribed by the Office of Personnel Management under Section 208 of the Intergovernmental Personnel Act of 1970 or (2) when appropriate, the ITO's personnel system if it incorporates the basic elements of a merit system.

(d) Bilingual requirements. (1) The State agency shall provide bilingual staff, certification forms, including the application form and certification notices as specified in § 283.7(a)(2) and (b)(3), respectively, and any form developed by the State agency for reporting changes in household composition and income, pursuant to § 283.7(c), and outreach materials, when either an estimated 100 or more low income households or the majority of low-income households on the reservation are a single language minority. Single-language minority refers to households which speak the same non-English language and which do not contain adults(s) fluent in English as a second language. If the non-English language is spoken but not written, the State agency shall provide bilingual staff, if required, but not bilingual material.

(2) The State agency shall ensure that offices serving reservations subject to the critiria in paragraph (d)(1) of this section provide sufficient bilingual staff for the timely processing of non-English speaking applicants.

(3) The State agency shall develop estimates of the numbers of low-income, single-language minority households by using census data (including the Census Bureau's Current Population Report: Population Estimates and Projections, Series P–25, No. 627) and knowledge of the reservation. Local Bureau of Census offices, Community Services Administration offices, Community Action agencies, Bureau of Indian Affairs, Indian Health Services, planning agencies, the ITO and school officials may be important sources of information in determining the need for bilingual services.

(e) Outreach and referral. The State agency shall inform potentially eligible households of the availability of the Food Distribution Program. The State agency shall develop and distribute printed information in the appropriate languages about the Program and eligibility requirements. Outreach material shall contain information about a household's right to file an application on the same date it contacts the certification office. The State agency shall be sufficiently familiar with general eligibility requirements for the Supplemental Food Program for Women, Infants and Children (WIC) or the Commodity Supplemental Food Program, if available to reservation residents, the Supplemental Security Income Program (SSI), and appropriate public and general assistance programs, to identify those applicants whose households contain persons who may be eligible for these programs, to inform the applicants of their potential eligibility, and to provide the applicants with the addresses and telephone numbers for these programs. For example, the State agency should provide information on the WIC program to applicants whose households contain pregnant women, nursing or postpartum women, or children up to the fifth birthday.

(f) Training requirements. The State agency shall institute a training program for all personnel who are assigned responsibility for the certification of applicant households, for fair hearing officers, for field supervisors who review local Food Distribution Programs, for those involved in outreach and those responsible for ordering, storing, and distributing commodities.

(1) State agency training programs shall cover eligibility criteria, certification procedures, commodity ordering, storage and distribution practices, household rights and responsibilities and other job-related responsibilities. The content of the training material shall be reviewed and revised periodically to correct deficiencies in program operations or reflect changes in policy and procedures.

(2) The State agency shall allow public attendance at formal certification training sessions in accordance with § 274.2(e)(1)(iv).

(3) FNS shall review the effectiveness of State agency training based on information obtained from field reviews, administrative analyses and other sources.

(g) Nutrition education. The State agency shall publicize how commodities may be used to contribute to a nutritious diet and how commodities may be properly stored by means of visual displays, and printed material. The State agency shall encourage appropriate organizations, county extension home economists, expanded Food and Nutrition Program aides, and qualified volunteers to provide food and nutrition information, menus, or cooking demonstrations, as appropriate for participating households. The State agency shall encourage the dissemination of food and nutrition information designed to improve the nutrition of households on reservations.

(h) Records and reports. The State agency shall keep records and submit reports and other information as required by FNS. Records required under this part shall be retained for a period of three years from the date of the submission of the annual financial status report, SF–269; except that, if any litigation, claim or audit is started before the expiration of the three year period, the records shall be retained until all litigation, claims or audit findings involving the records have been resolved.

(i) Monitoring. In accordance with its responsibility for efficient and effective program administration the State agency shall monitor and review its operations under this part to ensure compliance with the provisions of this part and with any applicable instructions of FNS.

(1) The State agency shall review program operations at least annually, document program deficiencies and establish and implement specific plans of corrective action for deficiencies noted.

(2) Reviews of operations shall include, but not be limited to, certification of households, determination of food preferences, distribution of commodities, fair hearing procedures, commodity inventories and timeliness and accuracy of reports to FNS.

(3) Program reviews and corrective action plans shall be available to FNS upon request.

(j) Investigations and complaints. The State agency shall promptly investigate complaints received of irregularities in the handling, distribution, receipt or use of commodities, other than use of commodities by eligible households in the preparation of meals for home consumption, and shall take appropriate action to correct any irregularities. The State agency shall also promptly investigate complaints of irregularities relating to certification procedures or the delivery of services and shall take appropriate action to correct any irregularities or noncompliance with provisions relating to certification procedures, provision of services or household rights. The State agency shall document each investigation and action in sufficient detail to allow for FNS review of all State agency actions and information. The Department shall make investigations at the request of the State agency and ITO or when the Department determines an investigation is necessary.

(k) Sanctions. If the State agency fails to comply with the provisions of this part or its plan of operation, FNS may (1) take action against any State agency under § 283.9(g) of this part with respect to administrative funds available from FNS for use by the State agency or (2) disqualify the State agency from further distribution of commodities to households. Disqualification of the State agency shall not prevent FNS or the Department from taking other actions, including prosecution under applicable Federal statutes, when deemed necessary. Reinstatement shall be contingent upon approval by FNS of the State agency's plan for corrective action or determination by FNS that the State agency has complied with any other requirements for reinstatement which FNS may set forth. These provisions apply to all State agencies, regardless of whether the Program is administered by an agency of the State government or an ITO. If the ITO is disqualified as a State agency, an appropriate agency of State government shall administer the Food Distribution Program on the reservation. If an agency of State government is disqualified as the State agency for the Food Distribution Program on the reservation, the ITO may request in writing a capability determination for program administration in accordance with § 283.4.

(l) Appeals. (1) The agency of the State government or an ITO may appeal an initial determination by FNS on:

(i) Whether or not the reservation definition is met;

(ii) The capability of an ITO to administer the Food Distribution Program;

(iii) Sanctions taken under § 283.5(k) or § 283.9(g); or

(iv) The Federal matching percentage level of administrative funding made available by FNS.

(2) At the time FNS advises the State agency or ITO of its determination, FNS shall also advise the State agency or ITO of its right to appeal and, except for appeals of funding determinations, shall advise the State agency or ITO of its right to request either a meeting to present its position in person or a review of the record. On appeals of funding determinations, FNS shall advise the State agency or ITO that it may indicate if it wishes a meeting, however, FNS need schedule a meeting only if FNS determines a meeting is warranted to reach a proper adjudication of the matter. Otherwise, FNS shall review supportive information submitted by the State agency or ITO in paragraph 3(ii) of this section.

(3) Procedure. (i) Time Limit. Any State agency or ITO that wants to appeal an initial FNS determination under paragraph (1) of this section must notify the Administrator of FNS, in writing, within 15 days from the date of the determination. If the appeal concerns either subparagraphs (1)(i) or (ii) of this section, the implementation timeframes as specified in § 283.4(d)(2) and the timeframe for determining an ITO's capability as specified in § 283.5 are suspended from the date the appeal is requested to the date of the final determination.

(ii) Acknowledgement. Within five days of receipt by the Administrator, of FNS, of a request for review, FNS shall provide the State agency or ITO with a written acknowledgement of the request by certified mail, return receipt requested. The acknowledgement shall include the name and address of the official designated by the Administrator, FNS, to review the appeal. The acknowledgement shall also notify the State agency or ITO that within ten days of receipt of the acknowledgement, the State agency or ITO shall submit written information in support of its position.

(4) Scheduling a meeting. If the Administrator, FNS, grants a meeting FNS shall advise the State agency or ITO of the time, date and location of the meeting by certified mail, return receipt requested at least ten days in advance of the meeting. FNS shall schedule and conduct the meeting and make a decision within 60 days of the receipt of the information submitted in response to paragraph (3)(ii) of this section.

(5) Review. If no meeting is conducted the official designated by the Administrator, FNS, shall review information presented by a State agency or ITO which requests a review and shall make a final determination in writing within 45 days of the receipt of the State agency's or ITO's information submitted in response to paragraph (3)(ii) of this section setting forth in full the reasons for the determination.

(6) Final decision. The official's decision after a meeting or a review shall be final.

(m) Implementation. The State agency shall implement changes required by amendments to these regulations in accordance with schedules specified in the amendment. (1) Amendment 141. (i) If an ITO currently participates in, but does not administer, the Food Distribution Program:

(A) FNS shall determine tribal eligibility and capability to administer the Food Distribution Program within 60 days of receipt of a completed application. If an incomplete application is received, FNS shall within 15 days, notify the ITO of what additional information is required. If an otherwise completed application was received by FNS prior to the effective date of these regulations, but as a result of these regulations additional information is now required, FNS shall promptly notify the ITO of what additional information to submit. If the ITO submits the necessary additional information on an application received by FNS prior to the effective date of these regulations within 15 days of the request for additional information from FNS, the 60 days to determine capability shall continue to date from receipt of the initial completed application. Otherwise, the processing time for the capability determination shall start from the date the additional information is received by FNS.

(B) Upon FNS' determination that the ITO will administer the Food Distribution Program, FNS shall expeditiously plan for and provide needed training and technical assistance to facilitate timely commencement of tribal administrative responsibilities. The ITO shall have 120 days from FNS' determination in (A) to submit and have approved a plan of operation, operating manuals, and to commence program operations under the regulations as specified in this Part. Extensions may be granted by FNS to Indian tribal organizations if good cause is shown.

(C) If FNS determines that an ITO is not capable of administering the Food Distribution Program, FNS shall direct the State to continue program operations and to submit a new plan of operation and to commence program operations under the regulations as specified in this Part within 120 days from FNS' determination in (A).

(ii) If an ITO currently administers the Food Distribution Program, the timeframe specified in subparagraph (i) above apply except that:

(A) FNS shall determine tribal eligibility and capability to administer the Food Distribution Program within 30 days of receipt of a completed application.

(B) If FNS determines that the ITO will not administer the Food Distribution Program, FNS shall direct the ITO to continue program operations until the State government can commence program operations. The State government shall have 120 days from FNS' determination in (A) to submit and have approved a plan of operation and to commence program operations under the regulations as specified in this Part.

(iii) If an ITO does not currently participate in a Food Distribution Program, the timeframes in subparagraph (i) above apply except that if FNS determines that an ITO can not administer the Program, FNS shall direct the State to submit a plan of operation and to commence program operations under the regulations as specified in this Part within 180 days from the determination.

(iv) Extensions to the above implementation timeframe (except for those timeframes set forth in paragraphs (i)(A) and (ii)(A) of this subsection) may be granted by FNS to ITO's or State government agencies if there is compelling justification involving circumstances which were not reasonably foreseeable and which are not the fault of the ITO or the State agency and which circumstances present extraordinary problems that would render earlier implementation impossible.

§ 283.6 Eligibility of households.

(a) Household concept. (1) The State agency shall determine eligibility for the Food Distribution Program on a household basis. Household means any of the following individuals or groups of individuals, provided that such individuals or groups are not boarders or residents of an institution and provided that separate household or boarder status shall not be granted to a spouse of a member of the household, or to children under 18 years of age under the parental control of a member of the household.

(i) An individual living alone.

(ii) An individual living with others, but customarily purchasing food and preparing meals for home consumption separate and apart from the others.

(iii) A group of individuals living together for whom food is customarily purchased in common and for whom meals are prepared together for home consumption.

(2) Nonhousehold members. The following individuals residing with a household shall not be considered household members in determining the household's eligibility. Nonhousehold members specified in (i) and (v) who are otherwise eligible may participate in the Program as separate households.

(i) Roomers. Individuals to whom a household furnishes lodging, but not meals, for compensation.

(ii) SSI recipients in "cash-out" States. Recipients of SSI benefits who reside in a State designated by the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare to have specifically included the value of the coupon allotment in its State supplemental payments. These persons are not eligible for Food Distribution Program benefits.

(iii) Disqualified individuals. Individuals disqualified from the Food Stamp Program for fraud, as set forth in § 273.16.

(iv) Illegal residents. Individuals who are not legal residents of the United States. While U.S. citizenship is not required for participation in the Food Distribution Program, persons receiving food distribution benefits must be lawfully living in the United States.

(v) Others. Other individuals who share living quarters with the household but who do not customarily purchase food and prepare meals with the household. For example, if the applicant household shares living quarters with another family to save on rent, but does not purchase and prepare food together with that family, the members of the other family are not members of the applicant household.

(3) Authorized representatives. The head of the household, spouse, or any other responsible member of the household may designate an authorized representative to act on behalf of the household in making application for commodities and/or obtaining commodities as provided in § 283.7(a)(10)(i) and § 283.7(a)(10)(ii) respectively.

(b) Residency or citizenship. (1) A household must be living on the reservation in which it files an application for participation, except that Indian tribal households need only be living near the reservation for participation purposes. Residency shall not mean domicile nor shall the State agency impose any durational residency requirement. However, persons on the reservation solely for vacations shall not be considered residents. No household may participate in the Food Stamp Program or in the Food Distribution Program in more than one geographical area at the same time.

(2) No person shall participate in the Food Distribution Program on an Indian reservation unless the person is legally a resident of the United States. A further discussion of "legal residency" is provided in § 283.6(a)(3)(iv).

(c) Income and resource eligibility standards of public assistance, supplemental security income, and certain general assistance households. (1) Households in which all members are included in a Federally aided public assistance or supplemental security income grant, except as provided for in § 283.6(a)(2)(ii), shall, if otherwise eligible under this part, be determined to be eligible to participate in the Food Distribution Program while receiving such grants without regard to the income and resources of the household members.

(2) If FNS determines that a State or local general assistance program applies criteria of need the same as or similar to, those applied under any of the Federally aided public assistance programs, households in which all members are included in such a general assistance grant, shall, if otherwise eligible under this part, be determined to be eligible to participate in the Food Distribution Program while receiving such grants without regard to the income and resources of household members.

(d) Resource eligibility standards. (1) Uniform household standards for nonassistance households. The State agency shall apply uniform national resource standards of eligibility to all applicant households, except those in which all members are recipients of Federally aided public assistance, supplemental security income, or certain general assistance program benefits as provided in (c)(2). The maximum allowable resources shall not exceed $1,750 for the household; except that, for households of two or more members which include a member or members age 60 or over, such resources shall not exceed $3,000.

(2) Resources. In determining the resources of a household, only cash on hand, money in checking or savings accounts, savings certificates, stocks, or bonds, or other readily negotiable and accessible certificates or instruments shall be counted; except that the following resources shall be entirely excluded:

(i) The cash value of life insurance policies and pension funds, including funds in pension plans with interest penalties for early withdrawals, such as a Keogh plan or an Individual Retirement Account (IRA), as long as the funds remain in the pension plans.

(ii) Any governmental payments which are designated for the restoration of a home damaged in a disaster, if the household is subject to a legal sanction if the funds are not used as intended, for example payments made by the Department of Housing and Urban Development through the individual and family grant program of disaster loans or grants made by the Small Business Administration.

(iii) Resources, such as those of students or self-employed persons, which have been prorated as income. The treatment of self-employment income is explained in § 283.7(b)(1)(iii).

(iv) Resources which are excluded by express provision of Federal statute. The following is the current listing of resources excluded by Federal statute:

(A) Payment received under the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (Pub. L. 92–203, section 21(a) or the Sac and Fox Indian claims agreement Pub. L. 94–189);

(B) Payments received by certain Indian tribal members under Pub. L. 94–114, section 6, regarding submarginal land held in trust by the United States;

(C) Payments received by certain Indian tribal members under Pub. L. 94–540 regarding the Grand River Bank of Ottawa Indians;

(D) Reimbursements from the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquistion Policy Act of 1970 (Pub. L. 91–646, section 216);

(E) Earned income tax credits received before January 1, 1980, as a result of Pub. L. 95–600, the Revenue Act of 1978.

(F) Payments received from the youth incentive entitlement pilot projects, the youth community conservation and improvement projects and the youth employment and training programs under Title IV of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act Amendments of 1978 (Pub. L. 95–524).

(3) Jointly owned resources. Resources owned jointly by separate households shall be prorated between or among those households unless the applicant can demonstrate that such resources are inaccessible to it because access to the value of the resource is dependent upon the agreement of a joint owner who refuses to comply.

(4) Resources of disqualified members. Resources of individuals disqualified from participation in the Food Stamp Program for fraud shall continue to count in their entirety to the remaining household members when determining the household's eligibility for the Food Distribution Program.

(e) Income. (1) Income eligibility standards for nonassistance households.

(i) The State agency shall apply uniform national income eligibility standards for the Food Distribution Program except for households in which all members are recipients of public assistance, supplemental security income except as provided for in § 283.6(a)(2)(ii) or certain general assistance program payments as provided in § 283.6(c). The income eligibility standards shall be the monthly income eligibility standards for the Food Stamp Program in the State, increased by the amount of the standard deduction for that State, as published in the appendix to § 273.9.

(ii) The income eligibility standards for the Food Distribution Program shall be adjusted each January 1 and July 1, as necessary, to reflect changes in the Food Stamp Program income eligibility limits and standard deductions.

(2) Definition of income. Household income shall mean all income from whatever source, excluding only items specified in paragraph (3) of this section.

(i) Earned income shall include:

(A) All wages and salaries of an employee.

(B) The total gross income from a self-employment enterprise, including the net profit from the sale of any capital goods or equipment related to the business. Ownership of rental property shall be considered a self-employment enterprise. Payments from a roomer and returns on rental property shall be considered self-employment income.

(C) Training allowances from vocational and rehabilitative programs recognized by Federal, State or local governments, such as the Work Incentive Program, and programs authorized by the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, to the extent they are not a reimbursement.

(ii) Unearned income shall include, but not be limited to:

(A) Assistance payments from Federal or Federally aided public assistance programs, such as Supplemental Security Income (SSI) or Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), General Assistance (GA) programs, or other assistance programs based on need.

(B) Annuities; pensions; retirement; veteran's or disability benefits; worker's or unemployment compensation; old-age, survivors, or social security benefits; strike benefits; foster care payments for children or adults.

(C) Support or alimony payments made directly to the household from nonhousehold members.

(D) Scholarships, education grants, fellowships, deferred payment loans for education, veteran's education benefit and the like in excess of amounts excluded under paragraph (e)(3)(iii) of this section.

(E) Payments from Government-sponsored programs, dividends, interest, royalties, and all other direct money payments from any source which can be construed to be a gain or benefit.

(F) The earned or unearned income of an individual disqualified from participation in the Food Stamp Program for fraud shall continue to be counted as income, less the pro rata share for the disqualified member. Procedures for calculating this pro rata share are described in § 283.7.

(iii) Income shall not include the following:

(A) Monies withheld from an assistance payment, earned income or other income source, or monies received from any income source which are voluntarily or involuntarily returned to repay a prior overpayment received from that income source.

(B) Child support payments received by AFDC recipients which must be transferred to the agency administering Title IV–D of the Social Security Act of 1935, as amended, to maintain AFDC eligibility.

(3) Income exclusions. Only the following items shall be excluded from household income and no other income shall be disregarded:

(i) Any gain or benefit which is not in the form of money payable directly to the household, including:

(A) In-kind income. Nonmonetary or in-kind benefits, such as meals, clothing, public housing, or produce from a garden.

(B) Vendor payments. A payment made in money on behalf of a household shall be considered a vendor payment whenever a person or organization outside of the household uses its own funds to make a direct payment to either the household's creditors or a person or organization providing a service to the household. For example, if a relative, who is not a household member, pays out of its own resources the household's rent directly to the landlord, the payment is considered a vendor payment and is not counted as income to the household. Also, payments specified by a court order or other written support or alimony agreement to go directly to a third party rather than the household and support payments which are paid to a third party are excluded as vendor payments. Wages garnished or diverted by employers, or money deducted or otherwise diverted from a household's public assistance grant by a State for purposes such as managing the household's expenses, shall not be considered a vendor payment, since the person or organization making the the payment is using money payable to the household rather than its own funds.

(ii) Any income in the certification period which is received too infrequently or irregularly to be reasonably anticipated, but not in excess of $30 in a quarter.

(iii) Education loans on which payment is deferred, grants scholarships, fellowships, veterans' educational benefits, and the like to the extent that they are used for tuition and mandatory school fees. Mandatory fees are those charged to all students or those charged to all students within a certain curriculum. For example, uniforms, lab fees, or equipment charged to all students to enroll in a chemistry course would be excluded. However, transportation, supplies, and textbook expenses are not uniformly charged to all students and, therefore, would not be excluded as mandatory fees.

(iv) All loans, including loans from private individuals as well as commercial institutions, other than education loans on which repayment is deferred.

(v) Reimbursements for past or future expenses to the extent they do not exceed actual expenses. For example, reimbursements of flat allowances for job or training related expenses such as travel per diem, uniforms, and transportation to and from the job or training site are excluded as income.

(vi) Monies received and used for care and maintenance of a third party beneficiary who is not a household member.

(vii) The earned income (as defined in paragraph (e)(2)(i) of this section) of children who are members of the household, who are students at least half time and who have not attained their eighteenth birthday. The exclusion shall continue to apply during temporary interruptions in school attendance due to semester or vaction breaks, provided the child's enrollment will resume following the break. Individuals are considered children for purposes of this provision if they are under the parental control of another household member.

(viii) Money received in the form of a nonrecurring lump sum payment, including but not limited to, income tax refunds, rebates, or credits; retroactive lump-sum social security, SSI, public assistance, railroad retirement benefits or other payments, or retroactive lump-sum insurance settlements; refunds of security deposits on rental properties or utilities or lump-sum payments arising from land interests held in trust for, or by, a tribe. These payments shall be counted as resources in the month received unless specifically excluded from consideration as a resource by other Federal law.

(ix) The cost of producing self-employment income. The procedures for computing the cost of producing self-employment income are described in § 283.7(b)(1)(iii).

(x) Any income that is specifically excluded by any other Federal statute from consideration as income. The following Federal statutes provide such an exclusion.

(A) Reimbursements from the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policy Act of 1970 (Pub. L. 91-646, section 216).

(B) Payments received under the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act (Pub. L. 92-203, section 21(a)).

(C) Any payment to volunteers under Title II (RSVP, foster grandparents, and others) and Title III (SCORE and ACE) of the Domestic Volunteer Services Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-113), as amended. Payments under Title I (VISTA) to volunteers shall be excluded for those individuals receiving federally donated commodities, food stamps, or public assistance at the time they joined the Title I program, except that households which are receiving an income exclusion for a VISTA or other Title I subsistence allowance at the time of implementation of these rules shall continue to receive an income exclusion for VISTA for the length of their volunteer contract in effect at the time of implementation of these rules. Temporary interruptions in food distribution shall not alter the exclusion once an initial determination has been made. New applicants who are not receiving Federally donated commodities, food stamps or public assistance at the time they joined VISTA shall have these volunteer payments included as earned income.

(D) Income derived from certain submarginal land of the United States which is held in trust for certain Indian tribes (Pub. L. 94-114, section 6).

(E) Payments received by certain Indian tribal members under Pub. L. 94-540 regarding the Grand River Band of Ottawa Indians.

(F) Payments from the Crisis Intervention Program (CIP) administered by the Community Services Administration (CSA).

(G) Payments received from the youth incentive entitlement pilot projects, the youth community conservation and improvement projects and the youth employment and training programs under title IV of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act Amendments of 1978 (Pub. L. 95-524).

(f) Income deductions. (1) Households with earned income, as defined in paragraph (e)(2)(i) of this section, shall be allowed a deduction of twenty percent of their earned income. Earned income excluded under paragraph (e)(3) of this section shall not be considered earned income for the purpose of computing this deduction.

(2) Households shall also receive a deduction for the actual costs for the care of a child or other dependent when necessary for a household member to accept or continue employment or attend training or pursue education which is preparatory to employment. This deduction shall not exceed the maximum allowable deduction for dependent care costs allowable under the Food Stamp Program in the 48 States and the District of Columbia.

§ 283.7 Certification of households.

(a) Application processing—(1) General purpose. The application process includes filing and completing an application form, being interviewed, and having certain information verified. The State agency shall act promptly on all applications. Expedited service shall be available to household in immediate need. When the State agency is other than the ITO, the ITO, when appropriate, may receive copies of certification and/or termination notices to the extent requested or agreed upon by the household. State agencies and ITOs may develop formalized mechanisms to ensure ITO receipt of notices.

(2) Food Distribution Program application form. The State agency shall use an application form acceptable to FNS. The State agency shall consult with the ITO in developing the application form. The State agency shall make application forms readily accessible to potentially eligible households and those groups or organizations involved in outreach efforts. The State agency shall also provide an application form to anyone who requests the form. State agencies which elect joint PA or GA/Food Distribution Program procedures shall follow the requirements of § 283.7(f) for the application form. State agencies may also use an abbreviated recertification form.

(3) Filing an application. Households must file an application for the Food Distribution Program by submitting the form to a certification office in person, through an authorized representative or by mail. The State agency shall document the date the application was received. Each household has the right to file an application form the same day it contacts the certification office during office hours on the reservation where the household resides. The household shall be advised that it does not have to be interviewed before filing the application and may file an incomplete application form as long as the application contains the applicant's name and address and is signed by a responsible member of the household or the household's authorized representative.

(4) Household cooperation. To determine eligibility, the application form must be completed and signed, the household or its authorized representative must be interviewed, and certain information on the application must be verified. If the household refuses to cooperate with the State agency in completing this process, the application shall be denied upon a determination of refusal. For a determination of refusal to be made, the household must be able to cooperate, but clearly demonstrate that it will not take actions that it can take and that are required to complete the application process. For example, to be denied for refusal to cooperate, a household must refuse to be interviewed and not merely fail to appear for the interview. If there is any question as to whether the household has merely failed to cooperate, as opposed to refused to cooperate, the household shall not be denied solely for this reason. The household shall also be determined ineligible if it refuses to cooperate in any subsequent review of its eligibility. Once denied or terminated for refusal to cooperate, the household may reapply but shall not be determined eligible until it cooperates.

(5) Interviews. All applicant households, including those submitting applications by mail, shall have an interview with a qualified eligibility worker prior to initial certification and all recertifications. At State agency discretion, applicants may be interviewed by telephone or in the home. No household shall be interviewed by telephone for any two consecutive certifications without a face-to-face interview. State agencies must attempt to schedule home visits in advance. Home visits cannot extend required processing standards set forth in § 283.7(a)(7) or § 283.7(a)(9). The individual interviewed may be the head of household, spouse, any other responsible member of the household or an authorized representative. The household, if it wishes, may be accompanied to the interview by anyone of its choice. The interviewer shall not only review the information that appears on the application, but shall explore and resolve with the household unclear and incomplete information. Households shall be advised of their rights and responsibilities during the interview. The interview shall be conducted as an official and confidential discussion of household circumstances. The applicant's right to privacy shall be protected during the interview. Facilities shall be adequate to preserve the privacy and confidentiality of the interview.

(6) Verification. Verification is the use of third party information or documentation to establish the accuracy of statements on the application in order to determine eligibility or ineligibility of the household.

(i) Mandatory verification. Gross nonexempt income shall be verified for all households prior to certification. Income verification need not be to the exact dollar amount unless the household's eligibility would be affected since benefits are not reduced as income rises in the Food Distribution Program. However, where all attempts to verify the income have been unsuccessful either because the person or organization providing the income has failed to cooperate with the household and the State agency or because the other sources of verification are unavailable, the eligibility worker shall determine an amount to be used for certification purposes based on the best available information.

(ii) Verification of questionable information. Eligibility criteria other than income, including residency on or near the reservation, shall be verified prior to certification only if they are questionable. To be considered questionable, the information on the application must be inconsistent with statements by the applicant, inconsistent with other information on the application or previous applications, or inconsistent with other information received by the State agency. However, due to the difficulty in verifying whether a group of individuals is a household, State agencies shall generally accept the household's statement regarding food preparation and consumption.

(iii) Responsibility for obtaining verification. The household has primary responsibility for providing documentary evidence or an acceptable collateral contact to support its income statements and to resolve any questionable information. However, the State agency shall assist the household in obtaining the needed verification. The State agency shall accept any reasonable documentary evidence provided by the household and shall be primarily concerned with how adequately the verification proves the statements on the application. The State agency shall also accept verification from collateral contacts so long as the collateral contacts can provide accurate third party verification. The State agency shall rely on the household to provide the name of the collateral contact. The State agency is not required to use a collateral contact designated by the household if the collateral contact cannot be expected to provide accurate third party verification. If the collateral contact designated by the household is unacceptable to the State agency, the State agency shall ask the household to designate another collateral contact, and the State agency shall document the casefile as to the reason the collateral contact was rejected and an alternate was requested. The State agency shall use collateral contacts, rather than documentary evidence, for verification if such verification is acceptable, and would result in better service to the household. For example, the household may be able to obtain a wage stub from the employer, but the State agency could call the employer the same day to provide the verification of income. Home visits shall be used as verification only if documentary evidence and collateral contacts cannot be obtained, and the State agency attempts to schedule the visit in advance with the household.

(iv) Documentation. Casefiles must be documented to support a determination of eligibility or denial. Documentation shall be in sufficient detail to permit a reviewer to determine the reasonableness and accuracy of the determination.

(v) Verification for recertification. At recertification, the State agency shall verify a change in income if the source has changed or the amount has changed by more than $50 per month since the last time the income was verified. State agencies may verify income which is unchanged or has changed by $50 per month or less, provided verification is, at a minimum, required when information is questionable as defined in paragraph (a)(6)(ii) of this section. All other changes reported at the time of recertification shall be subject to the same verification procedures as apply at initial certification. Unchanged information, other than income, shall not be verified at recertification unless the information is questionable as defined in paragraph (a)(6)(ii) of this section.

(7) Processing standards. The State agency shall provide eligible households that complete the initial application process an opportunity to participate as soon as possible, but not later than seven calendar days excluding weekends and holidays after the application was filed. An application is filed the day the State agency receives an application containing the applicant's name and address and which is signed by either a responsible member of the household or the household's authorized representative.

(8) Delays in processing. If the State agency cannot determine a household's eligibility within seven calendar days excluding weekends and holidays of the date the application was filed due to lack of verification as required in paragraph (a)(6), the State agency shall authorize the distribution of commodities to the household for one month pending verification. In order to certify the household pending verification, the information on the application form must be complete and indicate that the household will likely be eligible. No further distribution of commodities shall be made without completing the eligibility determination.

(9) Expedited Service. The State agency shall provide an opportunity to obtain commodities within one calendar day excluding weekends and holidays after the date the application was filed for those households with no income in the current month and also for those households which, in the judgment of the certifying agency, would likely be eligible and would otherwise suffer a hardship. The basis for this determination shall be recorded in the casefile. State agencies shall provide same day service, if possible, to households eligible for expedited service which would likely suffer a hardship if required to return to the office the next day. Warehouses or other distribution points need not be open during all certification hours to meet this need. However, accessibility to federally donated commodities by appropriate certification or other personnel should be established for households in immediate need. When State agencies can demonstrate a need, FNS may approve other expedited timeframes based on circumstances such as distance to warehouses or other distribution points. To expedite the certification of households in immediate need the State agency shall postpone the verification required under paragraph (a)(6) of this section. However, the State agency shall verify the household's identity and address through a collateral contact or readily available documentary evidence. If possible, the household's income statements should be verified at the same time. The State agency shall complete the verification for households certified on an expedited basis prior to the distribution of commodities to the household for any subsequent month.

(10) Authorized representatives. The head of the household, spouse, or any other responsible member of the household may designate an authorized representative to act on behalf of the household in one or all of the following capacities:

(i) Making application for commodities. When the head of the household or the spouse cannot make application, another household member may apply or an adult nonhousehold member may be designated in writing as the authorized representative for that purpose. The head of the household or the spouse should prepare or review the application whenever possible, even though another household member or the authorized representative will actually be interviewed. Adults who are nonhousehold members may be designated as authorized representatives for certification purposes only if they are sufficiently aware of relevant household circumstances.

(ii) Obtaining commodities. An authorized representative of the household may be designated to obtain commodities. Designation shall be made at the time the application is completed. State agencies may distribute commodities to household members or authorized representatives presenting an Identification Card or other appropriate identification that satisfactorily identifies the member obtaining commodities.

(b) Eligibility determinations. (1) Determining income. (i) The State agency shall take into account the income already received by the household during the certification period and any anticipated income the household and the State agency are reasonably certain will be received during the remainder of the certification period. If the amount of income that is anticipated is uncertain, that portion of the household's income that is uncertain shall not be counted by the State agency. For example, a household anticipating income from a new source, such as a new job or recently applied for public assistance benefits, may be uncertain as to the timing and amount of the initial payment. These monies shall not be anticipated by the State agency unless there is reasonable certainty concerning the month in which the payment will be received and in what amount. If the exact amount of the income is not known, that portion of it which can be anticipated with reasonable certainty shall be considered as income. In cases where the receipt of income is reasonably certain but the monthly amount may fluctuate, and the household's income is close to the income eligibility limit the State agency may elect to average income provided that such averaging does not disadvantage the household. Such averaging shall be based on income that is anticipated to be available to the household during the certification period. The State agency shall use income received in the past 30 days as an indicator of future income during the certification period unless changes in income have occurred or can be anticipated.

(ii) Income anticipated during the certification period shall be counted as income only in the month it is expected to be received, unless the income is averaged.

(iii) (A) Self-employment income which represents a household's annual support including the net profit from the sale of any capital goods or equipment related to the business shall be annualized over a 12-month period, even if the income is received in only a short period of time. For example, self-employment income received by farmers shall be averaged over a 12-month period if the income represents the farmer's annual support.

(B) Self-employment income which represents only a part of a household's annual support, including the net profit from the sale of any capital goods or equipment related to the business, shall be averaged over the period of time the income is intended to cover. For example, self-employed vendors who work only in the summer and supplement their income from other sources during the balance of the year shall have their self-employment income averaged over the summer months rather than a 12-month period.

(C) For the period of time over which self-employment income is determined, the State agency shall add all gross self-employment income, exclude the cost of producing the self-employment income and divide the net self-employment income by the number of months over which the income will be averaged. The allowable costs of producing self-employment income include but are not limited to, the identifiable costs of labor, stock, raw materials, seed and fertilizer, interest paid to purchase income producing property, insurance premiums, and taxes paid on income producing property.

(D) In determining net self-employment income, payments on the principal of the purchase price of income-producing real estate and capital assets, equipment, machinery, and other durable goods, net losses from previous periods, Federal, State, and local income taxes, money set aside for retirement purposes, and other work-related personal expenses (such as transportation to and from work) will not be allowable costs of doing business.

(iv) The monthly net self-employment income shall be added to any other earned income received by the household. The total monthly earned income, less the 20 percent earned income deduction, shall then be added to all monthly unearned income received by the household.

(v) Allowable costs for dependent care shall be subtracted from the household's total monthly income to determine net monthly income.

(vi) The total net monthly income shall be compared to the income eligibility standard for the appropriate household size to determine the household's eligibility.

(2) Certification periods. (i) the State agency shall establish definite periods of time within which households shall be eligible to receive benefits. Further eligibility shall be established upon a recertification based upon a newly completed application, an interview, and such verification as required by paragraph (a)(6)(v) of this section.

(ii) Certification periods shall conform to calendar months. The first month in the certification period of initial applicants shall be the month in which eligibility is determined. For example, if a household submits an application in late January and the household is determined eligible on the fifth working day which falls in February, a six-month certification period would include February through July. Upon recertification, the certification period will begin with the month following the last month of the previous certification period.

(iii) A household shall be assigned a certification period for as long a period as the household's circumstances are expected to remain sufficiently stable such that the household is expected to continue to meet the program's eligibility standards. In no event shall a certification period exceed one year.

(3) Certification notices. (i) Notice of eligibility. If an application is approved, the State agency shall provide the household a written notice of eligibility and the beginning and ending dates of the certification period. Households certified on an expedited basis shall be advised that the subsequent month's eligibility will depend upon completion of the postponed verification.

(ii) Notice of denial. If the application is denied, the State agency shall provide the household written notice explaining the basis for the denial, the household's right to request a fair hearing, and the telephone number and address of the person to contact for additional information. If there is an individual or organization available which provides free legal representation, the notice shall also advise the household of the availability of the service.

(iii) Notice of adverse action. (A) Prior to any action to reduce or terminate a household's benefits within the certification period State agencies shall provide the household timely and adequate advance notice before the adverse action is taken.

(B) In State agencies that have elected joint public assistance or general assistance and Food Distribution processing, the notice of adverse action shall be considered timely if the advance notice period conforms to that period of time defined by the State agency as an adequate notice period for its public or general assistance caseload, provided that the period includes at least 10 days from the date the notice is mailed to the date upon which the action becomes effective. In circumstances other than joint processing, the advance notice shall be considered timely if the advance notice period includes at least 10 and no more than 20 days from the date the notice is mailed to the date upon which the action becomes effective.

(C) The notice of adverse action shall be considered adequate if it explains in easily understandable language: the reason for the proposed action, the household's right to request a fair hearing, when the proposed action will take effect, the telephone number and address of someone to contact for additional information and the availability of continued benefits. If there is an individual or organization available which provides free legal representation, the notice shall also advise the household of the availability of the service. The State agency shall consult with the ITO in developing the notice of adverse action.

(D) The State agency shall continue distribution of commodities to the household after the end of the adverse notice period if the household requests a fair hearing during the advance notice period.

(c) Reporting changes. (1) Certified households are required to report changes in household composition and income which would necessitate a change in the determination of eligibility. To facilitate reporting changes in income each certified household shall be advised at the time of certification what the maximum monthly income limit, as defined in § 283.6(e)(1), is for its size household, and shall be required to report any change in income that goes above that limit to the certification office within ten days after the change becomes known to the household. Households must also report within ten days when cash on hand, money in checking or savings accounts, savings certificates, stocks, or bonds, or other readily negotiable instruments exceeds $1,750. The State agency shall develop the procedures for when and how changes in household circumstances are reported. Changes reported over the telephone or in person shall be acted on in the same manner as those reported in writing.

(2) If the State agency determines that the household is no longer eligible or reduces the amount of commodities due the household because the household has lost a member or members, the State agency shall provide the household with a notice of adverse action not later than ten days after the change is reported. If the reported change increases the amount of commodities due the household, the household shall be notified that the increase shall be effective not later than the month following the date the change was reported.

(d) Recertification. (1) The State agency shall develop a procedure for notifying the household prior to or shortly after the end of its certification period that the household must reapply and be recertified for continued participation. Households shall also be notified of the date upon which termination from participation will be effective should the household fail to reapply before the expiration of the certification period.

(2) The State agency shall approve or deny a household's application for recertification and notify the household of that determination prior to the expiration of the household's current certification period. Households applying for recertification in the last month of the current certification period must be provided an opportunity to obtain commodity distribution on an uninterrupted basis.

(3) The State agency shall continue distribution of commodities to the household denied at the point of recertification if the household timely requests a fair hearing.

(e) Controls for dual participation. (1) Prohibition on dual participation. No household shall be allowed to participate simultaneously in the Food Stamp Program and Food Distribution Program. The State agency shall inform each applicant household of this prohibition and shall develop a method to detect dual participation. The method developed by the State agency shall, at a minimum, employ lists of currently certified households provided by and provided to the appropriate food stamp agency on a monthly basis. The State agency may also employ computer checks, address checks and telephone calls to prevent dual participation. The State agency shall coordinate with the appropriate food stamp agency or agencies in developing controls for dual participation.

(2) Choice of programs. Households eligible for either the Food Stamp Program or Food Distribution Program on reservations on which both programs are available may elect to participate in either program. Such households may elect to participate in one program, and subsequently elect the other at the end of the certification period. Households may also elect to switch from one program to the other program within a certification period only by terminating their participation, and notifying the State agency of their intention to switch programs. Households certified in either the Food Distribution or Food Stamp Program on the first day of the month can only receive benefits in the program for which they are currently certified during that month. At the point the household elects to change programs the household should notify the State agency of its intent to switch programs, and should file an application for the program in which it wishes to participate. Households voluntarily withdrawing from one program with the intent of switching to the other shall have their eligibility terminated for the program in which they are currently certified on the last day of the month in which the household notifies the State agency of its intent to change programs. Entitlement in the program for which a household is now filing an application, if all eligibility criteria are met, would begin in the month following the month of termination in the previous program.

(3) Disqualification. (i) No individual disqualified from participation in the Food Stamp Program for fraud may participate in the Food Distribution Program until the period of disqualification expires. The State agency in cooperation with the appropriate food stamp agency must develop a procedure to identify these individuals.

(ii) During the time a household member is disqualified, the eligibility and food distribution benefits of any remaining household members shall be determined as follows:

(A) Resources. The resources of the disqualified member shall continue to count in their entirety to the remaining household members.

(B) Income. A pro rata share of the income of the disqualified member shall be counted as income to the remaining members. This pro rata share is calculated by dividing the disqualified member's earned (less the 20 percent earned income deduction) and unearned income evenly among all household members, including the disqualified member. All but the disqualified member's share is counted as income to the remaining household members.

(C) Eligibility and benefits. The disqualified member shall not be included when determining the household's size for purposes of assigning food distribution benefits to the household or for purposes of comparing the household's net monthly income with the income eligibility standards.

(f) Joint Processing PA/GA. (1) State agencies which are responsible for and administer both the Food Distribution and public assistance (PA) or general assistance (GA) programs on Indian reservations may allow a household to apply for the Food Distribution Program at the same time the household applies for PA or GA benefits. However, while PA households are categorically eligible, GA households except for those households in GA programs which have been determined by FNS to have criteria of need the same as, or similar to those under Federally aided public assistance programs as provided for in § 283.6(c)(2) shall have their eligibility for commodities based solely on Food Distribution eligibility criteria. All criteria provided in this subsection, (f), are applicable to State agencies which administer both the Food Distribution and assistance programs and which elect joint processing. Under joint processing, the State agency shall use joint application forms that contain all the information needed to determine eligibility for commodities or shall attach a form for the other needed information.

(2) The State agency shall process all applications for PA or GA as applications for the Food Distribution Program as well, unless the household clearly indicates on a space on the application that the household does not want commodities. The State agency shall conduct a single interview for PA or GA and Food Distribution Program eligibility, unless the State agency is unable to do so within the Food Distribution Program processing standards specified in § 283.7(a)(7) and § 283.7(a)(9). In such cases the State agency shall provide separate certification for PA or GA and Food Distribution Program eligibility.

(3) The State agency may verify those factors of eligibility which must be verified for PA or GA, under PA or GA rules, but must follow the Food Distribution Program rules for all other factors.

(4) PA households have the same reporting requirements as any other food distribution household. PA households which report a change in circumstances to the PA worker shall be considered to have reported the change for food distribution purposes. All of the requirements pertaining to reporting changes for PA households shall be applied to GA households in project areas where GA and food distribution cases are processed jointly.

(5) The State agency must follow all Food Distribution Program timeliness rules for certification of households for the Food Distribution Program.

(g) Fair Hearing. (1) Availability of hearings. The State agency shall provide a fair hearing to any household aggrieved by any action of the State agency which affects the participation of the household in the Food Distribution Program.

(2) Timely action on hearings. (i) Receipt of request. Within 60 days of receipt of a request for a fair hearing, the State agency shall conduct the hearing, arrive at a decision and either issue or not issue commodities to the household.

(ii) Household requests for postponement. The household may request and is entitled to receive, a postponement of the scheduled hearing. The postponement shall not exceed 30 days and, the time limit for action on the decision may be extended for as many days as the hearing is postponed.

(3) Notification of right to request hearing. At the time of application, each household shall be informed of its right to a hearing, of the method by which a hearing may be requested, and that its case may be presented by a household member or a representative, such as a legal counsel, a relative, a friend or other spokesperson. If there is an individual or organization available which provides free legal representation, the household shall also be informed of the availability of that service. Hearing procedures shall be published by the State agency and made available to any interested party.

(4) Time period for requesting hearing. A household shall be allowed to request a hearing on any action by the State agency which occurred in the prior 90 days or which affects current benefits.

(5) Request for hearing. A request for a hearing is any clear expression, oral or written, by the household or its representative to the State agency that it wishes to present its case to a higher authority. The freedom to make such a request shall not be limited or interfered with in any way. Upon request, the State agency shall make available without charge the specific materials necessary for a household or its representative to determine whether a hearing should be requested or to prepare for a hearing.

(6) Denial or dismissal of request for hearing. The State agency shall not deny or dismiss a request for a hearing unless:

(i) The request is not received within the time period specified in paragraph (g)(4) of this section;

(ii) The request is withdrawn in writing by the household or its representative; or

(iii) The household or its representative fails, without good cause, to appear at the scheduled hearing.

(7) Notification of time and place of hearing. The time, date and place of the hearing shall be convenient to the household. At least 15 days prior to the hearing, advance written notice shall be provided to all parties involved to permit adequate preparation of the case. The notice shall:

(i) Advise the household or its representative of the name, address, and the phone number of the person to notify in the event it is not possible for the household to attend the scheduled hearing.

(ii) Specify that the State agency will dismiss the hearing request if the household or its representative fails to appear for the hearing without good cause.

(iii) Include the State agency hearing procedures and any other information that would provide the household with an understanding of the proceedings, and that would contribute to the effective presentation of the household's case.

(iv) Explain that the household or representative may examine the casefile prior to the hearing.

(8) Hearing official. Hearings shall be conducted by an impartial official(s), designated by the State agency, who does not have any personal interest or involvement in the case and who was not directly involved in the initial determination of the action which is being contested. The hearing official shall:

(i) Administer oaths or affirmations if required by the State;

(ii) Ensure that all relevant issues are considered;

(iii) Request, receive and make part of the record all evidence determined necessary to decide the issues being raised;

(iv) Regulate the conduct and course of the hearing consistent with due process to ensure an orderly hearing; and

(v) Render a hearing decision in the name of the State agency, in accordance with paragraph (g)(11) of this section, which will resolve the dispute.

(9) Attendance at hearing. The hearing shall be attended by a representative of the State agency which initiated the action being contested and by the household and/or its representative. The hearing may also be attended by friends or relatives of the household upon household consent.

(10) Conduct of hearing. The household may not be familiar with the rules of order and it may be necessary to make particular efforts to arrive at the facts of the case in a manner that makes the household feel most at ease. The household or its representative must be given adequate opportunity to:

(i) Examine all documents and records to be used at the hearing at a reasonable time before the date of the hearing, as well as during the hearing. The contents of the casefile, including the application forms and documents of verification used by the State agency shall be made available, provided the confidential information is protected from release. The State agency shall provide a free copy of the relevant portions of the casefile if requested by the household or its representative. Confidential information that is protected from release and other documents or records which the household will not otherwise have an opportunity to contest or challenge shall not be introduced at the hearing or affect the hearing official's decision.

(ii) Present the case or have it presented by a legal counsel or other person.

(iii) Bring witnesses.

(iv) Advance arguments without undue interference.

(v) Question or refute any testimony or evidence, including an opportunity to confront and cross-examine adverse witnesses.

(vi) Submit evidence to establish all pertinent facts and circumstances in the case.

(11) Hearing decisions. (i) Decisions of the hearing officials shall comply with Federal law or regulations and shall be based on the hearing record. The verbatim transcript or recording of testimony and exhibits or an official report containing the substance of what transpired at the hearing, together with all papers and requests filed in the proceeding, shall constitute the exclusive record for a final decision by the hearing official.

(ii) A decision by the hearing official shall be binding on the State agency and shall summarize the facts of the case, specify the reasons for the decision and identify the supporting evidence and the pertinent FNS regulations. The decision shall become a part of the record.

(iii) The household shall be advised of the decision of the hearing official and of the right to pursue judicial review.

(12) Agency conferences. (1) The State agency shall offer agency conferences to households which request an immediate resolution by a higher authority of a denial of eligibility for food distribution benefits. The State agency may also offer agency conferences to households adversely affected by any agency action. The State agency shall advise households that use of an agency conference is optional and that such use shall in no way delay or replace the fair hearing process. The agency conferences may be attended by the eligibility worker responsible for the agency action, and shall be attended by an eligibility supevisor and/or the agency director, as well as the household and/or its representative. An agency conference may lead to an informal resolution of the dispute. However, a fair hearing must still be held if requested by the household.

(2) An agency conference for households requesting an immediate resolution by a higher authority of an eligibility issue shall be scheduled within four working days of the request unless the household requests that it be scheduled later or states that it does not wish to have an agency conference.

§ 283.8 Commodity control, storage and distribution.

(a) Control and accountability. The State agency shall be responsible for the issuance of commodities to households and the control of and accountability for the commodities upon its acceptance of the commodities at time and place of delivery.

(b) Commodity inventories. The State agency shall, in cooperation with the FNS Regional office, develop an appropriate procedure for determining and monitoring the level of commodity inventories at central commodity storage facilities and at each local distribution point. The State agency shall maintain the inventories at proper levels taking into consideration, among other factors, household preferences and the historical and projected volume of distribution at each site. The procedures shall provide that commodity inventories at each central storage facility and each local distribution point are not in excess, but are adequate for, an uninterrupted distribution of commodities.

(c) Storage facilities and practices. The State agency shall as a minimum ensure that:

(1) Adequate and appropriate storage facilities are maintained. The facilities shall be clean and neat and safe-guarded against theft, damage, insects, rodents and other pests.

(2) Department recommended dunnage, stacking and ventilation methods are followed.

(3) Commodities are stacked in a manner which facilitates an accurate inventory.

(4) Commodities are issued on a first-in, first-out basis.

(5) Commodities held in storage for a protracted period of time are reinspected prior to issuance.

(6) Out-of-condition commodities are disposed of in accordance with Department approved methods.

(7) Notification is provided to certified households of the location of distribution sites and days and hours of distribution.

(8) An adequate supply of commodities which are available from the Department is on hand at all distribution sites.

(9) Sufficient distribution sites, either stationary or mobile, are geographically located or routed in relation to population density of eligible households.

(10) Days and hours of distribution are sufficient for caseload size and convenience.

(11) Households are advised they may refuse any commodity not desired, even if the commodities are prepackaged by household size.

(12) Emergency issuance of commodities will be made to households certified for expedited service in accordance with the provisions of § 283.7(b)(9).

(13) Eligible households or authorized representatives are identified prior to the issuance of commodities.

(14) Authorized signatures are obtained for commodities issued and the issue date recorded.

(15) Posters are conspicuously displayed advising program participants to accept only those commodities, and in such quantities, as will be consumed by them.

(16) Complete and current records are kept of all commodities received, issued, transferred, and on hand and of any inventory overages, shortages, and losses.

(17) A list of commodities offered by the Department is displayed at distribution sites so that households may indicate preferences for future orders.

(d) Distribution. The State agency shall distribute commodities only to households eligible to receive them under this part. If the State agency uses any other agency, administration, bureau, service or similar organization to effect or assist in the certification of households or distribution of commodities, the State agency shall impose upon such organization responsibility for determining that households to whom commodities are distributed are eligible under this part. The State agency shall not delegate to any such organization its responsibilities to the Department for overall management and control of the Food Distribution Program.

(e) Improper distribution or loss of or damage of commodities. State agencies shall take action to obtain restitution in connection with claims arising in their favor for improper distribution, use or loss, or damage of commodities in accordance with the State agency's agreement with the Department under § 250.6(b) of part 250 of this chapter and the requirements of § 250.6(l) of this same chapter.

(f) Damaged or out-of-condition commodities. The State agency shall immediately notify the appropriate Food and Nutrition Service Regional Office (FNSRO) if any commodities are found to be damaged or out-of-condition at the time of arrival, or at any subsequent time, whether due to latent defects or any other reason. FNSRO shall advise the State agency of the appropriate action to be taken with regard to such commodities. If the commodities are declared unfit for human consumption in accordance with § 250.7 of Part 250 of this chapter, they shall be disposed of as provided for under that section. When out-of-condition commodities do not create a hazard to other food at the same location, they shall not be disposed of until FNSRO or the responsible commodity contractor approves. When circumstances require prior disposal of a commodity, the quantity and manner of disposition shall be reported to the appropriate FNSRO. If any damaged or out-of-condition commodities are inadvertently issued to a household and are rejected or returned by the household because the commodities were unsound at the time of issuance and not because the household failed to provide proper storage, care or handling, the State agency shall replace the damaged or out-of-condition commodities with the same or similar kind of commodities which are sound and in good condition. The State agency shall account for such replacements on its monthly inventory report.

§ 283.9 Administrative funds for State agencies.

(a) Payments. Within the limitation of funds available to carry out the provisions of this Part, FNS shall, beginning with fiscal year 1980, make available to each State agency 75 percent of approved administrative costs. Any approval for payment of funds in excess of 75 percent shall be based on compelling justification that such additional amounts are necessary for the effective operation of the Food Distribution Program on an Indian reservation. Compelling justification may include, but not be limited to, such factors as the need for a larger Federal contribution during a State agency's first year of operation of the program, and the need to assure that no State agency currently operating the program receives a level of funding that would cause a diminution of program services. Administrative costs must be included in annual or revised budget information submitted by the State agency to FNS for approval prior to the contribution of Federal funds. Administrative costs must be allowable under Part 277 of this Chapter.

(b) Use of funds by State agencies. Any funds received under this section shall be used for any costs which are allowable under Part 277 of this chapter and which are incurred in operating the Food Distribution Program for households on a reservation. The value of services rendered by volunteers, Part

277 notwithstanding, shall be allowable to meet the matching administrative costs requirements for the Food Distribution Program. In no event shall such funds be used to pay any portion of such expenses if reimbursement or payment therefor is claimed or made available from any other Federal source. State agencies shall also adhere to the provisions of Part 277 of this chapter, as apply to the Food Distribution Program, which establish:

(1) Uniform requirements for the adminstration of funds to State agencies; and

(2) Principles for determining costs applicable to activities assisted by the Food Stamp Program funds provided to State agencies. The provisions of Part 277 are generally adaptable to this section and the appropriate provisions shall be used in complying with paragraphs (b) and (f) of this section.

(c) Application for funds. (1) Any State agency administering an ongoing Food Distribution Program which desires to receive administrative funds under this section shall submit a Form AD–623, "Application for Federal Assistance," to the appropriate FNS Regional Office at least three months prior to the beginning of a Federal fiscal year; except that, for funds needed during fiscal year 1980, the application shall be submitted as soon as practicable, but no later than 60 days followed final publication of this part in the Federal Register. The budget information required in Part III of the application shall reflect by category of expenditure the State agency's best estimate of the total amount to be expended in the administration of the Food Distribution Program during a Federal fiscal year. FNS may require that detailed information be submitted by the State agency to support or explain the total estimated amounts shown for each cost budget category. Prior to submission by an agency of State government of the AD–623 to FNS, it shall be submitted to the State clearinghouse pursuant to Part I of OMB Circular A–95. ITO's which act as State agencies are encouraged to submit the AD–623 to the State clearinghouse.

(2) Approval of the application by FNS shall be a prerequisite to the payment of any funds to State agencies.

(d) Availability of funds. (1) FNS shall review and evaluate the budget information submitted by the State agency in relationship to the State agency's plan of operation and any other factors which may be relevant to FNS' determination as to whether the estimated expenditures itemized by budget category are reasonable and justified. FNS shall give written notification to the State agency of (i) its approval or disapproval of any or all of the itemized expenditures, (ii) the amount of funds which will be made available, and (iii) the period for which funds are available.

(2) FNS shall review and evaluate applications submitted by State agencies for administrative funds available under this section in the following order of priority and shall give preference in making payments of funds under this section in the same order of priority: (i) applications from State agencies which desire to continue a Food Distribution Program now in operation, (ii) applications from State agencies, in the order received, which FNS determines are immediately capable of effectively and efficiently administering the Program, and (iii) applications from other States agencies, in the order received.

(e) Method of payment to State agencies. (1) Payments are made to State agencies through a Letter of Credit or an advance by Treasury check. The Letter of Credit funding method shall be used by FNS except when the advances to be made within a 12 month period are estimated to be less than $120,000. However, FNS may, at its option, reimburse a State agency by Treasury check regardless of the amount in response to a valid claim submitted by the State agency.

(2) The Letter of Credit funding method shall be done in conjunction with Treasury Department procedures, Treasury Circular No. 1075 and through an appropriate Treasury Regional Disbursing Office (RDO). The Standard Form 183, "Request for Payment on Letter of Credit and Status of Funds Report," shall be correctly prepared and certified by a duly appointed official of the State for requesting payment from an RDO.

(3) The advance by Treasury check method shall be done by use of the Standard Form 270, "Request for Advance or Reimbursement," and procedures associated with its use. State agencies receiving payments under this method may request payments before cash outlays are made.

(4) Any State agency receiving payment under the Letter of Credit method or the advance by Treasury check method shall have in place and in operation, a financial management system which meets the standards for fund control and accountability prescribed in Part 277 of this chapter, as amended. The State agency shall demonstrate on a continuing basis its willingness and ability to have and to function within procedures that will minimize the time lapse between the transfer of funds and its disbursement to meet obligations. For any State agency which does not meet the requirement of this paragraph, the reimbursement by Treasury check method shall be the preferred method for FNS to make payments to that State agency.

(f) Accounting for funds. Each State agency which receives administrative funds under this section shall establish and maintain an effective system of fiscal control and accounting procedures. Expenditures and accountability of such funds shall be in accordance with the appropriate provisions of Part 277. The accounting procedures maintained by the State agency shall be such as to accurately reflect the receipt, expenditure and current balance of funds provided by FNS and to facilitate the prompt preparation of reports required by FNS. The accounting procedures shall also provide for segregation of costs specifically identifiable to the Food Distribution Program from any other costs incurred by the State agency. Any budget revisions by a State agency which require the transfer of funds from an approved cost category to another shall be in accordance with the budget revision procedures set forth in OMB Circular No. A–102, Attachment K, and shall be approved by FNS prior to any transfer of funds.

(g) Return, reduction, and reallocation of funds. (1) FNS may require State agencies to return prior to the end of the fiscal year any or all unobligated funds received under this section, and may reduce the amount it has apportioned or agreed to pay to any State agency if FNS determines that:

(i) The State agency is not administering the Food Distribution Program in accordance with its plan of operation approved by FNS and the provisions of this part, or

(ii) The amount of funds which the State agency requested from FNS is in excess of actual need, based on reports of expenditures and current projections of Program needs.

(iii) Circumstances or conditions justify the return reallocation or transfer of funds to accomplish the purpose of this part.

(2) The State agency shall return to FNS within 90 days following the close of each Federal fiscal year any funds received under this section which are unobligated at that time.

(h) Records, reports, audits. (1) The State agency shall:

(i) Keep such accounts and records as may be necessary to enable FNS to determine whether there has been compliance with this section, and

(ii) Adhere to the retention and custodial requirements for records set forth in § 277.4 of this chapter.

(2) The State agency receiving funds either through a Treasury RDO Letter of Credit system or Treasury check shall submit quarterly reports to FNS on Form SF–269, "Financial Status Report," by the 30th day after close of the reporting quarter and shall submit such other reports as may be required by FNS.

(3) The State agency receiving funds other than through a Treasury RDO Letter of Credit system shall submit quarterly reports to FNS on Form SF–272, "Federal Cash Transactions Report," within 30 days after the end of the reporting quarter.

(4) The appropriate provisions of Part 277 are adaptable to this section for additional guidance.

Note.—The Food and Nutrition Service has determined that this document contains a major proposal requiring preparation of an impact analysis statement and certifies that an impact analysis statement has been prepared. A copy may be obtained from Acting Deputy Administrator, Alberta Frost.

Department of Health, Education, and Welfare

National Institutes of Health

Request for Nominations for Members of NIH National Advisory Councils and Boards

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE

Request for Nominations for Members of NIH National Advisory Councils and Boards

The National Institutes of Health (NIH), the medical research arm of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), invites nominations for membership on national advisory councils and boards.[1] Each of the NIH bureaus, institutes and divisions (BIDs) awarding grants has a national advisory council whose members generally are leaders in the fundamental sciences, medical sciences, education, or public affairs. Section 301 of the Public Health Service (PHS) Act (42 U.S.C. 241), the basic authority under which NIH research project grants are made, provides that no grant may be awarded unless it has been recommended for funding by the appropriate national advisory council.

The councils review and evaluate program accomplishments and help to identify and resolve problems in program planning and development. They provide guidance to the programs of the BIDs in the context of national health needs as part of their statutory responsibilities to "advise, consult with, and make recommendations to" the Secretary, HEW, on "matters relating to health activities . . ." The councils also consider the impact of BID decisions on grantee institutions. With increasing frequency, the councils are also asked to review the concept of new initiatives before solicitation of grant applications, Request for Applications (RFA), or contract proposals, Request for Proposals (RFP). Also the councils provide final review for merit and program relevance of all applications for research grants, Institutional National Research Service Awards, and other grant applications that require such approval under the PHS Act.

Information about the functions of each national advisory council, the expertise required, and the number of anticipated vacancies for terms generally beginning November 1, 1980, will be found in the listing which follows. Nominations must be submitted by August 1, 1979, and will be solicited annually thereafter.

Any person may nominate one or more candidates for consideration on one or more specific councils. Self nominations are accepted. NIH/HEW have a special interest in assuring that women, ethnic minorities and the handicapped are adequately represented on advisory councils and particularly encourage their nominations.

All nominations will receive careful consideration; however, appointment authority resides with the Secretary, HEW.

Description of the Peer Review System

The NIH peer review system is based upon two sequential levels of review, referred to as the "dual review system." Both levels have statutory bases. The first level of review is performed by scientific review groups which are established, in general, along lines of scientific disciplines and consist of experts in relevant research fields. The scientific review groups managed by the Division of Research Grants are referred to as Study Sections. The Study Sections consist of 12 to 20 scientific members each and have as their primary function the review and evaluation for scientific merit of research grant applications.

Other scientific review groups are managed by the BIDs and have diverse review responsibilities, such as multidisciplinary research requests and a variety of other specialized proposals, including research contract proposals.

The second level of review for research grant applications is performed by a national advisory council for each BID which supports extramural research. These groups are comprised of both scientists and non-scientists and have broader responsibilities. The mix of members adds to the grant review and selection process relevant programmatic and policy considerations. The councils also offer advice and make recommendations on public policy and matters of significance to the mission and goals of the BIDs they serve.

Responsibilities of Advisory Councils and Their Members

Each advisory council is composed primarily of non-Federal scientists and public members selected for their competence, interest, and knowledge in the missions of the specific BID involved. Council members review BID program objectives, priorities, balance and accomplishments. They also may make recommendations on factors related to resource allocation, program management and administration. Council members provide assurance of NIH responsiveness to public needs as well as NIH support to high quality biomedical research. Usually a minimum of three meetings are held yearly. Each meeting generally requires two or three days of intensive review of research proposals, policy matters, and program review. At least two weeks before each meeting date, the BID staff sends out material on each grant application, agenda items, and reports to be reviewed. Council members are expected to read and be prepared to contribute to the discussion on all applications and to identify those needing special attention. Specific assignments are made in advance of the meeting so that designated council members can lead the discussion on various matters related to the deliberations and recommendations to be formulated at the meeting.

Occasionally members also participate in project site visits when additional information or personal discussion with the applicant institution and investigators are deemed necessary for the council to reach a definitive recommendation. A BID may convene special council meetings in addition to the minimum of three each year to deal with special reports, new initiatives for the future, and to advise further on public issues related to biomedical research. Furthermore, certain councils are madated by law to submit annual reports to the Congress on the needs, progress, and achievements of the BID. Members generally serve terms not to exceed four years.

Criteria for Selection of Council Members

The PHS Act directs the Secretary, HEW, to appoint members to NIH advisory councils in accordance with the requirements set forth by the enabling legislation.* These requirements are designed to assist in the selection and appointment of individuals who are knowledgeable in the programmatic areas of the BID mission, familiar with NIH procedures, aware of the roles of diverse institutions in biomedical research, and mindful of the health needs of the American people. To provide this range of expertise, each council consists of both scientific and public members. Ex-officio members from other agencies are appointed as required by law or for administrative reasons.

Criteria for Selection of Scientific Members

Individuals selected as scientific members are chosen from among those recognized as outstanding leaders and experts in their research fields and considered to have a broad interest in, and understanding of, the relationship of biomedical science to societal needs. Individuals who are regarded as senior scientists are viewed as particularly desirable members because they bring to such deliberative bodies a wealth of experience and perspective gained from scientific research and training. It is expected that council members have made significant research contributions in a field relevant to the mission of the BID and are recognized also for other scientific accomplishments. Scientific members should have an awareness of the standards of scientific merit and of the review criteria utilized by the NIH peer review system. In addition to scientific accomplishment, mature judgment, balanced perspective, and objectivity are essential.

Criteria for Selection of Public Members

Individuals selected as public members are leaders in such fields as eduction, law, social sciences, public health, or public and community affairs, and must have a demonstrated interest in, and background relevant to, the needs of society in the areas of the mission of the BID. Public members constitute approximately one third of each council.

Other Considerations for Membership

Within a given council, representation of scientific disciplines or medical research specialties must permit the attainment and maintenance of a proper balance of expertise to cover the range of the mission and goals of the BID. In addition, such factors as geographic distribution and adequate representation of minority, female and handicapped candidates must be considered.

No two members of the council are appointed from the same institution or organization. With rare exceptions, no member may serve concurrently on more than one HEW advisory group.

Within these criteria, guidelines, and conditions, the practice is to make selections for advisory service from the widest available pool of qualified candidates.

Nomination Procedures

Recommendations for membership originate with the BID staff who draw on personal knowledge of the disciplines and of the scientists who have made significant research contributions and are regarded as senior scientific statesmen. Recommendations from other NIH staff and current and former members are also considered. Responses to this announcement will constitute an important new source of potential members for BID staff to consider.

Approximately twenty-five percent of the positions become vacant each year. The general procedure is for NIH to nominate one principal and one alternate candidate for each vacancy on an advisory council. Final appointment is made by the Secretary who issues the invitation letter. The PHS Act directs the Secretary to appoint members to advisory councils in accordance with the requirements set forth by each of the sections of the act which apply to the particular council.

How to Respond to the Announcement

This announcement invites nominations to fill vacancies on NIH advisory councils for terms beginning November 1, 1980. The missions of the various BIDs listed below apply to the entire council and are not limited to current vacancies.

Nominations must be received by August 1, 1979. Please submit a mailing address with the name of each nominee so that the nominee may be contacted to provide more detailed information. Specify the council on which you feel the nominee is qualified to serve. An individual may be nominated for more than one council. To be considered, the nomination should include a statement that the nominee is aware of the nomination and is willing to serve.

In addition to the council for which a nominee is proposed, he/she may be considered by the NIH for other consultant activities. Prior to appointment candidates will be asked by the NIH to provide detailed information concerning financial holdings and consultancies to identify any possible conflicts of interest.

Address nominations to: Joan T. Bailey, DRA—Nominations, Office of the Director, National Institutes of Health, Room 1B58, Building 31, Bethesda, Maryland 20205.

Review of Standards of Performance for New Stationary Sources: Secondary Brass and Bronze Ingot Production AGENCY: Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

ACTION: Review of Standards.

SUMMARY: EPA has reviewed the standard of performance for secondary brass and bronze ingot production plants (40 CFR 60. 130, Subpart M). The review is required under the Clean Air Act, as amended August.1977. The purpose of this notice is to announce EPA's intent not to undertake revision of the standards at this time.

DATES: Comments must be received on or before August 20, 1979.

ADDRESSES: Comments should be sent to the Central Docket Section (A-130). U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M Street, SW., Washington, D.C. 20460, Attention: Docket No. A-79-10. The Document "A Review of Standards of Performance for New Stationary Sources—Secondary Brass and Bronze Plat Plants" (EPA-450/3-79-011) is available upon request from Mr. Robert Ajax (MD-13), Emission Standards and Engineering Division, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Research Triangle Park, North Carolina 27711.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Robert Ajax, telephone: (919) 541-5271.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

In June of 1973, the EPA proposed a standard under Section 111 of the Clean Air Act to control particulate matter emissions from secondary brass and bronze ingot production plants (40 CFR 60.230, Subpart M). The standard, promulgated in March 1974, limits the discharge of any gases into the atmosphere from a reverberatory furnace which;

1. Contain particulate matter in excess of 50 mg/dscm (0.022 gr/dscf).

2. Exhibit 20 percent opacity or greater.

In addition, any blast (cupola) or electric furnace may not emit any gases which exhibit 10 percent opacity or greater.

The Clean Air Act Amendments of 1977 require that the Administrator of the EPA review and, if appropriate, revise established standards of performance for new stationary sources at least every 4 years [Section 111(b)(1)(B)]. This notice announces that EPA has completed a review of the standard of performance for secondary brass and bronze ingot production plants and invites comment on the results of this review.

Findings

Industry Statistics

In 1968, there were approximately 60 brass and bronze ingot production facilities in the United States. Currently, only 35 facilities are operational, and only one facility has become operational since the promulgation of the NSPS in 1974. No new facilities or modifications are know to be currently planned or under construction.

Ingot production has shown a steady decline from the 1966 peak year production of 315,000 Mg (347,000 tons) to a low of 160,000 Mg (166,000 tons) in 1975, the last year for which nationwide statistics were published. The decline has been caused by a decline in the demand for products made with brass or bronze and large scale substitution of other materials or technologies for the previously used brass or bronze. No information has been reported which would indicate a reversal of the decline in brass and bronze ingot production or in the number of operating plants.

Emissions and Control Technology

The current best demonstrated control technology, the fabric filter, is the same as when the standards were originally promulgated. No major improvements in this technology have occurred during the intervening period.

High-pressure drop venturi scrubbers are used, to some extent, in the brass and bronze industry, but their overall control efficiency is lower than that of fabric filters. Electrostatic precipitators have not been used in the industry due to both the low gas flow rates and high resistivity of metallic fumes.

Only one facility has become subject to the standard since its original promulgation. This facility was tested in February 1978. The average test result of 16.9 milligrams/dry standard cubic meters (mg/dscm), or 0.0074 grains/dry standard cubic feet (gr/dscf), is lower than most of the test data used for justification of the current standard of 50 mg/dscm (0.022 gr/dscf), but this single test is not considered sufficient to draw any overall conclusion about improved control technology.

Fugitive emissions continue to be a problem in the brass and bronze industry. In most cases, these emissions are very difficult to capture and equally difficult to measure during testing. It was primarily for the former reason that the current particulate standard does not apply during pouring of the ingots. This overall situation has not changed in that only complete enclosure of the furnace can result in full control of fugitive emissions. However, information is available indicating that there may be additives capable of reducing fugitive emissions during pouring. Also, improved control of fugitive emissions may be possible through improved hood design.

Conclusions

Based on the above findings, EPA concludes that the existing standard of performance is appropriate and no revision is needed. While extension of the standard to include fugitive emissions would be possible, the lack of anticipated growth in the industry does not justify such action.

PUBLIC PARTICIPATION: All interested persons are invited to comment on this review and the conclusions.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Bureau of Prisons

28 CFR Part 540

Control, Custody, Care, Treatment, and Instruction of Inmates

AGENCY: Bureau of Prisons, Justice.

ACTION: Interim rules.

SUMMARY: This document contains interim final rules relating to correspondence. This document is intended to give the public notice of the rules in this area, not just changes from prior policy.

DATES: Effective Date: July 1, 1979 and until final rules are issued. Comment Date: Written comments will be considered if received on or before October 1, 1979.

ADDRESS: Send written comments to the Office of General Counsel, Bureau of Prisons, Room 910, 320 1st Street, NW., Washington, D.C. 20534.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mike Pearlman, Office of General Counsel, Bureau of Prisons, phone 202/724-3062.

SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION: On May 23, 1977, the Bureau of Prisons published its proposed rules [at 42 FR 26335 et seq.] relating to correspondence. Interested persons were invited to submit comments on the proposed rules. On the basis of comments received and staff review, some changes have been made.

The interim rules provide an inmate with postage sufficient to mail five pieces of first-class domestic mail each month. This clarifies a provision allowing a "reasonable number of letters". It places a specific limit on regular mail, to avoid abuses in volume by a small number of inmates, at taxpayers' expense. Provisions are available for the mailing at government expense of legal mail or administrative remedy appeals, or in verified emergency situations, when the inmate is without funds or sufficient postage. Additional letters may be mailed provided the inmate pays the postage. This revision allows what one commenter calls an inmate's "* * * First Amendment right to mail as many letters as he or she desires if he or she pays the postage".

On July 17, 1978, the Bureau of Prisons published its proposed rules [at 43 FR 30573] relating to Change of Address and Forwarding of Mail for Inmates. Interested persons were invited to submit comments on the proposed rules. On the basis of comments and staff review, changes have been made. Of special note is the inclusion of Change of Address and Forwarding of Mail for Inmates within the scope of the rules on correspondence. This change recognizes Change of Address and Forwarding of Mail as an appropriate component of correspondence.

Many of the changes in the final rules on correspondence are of a minor, technical nature. Significant changes were suggested by comments on the proposed rules. Changes in the rules either clarify prior rule language, relieve restrictions in those rules, or state policy of longstanding application. Correspondence is recognized to be a highly desirable means for many inmates to maintain contact with those in the outside community. The rule content has been very carefully reviewed by staff. Further assessment of the correspondence rules will be conducted in the fall of this year. Comments of the public are invited and will be considered during that assessment.

PART 540—SUBPART A—GENERAL

Summary of Changes

Section 540.2(a) deletes reference to "mail sent through the prisoner's mail box" (PMB), since the Bureau's revised procedure eliminates the need for a PMB in all institutions. The new rule recognizes packages sent through the mail as general correspondence. Proposed §§ 540.2 (b) and (c) become respectively subpart (2) and (1) of § 540.2(a). An amended cross reference to § 540.16 is included in § 540.2(a)(1).

Proposed § 540.2(d), "PMB", is deleted. Proposed § 540.2(e) becomes final § 540.2(c) and is retitled "Special Mail". Agencies within the Department of Justice, specifically listed in the former rules, are now encompassed within the scope of the term "U.S. Department of Justice". Additional persons to whom the inmate may send special mail are "other law enforcement officers" and "attorneys".

A second paragraph is added to § 540.2(c). The contents encompass former § 540.2(g), now deleted, and list incoming correspondence which the Bureau recognizes as special mail. The new rule adds correspondence from "other Federal law enforcement officers" and "President and Vice President of the U.S." as special mail and specifically deletes the Bureau of Prisons from this recognition. This exclusion is made to avoid adding unnecessarily to staff time spent in processing mail. As a result of the aforementioned changes, former § 540.2(f), "Representatives of the News Media", becomes a new § 540.2(b).

PART 540—SUBPART B—CORRESPONDENCE

Summary of Changes

1. Section 540.10—This section was amended to state that regulations in this subpart supplement regulations, generally applicable to mail, issued by the U.S. Postal Service. The word "rehabilitative" is deleted from the new language as the phrase "socially useful goals" is seen as encompassing our intent.

2. Section 540.11—The term "individuals" is substituted for "inmates" in § 540.11(a), since correspondence regulations may affect persons in addition to the inmate. The new rule also incorporates the Bureau's establishment of a security level for each institution and recognizes this as a factor in the issuance of correspondence procedures for the institution. The rule requires the Warden to establish open general correspondence regulations. The final rule deletes that section of the proposed rule pertaining to the Warden's authority to impose restricted general correspondence on an institution without special procedures. There was no perceived need for this provision.

Section 540.11(b) now requires that the inmate be informed of the institution's rules for handling of inmate mail "promptly" after arrival at the institution; the change was made to emphasize the priority attached to this aspect. The notice contained in § 540.11(b) is amended to specify that, if the inmate elects not to receive his general correspondence, the correspondence is returned to the Postal Service, as opposed to the sender. The notice identifies that which is considered special mail, as specified in the second paragraph of final § 540.2(c). Another change in the notice specifies that, when an inmate refuses to sign the form, staff shall advise the inmate that the refusal shall have the same effect as if the inmate had requested his or her correspondence be returned to the Postal Service.

Section 540.11(c) substitutes the more expensive phrase "federal laws" for U.S. Postal Regulations. § 540.11(d) is new and requires that the inmate place his or her name on each outgoing envelope.

3. Section 540.12—§ 540.12, "Notificaton of Rejections" is new and contains notification procedures applicable to all rejected correspondence. Deleted from the final rules are proposed § 540.20 which discussed "exception to notification procedures" and those parts of proposed §§ 540.18(c) and 540.19(c) which discussed rejection of correspondence.

4. Section 540.13—This section was proposed § 540.12. Proposed §§ 540.12 (a) and (b) have been deleted, since the Bureau now provides an inmate with five free postage stamps or the equivalent each month, with additional postage purchased by the inmate. Former subsections (c) and (d) become new subsections (a) and (b). § 540.13(b) is limited to incoming general correspondence. Deleted from the proposed rule is the phrase which allowed incoming mail to be read to "alert the staff to any matter that may help in evaluating the inmate's progress". Subsections 540.13 (c) and (d) are new and discuss outgoing general correspondence in relation to the security level of the institution. Subsection 540.13(e)(1) expands the proposed rule (§ 540.12(e)(1)) by specifying that the Warden may reject correspondence if it contains matter which is nonmailable under law or postal regulations. Subsection (e)(3) is amended to include a cross-reference to § 541.11(d). Subsections (e)(4) through (e)(6) are added as these provisions reflect current Bureau policy and a need for protection of the public and of institutional security. Former subsection (f), which required outgoing correspondence to be written in English, is deleted.

5. Section 540.14—This section was proposed § 540.13. Former subsections (a) and (b) become new subsections (b) and (a) respectively. New § 540.14(a) is amended in several ways. In subsection (a)(1) the cross reference is now § 540.13(e). Proposed § 540.13(b)(2) is deleted as no limit exists on the number of letters mailed by an inmate. Abuse of the mailing privilege, when an inmate was provided unlimited free mailing privilege, was regulated by the proposed requirement as to mailing "an excessive number of letters". Several commenters objected to "excessive number" as being too vague. As noted, a commenter suggested that this presented a First Amendment problem, discouraging voluminous correspondence. The commenter further suggested that this would not be a problem, if an inmate could purchase postage. These rules have been revised to accommodate that suggestion. In this way, a balance is achieved between (1) reasonable limits on the use of public monies for inmate mail, (2) an opportunity for all inmates to have some correspondence even if they lack funds, and (3) an opportunity for the inmate with minimal funds to purchase the postage he wants, to mail any volume of letters. Proposed subsections (b)(3) through (b)(8) are renumbered (a)(2) through (a)(7). § 540.14(c) deletes references to the inmate in admission and orientation and holdover status and to the whole institution being placed on restricted general correspondence. Inmates in admission and orientation now fall within the purview of the same correspondence rules as the general population. Correspondence procedures for inmates in holdover status are described in § 540.15. Reference to the whole institution being placed on restricted correspondence is deleted as there is no perceived need for this provision. Subsections (c)(1) and (c)(2) substitute the word "incident" for "misconduct" to reflect the proper title of the report. A cross-reference in subsection (d) is amended to read §§ 540.15 and 540.16. Subsection (d)(1) is expanded to include siblings as individuals with whom the individual may correspond. This subsection also discusses restrictions on correspondence. Subsection (d)(2) requires prior approval for an inmate to write a proposed correspondent to obtain a release authorizing an investigation. The new rule deletes reference to the investigation being conducted, as this statement adds no new information to the rule. Subsection (d)(3) deletes language pertaining to correspondence with friends, including the provision that the inmate and correspondent have known each other prior to confinement. Correspondence with friends is encompassed within final § 540.14(d)(2). New subsection (d)(3) revises the proposed language to specify threat to the security or good order of the institution or reasonable expectation of criminal activity as a basis for disapproval of an inmate's correspondence with a former business associate. Former subsection (d)(4) is deleted as new § 540.16 discusses Bureau procedure in respect to correspondence between confined inmates.

6. Section 540.15—This section was proposed § 540.14. Proposed subsection (a) is deleted as inmates in admission and orientation status are now recognized as falling within the purview of the general rule on correspondence. "Admission and orientation" is also deleted from the title of § 540.15. Proposed subsection (b) becomes new subsection (a) and is amended to include a definition of the term "holdover". Proposed subsection (c) becomes new subsection (b) and the cross-reference within this section is changed to read § 540.14.

7. Section 540.16—This section was proposed § 540.15. It amends the proposed rule in several ways. The new rule authorizes inmate-to-inmate correspondence with members of the immediate family as opposed to the term "close relatives" specified in the proposed rule. The new language refers to factors that the Warden is to consider prior to approving inmate-to-inmate correspondence in circumstances other than those specifically referred to in the rule. Deleted from the final rule are those portions of proposed subsection (b)(3) which required a relationship between the confined inmates prior to commitment and an acknowledgement that the relationship is beneficial. The new rule specifies that the Wardens of both institutions must approve the correspondence and that correspondence between confined inmates may not be sealed and is subject to inspection and reading by staff at both the sending and receiving institution.

8. Proposed § 540.16, "Prisoner's Mail Box (PMB)", is deleted as Bureau institutions no longer have a PMB.

9. Section 540.17—This section is retitled "Special Mail" to encompass both incoming and outgoing correspondence. Subsection (a) expands the former language to state that incoming special mail is inspected for physical contraband and for the qualification of enclosures as special mail. The new rule states that the correspondence may not be read or copied if the sender has provided adequate identification on the envelope as specified in the rule. Subsections (c) and (d) are new and provide for outgoing special mail to be sealed by the inmate. The rule also requires outgoing special mail to contain a statement (stamped on the back of the envelope) as to the nature of special mail and procedures to follow in the event the recipient wishes further information or clarification on the contents of the letter or in the event that the letter contains an enclosure for forwarding to another addressee.

10. Section 540.18—Proposed subsection (a) is deleted as its provisions are encompassed within new § 540.17. Former subsection (b) becomes new subsection (a). Former subsection (c) becomes new subsection (b) and is revised to state that the inmate is responsible for advising his attorney that the attorney's correspondence is handled as special mail only if marked as specified within the rule. The new rule includes a cross-reference to § 540.17. Reference in the former rule to staff attaching a statement to an inmate's correspondence with the attorney and to disposition of any contraband that may be found in an attorney-to-inmate correspondence is deleted. Former subsection (d) becomes new subsection (c) and amends the cross-reference to read Part 543, Subpart B. A new subsection (d) is added and discusses procedures for an inmate to send mail to an attorney's assistant or to a legal aid student or assistant. Subsection (e) amends the cross-reference within the rule to refer to "paragraph (b) of this section".

11. Section 540.19—Subsection (a) substitutes the term "Special Mail" for "PMB". Subsection (c) amends the former rule by requiring staff to inspect incoming correspondence from representatives of the news media for its qualification as media correspondence. Reference in the former rule to rejection of correspondence from the news media is deleted as this aspect is encompassed within the general context of new § 540.12.

12. Sections 540.20 and 540.21 are new. Section 540.20, "Payment of Postage" authorizes each inmate to receive five postage stamps or the equivalent each month, sufficient to mail five pieces of first class domestic mail. Additional postage charges are borne by the inmate. The rule discusses provisions for the purchase of postage, the conditions under which mail is sent at the government's expense when an inmate is without funds or sufficient postage, and the Bureau's rule when mail is received with postage due. Implementation of this rule recognizes the inmate's right to mail as many letters as he or she wishes, provided the inmate pays the postage. The rule will reduce the significant financial expense incurred by the Bureau paying all postage charges, without placing the total burden on the inmate.

Section 540.21, "Returned Mail", discusses Bureau procedure when undelivered mail is returned to the institution by the Postal Service. It provides for the mail to be inspected by institution staff for contraband prior to its return to the inmate. Special mail which is returned undelivered is opened and inspected for contraband in the presence of the inmate.

13. Section 540.22—This section was originally published in the Federal Register July 17, 1978 (at 43 FR 30576) as Part 540, Subpart G, proposed §§ 540.80–81. As the subject matter relates to mail, it is being included within the rules on correspondence. Several changes have been made in the former rules. Proposed § 540.80 is deleted. Former § 540.81(a) becomes new § 540.22(b) and now states that mail is forwarded in accordance with postal regulations for a period of 90 days, as opposed to 180 days in the proposed rule, after the inmate's release or transfer. 90 days is believed sufficient time for an inmate to notify his or her correspondents of a change in address. The Bureau provides the inmate, prior to his or her release or transfer, with postage-paid change of address cards. The Bureau also will forward the inmate's mail, at no cost to the inmate, for this 90-day period. These steps should ensure that an inmate has adequate opportunity to notify his or her correspondents of a change in address without the inmate experiencing a loss of contact with them. Former §§ 540.81 (b) and (d) become new §§ 540.22(a)(1)–(2). Section 540.22(a)(1) requires staff to provide an inmate with a copy of the receipt form. Deleted from the proposed rule is the reference to mail being returned to the Postal Authorities as this intent is clearly stated in § 540.22(a)(2). Section 540.22(a)(2) further amends the proposed rule to specify that, when an inmate refuses to complete change of address cards during release or transfer processing, staff shall indicate this fact on the cards and deliver these to the institution mail room as opposed to the central file. This provision allows mail room staff to maintain forwarding information, whether in the form of an address or a declination, on each transferred or released inmate.

Former § 540.81(c), which discussed the inmate completing and mailing the change of address cards, is deleted from the rule language since the completion and mailing of these cards are the inmate's decision and not a rule of the Bureau of Prisons.

Other Comments

1. Section 540.2—One comment indicated that legal organizations and federal and state agencies should be added to the list of authorized recipients of PMB (now Special) mail. Inmates may send special mail to an attorney's assistant as indicated in § 540.18. Inmates are not authorized to send special mail to organizations, as opposed to individuals within organizations, due to increased potential for abuse of special mail. The same rationale applies to federal and state agencies. Other comments expressed concern that "representatives of the news media" includes only those papers which qualify to publish legal notices. The rule language does not exclude other representatives but states that a key test to determine whether a newspaper qualifies as a "general circulation" newspaper is whether it qualifies for the purpose of publishing legal notices. The Warden may approve another newspaper which is shown to qualify as a general circulation newspaper in the community in which it is published. Another comment on § 540.2 indicated that all authorized recipients of PMB mail should be able to send "Special Mail". This change is not made, as there are greater security risks and significant administrative burdens with incoming mail, thus requiring greater restrictions. The list of those authorized to send in special mail has, however, been slightly expanded.

2. Section 540.12—One comment favored notice always being given that correspondence is rejected. The only time that this is not done is when to do so would hamper criminal investigations, and this limitation is deemed to be necessary.

3. Section 540.13—Several comments on former §§ 540.11–12 attacked provisions authorizing the Bureau to read and inspect incoming and outgoing general correspondence and to reject correspondence according to factors identified in former § 540.12(e). The Bureau has changed the regulations concerning outgoing mail as noted in the summary of changes. The Bureau retains the authority to read and inspect incoming general correspondence (and, as specified in the rule, outgoing general correspondence) in order to preserve security and good order (e.g., to prevent escapes or to prevent money procured illegally from being sent out of the institution or to prevent drugs or other contraband from being sent into the institution). These correctional interests would not be totally met by only subjecting incoming or outgoing correspondence to fluoroscopic or other exterior inspections or by opening this correspondence only on the basis of probable cause that it contains material enumerated in subsection (e). Money, which is contraband, could not be detected through that means or standard. Several comments were directed particularly at the prohibition of an inmate running a business while incarcerated. In addition to the virtual physical impossibility of establishing procedures for inmates to continue their business while confined, the Bureau considers this prohibition to be an inherent punitive aspect of imprisonment, contemplated by any court within a sentence of confinement. Further, conducting a business would present an equal protection and treatment problem, inevitably allowing some (particularly white collar) offenders to continue their business while confined, while others would of necessity be cut off from their regular employment by the fact of confinement.

A commenter suggested that the Bureau provide inmates with copies of all pertinent correspondence rules and regulations published by the U.S. Postal Service. While § 540.10 incorporates a cross-reference to 39 CFR, Chapter 1, which pertains to regulations generally applicable to mail issued by the Postal Service, it is considered impractical to provide inmates with current copies of all postal regulations. A common sense approach on the part of the inmate (as with the general public) and adherence to Bureau rules on correspondence, which are available to the inmate, should eliminate the possibility of violation of postal regulations.

Another comment objected to the provision that authorized the Warden (§ 540.13(a)) to limit the number of incoming letters an inmate may receive when this number places an unreasonable burden on the institution. The Bureau does not see this, from its experience, as a frequent occurrence, but considers retention of this provision necessary to protect the security and good order of the institution (for example, when incoming mail is sent from persons not directly known by the inmate and is sent in such quantity as to delay staff's processing of mail for other inmates, thereby creating a potentially disruptive situation for the institution).

4. Section 540.14—Several comments attacked the provisions contained in subsections (a) and (b) as vague and overbroad. These regulations were drafted in broad language to give Wardens maximum discretion within constitutional boundaries. It was felt impossible to clearly delineate every situation which might justify placing an inmate on restricted general correspondence. Instead, the Bureau relies on its Wardens to apply these provisions prudently and only when necessary to ensure the security or good order of the institution or to further treatment of the inmate. In practice, the Wardens have used the guidelines prudently. Other comments questioned the wisdom of restricting correspondence due to some sort of misconduct. The Bureau's new rule on inmate discipline (Part 541, Subpart B) suggests this restriction is most appropriate when the actual misconduct involves a misuse of the mail. Another comment was that "the categories of correspondents and the criteria for permitting correspondence with each category are wholly unrelated to the criteria * * * for placing a prisoner on 'restricted general correspondence' ". A restricted list identifies persons with whom an inmate may immediately correspond. The Warden may conduct an investigation of other persons requested by the inmate, prior to their placement on the restricted correspondence list. The relationship of the correspondent categories to the restricted correspondence criteria is considered ample and necessary to protect the Bureau's interests. The Bureau considers this review action necessary for persons placed on restricted general correspondence in order to protect the security and good order of the institution and to protect the public.

5. Section 540.17—A commenter objected to the Bureau's requirement that special mail, in order to be so identified, must have specific identification on the envelope. The Bureau recognizes various types of correspondence as special mail, and to ensure appropriate recognition by staff it is appropriate to require that such mail carry some outward identification. This is a minimal burden on correspondents, resulting in significant administrative advantage in speeding up the accurate processing of mail.

6. Section 540.19—Commenters objected to the exclusion of incoming correspondence from the news media from receiving recognition as special mail. The Bureau recognizes greater security risks relative to incoming mail, thus requiring greater restrictions. The Bureau does not recognize correspondence from the news media as having the same qualifications for recognition as privileged or protected mail as that afforded correspondence from attorneys and specific agencies of the government. Another comment contended that the provisions of § 540.19(b), barring confined inmates from acting as a reporter or publishing under a byline, involved an unjustified deprivation of First Amendment rights. However, such activities can result in an inmate obtaining a disproportionate prominence and influence among other prisoners which can pose a serious threat to the order of the institution. Further, it can result in an inmate using his confined situation, and information gained thereby, to conduct a business. For reasons stated above, conducting of a business is improper in a prison setting.

Conclusion

Accordingly, pursuant to the rulemaking authority vested in the Attorney General in 5 USC 552(a) and delegated to the Director of the Bureau of Prisons in 28 CFR 0.96(t), 28 CFR Chapter V is amended as set forth below. The effective date of these rules is July 1, 1979.

Norman A. Carlson,
Director, Bureau of Prisons.

Subpart A—General

§ 540.2 Definitions.

(a) "General Correspondence" means incoming or outgoing correspondence other than "special mail". "General Correspondence" includes packages sent through the mail.

(1) "Open General Correspondence" means general correspondence which is not limited to a list of authorized correspondents, except as provided in § 540.16.

(2) "Restricted General Correspondence" means general correspondence which is limited to a list of authorized correspondents.

(b) "Representatives of the News Media" means persons whose principal employment is to gather or report news for:

(1) A newspaper which qualifies as a general circulation newspaper in the community in which it is published. A newspaper is one of "general circulation" if it circulates among the general public and if it publishes news of a general character of general interest. A key test to determine whether a newspaper qualifies as a

"general circulation" newspaper is to determine whether the paper qualifies for the purpose of publishing legal notices in the community in which it is located or the area to which it distributes. It is generally held that for a newspaper to be considered, by law, a newspaper of general circulation, and so be qualified to publish legal notices, it must contain items of general interest to the public such as news of political, religious, commercial or social affairs;

(2) A news magazine which has a national circulation and is sold by newsstands and by mail subscription to the general public;

(3) A national or international news service; or

(4) A radio or television news program of a station holding a Federal Communications Commission license.

(c) "Special Mail" means correspondence sent to the following: President and Vice President of the U.S., the U.S. Department of Justice (including the Bureau of Prisons), U.S. Attorneys Offices, Surgeon General, U.S. Public Health Service, Secretary of the Army, Navy, or Air Force, U.S. Courts including U.S. Probation Officers, Members of the U.S. Congress, Embassies and Consulates, Governors, State Attorneys General, Prosecuting Attorneys, Directors of State Departments of Corrections, State Parole Commissioners, State Legislators, State Courts, State Probation Officers, other law enforcement officers, attorneys, and representatives of the news media. "Special Mail" also includes correspondence received from the following: President and Vice President of the U.S., attorneys, Members of the U.S. Congress, Embassies and Consulates, the U.S. Department of Justice (excluding the Bureau of Prisons), other Federal law enforcement officers, State Attorneys General, Prosecuting Attorneys, Governors, U.S. Courts, and State Courts.

Subpart B—Correspondence

§ 540.10 Purpose and scope.

The Bureau of Prisons encourages correspondence that is directed to socially useful goals. The Warden shall establish correspondence procedures for inmates in each institution, as authorized and suggested in this rule. Regulations contained in this subpart supplement regulations generally applicable to mail, issued by the United States Postal Service (See 39 CFR, Chapter I).

§ 540.11 Control and procedures.

(a) The Warden shall establish and exercise controls to protect individuals, and the security, discipline and good order of the institution. The size, complexity and security level of the institution, the degree of sophistication of the inmates confined, and other variables require flexibility in correspondence procedures. All Wardens shall establish open general correspondence procedures.

(b) Staff shall inform each inmate in writing promptly after arrival at an institution of that institution's rules for handling of inmate mail. This notice includes the following statement:

The staff of each institution of the Bureau of Prisons has the authority to open all mail addressed to you before it is delivered to you if you elect to receive all mail. "Special Mail" (mail from President and Vice President of the U.S., attorneys, Members of the U.S. Congress, Embassies and Consulates, the U.S. Department of Justice (excluding the Bureau of Prisons), other Federal law enforcement officers, State Attorneys General, Prosecuting Attorneys, Governors, U.S. Courts and State Courts) may be opened only in your presence to be checked for contraband. This procedure occurs only if the sender adequately identifies himself on the envelope and the envelope is marked "Special Mail—Open Only in the Presence of the Inmate". Other mail may be opened and read by the staff.

If you do not want your general correspondence opened and read, the Bureau will return it to the Postal Service. This means that you will not receive such mail. You must choose whether you want your general correspondence opened, read, and delivered to you, or returned. Whatever your choice, special mail will be delivered to you, after it is opened in your presence and checked for contraband. You can make your choice by signing Part I or Part II.

PART I—GENERAL CORRESPONDENCE TO BE RETURNED TO THE POSTAL SERVICE

I have read the notice regarding mail. I do not want my general correspondence opened and read. I understand that this means that my general correspondence will be returned to the Postal Service. I also understand that special mail will be delivered to me, after it is opened in my presence and checked for contraband.

PART II—GENERAL CORRESPONDENCE TO BE OPENED, READ, AND DELIVERED

I have read the notice regarding mail. I wish to have my general correspondence delivered to me. I understand that this means the Bureau staff may open and read my general correspondence. I also understand that special mail will be delivered to me, after it is opened in my presence and checked for contraband.

(c) Staff shall inform an inmate that letters placed in the U.S. Mail are placed there at the request of the inmate and he must assume responsibility for the contents of each letter. Correspondence containing threats, extortion, etc. may result in prosecution for violation of federal laws. When such material is discovered, the inmate may be subject to disciplinary action, the written material may be copied, and all material may be referred to the appropriate law enforcement agency for prosecution.

(d) An inmate shall place his or her name on each outgoing envelope.

§ 540.12 Notification of rejections.

When correspondence is rejected because of content, the Warden shall notify the sender in writing of the rejection and the reasons for the rejection. The Warden shall also give notice that the sender may appeal the rejection. The Warden shall also notify an inmate of the rejection of any letter addressed to him, along with the reasons for the rejection and notify him of the right to appeal the rejection. The Warden shall refer an appeal to an official other than the one who originally disapproved the correspondence. The Warden shall return rejected correspondence to the sender unless the correspondence includes plans for or discussion of commission of a crime or evidence of a crime, in which case there is no need to return the correspondence or give notice of the rejection, and the correspondence should be referred to appropriate law enforcement authorities. Also, contraband need not be returned to the sender.

§ 540.13 General correspondence.

(a) The Warden may not limit the number of incoming letters an inmate may receive unless the number received places an unreasonable burden on the institution.

(b) Institution staff shall open and inspect all incoming general correspondence. Incoming general correspondence may be read as frequently as deemed necessary to maintain security or monitor a particular problem confronting an inmate.

(c) Outgoing mail in Security Level I, II, III, and of pretrial detainees in all institutions may be sealed by the inmate and is sent out unopened and uninspected. Staff may open an inmate's outgoing general correspondence:

(1) If there is reason to believe it would interfere with the orderly running of the institution, that it would be threatening to the recipient, or that it would facilitate criminal activity;

(2) If the inmate is on a restricted correspondence list; or

(3) If the correspondence is between inmates. (See § 540.18)

(d) Outgoing mail in Security Level IV, V, and VI and administrative institutions, except "Special Mail", will not be sealed by the inmate and may be inspected and read by staff.

(e) The Warden may reject correspondence sent by or to an inmate if it contains any of the following:

(1) Matter which is nonmailable under law or postal regulations;

(2) Information of escape plots, of plans to commit illegal activities, or to violate institution rules;

(3) Direction of an inmate's business (see § 541.11(d), Prohibited Act No. 408). An inmate, unless he is a pretrial detainee, may not direct a business while confined. This does not, however, prohibit correspondence necessary to enable an inmate to protect property and funds that were legitimately his at the time of commitment. Thus, for example, an inmate may correspond about refinancing a mortgage on his home or sign insurance papers, but he may not operate a mortgage or insurance business while in the institution.

(4) Clear harassment of a member of the public, including invasion of privacy;

(5) A code; or

(6) Contraband (See § 500.1—An example of contraband is a package received without prior authorization by the Warden).

§ 540.14 Restricted general correspondence.

(a) The Warden may place an inmate on restricted general correspondence based on misconduct or as a matter of classification. Determining factors include the inmate's:

(1) Involvement in any of the activities listed in § 540.13(e);

(2) Attempting regularly to correspond with persons or businesses where the addressee is known by the inmate only through such sources as advertisements in newspapers, magazines, telephone directories, etc.;

(3) Being a security risk;

(4) Threatening a government official;

(5) Having committed an offense involving the mail;

(6) Having participated in major criminal activity of a sophisticated nature; or

(7) Notoriety or being highly publicized.

(b) The Warden may limit to a reasonable number persons on the approved restricted general correspondence list of an inmate.

(c) The Warden shall utilize one of the following procedures before placing an inmate on restricted general correspondence.

(1) Where the restriction will be based upon an incident report, procedures must be followed in accordance with inmate disciplinary regulations (Part 541 of this chapter).

(2) Where there is no incident report, the Warden:

(i) Shall advise the inmate in writing of the reasons the inmate is to be placed on restricted general correspondence;

(ii) Shall give the inmate the opportunity to respond to the classification or change in classification; the inmate has the option to respond orally or to submit written information or both; and

(iii) Shall notify the inmate of the decision and the reasons, and shall advise the inmate of the Administrative Remedy Procedure.

(d) When an inmate is placed on restricted general correspondence, the inmate may, except as provided in §§ 540.15 and 540.16:

(1) Correspond with his spouse, mother, father, children, and siblings, unless the correspondent is involved in a violation of correspondence regulations or would be a threat to the security or good order of the institution;

(2) Request other persons also to be placed on the approved correspondence list, subject to investigation, evaluation, and approval by the Warden; with prior approval, the inmate may write to a proposed correspondent to obtain a release authorizing an investigation; and

(3) Correspond with former business associates, unless it appears to the Warden that the proposed correspondent would be a threat to the security or good order of the institution, or that the resulting correspondence could reasonably be expected to result in criminal activity. Correspondence with former business associates is limited to social matters.

(e) The Warden may allow an inmate additional correspondence with persons other than those on his approved mailing list when the correspondence is shown to be necessary and does not require an addition to the mailing list because it is not of an ongoing nature.

(a) The Warden shall permit an inmate in holdover status (i.e., en route to a designated institution) to have correspondence privileges similar to those of other inmates insofar as practical.

(b) The Warden shall permit an inmate in segregation to have full correspondence privileges unless placed on restricted general correspondence under § 540.14.

§ 540.16 Correspondence between confined inmates.

An inmate may be permitted to correspond with an inmate confined in another penal or correctional institution, providing the other inmate is either a member of the immediate family, or is a party or a witness in a legal action in which both inmates are involved. The Warden may approve such correspondence in other exceptional circumstances, with particular regard to the security level of the institution, the nature of the relationship between the two inmates, and whether the inmate has other regular correspondence. The following additional limitations apply:

(a) Such correspondence may always be inspected and read by staff at the sending and receiving institutions (it may not be sealed by the inmate);

(b) The Wardens of both institutions must approve of the correspondence.

§ 540.17 Special mail.

(a) The Warden shall open incoming special mail only in the presence of the inmate for inspection for physical contraband and the qualification of any enclosures as special mail. The correspondence may not be read or copied if the sender has adequately identified himself on the envelope, and the envelope is marked "Special Mail—Open Only in the Presence of the Inmate".

(b) In the absence of adequate identification appearing on the envelope, staff may treat the mail as general correspondence and may open, inspect, and read the mail.

(c) Outgoing special mail may be sealed by the inmate and is not subject to inspection. The Warden, in Security Level IV, V, and VI and administrative institutions, may set aside special mail boxes for the use of inmates, to facilitate the separation and mailing of outgoing special mail.

(d) Each institution shall have a stamp made that includes the following statement: "The enclosed letter was processed through special mailing procedures for forwarding to you. The letter has been neither opened nor inspected. If the writer raises a question or problem over which this facility has jurisdiction, you may wish to return the material for further information or clarification. If the writer encloses correspondence for forwarding to another addressee, please return the enclosure to the above address".

(a) Staff shall mark each envelope to show the date and time of receipt, the date and time the letter is delivered to an inmate and opened in his presence, and the name of the staff member who delivered the letter.

(b) The inmate is responsible for advising his attorney that correspondence will be handled as special mail only if the envelope is marked with the attorney's name and an indication he is an attorney. Legal mail will be opened in accordance with special mail procedures (see § 540.17).

(c) Grounds for the limitation or denial of an attorney's correspondence rights or privileges are stated in Part 543, Subpart B. If such action is taken, the Warden shall give notice to the attorney and the inmate affected.

(d) In order to send mail to an attorney's assistant or to a legal aid student or assistant, an inmate shall address the mail to the attorney or legal aid supervisor, or the legal organization or firm, to the attention of the student or assistant.

(e) Mail to an inmate from an attorney's assistant or legal aid student or assistant, in order to be identified and treated by staff as special mail, must be properly identified on the envelope as required in paragraph (b) of this section, and must be marked on the envelope as being mail from the attorney or from the legal aid supervisor.

(a) An inmate may write through "Special Mail" to representatives of the news media specified by name or title (see § 540.2(b)).

(b) The inmate may not receive compensation or anything of value for correspondence with the news media. The inmate may not act as reporter or publish under a byline.

(c) Representatives of the news media may initiate correspondence with an inmate. Staff shall open incoming correspondence from representatives of the media and inspect for contraband, for its qualification as media correspondence, and for content which is likely to promote either illegal activity or conduct contrary to Bureau regulations.

§ 540.20 Payment of postage.

(a) Each inmate shall receive five postage stamps, or the equivalent, each month, sufficient to mail five pieces of first-class domestic mail, weighing one ounce or less. Additional postage charges are borne by the inmate. Postage shall be available for purchase in the inmate commissary. Writing paper and envelopes are provided at no cost to the inmate. Inmates who have verified correspondents in foreign countries may be provided postage for foreign mail in lieu of the domestic allowance. Inmate organizations will purchase their own postage.

(b) When an inmate is without funds or sufficient postage and wishes to mail legal mail or Administrative Remedy Appeal forms, such mail is sent at government expense. Mailing at government expense is also allowed for necessary correspondence in verified emergency situations for inmates without funds or sufficient postage.

(c) Mail received with postage due may not be delivered to the inmate until he or she has authorized withdrawal of funds from his or her commissary account to pay the postage due.

(d) Holdovers and pretrial commitments will be provided a reasonable number of letters at government expense.

§ 540.21 Returned mail.

Staff shall open and inspect for contraband all undelivered mail returned to an institution by the Post Office before returning it to the inmate. The purpose of this inspection is to determine if the content originated with the inmate sender identified on the letter or package; to prevent the transmission of material, substances and property which an inmate is not permitted to possess in the institution; and to determine that the mail was not opened or tampered with before its return to the institution. Any remailing is at the inmate's expense. Any returned mail qualifying as "Special mail" is opened and inspected for contraband in the inmate's presence.

§ 540.22 Change of address and forwarding of mail for inmates.

(a) Staff shall provide change of address cards, in accordance with the following procedures, to an inmate who is scheduled for release or transfer.

(1) At least one day prior to an inmate's release or transfer, staff shall give the inmate as many change of address cards as the inmate requires. Staff shall have the inmate sign a receipt for the change of address cards. If the inmate refuses to sign a form acknowledging receipt of the cards, staff shall note the reason, sign and date the receipt form and forward it to the inmate's central file. A copy of the receipt form is provided to the inmate.

(2) An inmate to be transferred or released must complete two change of address cards during release or transfer processing for use by the institution for forwarding mail. If the inmate refuses, staff shall record the refusal on the cards and deliver these to the institution mail room. Where there is no forwarding address, staff shall return the mail to the postal authorities for their disposition.

(b) Staff shall maintain forwarding addresses for a transferred or released inmate for a period of 90 days after the action, and forward the inmate's mail in accordance with postal regulations to the appropriate destination. Staff shall return mail, received after 90 days from the date of the transfer or release, to the postal authorities for their disposition.

7 CFR Part 1948

Section 601 Energy Impacted Area Development Assistance Program

AGENCY: Farmers Home Administration, USDA.

ACTION: Final rule.

SUMMARY: The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) issues final regulations to provide assistance to areas impacted by increased coal or uranium production, processing or transportation. This action is taken to implement a public law.

EFFECTIVE DATE: June 19, 1979.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION CONTACT: Mr. Paul R. Kugler, 202–447–2573.

SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION: On page 12936 of the Federal Register for Thursday, March 8, 1979, the Farmers Home Administration published a notice of proposed rulemaking regarding addition of a new Subpart B, "Section 601 Energy Impacted Area Development Assistance Program," to Part 1948, Chapter XVIII, Title 7 in the Code of Federal Regulations. This action is taken to implement Pub. L. 95–620. Numerous comments have been accepted and analyzed and are discussed below. Public meetings were held to receive comments on these regulations on March 28, 1979, in Lexington, Kentucky; on March 30, 1979, in Charleston, West Virginia; on April 9, 1979, in Albuquerque, New Mexico; on April 11, 1979, in Denver, Colorado; and April 17, 1979, in Bismarck, North Dakota. Statements given at these public meetings have also been analyzed and are discussed below.

FmHA received 142 written responses to the March 8, 1979 publication as of May 8, 1979. These comments, along with the comments received at the public meetings, were seriously considered and were the basis of several changes in the final regulations.

Numerous comments were received expressing concern that the regulations as proposed were excessively lengthy, unclear in some sections, and unduly complicated. Numerous concerns were also expressed regarding the burden of documentation placed on State and local governments by the proposed regulations. In response to these comments, FmHA has reorganized, clarified, and simplified the regulations to the greatest extent possible. Requirements for documentation have been reduced to the minimum required by legislation wherever possible.

Major comments and changes are noted below:

§ 1948.51 Comments were received regarding application of the program in areas other than those impacted by increased coal and uranium production, processing and transportation activities.

FmHA believes the scope of the program in the proposed regulations accurately reflects the intent of the Congress.

§ 1948.52 Comments were received reflecting concern that the objectives of the program did not clearly state whether funding actually was available for construction purposes. This section has been reworded to clarify the program objectives.

§ 1948.53(c) The use of the base year as proposed has been determined to be inappropriate by the Comptroller General of the United States. FmHA has changed the regulations to reflect the ruling by the Comptroller General. The use of the term "base year" has been eliminated. A new section , § 1948.53(c) has been added to clarify the meaning of the term coal.

§ 1948.53(d)(1) A number of comments were received requesting that a section be added that would explicitly cover the inclusion of the generation of electricity at the mine-mouth. FmHA believes that such mine-mouth generation is not an eligible activity. Comments were received requesting the addition of secondary production activities as eligible within this definition. FmHA believes this inclusion would be inconsistent with Pub. L. 95–620.

§ 1948.53(d)(2) Comments were received requesting the inclusion of construction activities, and other operations relating to research, concerning the production of new fuel sour es. FmHA believes that these activities are covered under the current definition as long as the basic raw material being processed is coal or uranium or a derivative thereof.

§ 1948.53(d)(3) Comments were received indicating that the definition of transportation was too broad and ambiguous. This definition has been reworded to reflect comments received.

§ 1948.53(f) Comments were received suggesting changes in this definition to more accurately reflect the legislative definition. FmHA has changed this definition in response to those comments.

§ 1948.53(g) Comments were received requesting that this definition be expanded to include auxiliary work relating to coal and uranium development activities. FmHA interprets Pub. L. 95–620 as applying only to employment directly related to coal and uranium development activities. The definition has been reworded for clarity.

§ 1948.53(h) Comments were received requesting that mine-mouth generation plants be specifically included as eligible employment facilities. FmHA believes that Pub. L. 95–620 will not allow their inclusion.

§ 1948.53(l) Comments were received requesting clarification of the meaning of growth management planning. FmHA believes that §§ 1948.78 and 1948.82 currently provide the desired clarification.

§ 1948.53(n) One comment received reflected the concern that these reports can only be requested by a Governor after the area has been designated and approved and that the reports might be needed prior to that time. Pub. L. 95–620 states that industry reports may be requested by a Governor only after the area has been designated and approved.

§ 1948.53(o) Comments were received requesting that the restriction of "power to levy taxes" be removed from the definition. FmHA has removed this restriction in response to these comments. Comments were received requesting that public nonprofit organizations formed for special purposes by local governments be included in this definition. FmHA has included these entities in the definition in response to these comments. Comments were received requesting the inclusion of Indian tribes within the definition of local governments. FmHA believes that Pub. L. 95–620 is intended to restrict the definition of local governments to governments which are political subdivisions of States.

§ 1948.53(s) This section has been renumbered to § 1948.53(t). A new section § 1948.53(s) has been added to define "site" for clarification and the definition of site acquisition has been reworded for clarification. Comments were received questioning whether right-of-way acquisition for public facilities services were covered under this definition. FmHA interprets this definition as it appears in the final regulations as including acquisition of rights-of-way.

§ 1948.53(t) This section has been renumbered to § 1948.53(u). Comments were received requesting the inclusion of the improvement of existing water and waste disposal systems within this definition. Pub. L. 95–620 expressly prohibits the improvement of existing public facilities as an eligible activity under this program. Existing water and sewer lines may be replaced or rehabilitated only as is necessary to supply these services to new sites for housing and public facilities developed under the provisions of this subpart.

§ 1948.53(w) This section has been renumbered to § 1948.53(x). Comments were received requesting the inclusion of "with cooperation of any Federally recognized tribes within such areas." Governors may within their authority cooperate with Indian tribes and other entities which may be included within a designated area; therefore, FmHA does not feel it is necessary to make special mention of any of the entities with which a Governor may choose to cooperate. At the discretion of the Governor, Indian tribal needs may be included within the State Investment Strategy for Energy Impacted Areas provided other program requirements are met.

§ 1948.57 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.54. A number of comments have been received requesting the inclusion of the following additional types of entities as eligible applicants: Indian tribes, private nonprofit organizations, private for-profit organizations, and Title V Regional Commissions. Pub. L. 95–620 restricts eligibility for assistance to States, councils of local government, and local governments. Comments were received requesting eligibility for certain public nonprofit organizations. The eligibility of organizations has been established in the definitions under § 1948.53, paragraphs (o) and (w). Comments were received requesting that eligibility for planning grants be restricted to those organizations identified by the Governors in their designations as approved planning agencies for the various designated areas. FmHA believes that this restriction of eligible applicants cannot be made.

§ 1948.58 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.55. Comments were received expressing concern that 10 percent of all funds appropriated for and allotted to this program were required to be used for planning. FmHA has changed this section in response to these comments.

§ 1948.59 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.57 and retitled "Eligible activities." This section has been reorganized for clarification and shortened to eliminate duplication. Comments received recommended the combination of site development and site acquisition eligible activities. FmHA has combined these sections in response to comments. Comments were received requesting the inclusion of construction or rehabilitation of various public facilities as eligible activities. Pub. L. 95–620 expressly forbids these activities under this program. Comments were received requesting the inclusion of administrative costs as eligible expenses under site development and acquisition grants. Costs allowed under FMC 74–4 may be eligible.

§ 1948.60 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.56 and retitled "Program purposes." This section has been expanded to include references to direct land acquisition by FmHA and condemnation of land by the Secretary of Agriculture for the purpose of providing a better overall view of the program.

§ 1948.62 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.59. This section has been shortened and clarified to eliminate duplication. A number of comments were received requesting that repair and rehabilitation of housing and public facilities be eligible activities. Comments were received requesting the elimination of administrative expenses as ineligible activities under grants for site development and acquisition. FmHA believes that it was not the intent of Congress for these activities to be eligible under site development and acquisition grants.

§ 1948.70 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.66. Comments were received regarding the A–95 review process and recommendations were received that this process be eliminated due to the short time involved in the fiscal year 1979 funding cycle. OMB Circular A–95 requires review of applications for these grants.

§ 1948.72 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.67. Comments were received expressing concern that the requirement for local governments to provide information for designation was unduly burdensome to local governments. FmHA has removed this requirement in response to these comments. Comments were received requesting that authority be given to officials other than the Governor to make designations. Pub. L. 95–620 specifically identifies the Governor of the appropriate State as the designating authority. Comments were received requesting that the boundaries of designated areas be the same as the boundaries of substate districts. The boundary lines of substate districts are drawn in response to concerns other than energy impact. Therefore, FmHA believes the Governor should have the latitude to define the energy impacted area in accordance with the socioeconomic impacts that are occurring due to coal or uranium development activities. Where such impact occurs throughout the area served by a substate district, the Governor may choose to define the area's boundaries as coterminous with the boundaries of the substate districts. A comment was received requesting additional language prohibiting a Governor from arbitrarily drawing the boundary of energy impacted areas for purposes of discrimination against minorities. FmHA believes that these considerations will be reflected in the designation approval process conducted by the Secretary of Energy and a specific reference to activities of this type is unnecessary. Comments were received expressing concern over areas where employee residence and place of employment are located in two different States. FmHA has provided for situations of this nature in § 1948.68(c).

§§ 1948.73 and .74 These two sections have been combined into § 1948.68 and retitled "Criteria for designation and submission of designation," in response to comments received requesting simplification and elimination of duplication.

§ 1948.73(a) Comments were received suggesting that employment within related industry should be included as eligible under this section. Pub. L. 95–620 expressly limits eligible employment to employment directly related to coal and uranium development activities. Requests were made that FmHA identify standard data sources which would be acceptable under this section. It is the intention of FmHA that the Governor of the appropriate State select the data source which the Governor believes most accurately reflects the impact conditions within the State. Reference to "base year" have been eliminated in this section in response to the ruling of the Comptroller General.

§ 1948.73(b) Comments were received concerning typographical errors in this section. These have been eliminated in the final regulations.

§ 1948.73(c) Comments were received stating that this section was too burdensome and restrictive. FmHA has changed this section to a suggested list of sources for available financial resources which the Governor should examine if data presently exists that will enable the Governor to do so. Section 1948.73(c)(8) has been renumbered to § 1948.68(a)(3)(viii) and has been reworded for clarification in response to comments received.

§ 1948.74(a) FmHA has eliminated the requirement that maps for whole counties of designated energy impacted areas be submitted with a designation. This was done in order to reduce the data burden on the States.

§ 1948.74(c) FmHA has eliminated this section in response to comments indicating that it was duplicative.

§ 1948.74(d) This section has been eliminated and partially replaced by § 1948.68(d) in the interest of clarification and reduction of burden upon the States.

§ 1948.74(e) This section has been eliminated in response to comments indicating that it would reduce the burden of designation on the States.

§ 1948.74(f) This section has been eliminated and replaced by § 1948.68(f)(4) in response to comments received.

§ 1948.74(g) A number of comments were received stating that this section was unduly burdensome on the States and in response to these comments, FmHA has eliminated this section.

§ 1948.74(h) This section has been renumbered to § 1948.68(c). FmHA has added a new § 1948.68(e) due to comments received. FmHA has added new §§ 1948.68 (f) and (g) in the interest of a more expedient flow of information. FmHA has added a new § 1948.68(g) in order to relax the timetable for action by States in making designations. This action was taken in response to numerous comments received stating that the time period for States to complete their designations and be eligible for fiscal year 1979 funding was too short.

§ 1948.75 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.70. Comments were received requesting that the Secretary of Energy consider other socioeconomic factors than those listed in the designation criteria in approval of the designation made by the Governor of a State. FmHA can find no basis in Pub. L. 95–620 for a more detailed socioeconomic analysis than is required for the compliance with the designation criteria as they appear in the final regulations.

§ 1948.76 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.72. Comments were received on this section requesting that a copy of all reports submitted to the Secretary of Energy be forwarded to the Governor who requested the report by the person filing the report. Pub. L. 95–620 states that: "Copies of the report shall be provided to the Secretary of Energy and the Secretary shall, subject to the provisions of section 11(d) of the Energy Supply and Environmental Coordination Act of 1974, provide the report to the Secretary of Agriculture, the Governor, and the appropriate county or local officials and make it available for public review."

§ 1948.77 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.73 and combined with section 1948.86. A large number of comments were received on these sections. These comments reflected concern that a large number of factors were being used to allocate funds, and that data for some of these factors might not be available at the time of allocation. A number of comments suggested alternative ways of allocating funds. This section has been completely rewritten reflecting these concerns and maintaining consistency with Pub. L. 95–620. The date of allocation of funds has been moved forward to allow the submission of State Investment Strategies for Energy Impacted Areas prior to the allocation of funds in order to eliminate data problems. Comments were received expressing concern that 10 percent of the funds were being reserved for planning. This reservation has been changed but the Pub. L. 95–620 requirement that 10 percent of all funds be the maximum allowable percentage used for planning will be maintained. Comments were received requesting that all planning funds for a State be granted to a single State agency and allowing that agency to subcontract with other planning agencies within the State. FmHA believes that the system of making grants both to States and other eligible applicants within approved designated areas within the State will maintain the best accountability for the program as mandated by the Congress in Pub. L. 95–620. Joint applications between a State agency and other planning agencies within a State will be considered for funding by FmHA.

§ 1948.82 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.79. Comments were received reflecting concern that the process outlined in this section was too burdensome and time consuming. FmHA believes that this section complies with existing public law and agency regulations. Comments were received reflecting concerns that the preapplications and applications were filed with FmHA rather than with the Governors of the various States. FmHA has changed this section to require that a copy of all the preapplications and applications filed be submitted to the Governors of the appropriate States. Direct administration is placed on the FmHA by Pub. L. 95–620; therefore, it is the position of FmHA that all original preapplications for assistance under this program be filed with FmHA and that all approval of assistance granted under this program rest with the FmHA.

§ 1948.83 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.80. A number of comments were received concerning this section. FmHA has rewritten this section to reflect these comments. Specific changes are outlined below. New sections 1948.80(b) and (c) have been added in compliance with Pub. L. 95–620. Section 1948.83(c) has been eliminated in response to these comments. Section 1948.83(b) has been renumbered 1948.80(d). Section 1948.83(d) has been eliminated in response to comments received. A new § 1948.80(e) has been added concerning the appropriateness of the project to the needs of the area. A new § 1948.80(f) has been added for assessing the need for planning. Comments were received requesting that FmHA consider the Governor's recommended level of funding for each planning project. This consideration has been added in § 1948.80(d). Questions were asked regarding the appropriateness of using consultant firms for the preparation of growth management and housing plans under this section. It is the position of FmHA that the Congressional intent for this program is to build planning capacity to the State and local level to deal with the adverse effects of energy development. Consulting firms, in the opinion of FmHA, should be used for technical aspects of planning, but primary responsibility for the preparation of growth management and housing plans should remain with staff directly under control of responsible elected officials at the State, council of local government, and local level whenever possible.

§ 1948.84 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.78. Comments were received indicating that FmHA was not giving full consideration to existing plans for growth management and housing. A new § 1948.78(a) has been added to emphasize the use of existing plans to meet planning requirements in this program. Comments were received reflecting concern that the Governors were not given a strong enough role for coordination and planning. A new section 1948.78(c) has been added to strengthen the Governor's role in coordination and planning with a State. Section 1948.84(d) has been renumbered to § 1948.78(f) and modified to require submission of the State Investment Strategy for Energy Impacted Areas to the appropriate A–95 clearinghouse for comment. This classification was made in response to comments received concerning this section. Comments were received requesting a detailed explanation of the requirement for maximum possible citizen involvement in the plan. The purpose of this requirement is to ensure that citizens be allowed to participate in this process to the degree to which they desire to do so. The planning process should be open and provision for interaction among citizens and officials responsible for planning preparation should be made.

§ 1948.85 This section has been divided and renumbered to §§ 1948.81 and 1948.82. § 1948.81 describes the components required for the State Investment Strategy for Energy Impacted Areas. § 1948.82 covers the process by which planning and State investment strategies will be approved by FmHA. Specific changes in this section are outlined below. Comments were received stating that § 1948.85(a)(3) and (4) required a more detailed analysis than is likely to be present in existing plans. The language in these sections has been modified to require only a brief description of socioeconomic impacts, and these subsections have been renumbered to § 1948.82(a)(3) and (4). FmHA has added an exception provision § 1948.82(e) to accommodate the use of existing plans in fiscal year 1979. Section 1948.85(a)(5) has been eliminated to avoid duplication. Section 1948.85(a)(7), (8) and (9) have been eliminated in order to reduce the planning burden on State and local government in response to comments received. Section 1948.85(a)(10)(v) has been eliminated in response to comments requesting that the planning burden on State and local government be reduced. Section 1948.85(a)(13), (14), (15) and (16) have been eliminated in response to comments requesting the elimination of the planning burden on State and local government. Comments were received reflecting concern that the Governor would have to submit to FmHA for approval all plans which the Governor has received. Other comments were received stating that the Governor's role in plan approval was not as strong as envisioned in Pub. L. 95–620. As a matter of clarification, the final regulations require the Governor to submit to FmHA for approval only those plans which the Governor believes are appropriate. The State Investment Strategy for Energy Impacted Areas will cover only those plans which the Governor believes should be included. Because no authority other than the Governor can be the author of the State Investment Strategy for Energy Impacted Areas, FmHA believes that the Governor has the primary role under this program for coordination of development within the State. Comments were received requesting that FmHA change plan approval authority from the FmHA National Office to FmHA State Offices. FmHA believes that Pub. L. 95–620 is intended to provide a national program which addresses national needs and to ensure the coordination of FmHA activities within the energy impacted areas of all of the affected States. To comply with this intent, plan approval should be at the national level. Comments were received reflecting concern that local government was not given adequate consideration for its priorities in the development of the State Investment Strategy for Energy Impacted Areas. The plans upon which the investment strategy is based are developed at the local level, and § 1948.78(f) requires that State investment strategies be submitted to the appropriate A–95 clearinghouses for comment. FmHA believes that the formulation of development plans at the local level and the submission of State Investment Strategies for Energy Impacted Areas to A–95 clearinghouses will provide for adequate consideration of local priorities. A comment was received suggesting that FmHA consider requiring an advisory cross-review of applications by field offices of other agencies to establish that an applicant has thoroughly explored other available avenues of funding. FmHA feels that this requirement is unnecessary since the Governor has already certified, in the designation of the impacted area, that available financial resources are inadequate to meet the public need for the project in a timely manner.

§ 1948.88 This section has been combined with section 1948.90 and renumbered to § 1948.84. This section has been shortened and duplication eliminated in response to comments received. Comments were received expressing concern that the front-end cost of developing the applications for these grants is too burdensome. Requirements for applications under this section are mandated by Federal law and regulation. A preapplication process has been added to this section to comply with OMB Circular A–102. Many comments were received expressing concern that these program funds could not be used in flood plain areas. This provision is required under Executive Order 11988. Comments were received expressing concern that the 25 percent matching funds requirement under this section was too burdensome to State and local government. The 25 percent local match is required by Pub. L. 95–620. Comments were received requesting that architects or engineers be specifically mentioned in § 1948.88(b)(5). This addition has been made in § 1948.84(d)(5). A comment was received requesting removal of the requirement for the Governors concurrence. FmHA feels that this requirement is necessary to ensure that the project is in accordance with the State Investment Strategy for Energy Impacted Areas.

§ 1948.89 This section has been combined with § 1948.91 and renumbered to § 1948.86 in order to avoid duplication. This section was rewritten for purpose of clarity. Sections 1948.89(b) and 1948.91(b) were changed as outlined below in response to comments. Comments requested that the Governor be the sole selecting authority for projects funded by this program. Pub. L. 95–620 assigns responsibility for the administration of this program to FmHA. Pub. L. 95–620 states that FmHA should consult with the Governor before making a grant within a State. FmHA interprets the Governor's development of a State Investment Strategy for Energy Impacted Areas and the consideration of the Governor's priorities for funding of the projects as expressed in that investment strategy under § 1948.86(b)(1) as fulfilling the full intent of the law. Sections 1948.89(b)(3) and 1948.91(b)(3) have been eliminated in response to comments received which expressed concern that the projects with high cost would be discriminated against. A new § 1948.86(b)(2) has been added in compliance with Pub. L. 95–620. A new § 1948.86(b)(4) has been added which reflects the local priority of the project. Comments were received requesting that lack of developable land be added as a selection criterion. FmHA was unable to find an effective base for this criterion in Pub. L. 95–620. A comment was received requesting the removal of the priority given to previously mined land for site development and site acquisition grants. Pub. L. 95-620 expressly mandates this provision. Concern was expressed regarding land ownership requirements. In response to these concerns, this section now allows ownership, or leases in lieu of ownership. Concern was expressed over the length of time that might be required for an A-95 review. FmHA believes that A-95 review is a critical requirement which is needed to ensure coordination of projects within an area. This review should not require so much time as to prevent the funding of any particular project.

§ 1948.91 This section was combined with § 1948.89 and renumbered to § 1948.86. Comments received concerning this section are addressed in the discussion of § 1948.89.

§ 1948.93 This section was divided into two sections for clarification and numbered §§ 1948.88 and 1948.89. § 1948.88 addresses the acquisition of land by FmHA at the request of the Governor of a State by purchase or trade. § 1948.89 addresses the acquisition of land by FmHA through the use of the power of the Secretary of Agriculture to condemn land under the provisions of Pub. L. 95-620. Comments were received expressing concern that Federal powers of condemnation would be used to acquire Indian Trust lands. This use of Federal condemnation power is prohibited by Pub. L. 95-620. Comments were received expressing concern that windfall profits would accrue to developers as a result of direct acquisition by FmHA. Provisions to safe-guard against windfall profits are covered in § 1948.90(b). Comments were received concerning the acquisition of Bureau of Land Mangement land for the purpose of this program. A new § 1948.88(c) has been added to clarify FmHA power to acquire Bureau of Land Management and other Federal agency held land not expressly prohibited by Pub. L. 95-620. A comment was received requesting clarification of the reimbursement process to FmHA for land acquired directly by FmHA. FmHA will be reimbursed at the fair market value by the State for all land which is acquired by FmHA at the request of the Governor of that State. Reimbursement terms will be outlined in a transfer agreement between the State and FmHA.

§1948.94 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.90. Comments were received requesting information concerning land transfers from public bodies to private individuals. A new § 1948.90(b) has been added to outline conditions under which land may be transferred from grantees to private individuals.

§ 1948.95 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.91.

§ 1948.96 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.92. Comments were received expressing confusion concerning who will be the approving officer for grants made under this program. FmHA has added a new section 1948.92(b) to clarify that the FmHA State Director of the appropriate State shall be the approving officer of all grants made under this program.

§ 1948.98 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.94. Based on comments received, a procedure has been added which describes reporting requirements for site acquisition and development projects.

§ 1948.102 This section has been renumbered to § 1948.98.

FmHA has added new §§ 1948.60 and 1948.61 to provide for State establishment of procedures in addition to those required by these regulations. FmHA has added a new § 1948.93 to establish appeal procedures.

Therefore, as added Part 1948, Subpart B reads as follows:

This Subpart sets forth policies and procedures for designation, approval of designation, and making grants for assistance to areas impacted by increased coal and uranium production, processing, or transportation. The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) will fully consider all A-95 clearinghouse review comments and recommendations in selecting applications for funding.

§ 1948.52 Objectives.

The objective of the program is to help areas impacted by coal or uranium development activities by providing assistance for the development of growth management and housing plans and in developing and acquiring sites for housing and public facilities and services.

(a) FmHA will make grants for assistance to approved designated areas in accordance with criteria contained in this Subpart by providing assistance to fill gaps in growth management and housing planning, and to provide supplementary support for acquisition and development of sites for housing and public facilities and services by States, local governments, and councils of local government.

(b) Efforts will be made to provide comprehensive assistance to approved designated areas through the coordination power of the Secretary of Agriculture by utilizing existing plans, State and local programs, and other Federal programs to the maximum extent possible. Particular attention will be given to the utilization of existing FmHA authorities under other FmHA programs in conjunction with this Subpart for providing assistance to approved designated areas in accordance with the Governor's approved State Investment Strategy for Energy Impacted Areas.

(c) Where existing plans are unsuitable or nonexistent, and other assistance programs are inadequate or unavailable on a timely basis, FmHA will provide assistance under this Subpart to States, councils of local governments, and local governments for the modification, updating, and/or development of growth management and/or housing plans to deal with problems resulting from coal or uranium development within approved designated areas according to the criteria contained in this Subpart.

(d) Where needed, FmHA will provide assistance for the development of sites and/or the acquisition of sites for housing and public facilities and services within approved designated areas according to the criteria contained in this Subpart. Such assistance for site development and acquisition will be made in accordance with FmHA approved plans and State Investment Strategies for Energy Impacted Areas in accordance with the criteria contained in the Subpart.

§ 1948.59 Ineligible activities.

(a) Growth management and housing planning grant funds may not be used for:

(1) Acquisition, construction, repair, or rehabilitation of existing housing and public facilities;

(2) Replacement of, or substitution for, any financial support previously provided or assured from any other source which would result in a reduction of current efforts on the part of the applicant;

(3) Duplication of current services;

(4) Routine administrative activities not allowed under Federal Management Circular FMC 74-4, "Cost Principles Applicable to Grants and Contracts with State and Local Governments;"

(5) Planning for areas other than approved designated areas;

(6) Planning other than growth management and housing planning; or

(7) Political activities.

(b) Grant funds for site development may not be used for:

(1) Construction, repair, or rehabilitation of housing and public facilities;

(2) Replacement of, or substitution for, any financial support previously provided or assured from any other source which would result in a reduction of effort on the part of the applicant;

(3) Administrative expenses not allowed under FMC 74-4;

(4) Purposes for which funding exists under other State or Federal programs that may reasonably be obtained on a timely basis by the applicants;

(5) Duplication of current services; or

(6) Political activities.

§ 1948.60 Delegation and redelegation of authority.

The FmHA State Director is responsible for implementing the authorities contained in this Subpart and may issue State supplements redelegating these authorities to appropriate FmHA employees.

FmHA State Directors will obtain National Office clearance for all State supplements and guides in accordance with paragraph VIII of FmHA Instruction 021.2, (available in any FmHA office).

(a) State supplements. State Directors may supplement this Subpart as appropriate to meet State and local laws and regulations and to provide for orderly application processing and efficient service to applicants. State supplements shall not contain any requirements pertaining to designations, designation approval, or plan approvals more restrictive than those in this Subpart.

(b) State guides. State Directors may develop guides for use by applicants if the guides to this Subpart are not adequate. State Directors may prepare guides for: items needed for the application; items necessary for the docket; and items required prior to grant closing or construction starts.

§ 1948.62 Environmental impact requirements.

(a) The policies and regulations contained in Part 1901, Subpart G, of this Chapter apply to grants made and other actions under this program. Environmental Assessments and, if necessary, Environmental Impact Statements shall be prepared on all applications for assistance under this Subpart. Assessments and Statements shall be prepared to consider cumulative as well as site-specific effects.

(b) Subsequent to an energy impact area designation by the Governor and establishment of priorities, the FmHA State Director, in consultation with the Governor, shall define the geographic boundaries or otherwise delineate the areas which will be studied for environmental impacts.

(c) Boundaries shall define the area within which the environmental impacts of the proposed action can be reasonably studied. Proper delineation of impact areas will avoid duplication of effort by using one assessment or impact statement to study a broad area rather than numerous overlapping documents prepared for smaller projects.

§ 1948.63 Historic preservation requirements.

The policies and regulations contained in Part 1901, Subpart F, of this Chapter apply to this program.

§ 1948.64 Equal opportunity requirements.

The policies and regulations contained in Part 1901, Subpart E, of this Chapter apply to grants made under this program.

§ 1948.65 Relocation Act requirements.

The policies and regulations contained in Title 7, Subtitle A, Part 21 of the Code of Federal Regulations (Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970) will apply to site development and acquisition grants and other actions under this program.

§ 1948.66 A-95 and other administrative requirements.

The policies and regulations contained in Chapter 4, Sections 4 and 5 of the USDA Administrative Regulations; Part 1901, Subparts H and J of this Chapter; Treasury Circular Number 1082, Revised; and OMB Circular A-95 apply to grants and other actions under this program.

§ 1948.67 Procedure for designation.

(a) Local governments may request the Governor of the State in which they are located to designate an area served by them as an energy impacted area.

(b) The Governor will define the geographic area of a designated area consistent with the nature of the impact and the socio-economic integration of the area.

(c) The Governor may designate an area as an energy impacted area based on the criteria contained in this Subpart.

§ 1948.68 Criteria for designation.

(a) An area designated by the Governor must have the following characteristics:

(1) During the most recent calendar year, the eligible employment in coal or uranium development activities within the area has increased by eight percent or more from the preceding year, or such employment (as projected by generally acceptable estimates) will increase by eight percent (of the eligible employment in the year of the designation) or more per year during each of the next three calendar years.

(2) Because of increased employment in coal or uranium development activities, a shortage of housing, inadequate public facilities, or services exists or will exist in the area. Such shortages or inadequacies may be demonstrated by: housing shortage statistics; higher occupancy rates of substandard houses than has historically occurred within the area; an increase (for which data or projected data is available) in eligible employment from the year of the designation of at least 100 workers or one-half of one percent of the designated area's population; or data showing that available public facilities and services in the area are below generally accepted standards due to the increased demand resulting from coal and uranium development activities.

(3) Available State and local financial resources are inadequate to meet the public need for housing or public facilities and services at present or in the next three years. In making this determination the Governor should consider the following:

(i) State revenue increases resulting from coal and uranium development activity based on existing tax laws;

(ii) Federal funds transferred to the State for impact assistance;

(iii) Local revenue increases resulting from coal or uranium development activities based on existing tax laws;

(iv) Other federal financial assistance to which the area may have access;

(v) All other available State and local sources of funding;

(vi) The time during which the resources will be available;

(vii) Existing laws committing increases in State and local revenues and Federal transfers to purposes other than impact assistance; and (viii) The estimated cost of development based on the best available informed judgment.

(b) Designations submitted to the Secretary of Energy for approval must have the following attached:

(1) A list of all counties and parts of counties covered by the designation;

(2) If the area is smaller than a county, a map showing the boundary of the area and the approximate location of all eligible employment facilities in the area and nearby;

(3) A written justification for the inclusion of an area if the area is smaller than a county;

(4) The level of eligible employment within the designated area for each of the two most recent calendar years. This data should be obtained from a single source for the entire State, if possible; special surveys may be used when the Governor determines that these more accurately reflect employment conditions within the designated area, or in cases where data from other sources for the most recent calendar year is unavailable at the time of designation. Reference should be made to the data sources used if it is a Federal source; if a non-Federal sources is used, a copy of the source and a brief description of the procedures used for justification should be included. If projections of eligible employment are to be considered, projections of such employment for the next three years must be attached; identification of data sources and methodology used in developing those projections and a copy of any survey data used should be included.

(c) In areas where the impacted area covers counties or parts of counties located in more than one State, the Governors of the affected States may jointly designate such area and submit the designation to the Secretary of Energy for approval.

(d) After examining these factors and determining that the area meets the criteria of (a) above, the Governor may so certify in a letter bearing his or her signature and submit the letter of certification with all data and estimates upon which the designation is based to the Secretary of Energy for approval.

(e) Each designation submitted should have the name and phone number of a contact person in the Governor's designating office.

(f) An original and one copy of the designation should be submitted to the Secretary of Energy, Department of Energy, Mail Stop 8G–031, Forrestal Building, Washington, D.C. 20585.

(g) Two copies of all designations submitted for approval shall be submitted to the appropriate FmHA State Director. The FmHA State Director shall forward one copy to the Office of Area Development Assistance in the FmHA National Office.

(h) The Governor should designate all areas expected to be considered in fiscal year 1979 allocations of funds before July 1, 1979.

§ 1948.69 [Reserved]

§ 1948.70 Designation approval.

Upon receipt of a request for approval of a designation made under this section, the Secretary of Energy shall:

(a) Determine to the best of his ability the consistency of the supporting data submitted along with the designation by the Governor;

(b) Confer with FmHA on approval;

(c) Notify the Governor and the Administrator of FmHA of action taken on each designation within 30 calendar days of the receipt of a request for approval;

(d) Consult with the Governor before the disapproval of any designation; and

(e) Publish a description in the Federal Register of all designated areas approved within 30 days of their approval.

§ 1948.71 [Reserved]

§ 1948.72 Industry reports.

Any person regularly engaged in any coal or uranium development activity within an area designated and approved in accordance with this Subpart, shall prepare and transmit a report to the Secretary of Energy, Department of Energy, Mail Stop 8G–031, Forrestal Building, Washington, D.C. 20585 within 90 days after a written request to such person by the Governor of the State in which such area is located.

(a) The report shall contain:

(1) Projected levels of employment in coal or uranium development activities within the approved designated area for the next three calendar years;

(2) The projected number of new jobs to be created in coal or uranium development activities by the person within the approved designated area in each of the following three calendar years;

(3) Current or planned actions of the person in relation to the provision of housing or public facilities for such person's employees in the next three calendar years;

(4) Contracts in force whereby the person intends to provide funds to State government, local governments, and public or private nonprofit organizations for the provision of housing or public facilities for such person's employees; and

(5) The projected quantity of coal or uranium to be produced, processed, or transported by the person in each of the next three years.

(b) The Governor requesting the report will notify the Secretary of Energy of persons from whom reports have been requested.

(c) The Secretary of Energy shall provide a copy of these reports to the Secretary of Agriculture, the appropriate Governor, and the appropriate county or local officials, and make it available for public inspection and copying in the public reading room of the Department of Energy, Room GA152, Forrestal Building, Washington, D.C. 20585.

§ 1948.73 [Reserved]

§ 1948.78 Growth management and housing planning projects.

(a) Existing plans for growth management and housing may be used to meet the planning requirements of this Subpart.

(b) A reasonable effort should be made to modify existing plans for use in meeting the planning requirements of this section.

(c) The Governor shall be responsible for the coordination of planning within a State.

(d) The planning process developed with assistance under this section should begin at the local level and flow upward to the State.

(e) Planning processes developed with assistance under this section should have the maximum possible citizen involvement in the development of plans.

(f) Governors should give full consideration to local and substate priorities in the development of the State Investment Strategy for Energy Impacted Areas and submit the State Investment Strategy for Energy Impacted Areas for comment to appropriate A–95 clearinghouses.

(g) Plans developed with assistance under this section should be fully coordinated with other Federal, State, substate, and local planning activities affected by the project.

(h) To the greatest extent possible, planning projects should be coordinated with related planning and development activities presently carried out by the A–95 clearinghouse agency.

(i) Planning conducted by the State include effective management activities for coordinated development of approved designated areas through the plan implementation stage.

§ 1948.79 Application procedure for planning grants.

(a) Applicants may submit a preapplication for a planning grant upon designation of the area as an energy impacted area by the Governor. FmHA will not take final action on the preapplication until the designation has been approved by the Secretary of Energy.

(b) All applicants should notify the appropriate designated clearinghouse(s) of the intent to submit an application consistent with OMB Circular A–95.

§§ 1948.99–1948.100 [Reserved]

Exhibit A—Grant Agreement

Growth Management and Housing Planning for Approved Designated Energy Impacted Areas

This Agreement is between

(Name), ———————————
(Address),(Grantee) and the United States of American acting through the Farmers Home Administration (Grantor or FmHA). Grantee has determined to undertake certain growth management and housing planning for energy impacted areas at an estimated cost of $——— and has duly authorized such planning. The Grantor agrees to grant to Grantee a sum not to exceed $——— subject to the terms and conditions established by the Grantor; provided, however, that any grant funds actually advanced and not needed for grant purposes shall be returned immediately to the Grantor. The Grantor may terminate the grant in whole, or in part, at any time before the date of completion, whenever it is determined that the Grantee has failed to comply with the conditions of the grant. In consideration of said grant by Grantor to Grantee, to be made pursuant to Section 601 of the Powerplant and Industrial Fuel Use Act of 1978 (Pub. L. 95–620) for the purpose only of defraying the planning costs as permitted by applicable Farmers Home Administration regulations: ———————————

Part A

Grantor and Grantee agree:

1. This agreement shall be effective when executed by both parties.

2. The scope of work set out below shall be completed prior to———.

3. (a) Use of grant funds for travel which is determined as being necessary to the program for which the grant is established may be subject to the travel policies of the Grantee institution if they are uniformly applied regardless of the source of funds in determining the amounts and types of reimbursable travel expenses of Grantee staff and consultants. Where the Grantee institution does not have such specific policies uniformly applied, the Federal Travel Regulations shall apply in determining the amount charged to the grant. Grantee may purchase furniture and office equipment only if specifically approved in the scope of work. Approval will be given only when Grantee demonstrates that purchase is necessary and would result in less cost to the Government in providing Federal-share funds or to the Grantee in providing its contributions. Commercial purchase under these circumstances will be approved only after consideration of Federal supply sources.

(b) Expenses and Purchases Excluded:

(i) In no event shall the Grantee expend or request reimbursement from Federal-share funds for obligations entered into or for costs incurred or accrued prior to the effective date of this grant.

(ii) Funds budgeted under this grant may not be used for entertainment expenses.

(iii) Funds budgeted under this grant may not be used to pay for capital assets, the purchase of real estate or vehicles, improvement and renovation of space, and repair and maintenance of privately-owned vehicles.

(c) Grant funds shall not be used to replace any financial support previously provided or assured from any other source. The Grantee agrees that the general level of expenditure by the Grantee for the benefit of program area and/or program covered by this agreement shall be maintained and not reduced as a result of the Federal share funds received under this grant.

4. (a) In accordance with Treasury Circular 1075, grant funds will be disbursed by the FmHA as cash advances on an as-needed basis not to exceed one advance every 30 days. The financial management system of the recipient organization shall provide for effective control over and accountability for all Federal funds as stated in OMB Circular A–102 revised for State and local governments.

(b) Cash advances to the Grantee shall be limited to the minimum amounts needed and shall be timed to be in accord only with the actual, immediate cash requirements of the Grantee in carrying out the purpose of the planning project.

(c) The timing and amount of cash advances shall be as close as is administratively feasible to the actual disbursements by the recipient organization for direct program costs.

(d) Federal funds should be promptly refunded to the FmHA and redrawn when needed if the funds are erroneously drawn in excess of immediate disbursement needs. The only exceptions to the requirement for prompt refunding are when the funds involved:

(i) Will be disbursed by the recipient organization within seven calendar days, or

(ii) Are less than $10,000 and will be disbursed within 30 calendar days.

(e) Grantee shall provide satisfactory evidence to FmHA that all officers of Grantee organization authorized to receive and/or disburse Federal funds are covered by such bonding and/or insurance requirements as are normally required by the Grantee.

(f) Grant funds will be placed in a bank account(s). If for any reason grant funds are invested, income earned on such investment shall be identified as interest income on grant funds and forwarded to the Finance Office, FmHA, St. Louis, Missouri, unless the Grantee is a State. "State" includes instrumentalities of a State but not political subdivisions of a State. A State Grantee is not accountable for interest earned on grant funds.

5. The Grantee will submit Performance and Financial reports as indicated below:

(a) As needed, but not more frequently than once every 30 days, an original and 2 copies of Standard Form 270, "Request for Advance or Reimbursement;"

(b) Quarterly, an original and 2 copies of Standard Form 269, "Financial Status Report," and a Project Performance report according to the schedule below:

Period	Date due

(c) Final, an original and 2 copies of Standard Form 269, "Financial Status Report," and a Project Performance report according to the schedule below:

Period	Date due

Note.—Final reports may serve as the last quarterly reports.

(d) The Project Performance reports shall include but need not be limited to the following:

(i) A comparison of actual accomplishment to the objectives established for that period;

(ii) Reasons why established objectives were not met;

(iii) Problems, delays, or adverse conditions which will materially affect attainment of planned project objectives, prevent the meeting of time schedules or objectives, or preclude the attainment of project work elements during established time periods. This disclosure shall be accompanied by a Statement of the action taken or comtemplated and any Federal assistance needed to resolve the situation; and

(iv) Objectives established for the next reporting period.

(e) All Grantees except States shall submit an original of each report and one copy to the appropriate FmHA District Office. A State

Grantee shall submit original reports to the appropriate FmHA State Office.

(f) The plan(s) developed under this grant shall be submitted to the appropriate Governor for incorporation into the State Investment Strategy for Energy Impacted Areas. The Governor will submit the plan and the State Investment Strategy to the appropriate FmHA State Office(s). The FmHA State Office will forward the plan and State Investment Strategy to the FmHA National Office for approval of the plan.

(i) Problems, delays, or adverse conditions which materially affect the ability to attain program objectives, prevent the meeting of time schedules or goals, or preclude the attainment of project work units by established time periods. This disclosure shall be accompanied by a statement of the action taken or contemplated, and any Grantor assistance needed to resolve the situation.

(ii) Favorable developments or events which enable meeting time schedules and goals sooner than anticipated or producing more work units than originally projected.

Part B

Grantee agrees:

1. To comply with property management standards established by Attachment N of OMB Circular A-102 for expendable and nonexpendable personal property "Personal property" means property of any kind except real property. It may be tangible—having physical existence—or intangible—having no physical existence, such as patents, inventions, and copyrights. "Nonexpendable personal property" means tangible personal property having a useful life of more than one year and an acquisition cost of $300 or more per unit. A Grantee may use its own definition of nonexpendable personal property provided that such definition would at least include all tangible personal property as defined above. "Expendable personal property" refers to all tangible personal property other than nonexpendable property. When nonexpendable tangible property is acquired by a Grantee with project funds, title shall not be taken by the Federal Government but shall vest in the Grantee subject to the following conditions:

(a) Right to transfer title. For items of nonexpendable personal property having a unit acquisition cost of $1,000 or more, FmHA may reserve the right to transfer the title to the Federal Government or to a third party named by the Federal Government when such third party is otherwise eligible under existing statutes. Such reservation shall be subject to the following standards:

(1) The property shall be appropriately identified in the grant or otherwise made known to the Grantee in writing.

(2) FmHA shall issue disposition instructions within 120 calendar days after the end of the Federal support of the project for which it was acquired. If FmHA fails to issue disposition instructions within the 120 calendar day period, the Grantee shall apply the standards of paragraph (4) below.

(3) When FmHA exercises its right to take title, the personal property shall be subject to the provisions for federally owned nonexpendable property discussed in paragraph (4), below.

(4) When title is transferred either to the Federal Government or to a third party and the Grantee is instructed to ship the property elsewhere, the Grantee shall be reimbursed by the benefiting Federal agency with an amount which is computed by applying the percentage of the Grantee participation in the cost of the original grant project or program to the current fair market value of the property, plus any reasonable shipping or interim storage costs incurred.

(b) Use of other nontangible expendable property for which the Grantee has title.

(1) The Grantee shall use the property in the project or program for which it was acquired as long as needed, whether or not the project or program continues to be supported by Federal funds. When it is no longer needed for the original project or program, the Grantee shall use the property in connection with its other Federally sponsored activities, in the following order of priority:

(a) Activities sponsored by FmHA.

(b) Activities sponsored by other Federal agencies.

(2) Shared use. During the time that nonexpendable personal property is held for use on the project or program for which it was acquired, the Grantee shall make it available for use on other projects or programs if such other use will not interfere with the work on the project or program for which the property was originally acquired. First preference for such other use shall be given to other projects or programs sponsored by FmHA; second preference shall be given to projects or programs sponsored by other Federal agencies. If the property is owned by the Federal Government, use on other activities not sponsored by the Federal Government shall be permissable if authorized by FmHA. User charges should be considered if appropriate.

(c) Disposition of other nonexpendable property. When the Grantee no longer needs the property as provided in 1(a)(4) above, the property may be used for other activities in accordance with the following standards:

(1) Nonexpendable property with a unit acquisition cost of less than $1,000. The Grantee may use the property for other activities without reimbursement to the Federal Government or sell the property and retain the proceeds.

(2) Nonexpendable personal property with a unit acquisition cost of $1,000 or more. The Grantee may retain the property for other use provided that compensation is made to FmHA or its successor. The amount of compensation shall be computed by applying the percentage of Federal participation in the cost of the original project or program to the current fair market value of the property. If the Grantee has no need for the property and the property has further use value, the Grantee shall request disposition instructions from the original Grantor agency.

FmHA shall determine whether the property can be used to meet the agency's requirements. If no requirement exists within that agency, the availability of the property shall be reported, in accordance with the guidelines of the Federal Property Management Regulations (FPMR), to the General Services Administration by FmHA to determine whether a requirement for the property exists in other Federal agencies. FmHA shall issue instructions to the Grantee no later than 120 days after the Grantee request and the following procedures shall govern:

(a) If so instructed or if disposition instructions are not issued within 120 calendar days after the Grantee's request, the Grantee shall sell the property and reimburse FmHA an amount computed by applying to the sales proceeds the percentage of Federal participation in the cost of the original project or program. However, the Grantee shall be permitted to deduct and retain from the Federal share $100 or ten percent of the proceeds, whichever is greater, for the Grantee's selling and handling expenses.

(b) If the Grantee is instructed to dispose of the property other than as described in (1)(a)(4) above, the Grantee shall be reimbursed by FmHA for such costs incurred in its disposition.

(c) Property management standards for nonexpendable property. The Grantee's property management standards for nonexpendable personal property shall include the following procedural requirements:

(1) Property records shall be maintained accurately and shall include:

(a) A description of the property.

(b) Manufacturer's serial number, model number, Federal stock number, national stock number, or other identification number.

(c) Sources of the property including grant or other agreement number.

(d) Whether title vests in the Grantee or the Federal Government.

(e) Acquisition date (or date received, if the property was furnished by the Federal Government) and cost.

(f) Percentage (at the end of the budget year) of Federal participation in the cost of the project or program for which the property was acquired. (Not applicable to property furnished by the Federal Government.)

(g) Location, use and condition of the property and the date the information was reported.

(h) Unit acquisition cost.

(i) Ultimate disposition data, including date of disposal and sales price or the method used to determine current fair market value where a Grantee compensates the Federal agency for its share.

(2) Property owned by the Federal Government must be marked to indicate Federal ownership.

(3) A physical inventory of property shall be taken and the results reconciled with the property records at least once every two years. Any differences between quantities determined by the physical inspection and those shown in the accounting records shall be investigated to determine the causes of the difference. The Grantee shall, in connection with the inventory, verify the existence, current utilization, and continued need for the property.

(4) A control system shall be in effect to insure adequate safeguards to prevent loss, damage, or theft of the property. Any loss, damage, or theft of nonexpendable property shall be investigated and fully documented; if the property was owned by the Federal Government, the Grantee shall promptly notify FmHA.

(5) Adequate maintenance procedures shall be implemented to keep the property in good condition.

(6) Where the Grantee is authorized or required to sell the property, proper sales procedures shall be established which would provide for competition to the extent practicable and result in the highest possible return.

(7) Expendable personal property shall vest in the Grantee upon acquisition. If there is a residual inventory of such property exceeding $1,000 in total aggregate fair market value, upon termination or completion of the grant and if the property is not needed for any other Federally sponsored project or program, the Grantee shall retain the property for use on nonfederally sponsored activities, or sell it, but must in either case compensate the Federal Government for its share. The amount of compensation shall be computed in the same manner as nonexpendable personal property.

2. To provide Financial Management Systems which will include:

(a) Accurate, current, and complete disclosure of the financial results of each grant. Financial Reporting will be on an accrual basis.

(b) Records which identify adequately the source and application of funds for grant-supported activities. Those records shall contain information pertaining to grant awards and authorizations, obligations, unobligated balances, assets, liabilities, outlays, and income.

(c) Effective control over and accountability for all funds, property, and other assets. Grantee shall adequately safeguard all such assets and shall assure that they are used solely for authorized purposes.

(d) Accounting records supported by source documentation.

(e) Provide an audit report prepared in sufficient detail to allow Grantor to determine that funds have been used in compliance with the proposal any applicable laws and regulations and this agreement.

3. To retain financial records, supporting documents, statistical records, and all other records pertinent to the grant for a period of at least three years after closing except that the records shall be retained beyond the three-year period if audit findings have not been resolved. Microfilm copies may be substituted in lieu of original records. The Grantor and the Comptroller General of the United States, or any of their duly authorized representatives, shall have access to any books, documents, papers, and records of the Grantee which are pertinent to the specific grant program for the purpose of making audit, examination, excerpts, and transcripts.

4. To provide information as requested by the Grantor to determine the need for and complete any necessary Environmental Impact Statements.

5. To provide information as requested by the Grantor concerning the Grantee's actions in soliciting citizen participation in the application process, including published notice of public meetings, actual public meetings held, and content of written comments received.

6. To account for and to return to Grantor interest earned on grant funds pending their disbursement for program purposes unless the Grantee is a State. See Part A 4(f) above.

7. Not to encumber, transfer, or dispose of the property or any part thereof, furnished by the Grantor or acquired wholly or in part with Grantor funds without the written consent of the Grantor except as provided in Part B 1.

8. To provide Grantor such periodic reports as it may require of Grantee operations by designated representative of the Grantor.

9. To execute Form FmHA 400–1, "Equal Opportunity Agreement," and to execute any other agreements required by Grantor to implement the civil rights requirements.

10. To include in all contracts in excess of $100,000 a provision for compliance with all applicable standards, orders, or regulations issued pursuant to the Clean Air Act of 1970. Violations shall be reported to the Grantor and the Regional Office of the Environmental Protection Agency.

11. That, upon any default under its representations or agreements set forth in this instrument, Grantee, at the option and demand of Grantor, will, to the extent legally permissible, repay to the Grantor forthwith the original principal amount of the grant stated herein above, with interest at the rate of five per centum per annum from the date of the default. The provisions of this Grant Agreement may be enforced by Grantor, at its option and without regard to prior waivers by it of previous defaults of Grantee, by judicial proceedings to require specific performance of the terms of this Grant Agreement or by such other proceedings in law or equity, in either Federal or State courts, as may be deemed necessary by Grantor to assure compliance with the provisions of this Grant Agreement and the laws and regulations under which this grant is made.

12. That no member of Congress shall be admitted to any share or part of this grant or any benefit that may arise therefrom; but this provision shall not be construed to bar as a contractor under the grant a publicly held corporation whose ownership might include a member of Congress.

13. That all non-confidential information resulting from its activities shall be made available to the general public on an equal basis.

14. That the purpose and scope of work for which this grant is made shall not duplicate programs for which monies have been received, are committed, or are applied for from other sources, public and private.

15. That the Grantee shall relinquish any and all copyrights and/or privileges to the materials developed under this grant, each material being the sole property of the Federal Government. In the event anything developed under this grant is published in whole or in part, the material shall contain notice and be identified by language to the following effect: "The material is the result of tax-supported research and as such is not copyrightable. It may be freely reprinted with the customary crediting of the source."

16. That the Grantee shall abide by the policies promulgated in OMB Circular A–102, Attachment O, which provides standards for use by Grantees in establishing procedures for the procurement of supplies, equipment, and other services with Federal grant funds.

17. To the following termination provisions:

(a) Termination for cause: The Grantor agency may terminate any grant in whole, or in part, at any time before the date of completion, whenever it is determined that the Grantee has failed to comply with the conditions of the grant. The Grantor agency shall promptly notify the Grantee in writing of the determination and the reasons for the termination, together with the effective date.

(b) Termination for convenience. The Grantor agency or Grantee may terminate grants in whole, or in part, when both parties agree that the continuation of the project would not produce beneficial results commensurate with the further expenditure of funds. The two parties shall agree upon the termination conditions, including the effective date and, in the case of partial terminations, the portion to be terminated. The Grantee shall not incur new obligations for the terminated portion after the effective date, and shall cancel as many outstanding obligations as possible. The Grantor agency shall allow full credit to the Grantee for the Federal share of the noncancelable obligations, properly incurred by the Grantee prior to termination.

Part C

Grantor agrees:

1. That it will assist Grantee, within available appropriations, with such technical assistance as Grantor deems appropriate in planning the project and coordinating the plan with local official comprehensive plans and with any State or area plans for the area in which the project is located.

2. That at its sole discretion, Grantor may at any time give any consent, deferment, subordination, release, satisfaction, or termination of any or all of Grantee's grant obligations, with or without valuable consideration, upon such terms and conditions as Grantor may determine to be (a) advisable to further the purposes of the grant or to protect Grantor's financial interest therein, and (b) consistent with both the statutory purposes of the grant and the limitations of the statutory authority under which it is made.

This agreement is subject to current Grantor regulations and any future regulations not inconsistent with the express terms hereof.

Exhibit B—Grant Agreement (Public Bodies)

For Site Development and/or Site Acquisition For Housing and/or Public Facilities and/or Services

This agreement dated ———————, 19—, between ——————————— a public body corporate organized and operating under ———————

(Authorizing State Statute)

Herein called "Grantee," and the United States of America acting through the Farmers Home Administration, Department of Agriculture, herein called "Grantor," Witnesseth:

Grantee has determined to undertake a project for site acquisition and/or site development as follows:

——————————— (herein called project) to serve the approved designated energy impacted area under its jurisdiction at an estimated cost of $———, and has duly authorized the undertaking of such project;

Grantee is able to finance not more than $——— of the site acquisition and/or site development costs through revenues, charges, taxes or assessments, or funds otherwise available to Grantee. Said sum has been committed to and by Grantee for such project acquisition and/or site development costs.

The Grantor agrees to grant to Grantee a sum not to exceed $——— subject to the terms and conditions established by the Grantor. Provided, however, that the proportionate share of any grant funds actually advanced and not needed for grant purposes shall be returned immediately to the Grantor. The Grantor may terminate the grant in whole, or in part, at any time before the date of completion, whenever it is determined that the Grantee has failed to comply with the conditions of the grant

In consideration of said grant by Grantor to Grantee, to be made pursuant to Section 601 of the Powerplant and Industrial Fuel Use Act of 1978 (P.L. 95–620) for the purpose only of defraying a part of the acquisition and/or site development costs, as defined by applicable Farmers Home Administration regulations:

Grantee agrees that Grantee will:

1. Cause said project to be completed within the total sums available to it, including said grant, in accordance with the project plans and specifications and any necessary modifications thereof prepared by Grantee and approved by Grantor.

2. Permit periodic inspection of the project by a representative of Grantor.

3. Make the housing or public facility or services available to all persons in Grantee's service area without regard to race, color, national origin, religion, sex, marital status, age, physical or mental handicap.

4. Use the real property including land and land improvements for authorized purposes of the grant as long as needed.

a. The Grantee shall obtain approval of the Grantor before using the real property for other purposes when the Grantee determines that the property is no longer for the original purposes.

b. When the real property is no longer needed as provided above, return all real property furnished or purchased wholly with Federal grant funds to the Grantor. In the case of property purchased in part with Federal grant funds, the Grantee may be permitted to take title to the Federal interest therein upon compensating the Federal Government for its fair share of the property. The Federal share of the property shall be the amount computed by applying the percentage of the Federal Participation in the total cost of the grant program for which the property was acquired to the current fair market value of the property.

5. Not use grant funds to replace any financial support previously provided or assured from any other source. The Grantee agrees that the general level of expenditure by the Grantee for the benefit of program area and/or program covered by this agreement shall be maintained and not reduced as a result of the Federal share funds received under this grant.

6. Not use grant funds to pay for construction costs of housing or public facilities.

This Grant Agreement covers the following described real property (use continuation sheets as necessary).

7. Abide by the following conditions pertaining to nonexpendable personal property which is furnished by the Grantor or acquired wholly or in part with Grant Funds.

a. The Grantee shall retain such property as long as there is a need for the property to accomplish the purpose of the grant. When there is no longer a need for the property to accomplish the purpose of the grant, the Grantee shall use the property in connection with other Federal grants it has received in the following order of priority.

(1) Other grant of the Grantor needing the property.

(2) Grants of other Federal agencies needing the property.

b. When the Grantee no longer has need for the property in any of its Federal grant programs, the property may be used for its own official activities in accordance with the following standards:

(1) Nonexpendable property with an acquisition cost of less than $500 and used four years or more. The Grantee may use the property for its own official activities without reimbursement to the Federal Government or sell the property and retain the proceeds.

(2) All other nonexpendable property. The Grantee may retain the property for its own use provided that a fair compensation is made to the Grantor. The amount of compensation shall be computed by applying the percentage of the Grantor participation in the grant program to the current fair market value of the property as determined by the Grantor.

c. If the Grantee has no need for the property, disposition shall be made as follows:

(1) Nonexpendable property with an acquisition cost of $1,000 or less. Except for that property which meets the criteria of b (1) above, the Grantee shall sell the property and reimburse the Grantor an amount which is computed in accordance with (3) below.

(2) Nonexpendable property with an acquisition cost of over $1,000. The Grantee shall request disposition instructions from Grantor.

(3) If disposition instructions are not issued within 120 days after reporting, the Grantee shall sell the property and reimburse the Grantor an amount which is computed by applying the percentage of the Grantor participation in the grant program to the sales proceeds. Further, the Grantee shall be permitted to retain $100 or ten percent of the proceeds, whichever is greater, for the Grantee's selling and handling expenses.

d. The Grantee's property management standards for nonexpendable personal property shall also include:

(1) Property records which accurately provide for: a description of the property; manufacturer's serial number or other identification number; acquisition date and cost; sources of the property; and ultimate disposition data including sales price or the method used to determine current fair market value if the Grantee reimburses the Grantor for its share.

(2) A physical inventory of property shall be taken and the result reconciled with the property records at least once every two years to verify the existence, current utilization, and continued need for the property.

(3) A control system shall be in effect to insure adequate safeguards to prevent loss, damage, or theft to the property shall be investigated and fully documented.

(4) Adequate maintenance procedures shall be implemented to keep the property in good condition.

(5) Proper sales procedures shall be established for unneeded property which would provide for competition to the extent practicable and result in the highest possible return.

This Grant Agreement covers the following described nonexpendable property (use continuation sheets as necessary).

8. Provide Financial Management Systems which will include:

(a) Accurate, current, and complete disclosure of the financial results of each grant. Financial Reporting will be on an accrual basis.

(b) Records which identify adequately the source and application of funds for grant-supporting activities. Those records shall contain information pertaining to grant awards and authorizations, obligations, unobligated balances, assets, liabilities, outlays, and income.

(c) Effective control over and accountability for all funds, property and other assets. Grantees shall adequately safeguard all such assets and shall assure that they are used solely for authorized purposes.

(d) Accounting records supported by source documentation.

9. Retain financial records, supporting documents, statistical records, and all other records pertinent to the grant for a period of at least three years after grant closing except that the records shall be retained beyond the three-year period if audit findings have not been resolved. Microfilm copies may be substituted in lieu of original records. The Grantor and the Comptroller General of the United States, or any of their duly authorized representatives, shall have access to any books, documents, papers, and records of the Grantee governments which are pertinent to the specific grant program for the purpose of making audit, examination, excerpts and transcripts.

10. Provide information as requested by the Grantor to determine the need for and complete any necessary Environmental Impact Statements.

11. Provide an audit report prepared in sufficient detail to allow the Grantor to determine that funds have been used in compliance with the proposal, any applicable laws and regulations and this agreement.

12. Agree to account for and to return to Grantor interest earned on grant funds pending their disbursement for program purposes when the Grantee is a unit of local government. States and agencies of instrumentalities of states shall not be held accountable for interest earned on grant funds pending their disbursement.

13. Not encumber, transfer, or dispose of the property or any part thereof, furnished by the Grantor or acquired wholly or in part with Grantor funds without the written consent of the Grantor except as provided in item 5 above.

14. Provide Grantor with such periodic reports as it may require and permit periodic inspection of its operations by a designated representative of the Grantor.

15. Execute Form FHA 400-1, "Equal Opportunity Agreement," Form FHA 400-4, "Nondiscrimination Agreement," and any other agreements required by Grantor to implement the civil rights requirements. If any such form has been executed by Grantee as a result of a loan being made to Grantee by Grantor contemporaneously with the making of this grant, another form of the same type need not be executed in connection with this grant.

16. Include in all contracts for construction or repair a provision for compliance with the Copeland "Anti-Kick Back" Act (18 USC 874) as supplemented in Department of Labor regulations (29 CFR, Part 3). The Grantee shall report all suspected or reported violations to the Grantor.

17. In Contracts in excess of $2,000 and in other contracts in excess of $2,500 which involve the employment of mechanics or laborers, to include a provision for compliance with sections 103 and 107 of the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act (40 USC 327-330) as supplemented by Department of Labor regulations (29 CFR, Part 5).

18. Include in all contracts in excess of $2,500 a provision for compliance with applicable regulations and standards of the Cost of Living Council in establishing wages and prices. The provisions of this Grant Agreement may be enforced by Grantor at its option and without regard to prior waivers by it of previous defaults of Grantee, by judicial proceedings to require specific performance of the terms of this Grant Agreement or by such other proceedings in law or equity, in either Federal or State courts, as may be deemed necessary by Grantor to assure compliance with the provisions of this Grant Agreement and the laws and regulations under which this grant is made.

for the procurement of supplies, equipment, and other services with Federal grant funds.

28. To the following termination provisions:

(a) Termination for cause: The Grantor agency may terminate any grant in whole, or in part, at any time before the date of completion, whenever it is determined that the Grantee has failed to comply with the conditions of the grant. The Grantor agency shall promptly notify the Grantee in writing of the determination and the reasons for the termination, together with the effective date.

(b) Termination for convenience. The Grantor agency or Grantee may terminate grants in whole, or in part, when both parties agree that the continuation of the project would not produce beneficial results commensurate with the further expenditure of funds. The two parties shall agree upon the termination conditions, including the effective date and, in the case of partial terminations, the portion to be terminated. The Grantee shall not incur new obligations for the terminated portion after the effective date, and shall cancel as many outstanding obligations as possible. The Grantor agency shall allow full credit to the Grantee for the Federal share of the noncancelable obligations, properly incurred by the Grantee prior to termination.

Grantor agrees that it will:

1. Assist Grantee, within available appropriations, with such technical assistance as Grantor deems appropriate in planning the project and coordinating the plan with local official comprehensive plans and with any State or area plans for the area in which the project is located.

2. In its sole discretion, Grantor may at any time give any consent, deferment, subordination, release, satisfaction, or termination of any or all of Grantee's grant obligations, with or without valuable consideration, upon such terms and conditions as Grantor may determine to be (a) advisable to further the purposes of the grant or to protect Grantor's financial interest therein, and (b) consistent with both the statutory purposes of the grant and the limitations of the statutory authority under which it is made.

Note.—The Farmers Home Administration has reviewed this document for compliance with National Environmental Quality Regulations, 7 CFR Part 1500 and Farmers Home Administration Regulation 1901–G "Environmental Impact Statement."

Funds authorized under Section 601 may be utilized for a wide variety of project types. Area designations and priorities are to be established by the Governor of the State. The circumstances do not allow an analysis of potential environmental effects on a programmatic basis. Special provisions have been incorporated to insure that environmental impacts will be studied when priorities are established and applications are processed.

The proposed regulations require that environmental consequences of any action funded under this Subpart will be considered both on a site specific and cumulative basis. The Farmers Home Administration has determined that the regulations are in full compliance with NEPA and CEQ guidelines.

A copy of the Final Impact Analysis prepared by FmHA is available in the Office of the Chief, Directives Management Branch, Room 6346, South Building, Washington, D.C. 20250. This regulation has been determined significant under the USDA criteria implementing Executive Order 12044.

(Section 601 Pub. L. 95–620; delegation of authority by the Secretary of Agriculture, 7 CFR 2.23; delegation of authority by the Assistant Secretary for Rural Development, 7 CFR 2.70)

(Approval has been requested from the Office of Management and Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942 for the reporting and/or recordkeeping requirements contained herein)

Dated: June 14, 1979.

Gordon Cavanaugh,

Administrator, Farmers Home Administration.
